The concert is scheduled on Saturday, Oct. 30th at 8 p.m. at the Mother McAuley

High School auditorium.

Tickets cost $8, $10 and $12. For ticket information, call the Southwest Symphony Orchestra at (708) 636-6941.

YSP Dance

Young Single Parents, Chapter No. 104, is going to have a Sadie Hawkins Day dance social on Thursday, Oct. 21st at Burbank Rose, 6501 W. 79th St. First-timers get in free.

Brother Rice High School has announced the winners of elections for officers of their National Honor Society (NHS). Senior Brian Kinnane (right) of Oak Lawn was elected NHS president and junior Michael Gilmartin of Evergreen Park was elected vice-president. Both students will serve in their offices throughout the school year. The NHS is a service organization whose membership at Brother Rice is open to juniors and seniors who have a minimum 3.4 G.P.A. This is higher than the national norm of 3.0. NHS members are accepted based on leadership, character and service within the school and are nominated by teachers. The students are expected to donate a minimum of three free period sessions a week for tutoring. Members also donate their time for various school events like open house and Parent/Teacher evenings. As president, Kinnane will inform, organize and record the member's attendance at each service activity and meet with the NHS moderator regularly. There are 60 senior and 47 junior members of NHS at Rice.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

Recently I spent three weeks in Christ Hospital after hip-replacement surgery (two weeks in Midwest Rehabilitation Institute on the 6th floor). This department treats patients of accident, stroke, fractures, amputees, surgical replacement, trauma and various medical situations. In conjunction with doctors, social workers, recreational (arts, crafts, field trips) workers, occupational-physical and speech therapists, work with patients to help them regain normal functions. These people are very caring, congenial, patient, and they encourage you, even if there is just a slight movement of the limb, turning of the head, or uttering one word. This encouragement helps the patient recover more rapidly, and try harder. I saw 'miracles' occur before my very eyes. People who thought they would never walk or talk again found they were able to walk or talk again. It is so rewarding. Thanks to all the doctors, therapists, nurses and dietitians too. They are wonderful and are appreciated.

The people in this community are indeed fortunate to have this service available. Thanks to all of them, I am walking again.

Sincerely,
Beverly Bragg

WHEN SPORTS DON'T WORK

Are you concerned about keeping your body in good condition? You should be, especially if your job does not include a lot of physical activity.

You may have a favorite sport that helps you fill this need. But if you can't play often enough, or if the sport doesn't give you enough of a workout to maintain good muscle tone, it should be supplemented with exercise. Take golf, for example. In days of yore, golfers used to walk the full 18 holes. Now, many golfers "ride and play," using electric golf carts to carry them to the ball.

There are many simple exercises that can help you maintain good muscle tone. Sit-ups, push-ups, side twists, and neck rotations can be helpful. But don't try to over-achieve. Perform with moderation and gradually build up your stamina.

It's also a good idea to have regular checkups to find out if your spine and nervous system are in good condition. If there are any defects, they can usually be corrected with proper treatment.

If you have any health questions please feel free to call our office.

Baseball Coaches Clinic

On Saturday, Oct. 30th from 8 a.m. to 2:45 p.m., the Illinois Basketball Coaches Association is hosting its 21st annual fall clinic for men and women at Lincoln-Way High School East Campus, Route 45 & Colorado Ave., Frankfort. This clinic features five dynamic speakers: Jim Hutchinson, Illinois State University; Jim Larranaga, Bowling Green University; Marc Iavaroni, Bowling Green University; Jerry Leggett, Moline High School; and Steve Goers, Rockford Boylan H.S. The clinic is free to all members of IBCA. Non-members may attend for the price of a membership, $20 for all high school and college coaches and $10 for all elementary and junior high coaches. Lunch is an additional $5.

For registration information, call Steve Little, basketball coach, Lincoln-Way High School East, (815) 469-9601.

Following the clinic, on Sunday, Oct. 31st, at Lincoln-Way, there will be an A.C.E.P. coaching certificate course. For information, write Coaching Certificate, P.O. Box 715, Prospect Heights, IL 60070, or call (708) 635-8437.

Two first-year students from Queen of Peace High School were recently selected for an all-tournament volleyball team. Jaclyn Duran and Marie McArdle were participants in the Mount Assisi Volleyball Tournament and were very excited about being chosen. However, they tell us they are even happier that they were able to help Queen of Peace capture the second place trophy. Coach Denise Graney is shown congratulating Jaclyn and Marie on their all-star selection.

Recognize National Hunting & Fishing Day

In an official White House statement, President Bill Clinton has praised hunters and anglers for their role in launching the conservation movement in America and has called on all Americans to recognize sportsmen for a "conservation job well done." The statement was made in recognition of National Hunting & Fishing Day, Saturday, Sept. 25th.

"Over 100 years ago, many hunters and anglers helped launch the conservation movement in America," said Clinton. "Their efforts have helped to preserve our wildlife and environment. Today, many sportsmen contribute significantly to our nation's conservation efforts."

"Many species of American wildlife have made an amazing recovery, thanks to the efforts of our hunters and anglers. For example, the white-tailed deer, reduced to fewer than 500,000 by the turn of the century, now number over 18,000,000. Many sportsmen have helped wildlife agencies purchase millions of acres of pristine land in nearly every state for wildlife refuges, wintering ranges and wetland habitats," the president added.

In 1992, the nation's 15,746,706 hunting license holders raised, through purchases of hunting licenses, tags, permits and stamps, more than $481,000,000 for wildlife conservation programs managed by the fish and game departments of each of the 50 states. In addition, hunters contributed more than $124,000,000 for conservation through the payment of excise taxes on sporting firearms and ammunition. In 1991, the nation's 30,623,765 fishing license holders raised more than $398,000,000 for fish conservation programs and an additional $194,900,000 through special excise taxes.

"Our first frontier settlers survived the harsh realities of the untamed land with a hard-won knowledge of nature and hunting," said Clinton. "This respect for nature has remained a central element of American culture, from the anglers of Yellowstone to the cowboys of the West to the deer hunters of Maine."

Hunting and fishing are also important to the nation's economy. According to a report released by the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service and the Bureau of the Census, the nation's hunters and anglers contributed more than $36 billion to the economy in 1991. An analysis by the National Shooting Sports Foundation determined that these funds support some 600,000 jobs.

The president concluded his statement by noting, "Although much of our society is now urban, a fundamental love of the land and its bounty has helped us understand the importance of natural resource conservation. Congress established National Hunting & Fishing Day to recognize hunters and anglers for their efforts to rescue wildlife species."

Flyers Win Two

The Lewis University women's volleyball team rolled on in a pair of Great Lakes Valley Conference matches. The Flyers downed St. Joseph's in three games on Sept. 21st and crushed Kentucky State on Sept. 25th. Lewis improved its record to 8-5 on the season and extended their current winning streak to seven matches. The wins also allowed the Flyers to remain undefeated in GLVC play at 4-0. The Flyers are the defending conference champion and have won seven straight GLVC matches going back to last season.

Seniors led the way for the Flyers against St. Joseph's. Maryellen Sherwood of Chicago, Queen of Peace, paced the Lewis offense in the 15-8, 15-11, 15-12 victory. Sherwood notched a team-high 15 kills with six blocks. Sophomore Joan Ross of Oak Lawn, Mother McAuley, continued to play well, blasting nine kills and adding five digs. Newcomer Shonnie Daniels of Chicago, Bogan, has seen her playing time increase of late and has responded well. Daniels had seven kills, five digs and four blocks against the Pumas.

Against St. Joseph's, Sherwood, again, was the team leader in kills with seven. She also had five blocks in the 15-4, 15-2, 15-2 win. Ross was second with three kills.

Homecoming

Brother Rice High School, 10001 S. Pulaski, will have its annual Homecoming football game on Saturday, Oct. 16th against rival St. Laurence. All alumni are invited to attend the game and a post-game barbecue at the school.

IF IT AIN'T BROKE, DON'T FIX IT - Now comes a proposal from a State Senator to increase the number of commissioners of the METROPOLITAN WATER RECLAMATION DISTRICT OF GREATER CHICAGO (MWRD) from 9 to 16 elected districts with a president-elected-at-large who would have control over all departments.

The DISTRICT is recognized world wide for its exemplary job of treating our sewage and industrial waste; cleaning up our waterways and the on-going "Deeptunnel" project that holds up to a billion gallons of waste water for treatment. This system helps control flooding and protects our drinking water from pollution.

The political and social reasons for this proposal are obvious. Let's be careful - or we might screw-up one of the few bureaucracies that seems to be working well. The DISTRICT'S aeration - waterfalls in Blue Island and Worth have cleaned up the SAG CHANNEL to the point where game fish including bass are being caught - a testament to the good job being done by the present DISTRICT board.

TRAIL AWARENESS DAY - The NATURE CONSERVANCY will sponsor an event this Saturday, October 16 beginning at 9:00 a.m., at the Palos Division of the Cook County Forest Preserve located at COUNTY LINE WOODS parking lot, one-half mile west of LaGrange Rd. on 95th St.

The NATURE CONSERVANCY has some 2,000 members in Northern Illinois who have regularly been maintaining trails and aiding eco-systems in our forest preserves. The Nature Conservancy has volunteered to take the mountain bikers, and anyone else who would like to attend, on an educational tour of the Palos area Forest Preserve.

This day is an introduction of the mountain bikers to the forest preserves. Parking for horse trailers may not be available due to the expected gathering of the bikers and hikers, but this is an ideal opportunity to learn about our forest preserves, the ecological sensitivity of the Palos area, trail courtesies, to make new friends, etc.

EQUESTRIANS ARE INVITED to walk along with DAVE EUBANKS of the forest preserve district as he explains the role of the Cook County Forest Preserve District, The Nature Conservancy and other concerned organizations, as well as trail users themselves.

EQUESTRIANS ARE ALSO INVITED to walk with KAREN STASKY, Santa Fe Prairie steward and horseback rider (although she won't be on horseback) as she explains the use of the trails.

EQUESTRIANS: It is urged that you attend this event. It is suggested you wear a name tag identifying yourself as a horseback rider, or you might carry a bright colored halter and lead rope over your shoulder. This was done at another county forest preserve when the management was concerned about horses mingling with bikers and people on foot in a heavily concentrated gathering. It works. It lets managers know equestrians are concerned and need places to pursue their recreation and that should be automatically included as part of the trail user community.

YOU ASK, HOW IS IT THAT EQUESTRIANS ARE INVITED? ? ? ? ? A trail committee of user groups has been formed for Cook County. Members, to date, include DAVE EUBANKS of the Cook County Forest Preserve District Headquarters, KEITH MISTRIK from the Chicago Bicycle Dealers Association, BETSY OTTO of the Open Lands Project, LAUREL ROSS of The Nature Conservancy, CARL BIRKELBACH, president of RIDE, Inc. (Recreation for Individuals Dedicated to the Environment), and RUBY HOLMQUIST, president of Illinois Trailriders accompanied by member, JEANNETTE FALK of Palos Hills. This committee plans to meet monthly to discuss trail issues.

Player Of The Week

Elmhurst College sophomore quarterback Tim Lyons of Evergreen Park (Brother Rice) garnered Offensive Player of the Week honors in the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin (CCIW) for directing the Bluejays' 40-32 comeback win at Carthage College in Kenosha, Wis. last Saturday (Oct. 2nd).

Making only his third QB start at Elmhurst (1-2 overall, 1-0 CCIW), Lyons was 23-for-33 passing for 314 yards and four TDs—all college career bests.

Thanks to the heroics of the 6-0, 172-pound Lyons, Elmhurst gave Paul Krohn his first win as a college head coach.

The victory also snapped Bluejays' road losing streak at 24 games over five seasons. Their last road win came in the first game of the 1988 season, by a 13-9 count at North Central College in Naperville.

Elmhurst rallied from a 32-21 third-quarter deficit as Lyons completed 10 of his last 11 passes. Trailing 14-7 after one quarter, the Bluejays grabbed a 21-20 halftime lead when Lyons regrouped from a 2-for-9 start to complete his final 10 of the first half.

Lyons threw TD passes of two yards to senior tight end Frank Rattin and 11 yards to senior wide receiver Chris Westerkamp in the second quarter, 59 yards to junior wide receiver Simeon Henderson in the third quarter, and two yards to senior wide receiver Joe Radostitz of Chicago (Brother Rice) in the fourth quarter.

In three games, Lyons is 34-for-103 passing for 640 yards and nine TDs—putting him on pace to shatter Elmhurst's single-season record of 16 TD passes set in 1963.

The Bluejays are charter members of the CCIW and compete at the Division III level of the NCAA.

Need Strong Finish

St. Xavier University looks to finish its 13th volleyball season on a strong note. The Cougars have a 11-19 overall record and a 2-4 record in the Chicagoland Collegiate Athletic Conference (CCAC). The Cougars are led by sophomore middle blocker Tia Piper, the Cougar rookie of the year who was also an all-conference selection in '92; senior Amy McBride, junior Dawn Rickerson and sophomore Kathy Biscan. Some of the freshmen who have made an impact on the team are Angie Leggit, Erin Beck and Jennifer Beyer.

Bob Heersema, head coach of the Cougar volleyball team since 1988, said, "I am looking for my young team to handle the pressure and intensity of match play. We are looking to improve on last year's record, which was 20-30. I feel we can accomplish this goal if the younger players continue to improve."

Card Show

Attention, sports card fans! Luther High School South will be hosting a sports card show on Saturday, Oct. 30th from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Admission is $1 for adults and students. Luther South is at 3130 W. 87th St. For more information, call Tony Rainey at Luther South, (312) 737-1416.

It's not every day people stop to cheer a piece of public works equipment. But that's exactly what the new street sweepers delivered to the City of Chicago by Eigin Sweeper Company are intended to do, rouse community spirit. Decorated with Cub and White Sox logos and pinstripes, the new sweepers are designed to help call attention to the important work of keeping Chicago streets clean and litter-free. Each year street sweeping removes hundreds of tons of debris and litter from neighborhood streets and area expressways. Without this ongoing clean-up, litter, dirt and debris find their way into roadside storm drains which are usually connected to public waterways such as rivers, lakes and streams.

Eigin Sweeper Company and its local dealers, Standard Equipment of Chicago, donated the cost of decorating the 'Cub' and 'Sox' sweepers after the ball teams gave their permission for use of the team symbols.

Eileen Carey, Chicago's Commissioner of Streets and Sanitation, accepted keys to a White Sox street sweeper from Roger Parsons, President of Eigin Sweeper Company, at Comiskey Park last month.

Successful fashion shows don't just happen. They take a lot of planning. Although the Cradle Society's 43rd annual fashion show benefit will not be held until Nov. 3rd, auxiliary members from throughout the metropolitan area have been hard at work on the show for months. This year the members have an added incentive in making the show a success: This is the 70th anniversary of the non-sectarian, private adoption agency. The fashion show is the major benefit for the agency that has placed thousands of children with loving families.

Locally, the South Suburban Auxiliary will be represented among the models for this year's show by Mr. and Mrs. Clint Peters and son Nicholas of Evergreen Park; and Patricia Aiello of Oak Lawn with granddaughters Amanda and Ali of Worth. Working hard behind the scenes for the show are auxiliary president Doreen Holford of Worth & Jan Fitzsimmons of Barrington, models chairmen; and Linda Vorderer of Oak Lawn, publicity chairman.

For reservations, contact the Cradle Society, 708-475-5800.

Polish Welfare Benefit

The Polish Welfare Association is hosting a Theatre Party Benefit on Friday, Nov. 5th at Candlelight Theatre. Your $35 donation for each ticket to the comedy, "It Runs in the Family," will help the Polish Welfare Association reach out to Chicagoland's residents and immigrants through programs that address not only citizenship, employment and literacy but also alcohol abuse, hunger and homelessness. For reservations or further information, please call (312) 282-8206.

Last year alone, nearly 15,000 people benefited from the services provided by the Polish Welfare Association.

MVCC Plans A Theater Trip

For those who want to see a professional theater production, but don't want to bother with ordering tickets, driving downtown and finding parking, Moraine Valley Community College has your ticket. Join Moraine Valley to see the Gershwin production, "Crazy for You," at the Auditorium Theater on Saturday, Nov. 20th. A bus leaves the College Center on campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave., at 1 p.m. and returns at 5:30. The $67 cost includes tickets and transportation.

It features "I Got Rhythm" and "Embraceable You."

To register, call (708) 974-2110. For more information, contact the Center for Community and Continuing Education at (708) 974-5745.

HOORAY FOR HOLLYWOOD...The interest in Hollywood weddings is measured by the number of helicopters hovering over the nuptials. According to one TV tabloid show producer, the wedding of television's bad girl, Shannon Doherty, 22, one of the stars of "Beverly Hills, 90210," to Ashley Hamilton, 18, son of tan king George Hamilton and Alana Hamilton Stewart, was a "one helicopter wedding." In other words, not much interest. However, had the Hollywood helicopter media fleet been alerted to the unusual nature of the wedding, perhaps the skys over Doherty's Mulholland Drive home would have been so crowded an air traffic controller would have been needed to keep the choppers from tangling their rotor blades with each other. The bride wore a "ratty" blue silk nightgown according to one of three guests who were invited to attend the ceremony. The reception, also held at Doherty's ranch-style home, was attended by only 20 people and it was a BYOB (bring your own beer) affair. The wedding cake came in a small box from a local grocery store. The bride and groom did provide the guests with champagne, and at one point when they ran out of champagne, the bride called a local Hollywood liquor store and a delivery boy arrived a short time later with another case of bubbly. Doherty did not invite her parents and Hamilton's parents were also left off the invitation list—if you can call a three-person wedding list, a "list." Stay tuned.

EMILIO ESTEVEZ (inset) plays one of four young men who witness a murder in the Universal Pictures release "Judgment Night" which is set to open at movie theatres all around the Chicago area tomorrow...20th Century Fox, the movie making dynasty, suffered through a dismal first quarter of 1993, a bit of a turn around this past summer, and now looks like it may be in for a major overhaul and tuneup under its new president Bill Mechanic. Mechanic, who left Disney studios to join Fox, will be responsible for all studio operations as well as marketing, distribution and production. 20th Century Fox is already turning red ink into black ink with the $12.5 million opening of "The Good Son," and word coming out of previews of Robin Williams' "Mrs. Doubtfire" have been four-star caliber.

TEN CENTS A DANCE UPDATE...Back in the 1920s and 30s in Chicago and other major cities, a rash of dance clubs opened where male patrons would plunk down ten cents to dance with one of the club's female dancers. Even a song, "Ten Cents a Dance," was written and became a big hit about the craze. In the mode of what goes around, comes around, the "dime-a-dance" fad has been dragged out of the closet and now is a big hit in trendy Los Angeles. But the old "ten cents a dance" idea has not been resurrected without feeling the pinch of inflation and the titillation of high technology. Patrons attending one of many dance clubs which have sprung up all over Los Angeles, must pay $1.40 cents a minute with a 10-minute minimum to dance or even just sit around and watch TV with the young girls who work for the club. A Los Angeles city ordinance prohibits the sale of booze in dance clubs so there is no hustling (pardon the expression) for drinks. The way the system works is very business-like. A male patron selects one of the young women milling about dressed usually in a tight, low-cut mini-dress, and together they go over to a cashier who punches the girls time card. Then the "couple" either dances or for people with two left feet they go to watch TV in one of the open television rooms. After the encounter is over, the pair return to the cashier who pulls out the time card, punches out the girl's time card on a clock, computes the bill on a computer, and presents the man with his bill. At this point, the departure from the old "ten-cents-a-dance" fad makes a sharp left turn. The dance hall patron is allowed to pay cash, or the guy can pay the bill with one of his credit cards. According to our Los Angeles source, there has never been a time when a married man paid for a night of dancing with one of his credit cards. But then again, Los Angeles, is the town which captured headlines lately when Heidi Fleiss, alleged madam to the stars, claimed many of her wealthy clients paid for her call-girl service with personal checks. So never say never, especially in la la land.

FINAL THOUGHT...Doesn't it seem strange to hear President Clinton referring to the military mess in Somalia and saying "we are not going to cut and run." Isn't "cutting and running" exactly what Bill Clinton did in 1969 to avoid the Vietnam War. Methinks President Clinton needs a new speech writer, or perhaps his media coordinator David Gergen should advise him on the bad choice of words. I have a suggestion. How about a new strategy and phrase more in step with what polls show the American public wants; "we are not worried about saving face, we are worried about saving our buns."

Royal Strings At The Moulin Rouge

It's back to the era of the big band when the legendary Franz Benteler and the Royal Strings Orchestra appear in the Fairmont's famed Moulin Rouge Showroom for a special single performance only, Oct. 30th. This evening of allure includes a 3-course dinner and dancing to the magnificent 11-piece orchestra, all for just $49 per person, plus tax and gratuity.

After emigrating to Chicago from Germany, violinist Franz Benteler began his musical career at a young age with the Chicago Civic Orchestra. Benteler's repertoire has expanded to include everything from Strauss, Chopin, Bach and Beethoven to bluegrass, boogie and the Beatles. The internationally acclaimed musician was made 'Chicago's Official Ambassador of Music' by the late Mayor Richard J. Daley.

The Franz Benteler dinner-dance, which begins at 7 p.m., recalls the big band supper clubs of yesteryear but is reinvented at the Fairmont with an entirely modern attitude. Primarily for those that remember the splendor of this former era, it is just as much an opportunity for younger generations to experience first-hand the glamour and nostalgia of days gone by.

In 1989, the Moulin Rouge Showroom was closed to the public due to an ever-changing music industry, but from time to time features big name acts in response to the growing demand for big band entertainment.

Appropriately decorated as a tribute to Toulouse Lautrec's favorite nightclub in 19th century Paris, the Moulin Rouge is a sophisticated 400-seat showroom that in its heyday hosted big name entertainers such as B.B. King, Tony Bennett and Carol Channing. The upbeat showroom is located off the Fairmont's main lobby. For reservations and other information, call (312) 565-6665.

Magic For All Ages

Enjoy the thrill and excitement of a magic show. The Haunted Halloween Magic Show at Moraine Valley Community College will add to the mysterious and eerie Halloween season. Parents and children are encouraged to wear costumes to this "all ages" show on Friday, Oct. 29th, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the College Center Moraine Rooms, in the campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave.

Tickets are $4 for adults; $3.50 for senior citizens, students and children. Tickets for groups of 15 or more are $3 a person.

Magic is an art that bridges all cultures, races and countries.

For information or to purchase tickets, call (708) 974-5745.

"Blast Of The Past" Dance

St. Laurence Fathers' Club invites all to a "Blast of the Past" dance scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 30th at the school, 5556 W. 77th St. Music will be provided by Pro DJ, with costumes optional. The dance will be from 7 p.m. until 12 midnight; the donation is $15 per couple (adults 21 or older) which includes a sandwich. Beer, wine coolers and soda will be available for purchase.

For further information, contact St. Laurence High School at (708) 458-6900 or Dennis Murphy at (708) 599-1918.

Route

Eisenhower High School students, faculty and staff will conduct the annual Homecoming celebration on Oct. 15th and 16th with the pep assembly, parade and football game on Friday and the homecoming dance on Saturday.

The Eisenhower Student Council and Pep Club will highlight an "Enchanted Sea" in the traditional afternoon pep assembly and parade scheduled for a 3:30 p.m. step-off on Friday and the dance from 7 until 11 p.m. on Saturday, following a week of special apparel days.

The parade will include floats, decorated cars, marching performance groups and walking groups.
The parade route will be south on Sacramento to 128th; east on 128th to California (Wahl); south on California to Union; east on Union to Highland Court; south on Highland Court to York; east on York to Greenwood; north on

After the parade, students and staff members will prepare to break the sound barrier with their cheers during the games against Thornwood at 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. Parade winners will be announced at halftime of the varsity game.

The dance will be an
"enchanted" night indeed featuring music videos and reigned over by this year's king and queen who will be named at the pep assembly.

Lester Braun, Jr., C of C Leader Dies

The Illinois State Chamber of Commerce is saddened by the recent death of Lester W. Brann, Jr., who served as its chief staff executive for 25 years, from 1967 to 1992.

"Les was highly regarded for his service and commitment to the chamber of commerce community throughout Illinois and nationwide. He will be especially remembered as mentor of numerous chamber of commerce executives across the country," said Sally A. Jackson, president and CEO, the Illinois Chamber.

In addition, Les was well known for his active role in state lobbying and problem solving on behalf of the Illinois business community. Among his many leadership positions, Brann was chief business negotiator in the agreed bill process with organized labor on unemployment insurance legislation and served on the Governor's Advisory Board to the Department of Employment Security.

Brann died on Oct. 2nd during the annual American Chamber of Commerce Executives (ACCE) conference in Florida. He had served as chairman of ACCE in 1974-75.

Brann joined the Illinois Chamber in 1967 as its chief staff executive. In 1970, he was elected the first full-time president of the Illinois Chamber.

"The Illinois Chamber offers condolences to his wife, Lois, who has been for many years a strong and visible chamber of commerce supporter," said Jackson.

A Lester W. Brann, Jr. Scholarship Fund is being established by the American Chamber of Commerce's Executive Education Foundation.

The Illinois Chamber is the state's largest broad-based business organization.

Traffic Questions

Many motorists are unaware of the Illinois traffic law regarding funeral processions. All motorists, whether driving in or approaching a funeral procession, must obey the law.

Q. What does the law say?

A. A funeral procession has the right-of-way at intersections when the vehicles in the procession have their headlights on.

Q. Must the lead vehicle stop at traffic lights?

A. Yes. The driver of the lead vehicle must comply with all stop signs and traffic control signals. But other drivers in the procession may proceed cautiously through the signals without stopping. Drivers in the procession also need to be aware of other drivers who may ignore the funeral procession.

Q. Can drivers not in the funeral procession pass vehicles in the procession?

A. Yes. They may overtake and pass funeral procession vehicles if they do not create a traffic hazard or interfere with the procession.

Q. What else does the law say?

A. Other motorists may not drive in the procession unless authorized by a traffic officer. In addition, it is unlawful for other motorists to turn on their lights and join the procession in an attempt to secure funeral procession right-of-way privileges.

Named To Dean's List

Robert W. Gray of Justice and Jill Fischer of Oak Forest were named to the Dean's List honors for the 1993 spring term at Aurora University. Honors were awarded to students who achieved a 3.6 grade point average on a 4.0 scale.

LEGAL NOTICE

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Mayor and Board of Trustees of the Village of Alsip, Illinois will hold a public hearing on November 1, 1993 at 7:15 p.m. in the Village Hall, 4500 West 123rd Street, Alsip, Illinois, pursuant to the requirements of Section 147(f) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, to consider the proposed issuance by the Village of Alsip of its $4,075,000 Multifamily Housing Refunding Revenue Bonds (Woodland Court, Ltd. Project), 1993 Series A and its $200,000 Taxable Multifamily Housing Revenue Bonds (Woodland Court, Ltd. Project), 1993 Series B (collectively, the "Bonds"), the proceeds of which will be loaned to Woodland Court, Ltd., an Illinois limited partnership (the "Borrower") to be used by the Borrower to finance the costs of refunding the outstanding original aggregate principal amount $4,400,000 Village of Alsip, Illinois Collateralized Multifamily Housing Revenue Bonds (Woodland Court, Ltd. Project), the proceeds of which were used for the acquisition and rehabilitation of 144 apartment units located near the intersection of 119th Street and Central Park Avenue in the Village of Alsip, Illinois (the "Project") and for the payment of related fees and costs. The Bonds and the obligation to pay principal and interest thereon shall not be deemed to constitute an indebtedness or a loan of credit of the Village of Alsip, the State of Illinois or any political subdivision thereof, or a charge against their general taxing powers, within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory provision of the State of Illinois. At the public hearing all persons will be afforded an opportunity to be heard in regard to the issuance of the Bonds and the location and nature of the Project. Subsequent to the public hearing at a regular or special meeting the Mayor and Board of Trustees of the Village of Alsip shall consider approval of the Bonds.

Mayor Stranczek Keeps His Promise To Rebate Taxes

Mayor Chester Stranczek is keeping his promise to rebate property taxes to Crestwood home and condo owners. The Mayor plans to issue the first rebate checks this week, amounting to 26 percent of the total tax bill. Only residents owning single-family homes or condo units are eligible for the rebate, originally said to amount to approximately 20 percent.

The rebate was made possible through revenues from the RiverCrest Centre, a shopping complex at Route 83 and Cicero Ave., formerly the site of Howell Airport. In addition to the revenue from the shopping center, The Winner's Circle, an off-track betting parlor adjacent to the RiverCrest Centre contributes 1.5 percent of each dollar wagered to the village.

Qualifying taxpayers who have paid the second installment of 1992 taxes, payable in August, are instructed to pick up a rebate application at the village hall, 13840 Cicero Ave., during regular office hours. Applicants must furnish village officials with the necessary documents to verify that they have paid the property taxes before they can receive refunds, Stranczek said.

The 26 percent rebate is the first step in Stranczek's plan to eliminate property taxes for homeowners by 1997. He commented, "Everyone thought the rebate plan was a joke. Now the scoffers are coming out of the woodwork to learn how we did it."

First City To Send Trash To Robbins

Leading the way in the south suburbs, the City of Country Club Hills Monday night voted 7 to 1 to send its trash to the Robbins Recycling and Trash-to-Energy Facility for the next twenty years.

By signing this contract, Country Club Hills is promising to send trash that is not recycled through the City's curbside program to the recycling and trash-to-energy facility. Under the contract, the City will not be required to guarantee a minimum or maximum tonnage of trash to the facility. This means Country Club Hills will not be penalized in any way if recycling or other circumstances cause the trash flow to fluctuate.

"The time has come for us to deal with the garbage crisis in Illinois on a local level. The Robbins facility offers a solution that is in the best interest of south suburban residents," said Country Club Hills Mayor Dwight Welch. "I think this contract is the first best step for our region, and a major step to ensure responsible waste management and a safer environment."

Offering a progressive package of benefits and protections unmatched by any waste disposal agreement in the country, the contract will ensure stable disposal prices for the 17,100 Country Club Hills residents over the next 20 years and reduce the City's dependence on landfills. It will also supplement the City's recycling program.

"Reading Energy Company commends the City of Country Club Hills for taking a leadership role and moving quickly on signing this precedent-setting contract," said Jim DiBiasi, vice president of Reading Energy Company. "We built this plant to serve the south suburbs as part of an integrated approach to solid waste management. We are confident other municipalities will soon follow the City's lead and allow us to provide recycling and trash-to-energy disposal services at low, stable prices for the next 20 years."

The main features of the contract are:

- Ensures stable trash disposal costs over 20 years, with predictable adjustments for inflation.
- Does not require a guaranteed maximum or minimum trash tonnage.
- Helps municipalities meet recycling goals efficiently and cost-effectively.
 - A $30 million recycling facility at the plant is designed to recycle 25 percent of all trash delivered.
 - The remaining trash will be recycled into a clean fuel used to generate electricity for approximately 41,000 homes.
- Ensures that ash from the facility will pass testing requirements for hazardous materials, and indemnifies communities from paying increased disposal costs related to ash disposal.

With Country Club Hills on board, Reading Energy will continue to work with individual municipalities on their contracts. The company plans to move as quickly as possible toward ground-breaking.

The Robbins trash-to-energy facility is designed to operate for approximately 45 years, processing 1,600 tons of trash per day and producing approximately 40 megawatts of electricity.

Hit-And-Run Death

Zvonko Odak of Mount Greenwood, 44, was killed when struck by a hit-and-run driver near the ramp leading to the Chicago Skyway at 65th and the Dan Ryan Expressway. Odak was hit just before 6 p.m. on Monday as he was walking back to his disabled van, carrying a bucket of water. According to the Cook County Medical Examiner's office, he died in Cook County Hospital at 8:51 p.m. Police are seeking witnesses to the incident. The hit-and-run vehicle was described as a dark blue sedan and was reportedly being driven in an erratic manner before striking Odak.

Dinner-Dance

The McDonald-Linn VFW, 5450 State Road, is holding a Halloween dinner-dance and costume party on Saturday, Oct. 30th at 7 p.m. Admission is $15 per person and there will be a prize for the best costume. An open bar is included.

The officers of the Marist High School Mothers' Club: Corresponding Secretary Rose Mary Douglas (Oak Lawn), President Mary Grimm (Midlothian), Vice-President Anita Sommerfeld (Oak Forest), Recording Secretary Linda Kemper (Oak Lawn), Treasurer Linda Lyons (Orland Park), and Membership Secretary Carol Noeth (Oak Forest), recently welcomed the new moms to the annual freshmen mothers' tea. The officers and committee members have many enjoyable activities planned, this year, for all the Marist mothers. Their grandest event of the year, the annual fall dinner, is to be held at the Oak Lawn Hilton on Monday, Oct. 18th at 6:30 p.m. All are invited to attend. This year's theme is 'Marist Masquerade,' featuring fashions with a holiday twist.

On Feb. 27th the moms host their sons at the annual mother and son bowl and on March 20th they will spend the morning together at the annual mother and son communion breakfast.

Throughout the year the moms sponsor the monthly market day and host a variety of receptions including, open house, the junior ring ceremony, and the graduation reception.

For more information on the Marist Mothers' Club, call Bro. James Devine, moderator, at (312) 881-6360.

Family Health Month Declared

Gov. Jim Edgar and mayors across the state are proclaiming October to be 'Family Health Month' in conjunction with the Illinois Academy of Family Physicians (IAFP), a 3,300-member organization of physicians specializing in family practice and concerned with providing affordable, quality healthcare. The proclamations stress the importance of prevention and early diagnosis of health problems to help ensure family health on a continuing basis. Family physicians provide the comprehensive, preventive care necessary in a reformed cost-effective and efficient healthcare system.

"Family practice is the medical specialty that provides training in the treatment of all age groups and organ systems, as well as in obstetrical care which is so needed in the state's many medically underserved areas," Gov. Edgar's proclamation states. There is a shortage of family physicians and other primary care physicians to provide care to all Illinois citizens.

Currently, there are 2,300 family physicians in Illinois. To meet our healthcare needs, the state needs 1,200 more. The demand for these physicians will continue to increase under a reformed health system.

"The Illinois Academy of Family Physicians is committed to making family physicians available to all citizens of our state," Raymond K. Weber, M.D., IAFP president, says. "We are pleased to see that the Clinton healthcare plan, as well as our state officials, recognize the important role family physicians play in providing comprehensive preventive care. We are prepared to do our part to assure quality, affordable healthcare for all Illinoisans."

Princeton Review

This fall, Multimedia Cablevision will be offering a pay-per-view exclusive: The Princeton Review * Student Admissions Television, the first and only guide to the PSAT, SAT, and college admissions for pay-per-view television. Premiering in October, the 90-minute show, co-produced by The Princeton Review and Prestige Production Ventures, Inc., will provide an overview of the complex college admission process and the SAT's role in it. The innovative program will showcase some of The Princeton Review's proven techniques in the same witty and irreverent style that has made The Princeton Review the nation's leading SAT course.

The program also previews the new PSAT, to be administered in October, when more than 1.1 million high school students take the revised test which will include the first format changes in 20 years. Nearly 3,000,000 students will take the PSAT or SAT during the 1993-94 school year.

According to Cliff Waggoner, vice-president and general manager of Multimedia Cablevision, "We're delighted to offer Student Admissions Television to our community. With the anxiety over college admissions and the format changes in the PSAT and SAT, we anticipate that this program will be very helpful to high school students as they prepare for college."

What Was Happening...

50 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE INDEPENDENT

The committee for the Oak Lawn Library Tag Day, to be held on Saturday, has been busy stringing their tags. They urge citizens to support generously their drive to provide funds for the public library.

Five members of the Mothers of World War II, Unit 1, of Oak Lawn, attended the meeting at the LaSalle Hotel on Sept. 30th. Those attending from Oak Lawn were: Mrs. F. Jaklich, president of the unit; Mrs. E. Kellams, Mrs. F. Welch, Mrs. N. Schmalen and Mrs. M. Shanahan.

Troop 682 of Oak Lawn held their annual Dad and Son Hike at Camp Kiwanis on Friday and Saturday. Scoutmaster George Wilson was in charge, assisted by the members of the troop committee. Cabins were reserved for all Scouts and their fathers.

Due to a holiday on Oct. 12th and rationing, the 19th meeting will be held on Oct. 13th at Covington School. The summer roundup awards will be given and a home-canning exhibit held. Miss Jay will be guest speaker. All the room mothers have been selected and will be around to sell memberships in the PTA. The school board has given permission to continue the Friday night dances at Covington School.

The Columbus Manor's 3rd War Loan Drive opened Wednesday evening with a large rally at the fire house. The women volunteers of this community will call from house to house for the sale of war bonds, beginning this week.

At the meeting of the Oak Lawn Lions Club to be held on Tuesday evening, D.O. Chapman announces the entertainment will consist of a harp concert by Miss Alyda Ratajik and a moving picture showing local scenes and residents. The meetings will all be held at the Lutheran Church at 98th and Brandt Ave.

The Mothers of World War II will hold their convention in Gary on Nov. 2nd, 3rd and 4th. Local members who wish to attend the banquet at the Gary Hotel on Nov. 4th must make reservations. The Mothers have all their Christmas boxes for servicemen overseas packed and mailed. Those for boys and girls in this country will be mailed soon. There are still a few addresses missing. Families are requested to answer the cards so that their boy and girl can be remembered.

Mrs. F. Jaklich, president of the Mothers of World War 2, Unit 1 of Oak Lawn, wishes to appeal to the people of the Oak Lawn community to get behind the mothers of the boys in service and help them in their efforts to make a success of the Country Fair. All donations will be gratefully accepted and everyone is urged to come and have a good time on Sept. 19th at the Legion Hall.

Oak Lawn beat Queen of Angels 3-2 on Sunday, Sept. 5th at Oak Lawn. On Labor Day, Oak Lawn beat the ABC colored team of Indianapolis 3-1.

Teen Jail Drama Is HLR Fall Production

"Juvie," H.L. Richards High School's fall play, opens on Thursday, Oct. 14th for a three-night run featuring juveniles but only 'acting' delinquents. The play, written by Jerome McDonough, is set in a holding cell for teenagers and covers the course of an evening. Thirteen juveniles are introduced, one at a time, to the audience with a brief description of their crime which can range anywhere from shoplifting to attempted murder.

"Students are very interested in this play as evidenced by the largest turnout of students auditioning for a play in years," comments drama director Charles Palia, "and the 13 who made the cast are really getting into their roles!"

Chris Vorberg as 'Pinky' plays a hardened teen who has been in juvie lockup a number of times with the most recent crime being drug dealing. She immediately confronts another "regular," Becky Bonovich as 'Jean,' who was arrested for burglary of a habitation. Jamie Cooper as 'Sunny' went on a joy ride that ended tragically while William Dillard as 'Andrew' cannot understand why he is locked up other than the fact that he was caught running numbers for a gambling ring.

Other cast members held in "Juvie" include Pat Brosnan as 'Skip' for driving under the influence, Emily Flemming as 'Leah' for kidnapping; Jenny McGuigan as 'Carey' for hit-and-run, Debbie Spyropolous as 'June' for gang fighting, DeJuan Frazier as 'Sean' for vandalism, Marico Graham as 'Phylly' for arson, Lisa Feltenberger as 'Dina' for attempted murder, Melissa Drozd as 'Ann' for shoplifting, Tamaica Martin as 'Jane,' a runaway, and Chris Dangles as the guard of juvenile detention.

"Juvie" officially opens to the public on Thursday, Oct. 14th at 7:30 p.m. in the little theatre at Harold L. Richards

High School, 10601 S. Central Ave. Additional performances are on Oct. 15th and Oct. 16th, also at 7:30 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door at prices of $2 for students, $3 for senior citizens and $4 for adults.

"Don't worry," explains Palia, "all the delinquents in the show get what they deserve in the end. This play was selected not only as an acting challenge since, as each "Juvie" tells his or her story, the rest of the cast act out the different characters, but also as a lesson in life."

On one of the performance nights, the show is evaluated by representatives from the Illinois High School Theatre Festival for consideration to participate in its annual fest at Illinois State University. Only five plays in the entire state are selected to perform their full-length shows. H.L. Richards High School's Drama Club has performed for the festival on two previous occasions.

ACT Performance Info

Legislative debate continues on the impact money has on academic achievement, but results from the American College Testing (ACT) show that children from families with increased income generally have higher ACT scores. The state's average ACT composite (overall) score for 1993 is 21 (20.7-national), up from 20.9 for last year. When you look at composite scores based on family income brackets starting with less than $18,000 to more than $36,000, students scored 22.3 from families earning more than $36,000 as compared to 18.1 from families with incomes less than $18,000.

"Family income and adequate educational funding are two different subjects. However, money is a key component in both factors when providing students with educational experiences to improve student learning," State Superintendent of Education Robert Leininger explained.

"Students who come from families or schools that cannot afford to offer learning environments which nurture academic excellence will tell you that money can make a difference. Many schools are not in a financial position of providing the breadth of educational experiences for students who need the opportunities and materials the most."

Regardless of race or family income, students who took a core program, at least four years of English and three years each of mathematics, natural sciences and social studies, were the top performers on the ACT. Coupling that factor with income, ACT data show that students from higher-income families had even higher scores.

Students in Illinois who had not taken core courses scored a composite of 19.6 (19.1-national) as compared to those who took a core program and had an average composite of 22.8 (22.2-national). Income brackets show that students in core programs and from families earning more than $36,000 had an average ACT composite of 23.6 as compared to 20.2 for those students from families earning less than $18,000.

"While I am pleased that Illinois students continue to outpace the national average on the ACT, we cannot use test scores alone to measure student achievement or school performance," Leininger pointed out.

"Under the new school accreditation process, the State will be able to provide a complete picture using a variety of indicators of how well students and schools are performing across Illinois," Leininger added.

ACT data also show that Illinois' Class of 93 out performed last year's class on ACT's subtests: English-20.5 (20.4), Mathematics-20.6 (20.5), Reading-21.4 (21.2), and Science Reasoning-21.1 (20.8). The national averages for subtests were 20.3-English, 20.1-Mathematics, 21.2-Reading, and 20.8-Science Reasoning.

Illinois ACT scores are based on the performance of 77,718 individuals, 64 percent of the graduating class of 1993. Students took the test during their junior or senior years. Using a scale of 1 to 36, ACT is one of America's primary college entrance exams.

Commission Releases Doyle For 'Shortcomings'

In a ruling handed down by the Oak Lawn Police and Fire Commission, Police Captain Timothy Doyle was released from his job after 23 years with the Oak Lawn Police Department. Doyle had been brought up on 31 different charges by Police Chief Frank Gilbert. Among the charges was that Doyle falsely accused Gilbert of criminal acts. Doyle outlined the charges in a letter written to Gilbert on Dec. 1st, 1992, copies of which he gave to Mayor Ernest Kolb and the board of trustees.

The commission exonerated Doyle on five minor charges. However, it was stated commissioners agreed that the other acts "constituted substantial shortcomings on Doyle's part and warrant dismissal."

Charges against Doyle stem from a narcotics investigation of William Bauer. It was stated that Doyle maintained a relationship with the family of the suspect and continued to enlist business favors from them for a landscaping service that Doyle ran on the side.

In turn, Doyle insisted that Gilbert used his influence to thwart the investigation. Doyle said that former village prosecutor Edward Barron and former village manager Michael Feeley fixed the case with Cook County State's Attorney James McCarter, supervisor of the state's attorney's office in the Bridgeview 5th district court.

Doyle contended he was falsely accused and that he did not falsely accuse Chief Gilbert of anything. He stated that he reported wrongdoing to the village board as he was supposed to do. Gilbert admitted after the hearing that he would not have brought so many charges against Doyle if he had not written the letter.

Doyle is uncertain of how, or even if he will, appeal the commission's ruling, but Doyle's attorney Richard Cosentino contends that they will do something.

President Joy Bohne of Oak Lawn presided at the September opening night meeting of the South West Woman's Club 1993-94 year. The program was beautifully prepared with an informative slide presentation by Laurel Anderson of her tour of St. Petersburg and Moscow. She also showed a collection, all from her recent trip, of Russian dolls, jewelry, decorations, a fur hat and sweat shirt from the university.

The club's Oct. 25th meeting will be held at the Johnson-Phelps VFW Hall, 9514 52nd Ave., at 7:30 p.m. A shower will be held for the residents of St. Catherine of Genoa Parish House, a shelter for homeless and/or abused women and children. Alice M. Collins of Beverly will talk to the membership about the home and its residents.

Kate Leise, a student at Richards High School used scholarship money awarded by the club to attend Music Camp at Butler University, Indiana this past summer. She will provide a musical program for the enjoyment of the members and guests.

Other officers and board members serving the club this year are: Irene Merijohn and Audrey Rausch of Palos Heights; Adele Marshall, LaVerne Wach, Rosemary Kenny, Jeanette Marks, Lil and Laurel Anderson all of Oak Lawn; Rhea Maurer of Alsip; Marie Reilly of Chicago; Theresa Kill of Palos Hills; Myrtle Wallender of Evergreen Park, and Grace Oakes of Palos Heights.

For more information about the club, call (708) 636-4479.

Reality Therapy Workshop To Be Held

Dr. William Glasser, founder of the Institute for Reality Therapy and the Educator Training Center in California, is scheduled to share his concept of how to "manage for quality" as you counsel, teach or supervise, at "A Day with Dr. William Glasser - Working Effectively with People" on Wednesday, Nov. 3rd at Northwestern University's Thorne Auditorium, 375 E. Chicago Ave., Chicago. The program is sponsored by the Southwest YMCA. Registration begins at 8 a.m., followed by the morning session from 9 a.m. until 12 noon. The afternoon session will run from 1:30 to 4 p.m., following lunch-on-your-own.

Dr. Glasser is a board-certified psychiatrist, pre-eminent lecturer and author. Always on the cutting edge, his previously controversial and challenging views are now being embraced by the public and taught all over the world. His landmark book, Reality Therapy, published in 1965, outlined a new approach to mental health. In 1969 he documented his belief that school failure was destructive to the mental health of the failing child in his book, Schools Without Failure. His current focus is on implementing his theories in the area of management as well as education.

Within a format of lecture, role-play and time for questions and answers, Dr. Glasser will use practical examples and demonstrations of how reality therapy and control theory can be utilized in management by developing trusting relationships, using non-coercive techniques and encouraging self-evaluation.

Social workers, counselors, educators, drug and alcohol counselors, mental health workers, corrections and law enforcement personnel, supervisors and managers in both the corporate and not-for-profit sectors, psychologists, psychiatrists, clergy, physicians, attorneys and rehabilitation workers, along with anyone else who works with people, may attend.

Participants receive a certificate for five continuing education units (CEUs).

Pre-registration is $30 for individuals. Groups of 10 or more may pre-register at a cost of $35 per person. Early pre-registration is strongly advised. Pre-registrations must be postmarked no later than Wednesday, Oct. 27th.

To obtain a brochure and registration form, or for further information, contact Sue Sullivan or Linda at the Southwest Y by calling (708) 385-6700. Brochures are also available at the Southwest Y's Alsip office, 3801 W. 127th St.

Updated Computers

This past summer, Community High School District 218 updated and increased its computer laboratory capabilities. Because the three existing laboratories at Eisenhower, Richards and Shepard high schools couldn't provide the needed capacity in terms of class time and software utilization, the district added a fourth laboratory at each building. Primarily, increased use of Writer's Workbench, a writing analysis software for English classes, created the need for the additional computer space.

District 218 updated an additional laboratory at each building. Each high school now features two laboratories containing the IBM EduQuest Model 40, the company's latest network laboratory computer. All of the laboratories received new file servers, devices which manage the computer networks and store software and data. The new file servers accelerate the systems' operating speed and allow for greater storage capacity.

District 218 staff also rewired two of the computer laboratories, which now operate on token ring networks which allow students to access software from file servers throughout their schools. Since file servers can store a finite number of software packages, the token ring network permits access to virtually every kind of software available in the building.

The summer's work represents only the latest step in District 218's five year old investment in technology.

Annual Flea Market

There will be a flea market at the Oak Lawn Senior Center on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 29th and 30th. This annual flea market features a bake sale, jewelry table, a boutique with new or like-new clothing, a drawing table with new items, at least 25 tables with clothing, books, electrical items and tools. There will also be a cafe serving homemade soup, sandwiches, salads and desserts. Lunch is served all day on both Friday and Saturday.

The address of the center is 5330 W. 95th St. and if you are donating items to the flea market, the time to do this is on Thursday, Oct. 28th. If you need a pickup, call 499-0240.

Selling hours will be on both days from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Mothers Club is responsible for many school activities including the Country Fair, the father/daughter dances, formal dress resale and the spring luncheon.

Permits

Housing permit activity for single family and multi-family homes in the Chicago metropolitan area rose 25% in August compared to the same month last year, according to the Bell Federal Survey of Building.

Total permits, including single family and multi-family increased from 2,349 permits issued in 1992 to 2,938 this year.

Single family homes rose 33%, reporting 2,522 permits compared to 1,895 in August, 1992. Multi-family housing dropped 8%, reporting 416 units below the 454 reported one year ago.

During the first eight months of 1993, permits issued for both single family and multi-family housing totaled 17,957, an increase of 9% from the 16,477 permits in the first eight months of 1992.

Brother Rice and Mother McAuley High School students, along with their parents, listen to a presentation from a college representative at the Brother Rice-McAuley College Night. Representatives from well over 100 colleges and universities were on hand to answer questions about their institutions. The Brother Rice cafeteria and library were full of college-bound students and their parents gathering applications and other materials from these representatives.

Child Support Collection At Record High

Gov. Jim Edgar recently announced that child support collections in fiscal year 1993 reached a record high of $202 million, a $14.5 million increase from the previous year.

"Our aggressive efforts to collect child support are paying off for children, families and taxpayers," the governor said. "By cracking down on deadbeat parents, we are seeing to it that children get the support they need without going on the public aid rolls. With get-tough measures, including income withholding and interception of tax refund checks, collections last year exceeded $200 million for the first time. And we expect collections to increase even more substantially this year because of initiatives we have launched."

Among those initiatives are implementing a faster hearing process in Cook County, establishing paternity in the hospital right after a birth, and strengthening the program to go after the assets of people who refuse to pay child support.

The fiscal year 1993 collection total represents a 600 percent increase from a decade ago. Since the state began child support enforcement in 1976, it has collected more than $1 billion.

"Many people don't realize the magnitude of the problem caused by people who fail to provide support for their children. When parents avoid their obligation, they not only deprive their children, but also shift the cost to taxpayers. More than half of the child support caseload includes families on welfare," Edgar said at a Thompson Center news conference.

In 1993, the Department of Public Aid's child support enforcement division served 216,843 families receiving aid for dependent children (AFDC) and 212,291 non-assistance clients and their children. About $64.4 million was collected for families on AFDC and $137.6 million for families not on public aid. Of the total amount collected, more than $125.3 million came from income withheld from parents' paychecks and $21.1 million was intercepted from federal and state tax refund checks.

The department helped establish 39,734 child support orders, located non-custodial parents and established paternity in nearly 15,000 cases and withheld income from the paychecks of more than 52,000 parents.

"Each year we continue to build on the success of our program," Robert W. Wright, acting state public aid director, said. "This past year we reached more single parents with our services than ever before."

Child support services include establishing paternity and child support orders, locating absent parents and enforcing and modifying existing support orders. Services are available to all Illinois residents regardless of their income.

For more information on collecting child support, call the Department of Public Aid's child support toll-free number, (800) 447-4278, TDD (800) 526-5812.

Libraries To Share Resources

Lewis University and nine other colleges and universities in the South Metropolitan Regional Higher Education Consortium will participate in a library resource sharing and reciprocal borrowing agreement, effective this fall. The agreement allows students, faculty and staff from each of the 11 institutions to use library materials in any of the member schools. Students, faculty and staff will be required to present current, valid identification from their schools in order to borrow circulating materials from other libraries. Library policies from each institution will be observed.

Along with Lewis University in Romeoville, participating Consortium members are: College of St. Francis, Governors State University, Joliet Junior College, Kankakee Community College, Moraine Valley Community College, Olivet Nazarene University, Prairie State College, South Suburban College and St. Xavier University.

Books and materials borrowed must be returned to the library from which they are borrowed.

Lewis University also belongs to LIBRAS, Inc., which allows sharing of resources and borrowing among 17 college and university libraries, including Aurora University, Barat College, Columbia College, Concordia University, Elmhurst College, Illinois Benedictine College, Judson College, Kendall College, Lake Forest College, North Central College, North Park College, Rosary College, St. Xavier University, Trinity Christian College, Trinity College and Wheaton College.

"Participating in library resource sharing benefits all of the colleges and universities involved," said Laura Patterson, librarian at Lewis. "Each institution has collections which reflect its academic programs and interests, including special collections that cannot be found at every school. By allowing access to these collections, resources may be shared, thus expanding educational opportunities for students, faculty and staff. Sharing resources also will result in cost savings for libraries since there will no longer be a need to purchase books that may be used infrequently if they are available through a library that already has them or has them in collections tailored to their student body."

The library at Lewis includes 170,000 volumes, 506 periodical titles, reference books, audio visual equipment, microfilm, computer searching facilities including FirstSearch, and the federal government depository. The Illinois and Michigan Canal Regional History Collection also is housed in the Lewis library.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

The Illinois General Assembly sent three important "open government" bills to a Senate sub-committee for hearings this summer. The three bills would close loopholes in the state's open meetings and freedom of information (FOI) acts. The bills would make it easier for citizens to have access to important documents affecting their tax dollars, and would discourage "closed-door wheeling and dealing" by local officials. They are endorsed by Illinois Common Cause, Attorney General Roland Burris, the Better Government Association (BGA), the Illinois Press Association (IPA), the Independent Voters of Illinois (IVI) and others.

But, surprise! Local government officials don't want any changes to the backroom status quo. They vehemently oppose all three bills.

Mayors, clerks and village trustees from all over Illinois pack the Senate hearings with a mournful litany of how burdensome it would be to notify taxpayers sooner of important council agendas where public matters are discussed. They whine about "unfunded state mandates" since the bill requires the "costly" practice of keeping a record of what's said behind closed doors (last we checked, a good-quality tape recorder cost under $20).

By any standard, the opposing arguments to these much-needed improvements in open government are strained, and should be rejected by legislators and their constituents alike.

But, the PAC representing these local honchos is a jitan, the Illinois Municipal League. They give big bucks to state legislators which they glean from fees charged for managing local pension funds. Packing a legislative hearing room full of mayors from the Senators' own districts is a high-pressure lobbying technique they like to use. Legislators are reluctant to vote against local officials, as it may jeopardize endorsements or political help legislators need come election time.

Cozy cooperation between state and local government officials can bode well or ill. In the question of whether to improve open meetings and FOI laws, the public's ownership of and access to its own democratic government should outweigh the self-interests of local officials. The General Assembly should pass these bills immediately.

Sincerely,

Tracy Litsey, Executive Director

Calls Third Area Airport Study A Waste Of Money

Congressman Bill Lipinski (D-3) addressed the United States House of Representatives recently regarding the Federal Aviation Administration's (FAA) decision to deny grant money to study the feasibility of constructing a third Chicago airport in Peotone.

Lipinski said, "I would like to comment on some of the things said by my friends and colleagues, the gentlemen from Illinois and Indiana. I have worked with the gentleman from Illinois throughout this reauthorization in an attempt to resolve this regional issue. While I certainly look forward to working with him in the future, Mr. Visclosky raises a point that deserves my support."

"Although we are talking about spending federal money, this is really just a regional issue. Other than the federal government, the three units of government involved are: The City of Chicago, the State of Illinois and the State of Indiana. All three will be significantly impacted by the construction of a third Chicago airport. This impact will be felt whether or not the airport is built in Peotone."

"The Governor of Illinois is up for re-election and wants to build an airport so that he can say to the voters, 'Hey, look what I can do. I can bring federal money back to the State of Illinois.' The problem with the Governor's plan is that we in this House must also answer to the voters. We must be able to defend how we spend the taxpayer's money. We must make good decisions, based on sound data and not on political whim."

"I opposed the $2 million grant award for one very simple, straight forward reason, there is no need to build a third airport in the Chicago Metropolitan area. It would be a waste of money to build, or even study building such a facility."

"Chicago is home to two of the nation's premier airports: Midway Airport and O'Hare International. These facilities serve as international gateways and hub facilities for major carriers and regional airlines. Both airports serve as the economic base for the local community and the entire region. Thousands of jobs depend on the continued vitality of these airports."

"Each of these airports has been improved, and will continue to be improved, with federal dollars. This is because O'Hare and Midway are capable of handling any future increase in air traffic. A third airport would only serve to divert traffic away from these two facilities."

"Mr. Sangmeister has raised the subject of O'Hare and its master plan, that the FAA should now ensure that the State of Illinois is consulted on and supportive of, grants to Chicago's Airports. After all, he correctly pointed out, the $2 million was denied because the state could not achieve regional consensus on Peotone. Let me just say that the FAA is completely within the law to approve funding for O'Hare and Midway airports, without regard to the desires of the State or Governor of Illinois."

"O'Hare and Midway are real. They are viable facilities that help this nation transport its citizens and their goods. The federal government is committed to providing the funding necessary to carry-out these important missions. Peotone is fantasy. There is no comparison, legally or otherwise, between grants made to O'Hare and Midway, and the grant for the Peotone study. I think the State of Illinois would do well to remember this fact."

"I understand Mr. Visclosky's motivation for raising this important subject. I also understand why Mr. Sangmeister has felt the necessity to speak out. All three of us have remained, and will remain, deeply involved in local aviation issues. But, regardless of the committee report, the grant has now been denied. The FAA acted within its rights and saved the taxpayers $2 million that would otherwise have been wasted."

Good Cents Coupons

Look for valuable 'Good Cents' rebate coupons in your next Commonwealth Edison bill statement and find savings on home winterization products such as programmable thermostat, duct tape and expanding foam sealant. The coupons can be redeemed by mail. Also enclosed is a heating efficiency checklist. It includes 'how-to' tips on sealing gaps around windows and ducts, placing draft blockers behind switch and outlet plates, insulating ceilings and reducing home energy consumption.

Commonwealth Edison is making these valuable coupons, along with other energy efficiency tips, available to all residential customers in next month's bill insert. Don't miss out on these "good sense" savings. The rebates for the thermostat and sealant expire on Nov. 30th, while the duct tape rebate expires Dec. 31st.

Running For School Board

Charles Menard of Evergreen Park is a candidate for the position of the Worth Township School Board. He has been employed for 28 years as controller for Continental Envelope Co. He is married and has five children.

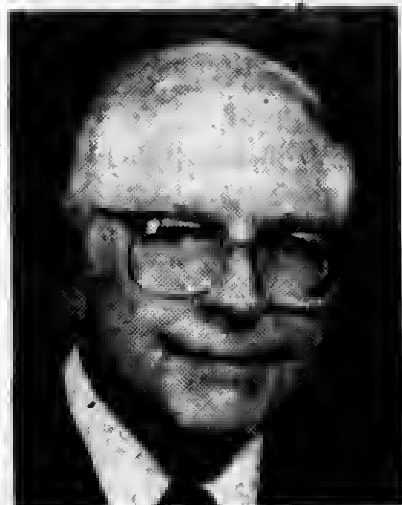

Menard served on the Evergreen Park District 231 School Board, as a trustee of the EP Police Pension Board and as treasurer for Evergreen Aqua Park.

"I feel I am qualified to serve as a Worth Township School Board Trustee with my expertise as a member of the District 231 School Board for more than 21 years; my experience as a controller for a major industrial firm; as a pension board trustee and as treasurer of Aqua Park, handling and investing over $10,000,000," Menard said.

He added, "I am a write-in candidate for Worth Township School Board Trustee. To write-in, voters must write-in the title of the office (Worth Trustee of Schools, Township 37 North, Range 13 East; Full term 6 years); write-in candidate's name, Charles Menard, below the office, and mark an 'X' in the box. Do not vote for names printed on ballot."

The school board election is on Tuesday, Nov. 2nd and precinct polling places are open from 6 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Bicycle Path Grant Awarded

Gov. Jim Edgar recently awarded $2.7 million to 28 communities to acquire or develop 90 miles of bicycle paths that will provide expanded, safer recreational opportunities.

"Bike paths offer the double benefit of greater recreational opportunities and safer travel conditions. Best of all, they give families an activity they can enjoy together," the governor said. "These grants will allow the acquisition of 41 miles of new trails and development of another 49 miles."

Nearly 280 miles of trails have been funded since the inception of the bicycle path grant program four years ago. An avid bicyclist, Edgar championed the legislation establishing the grant program during his tenure as Secretary of State.

The Cook County Forest Preserve District and the Will County Forest Preserve District received the maximum award of $200,000 for development projects. There is no funding limit for acquisition projects.

Of the 30 projects funded, 11 specifically are identified in the recently released Northeastern Illinois Regional Greenways Plan. The plan's goal is to establish a linked network of parks and greenways that run throughout the region.

The Cook County Forest Preserve District's project will develop a three-mile bicycle trail loop in the Midlothian Meadows Preserve. The completion of the project will bring the total length of the Tinley Creek bicycle trail to 18.5 miles.

Conservation Director Brent Manning said the agency, which administers the program, received 36 applications for funding this year with a combined request of $3.5 million. The grants are available to any local government having statutory authority to acquire and develop land for public recreation. Grants are funded from a percentage of motor vehicle title transfer fees and provide up to 50 percent of an approved project's total cost.

Applications for the next cycle of grants will be accepted Jan. 1st through March 1st, 1994.

For information about the program, contact the Department of Conservation, Division of Grant Administration, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, IL 62701-1787, or call (217) 782-7481 or TDD (217) 782-9175.

Safe Halloween

With Halloween approaching, Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan has issued a series of safety tips to promote a safe Halloween for children in communities throughout Cook County.

"Halloween can be a fun day for both children and adults," Sheahan said. "But it is important for parents to follow some simple guidelines before sending their children out to 'trick-or-treat.'"

According to Sheahan, parents should start out by checking their children's costumes. Face make-up is preferable to masks, but if a mask is necessary, be sure it has enlarged holes for breathing and vision. Check the length of the costume's material to prevent tripping, and discourage your children from carrying sharp or pointed objects as part of their costumes.

Young children should always be accompanied by an adult and older children should "trick-or-treat" in groups and should make their parents aware of the route they intend to follow. It is a good idea to limit your children's "trick-or-treat" activities to friends or neighbors you know well.

Finally, when "trick-or-treating" is completed, parents should thoroughly inspect all candy before children are allowed to eat it. Candy that appears to have been unwrapped or tampered with in any way should be discarded. Apples and other fruit should be sliced several times before eating.

Business Counseling

SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives), well known for its wide variety of small business workshops and its in-office free counseling, is making available a special service to the small business community: "on-site" counseling field trips - at no charge for these services.

SCORE is a national service organization comprised of retired business professionals—all volunteers. The 65 members of the Chicago office each average 40 years of experience in one or more of the following areas: finance, marketing, operations, systems; adequate coverage of virtually any situation(s). Their abilities are available to serve small business.

Because some small business owners or managers find it inconvenient (or perhaps virtually impossible) to be away from their businesses in order to avail themselves of SCORE's free counseling service at SCORE offices, SCORE now makes it possible to arrange to send a counseling team to meet with management on-site, at their premises. All of this at no cost.

A phone call to SCORE: (312) 353-7724, will facilitate the setting-up of a preliminary meeting at the place of the business. (SCORE is based in the Business Development Offices of the U.S. Small Business Administration: 500 W. Madison St., Suite 1250, Chicago, 60661.)

Traffic Death Statistics

Traffic fatalities for September totaled 108 as a result of 92 crashes, an increase of 21.3 percent from the 89 deaths in September 1992, according to provisional figures released by the Illinois Department of Transportation and State Police.

Included in the September totals were 16 pedestrians killed in 16 crashes, 10 persons killed in 10 crashes involving motorcycles, and 1 person killed in 1 railroad crossing crash. There were no pedalcyclist fatalities for the month.

The provisional total of 992 deaths for 1993 is an increase of 1.5 percent from the 977 deaths in 1992. The department's latest provisional figures indicate travel increased by 2.0 percent for the same time period.

Landfill

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) moved last Thursday to allow approximately 30 Illinois landfills to remain open for the next six months to accept waste from this year's flood and to be consistent with federal regulations.

The IEPA filed a variance petition before the Illinois Pollution Control Board that would allow landfills that are accepting household waste from the flood or those that receive less than 100 tons of household waste per day to stay open until April 8, 1994. These landfills have to stop accepting household waste on Oct. 8, under state law or be subject to more stringent statutory and regulatory provisions.

The IEPA's action is necessary because the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency recently changed its regulations to allow the six-month extension for certain municipal solid waste landfills.

Donors

This Thanksgiving holiday, give thanks for your good health, help a patient by donating blood.

"Blood drives held around holidays are especially important," said Jill R. Danielson, community relations director at United Blood Services' Chicago center. "That's because United Blood Services' blood drive schedule is often reduced over a long holiday weekend. So an additional supply of blood is needed to meet patient demand."

Many people celebrate the Thanksgiving holiday weekend by taking a "mini-vacation" out of town. However, hospital patients can't take a vacation; they need blood every day, even on holidays.

Thanksgiving is a time for sharing and each blood donation can be given to as many as three to four patients. Every donation can be broken down into red cells, plasma, platelets and cryoprecipitate.

Call United Blood Services at (312) 751-0246 for a blood donor site close to your home or workplace.

Nursing Accreditation

Moraine Valley Community College's associate degree nursing program was recently granted continuing accreditation by the National League for Nursing. The process focused on a campus visit, a self-study report submitted by the faculty, the college catalog and specific reaccreditation criteria.

Urges Screening For Breast Cancer

Dr. John R. Lumpkin, state health director, said recently that breast cancer deaths in Illinois could be reduced by as much as 30 percent if women would follow regular screening recommendations.

"More than 8,700 women in Illinois will be diagnosed this year with breast cancer, the most common form of cancer in women, and more than 2,200 will die," Dr. Lumpkin said. "Early detection is the key to saving lives."

To promote a better understanding of breast cancer and prevention efforts, Gov. Jim Edgar has proclaimed October as Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

When a breast tumor is found in its earliest stages, the chance of long-term survival increases to more than 90 percent. A mammogram can detect most breast tumors up to two years before they can be felt during a clinical examination by a health care provider or a self-examination.

Women should receive their first mammogram at age 40; by age 50, it should be done annually. Women should also have their breasts examined by a health care provider once a year and perform a breast self-exam once a month.

Currently, only 60 percent of women over 50 years of age

All Points Southwest

Years ago when a school district needed more money it could schedule its own referendum any time of the year. This usually worked because few people learned of the election while many who did paid no attention and skipped the voting procedure.

Now, under the non-partisan election law all referenda are held at a special date with no helter skelter referenda scattered about the county at various times of the year.

The Tuesday, November 2, non-partisan election is basically all about schools. In addition to referenda for increased taxation in many districts all districts will elect members to their respective boards of education.

Voters will cast ballots for board members of elementary, unit and high school districts. Also trustees of the community college districts, and township trustees of schools. Also on the ballot are candidates for trustees of fire protection districts and questions of public policy in some municipalities. The latter two are the only balloting not school related.

Cook County Clerk David Orr has done a herculean job to inform taxpayers of the election by publishing legal notices in community newspapers throughout the Cook County suburban area. Every precinct of each township under the jurisdiction of his election department is included in this balloting and notification.

Our Southwest Messenger publications (in this issue) publish voting locations, referenda, and ballot information for districts in the many townships our 14 publications cover.

There is no pay for any of the board seats although winners will have a lot to say how tax dollars are spent and with whom spent. If you look at your real estate tax bill you'll see that the bulk of your money goes for education.

There was a time when it was difficult to find candidates who would devote time to non-paying, time consuming, thankless duties on a school board. Now with rising taxes and charges of runaway operating costs there is heated competition for seats. In fact School District 130 has 11 candidates seeking four positions. 130 includes portions of Crestwood, Alsip, Robbins and Blue Island.

State Senator Patrick O'Malley (R-18), a member of the Illinois Senate Revenue Committee, has uncovered some interesting facts concerning state school aid. He reports that downstate Illinois, with 39% of that state's students gets a whopping 57% of general state aid; Chicago with 23.5% of the students gets 20.8% of state aid while suburban Cook County and collar counties with 37.5% of the students gets only 22.2% of state aid.

The committee will examine state tax distributions from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Monday, Oct. 25th in room 212 of the Capitol Building.

Assistant Senate Majority Leader Aldo DeAngelis (R-40) chairs the committee.

Illinois Senator Bill Shaw, State Representative Harold Murphy, Southland Chamber of Commerce President Michael Seward, and Robbins Mayor Irene Brodie were among the many guests who gathered, Tuesday, Oct. 19th, at the Country Club Hills Operation Center, to celebrate the signing of the first contract with Robbins Recycling and Trash to Energy Facility.

Also present were Country Club Hills Mayor Dwight Welch, Robert Skurka, president of Regional Economic Development, and Jim DiBiasi, vice-president of Reading Energy, builder of the facility.

Illinois Transportation secretary Kirk Brown reminds that this week (Oct. 17-23) is National School Safety Bus Week. Kirk says school buses are required by state law to be inspected every six months or 10,000 miles whichever comes first.

Ray Wilkowski of Oak Lawn, National Director of Protocol of the National Marine Corps League, has been reappointed by Governor Edgar to the Illinois Veterans Council. Wilkowski is a title processing liaison with the Illinois Secretary of State in Chicago.

Former State Representative Loleta Didrickson, now director of the Illinois Department of Employment Security, is the featured speaker at the Worth Township Regular Republican Organization on Thursday, Oct. 21st. The meeting is to be called to order by organization president Bob Buttala at 8:15 p.m. in the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post, 9514 S. 52nd Ave. Many elected representatives are expected to attend and refreshments will be served.

Everyone is welcome to attend and learn what is going on in our nation, state, county, township and local area.

Don DeCero of the Cook County Highway Department said Wednesday that the Pulaski Rd. bridge over the Cal-Sag Channel is definitely to be open on Wednesday, Oct. 27th. He said that concrete had been poured on Tuesday and that it takes a week for it to set completely.

have received a mammogram in the past two years, Dr. Lumpkin said.

Self-exams are vital because some tumors grow very rapidly, and a woman might detect a change in her breast during a self-exam before her next mammogram.

The Department of Public Health has been awarded a $250,000 federal planning grant from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) to address the importance of breast and cervical cancer screening.

The grant will be used to develop a plan to increase the number of women who seek breast and cervical cancer screening for early detection, through educating the public and encouraging health care providers to target high-risk groups.

Once this plan is in place, Illinois can apply for additional funding from the CDC to implement a comprehensive early detection program.

For more information on breast cancer and mammography, people can contact their physician, local health department or the Illinois Department of Public Health at (217) 785-2060, TDD (800) 547-0466.

Seeks Reimbursement From Gacy

Attorney General Roland W. Burris has filed suit seeking to recover the costs of incarcerating John Wayne Gacy, the perpetrator of some of the most heinous crimes in Illinois history. The suit, filed in Randolph County where Gacy is held in custody at the Menard Correctional Center, seeks $141,074 for the State of Illinois.

"Murderers should not be able to profit financially as the result of their crimes," Burris said. "If John Wayne Gacy has any money in his prison account or elsewhere, then that money should help defray the enormous expense of his incarceration."

Recently the U.S. Supreme Court refused to review Gacy's appeal of his conviction in 1980 for murdering 33 young men and boys. Burris and Cook County State's Attorney Jack O'Malley immediately asked the Illinois Supreme Court to set an execution date.

According to a state law that became effective July 1st, 1982, the state can recover the costs of incarceration if a prisoner controls any money. Inmates are allowed to establish prison accounts of limited funds. As a result, the Attorney General has filed dozens of lawsuits against prisoners seeking reimbursement for incarceration costs.

The Department of Corrections has tabulated the cost of Gacy's incarceration at $141,074 since the effective date of the law.

Burris said the lawsuit also would permit a full investigation of whether Gacy is profiting from the possible sale of his artwork by out-of-state dealers.

Gacy is serving 21 natural life terms and 12 death sentences.

*The annual percentage rate (APR) is based on prime plus one-half percent (0.50%) or prime plus one percent (1.00%), as determined by the amount of equity in the home. These rates vary, and are indexed to the prime rate, as published in the Wall Street Journal. Although this rate may change frequently, the APR will not change more than once each month, on the fifth (5th) day of the month, as determined by the published rate on the fourth (4th) of the month. As of June 05, 1993, the prime rate is 6.00%, so the APR is 6.50% and 7.00%. The maximum APR is 17.9%.

*The special offer applies to new home equity lines of credit of $10,000.00 or more, against real estate in Illinois. This offer does not apply to renewals of existing lines of credit.

*The special introductory annual percentage rate (APR) of 3.9% applies to the lesser of the first (1st) ninety (90) days, or the initial three (3) payments. This rate applies if customer maintains STANDARD BANK checking account, and home equity payment is automatically deducted from the account.

*Fees, normally quoted as an application fee of $100.00 and set-up fee of $150.00, are waived for this special offer. If a special appraisal or trust fees are required, they are charged separately. An annual fee of $20.00 is charged after the first (1st) year.

*The term is now set at seven (7) years. Monthly payments of interest are required, while principal can be reduced at any time. Printed checks and coupons can be ordered.

*This offer is subject to change without notice.

Offers New On-Line Computer Service

An on-line computer service to provide the latest residential assessment information to township assessors was announced by Cook County Assessor Thomas C. Hynes last week.

"I encourage all 30 township assessors to come on-line and take advantage of this new computer capability which ultimately helps them serve Cook County taxpayers not only with more current data, but in a more timely and efficient manner," said Hynes.

"The completed installation of the Assessor's Office's new AS/400 computer has enabled our office to bring the township assessors into our computer network for the first time," Hynes said.

This new service gives the township assessors the same up-to-date information regarding residential properties that is provided to taxpayers at the downtown assessor's office as well as the five branch offices.

Currently township assessors receive residential data in book form only.

Each township office would purchase the necessary equipment and the Cook County Assessor's office would train township personnel in the use of the service is expected to be operational by the 1995 reassessment of the northern suburbs.

State Tree Grants Awarded

Gov. Jim Edgar recently announced that 61 Illinois municipalities and park districts will share more than $1.3 million to plant trees on public lands. In our area Olympia Fields Park District will receive $50,000, the Village of Orland Hills will receive $14,400, the Village of Orland Park will receive $40,000, and the City of Palos Heights will receive $50,000.

"These grants will help stimulate local economies by providing communities with dollars to hire local businesses, such as nurseries, garden centers and landscaping services, to purchase and plant trees in public areas," the governor said. "Trees add to the natural character of cities and towns and citizens reap the benefit of an enhanced quality of life within their communities."

The governor estimated about 300 small businesses will benefit from the program by planting more than 10,000 trees throughout the state.

The grants from the U.S. Small Business Administration tree planting initiative are administered by the Illinois Department of Conservation's urban forestry program. Local governmental units must provide a minimum of 40 percent funding in the matching grant program.

Conservation Director Brent Manning said 115 communities requested $2.2 million. The maximum grant a community could receive was $50,000.

"This program promotes the proper planting and care of trees and creates greater awareness of the technical assistance available to Illinois' communities through the Department of Conservation," said Manning.

Open House

Lewis University is holding its fall open house on Sunday, Oct. 24th from 1 to 4 p.m. on the Lewis campus, Route 53, Romeoville. The afternoon will include campus tours, the opportunity to meet faculty and staff from every university department, and special presentations on financial aid. Visitors will be guided on campus tours by Lewis students.

After touring the campus, the guides will lead the visitors to the dining halls where faculty and staff from every university department or area of interest will be available to meet with prospective students and guests. Specialty tours of the new Harold E. White Aviation Center, residence halls, labs, TV studio, library and other areas on campus also will be available.

High school and community college students, their families and friends are invited to attend open house.

For additional information, contact the admissions office at (312), (708) or (815) 838-0500, ext. 250.

Contracts Awarded

Davis Concrete Construction Company of Worth has been awarded two contracts by the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) that had been bid on during the May 21st and Aug. 27th bid letting. Projects included 0.14 mile of construction of a right turn lane with concrete base course, at the intersection of Willow Springs Road and 79th St., in the amount of $82,142; and the removal and replacement of the entrance ramp and ramp terminal located at the westbound weigh station on Int. Route 80 between Illinois Route 43 (Harlem Ave.) and U.S. Route 45, north of Frankfort, in the amount of $475,812.

"WE'RE HAPPY TO ANNOUNCE THAT THE BLUE CROSS PPO HAS JUST EARNED THE TRUST OF ONE MILLION MEMBERS."

C. JONATHAN SHATTUCK
SENIOR VP, HEALTH CARE AFFAIRS

When you're trying to manage health care costs, being the biggest kid on the block does have its advantages.

Blue Cross has saved the people of Illinois more money than any other insurance carrier.

Hand in hand with that, no one has done more to preserve the quality of health care in this state.

So you get the security and convenience of the largest statewide network there is, plus somebody to serve as the guardian of your money. That's a very nice combination."

WHEN YOU HAVE THE BLUE CROSS PPO, YOU HAVE IT ALL.

- ☐ The largest statewide network of hospitals and doctors. And 1 million members in Illinois.
- ☐ More than 13,000 doctors and more than 170 hospitals to choose from.
- ☐ Subscribers are never billed for more than what we've agreed to pay.

WE HAVE IT ALL.

Jon Shattuck

At the opening liturgy for the 1993-94 school year, Principal Patricia Nolan-Fitzgerald encouraged the young women of Queen of Peace High School to "live the dream," the dreams embraced by community and the dreams unique to each individual. As she spoke to the 1,500 young women of the Peace Community she challenged them by saying, "...make a list of the dreams you hope to live this year, the kind of dreams which will enable you to learn all you can, the kind of dreams that will empower you to take risks, to ask questions, to make mistakes and to try again, the kind of dreams that will give you the courage to reach out to a friend or to someone who is friendless. ...As a community, our dreams are also echoed in our mission which tells us that we are committed to a dream of educating a diverse population of young women, to a dream of empowering growth, collaboration, leadership and service, and to a passionate dream of peace and justice for everyone."

Following the homily, 19 young women were commissioned to follow one of their very important dreams—the dream of Christian service. The Peace Community is proud of the following seniors who were recently commissioned as Eucharistic Ministers: Jenny Aguinaga (St. Simon the Apostle), Nicole Del Monte (St. Daniel the Prophet), Pamela Duzak (St. Albert the Great), Daria Dydo (St. Linus), Dina Houston Jenny Houston both of Our Lady of the Ridge, Carey Kato (Queen of the Universe), Catherine Lazarz (St. Terrence), Chris McShane (St. Bede), Hoille Mueller (St. Albert the Great), Elizabeth Pasternak (St. Roman), Kristin Seifert (Palos Hills), Lisa Sipich (St. Bede), Kathleen Tegtmeyer, (St. Albert the Great), Gina Tracy (St. Bede), Jennifer Velasco, Jennifer Walsh and Colleen Walters, all of St. Albert the Great, and Theresa Zarycki (Our Lady of the Snows).

Uncertain Future For O.L. Investors

Hundreds of Oak Lawn investors, including Police Chief Frank Gilbert, are still uncertain whether or not they will receive any of the money they invested in National Liquidators, Inc. Earlier this month, Vance K. Wolfe, founder of the company, disappeared.

On Oct. 8th, investors had contacted the FBI, complaining that Wolfe had apparently absconded without making good on investment returns. The FBI in Columbus, Ohio, is investigating whether or not Wolfe, or any other official of National Liquidators, Inc., has committed mail fraud, wire fraud or engaged in interstate transportation of stolen merchandise.

National Liquidators, Inc. is a firm which purchases large quantities of merchandise from bankrupt firms, then sells the goods at a profit. The company has 14 retail outlets in Ohio.

Last Saturday, Wolfe called a press conference in Columbus, at which he stated he had not embezzled any company money but did not say whether or not investors would be repaid any of their money. Wolfe resigned as president of the company and his father, Wayne is now said to be in charge of the firm. Vance Wolfe had not been charged, as of press time.

Larry Ryan, a former Oak Lawn police officer who had convinced a large number of village residents to invest in National Liquidators, went to Columbus and met with company officials. Reportedly, they found bank statements which indicate approximately $8 million is missing from a specific account. However, a company spokesman said that the financial status of National Liquidators is uncertain, since all records had been turned over to the FBI.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

The provisions of the combined ordinance on assault weapons and gunshop ban, a proposed Cook County ordinance, are based on deception. True 'assault' weapons have been banned in Illinois for many decades. This ordinance would ban semi-automatic, pump, lever, and bolt action firearms used in national and international competitions, used by hunters, and prized by collectors. There is no public benefit that would be accomplished by such a ban.

The annual murder analysis prepared by the Detective Division of the Chicago Police Department shows that these rifles are not used to commit crime in Chicago. In over 900 murders in 1991, these rifles were used in none of them. There is no indication that they are used by criminals elsewhere in Cook County. The small handguns are preferred by criminals, not four foot, twelve pound rifles. This is just more deception promoted by the sponsors of this ordinance.

The ordinance also proposes to ban gunshops within one-half mile of schools or parks. The sponsors would like to deceive the public into believing that gunshops in such locations are dangerous to the public safety. However there is no evidence whatsoever to indicate that anyone embarked on a crime spree or life of crime due to the location of any gunshop. This is just more deception by the sponsors.

A person must be 21 years of age in Illinois to purchase any handgun or to obtain a Firearm Owner's Identification Card without parental consent. Gunshops do not sell firearms to school age children and many do not even permit them inside their shops. More deception.

Crime is caused by drug dealers and street gangs. Twelve and 13-year-old kids purchase firearms from drug dealers. That was documented on television in a program entitled "48 Hours." The sponsors would like the public to believe that this ordinance would curb such crime. That is pure baloney and just more deception.

This proposed ordinance seeks to solve nonexistent problems. It seeks to ban the types of firearms not used in crime and eliminate the law abiding gunshops that do not sell firearms to criminals or insane persons. It only penalizes law-abiding citizens, often the victims of crime. By eliminating the lawful gunshop, it encourages the underworld to monopolize the firearm sales. It will only increase crime.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that a Public Hearing is being held on Monday, November 8, 1993 at the Crestwood Village Hall, 13840 South Cicero Avenue, Crestwood, Illinois at 7:30 p.m.

The purpose of this meeting is to consider a request to permit the use of ceramic tile, exterior insulation and finish system on a portion of the building exterior and also request revising the maximum building height from 32'0" to 38'6" in order to allow the use of the barrel-vault, semi-circular curtainwall entry.

Said property is commonly known as RiverCrest Shopping Center, Crestwood, Illinois 60445.

The said property is legally described as: Lot 1 in RiverCrest of Crestwood Resubdivision of Lots 1 and 22 in RiverCrest of Crestwood, being a subdivision of part of the East 1/2 of Section 33, Township 37 North, Range 13 East of the Third Principal Meridian, in Cook County, Illinois.

The request for variation is being made by Peter J. Brady, Vice President-Construction of Loews River North Cinemas, Inc., 711 Fifth Avenue - 10th Fl., New York, NY 10022.

All interested parties or persons are invited to attend and will be heard.

Respectfully,

Daniel J. Tacy

Crestwood Mayor Chester Stranczek signs property tax rebate checks prior to last Saturday's 'tax refund' ceremony at the Andrew Blela Center. Village Clerk Nancy Benedetto looks on. Mayor Stranczek called the event "historic." The rebate is certainly the first of its kind in the Chicago area and Stranczek said that he had received inquiries from many communities interested in how the tax rebate was accomplished. State Senator Patrick O'Malley (R-18) said he is impressed with the fiscal responsibility demonstrated in Crestwood.

Property Tax Refund Program Makes History

Many people are convinced that the answer to most of America's fiscal woes could be better addressed if more businessmen and women would enter the political arena. Full support for such a radical idea would be voiced by the residents of the Village of Crestwood. Mayor Chester Stranczek, owner of a trucking company, demonstrated how employing a businessman's approach to fiscal responsibility is a definite boon to long-suffering taxpayers. On Saturday, Mayor Stranczek handed out the first of rebate checks to Crestwood home and condominium owners. The rebate checks ranged from $1,500 to about $150.

Eventually 3,200 of the village's 12,000 residents will be able to take advantage of the rebate program, a 26 percent refund on 1992 tax bills.

Stranczek said that his sound fiscal policy is based on the axiom, "if you don't have it, don't spend it." That way, he said, you don't go into hock. He opened his remarks by saying that he purchased the property formerly occupied by Howell Airport for $12,000,000 and the RiverCrest Centre, a shopping complex on that site, has meant tax dollars for the village. In addition, the Winners Circle, an off-track betting parlor adjacent to the shopping center, has meant additional revenue.

A parcel of land behind the RiverCrest Centre is to be occupied by a 14-screen movie complex. Loew's Theater Co. wanted to purchase the land for $3,000,000; however, the company agreed to Stranczek's counter offer of a 25-year lease of the property. According to Stranczek, the money for the first year's lease will amount to $730,000. In addition to the motion picture theaters, a separate theater for live productions is planned.

According to Stranczek, the additional $730,000 from leasing the land to Loew's, is to be rebated to village homeowners.

Mayor Stranczek has pledged to rebate all property taxes to 3,200 homeowners within five years. Those who qualify for the rebate program are residents who own their homes, townhouses or condominiums. Saturday's rebate was the initial step.

YMCA Western Dance

Ten-gallon hats and shined-up boots will be making an appearance at the Southwest YMCA-sponsored Western Dance on Saturday, Oct. 23rd at The Barn, the Y's youth activity center, 12640 S. Sacramento, across from Eisenhower High School. A disc jockey and professional instructors in the latest dance craze, the two-step and line dancing, will start the evening off, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., followed by "dancing till you drop" from 8:30 to 11:30. Admission is $10 a person. Snacks and liquid refreshments will be available, along with free parking.

The dance is open to everyone. The Southwest Y hopes that young adults, families and senior citizens will all join in the fun, and that the dance will bring people of all ages and family orientations together.

Cecelia and John Perez were the first to step up and get their refund check, from Mayor Chester Stranczek, a $324.74 check, or 26 percent of their property tax bill. John Perez said, "I've known Mayor Stranczek for many years. This is a great place to raise a family and I am proud to be a resident of Crestwood." He added, "My son John Jr. is a police officer here. I feel like having this check framed and put on my wall. As Mayor Stranczek said, this is a historic event for the taxpayers of our village."

METRO RECYCLING

Country Club Hills And Reading Sign Contract

Leading the way in the south suburbs, the City of Country Club Hills voted 7 to 1 to send its trash to the Robbins Recycling and Trash-to-Energy Facility for the next 20 years. By signing this contract, Country Club Hills is promising to send trash that is not recycled through the city's curbside program to the Robbins facility. Under the contract, the city will not be required to guarantee a minimum or maximum tonnage of trash to the facility. This means Country Club Hills will not be penalized in any way if recycling or other circumstances cause the trash flow to fluctuate.

"The time has come for us to deal with the garbage crisis in Illinois on a local level. The Robbins facility offers a solution in the best interest of south suburban residents," said Mayor Dwight Welch. "I think this contract is the first best step for our region, and a major step to ensure responsible waste management and a safer environment."

Offering a progressive package of benefits and protections unmatched by any waste disposal agreement in the country, the contract will ensure stable disposal prices for the 17,100 Country Club Hills residents over the next 20 years and reduce the city's dependence on landfills. It will also supplement the city's recycling program.

"Reading Energy commends Country Club Hills for taking a leadership role and moving quickly on signing this precedent-setting contract," said Jim DiBiasi, vice-president of Reading. "We built this plant to serve the south suburbs as part of an integrated approach to solid waste management. We are confident other municipalities will soon follow the city's lead and allow us to provide recycling and trash-to-energy disposal services at low, stable prices for the next 20 years."

The main features of the contract are: it ensures stable trash disposal costs over 20 years, with predictable adjustments for inflation; does not require a guaranteed maximum or minimum trash tonnage; helps municipalities meet recycling goals efficiently and cost-effectively, as a $30 million recycling facility at the plant is designed to recycle 25 percent of all trash delivered and remaining trash will be recycled into a clean fuel used to generate electricity for approximately 41,000 homes; and it ensures that ash from the facility will pass testing requirements for hazardous materials, and indemnifies communities from paying increased disposal costs related to ash disposal.

With Country Club Hills on board, Reading Energy will continue to work with individual municipalities on their contracts. The company plans to move as quickly as possible toward ground-breaking.

Betty and Len Reno returned home two weeks ago from a trip to Reno, Nevada. They picked Reno to celebrate their 55th wedding anniversary. While there they were honored by the staff of the hotel on center stage following one of the performances. The organist played their favorite song, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." In addition to many pictures taken in the limelight with the performers, they were presented with a bag of souvenirs. Betty carried a lovely bouquet of flowers sent to them by their son, daughter and children. Len and Betty have lived in Oak Lawn since their marriage performed by Judge B. O'Brien. Len was born in Oak Lawn at 97th & Cook Ave. and they still live at 98th & Cook. They have four children, 11 grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren. Congratulations to both of you and may you have many more happy anniversaries.

The Oak Lawn Park District is presenting a Haunted Hayride on Saturday, Oct. 23rd at the Wildlife Refuge, 109th St. & Laramie Ave., from 3 to 10 p.m. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for children. Groups may reserve a time slot in advance by calling 857-2425. Eight service organizations have been assigned where they put on a scare show.

The Oak Lawn Police Department will conduct an auction on Saturday Oct. 23rd in the garage of the public safety building. The sale will start at 9 a.m. in the building, 9446 Raymond Ave. They will be auctioning bicycles, televisions, jewelry and stereos.

A resident needs some help with the new/used computer he purchased. It is a Smith Corona PWP 1000 word processor. Michael Conway says he has more or less figured out how to type with it, but doesn't know the many other things that it can do. He has the instruction book. He needs someone to help and has contacted Moraine Valley, the library, a high school and they said they cannot help. Michael works odd hours and he would like to hear from someone who might be able to schedule the times he can make it. He is offering some compensation. Call him at 499-3745.

The Oak Lawn Area Chapter No. 3558 of AARP meets on Monday, Nov. 8th at 1 p.m. at Our Lady of Fatima K.C. Hall, 5839 W. 95th St. Lois Harris, program chairperson, has secured a doctor from the American Medical Association who will speak about arthritis, a topic that should be of interest to all. You are invited to attend and bring a friend. For further information call 422-5065. Felix Waitches is president.

This is the big weekend for mystery buffs. Murder by the Book IV is being sponsored by the Southwest Mystery Book Guild and the Oak Lawn Public Library, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 30th & 31st. The meetings are being held at the library. For further details call Susan Baird at the library, 422-4990.

On Thursday, Nov. 4th, the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post and Ladies Auxiliary will sponsor a seminar on safe driving and hunter safety at 7 p.m. Refreshments will be served. Penny Hempen is auxiliary president and Russell Smukula is the commander.

The Oak Lawn Garden Club will meet Thursday, Oct. 28th at the home of president Mrs. Robert Janet, 10705 S. Kilbourn Ave., at 9:30 a.m. The program will be a demonstration of how to prune shrubs and bushes, given by Tom Miller of James Saunoris and Sons. For further details, one may call 422-3376.

Sorry to report the death of Dorothy M. Prinder, wife of Robert, jr. past commander of the Johnson-Phelps Post 5220, VFW, who died on Oct. 10th. She was a member of the VFW Ladies Auxiliary. She leaves four sons and one daughter; nine grandchildren; five sisters and four brothers. Services were held Oct. 13th at Our Savior Lutheran Church and interment at Queen of Heaven Cemetery.

At their meeting of Oct. 5th, the Ladies Auxiliary to Post 5220, VFW, presented a certificate of merit to Kristina Flutman, daughter of Robert and Jean Flutman, who was instrumental in the capture of a burglar. She and a friend had been playing in the yard of the Pilgrim Faith Church, 9415 S. 51st Ave., when she noticed a man go into the church, come out a short time later and appeared to be holding something under his coat. She ran home and her mother called the police who captured the offender and recovered the items he had taken from the church. Also attending were her grandparents Al & Harriet Werkman, her brother Jason and Oak Lawn Police Chief Frank Gilbert who said she was very observant for an eight-year-old. Auxiliary President Penny Hempen did the presenting.

Members of the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post and Ladies Auxiliary invite all of you to join them on Thursday, Nov. 11th, Veterans Day, for the memorial service to honor veterans from all wars, at the tank site, 95th St. and 51st Ave., at 11 a.m. Commander is Russ Smukula and president of the auxiliary is Penny Hempen.

Illinois First Lady Brenda Edgar welcomes Nahwand Kishta, Oak Lawn resident and representative of the Jordanian community, at a reception she hosted recently for Muslim children to observe the Islamic holidays.

Charity Banquet

For each of the last 15 years, the student council of Harold L. Richards High School has sponsored a charity Christmas banquet to benefit local needy families and organizations which help the poor. Last year, students set a new record, raising $5,300. The proceeds are donated to local needy families, the St. Linus food pantry, Respond Now food pantry, the Salvation Army and WGN's Neediest Kids Fund.

A great portion of the revenue comes from merchandise and services donated by area businesses. The donated items then are auctioned at the banquet. The student council also generates funds from tickets purchased for the banquet.

The charity banquet began in 1978 when HLR Student Council members decided to spend their time and energy on a charitable cause, rather than their traditional Christmas dance.

"Our first year, I think the kids felt that the charity banquet was more in the spirit of the season. Since then, the banquet has grown every year," says student council faculty sponsor Fred Monk, who has organized the event from its inception.

Local businesses that would like to donate items for the auction, or which would like more information, can call or write to Monk who can be reached at (708) 499-2550, ext. 157, or through his voice mail at ext. 2064. Those interested also can write to: Fred Monk, Richards High School, 10601 S. Central Ave., Oak Lawn, IL 60453.

Senior Donors

The nation's population is aging, but it's not a population of old people in rocking chairs. More people are living longer and healthier lives, so United Blood Services has extended the upper age limit for blood donors from 65 years to 80 years. Donors older than 80 may continue to give, with some specific qualifications. People don't need to wait until their 60s to start donating, however. Seven of 10 people over the age of 17 are medically eligible to donate blood, but fewer than one out of 20 of these people does donate. United Blood Services encourages everyone who can donate to do so. You'll feel great, knowing you've helped save lives.

Jill Danielson, director of community relations for United Blood Services said "Our policy for donors 66 years of age and over is no different than that for donors age 17 through 65. They may continue to give blood every eight weeks between their 66th and 80th birthdays. "Donors older than 80 must have written permission from their physician prior to the first donation after their 80th birthday. This permission allows donations for the next two years, providing the donor remains in good health."

The need for volunteer blood donors is ongoing. It takes a special person to be a blood donor; someone who cares about other people, someone who cares about the community. If that sounds like you, and if you're between the ages of 17 and 80 and in good health, you probably qualify.

Call United Blood Services at (312) 751-0246 to schedule an appointment.

College

Mike Merriman, admissions representative from Eureka College, will be visiting Oak Lawn Community High School on Wednesday, Oct. 27th to meet with seniors and juniors who want to learn more about this private, co-ed, liberal arts college.

Merriman will be distributing information and answering questions concerning majors, activities, scholarships and financial aid. Students should contact their guidance counselor for more information.

Director

The EHS Extended Care Division of EHS Health Care recently named Patrick J. Quinn, C.P.A., of Oak Lawn, as the division's finance director. Quinn will be responsible for the financial operations for the division's four facilities: EHS Geneva Care Center, EHS Peace Memorial Home, EHS Pine Acres Care Center, and EHS Pine View Care Center. The division has a total of 588 beds.

Certification Infoline Open

The State Board of Education, in collaboration with Ameritech Corporation, now offers "Certification Infoline," a 24-hour automated telephone system for answering certification questions from current and prospective educators. Persons can now call (312) 814-5673 and punch into a touch-tone telephone their Social Security number to check the status of their certification applications or issued certificates.

Callers using Infoline will receive information on when an application was received, whether a certificate was issued, or if a special education approval was granted by the state board's department of teacher education and certification. In addition to certification information, individuals may obtain application materials, test dates, registration deadlines and study guides for certification tests.

Infoline can also aid school districts employing personnel requiring state certification. With Infoline, local school officials can immediately acquire the date of issuance of all certificates and approvals held for a particular Social Security number.

While the system, as yet, does not provide complete information on all endorsements for a certificate, it will enable the teacher certification department to provide more information, using fewer person hours, to more clients, state board officials explained.

Elimination of the need for some employees to answer telephone questions will allow the certification department to utilize those staff members on other departmental tasks, board officials added.

Ameritech provided the financial and technical resources to develop the software for the new automated telephone system. The board will pay the ongoing cost to operate Infoline.

Posters and information cards about Infoline are being distributed statewide to schools, universities and colleges, and educational organizations.

Weekend Retreat

Father David Byrne, pastor of St. Bernadette Parish, Evergreen Park, is leading a group of men from seven neighboring parishes on a weekend retreat in Mundelein. The retreat begins with registration at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 23rd, and ends at 12 noon on Sunday, Oct. 24th. The speaker will be Father Jonathan Foster, O.F.M., whose topic will be "The Cross, God's Foolishness." There will also be time for rest, relaxation and recreation. The price per man is $60, including meals and a private room and bath.

There are leaders at each parish who are taking reservations. The parishes and the leaders are: St.

Call Don Daum at (708) 422-3349 for more information.

Preschool Openings

Call (312) 239-2396 for information.

Two foreign exchange students have joined the Oak Lawn Community High School student body for the 1993-94 school year. Troels Thim is a student from Vejle, Denmark and is living with his host family, Mr. & Mrs. Pat Melvin. Troels is 16-years-old, a senior, and has joined the Spartan soccer and tennis teams. He is sponsored by the Oak Lawn Rotary International. Diana Stulgys is from Bielefeld, Germany and is also a 16-year-old senior. She is residing with host parents, Mr. & Mrs. B. Weasler. Diana is sponsored by the Inter Student Exchange Program of Iowa, and is a member of the OLCBS tennis team. Both students speak fluent English and have been warmly received by students as well as teachers. They are enjoying their stay and find American education both challenging and interesting.

Autumn Colors

Now is the time to turn attention to one of the most colorful outdoor activities of the year, fall foliage.

"Once the leaves start to change, people should waste no time in getting to their local Forest Preserve to observe the beauty of fall because it is short-lived," said Cook County Board President Richard Phelan. "With more than 75 different species of trees within the Forest Preserve District, it will be easy to witness the green leaves' transformation into a rainbow of color."

According to Richard Newhard, the forest preserve district's chief forester, there is no way to exactly predict when the leaves will begin to change colors. However, the peak time this year is expected to be the first or second week in October.

Certain weather factors can slow or speed up color change. Warm sunny days with cool nights trigger the process that changes the leaves' colors. If it is cloudy, cool and rainy, the leaves will not change as quickly nor will the colors be as vibrant.

"There are so many areas in the forest preserve to see the fall leaves," Phelan said. "The bicycle, hiking and horseback trails make it easy for people to experience this once-a-year event. It is a wonderful way to spend an afternoon. Everyone should take advantage of this wonderful season and visit the forest preserves and its six nature centers."

Law And Order Survey In Mail

The Chicago Crime Commission is launching a small business survey, covering law and order issues of concern to people living and working in the metro Chicago and suburban communities. Surveys are being mailed to businesses and professionals in the 10 counties ringing Chicago; Cook, Lake, McHenry, Du Page, De Kalb, LaSalle, Kendall, Will, Kane, Kankakee and Grundy.

The survey, "On Law And Order," asks the recipient to rank the risks of specific crimes and situations/environments they fear the most. Other areas covered deal with priorities for funding community programs such as education, medical care, drug enforcement, prisoner rehabilitation and more. Casino gambling, a hot issue these days among politicians and the media, is also covered.

In the 73 years the Chicago Crime Commission, created by business owners, has been in existence, the primary objective was to fight organized crime. Membership in the commission during this period consisted mostly of civic-minded executives and professionals from some of Chicago's most prestigious firms and institutions.

Robert R. Fuesel, executive director of the Crime Commission said, "Today, with the frightening growth of gangs, drugs and gambling, the commission has expanded its agenda and focus. Issues we are presently pursuing include the need for more prisons; the abuse of trial delays in our criminal courts; frivolous reductions in sentencing, prison terms and parole periods, and convict early-release programs that have allowed dangerous felons to roam our streets, endangering our families, employees and neighbors."

committee that has been working on a program to mobilize small businesses to join a special forum to fight crime in Chicagoland communities, with particular emphasis on making the workplace a more secure environment.

Results of "On Law And Order" will be shared with legislators, judges and the media for the purpose of developing a meaningful and action-oriented coalition to fight crime more effectively.

Business owners interested in receiving an information kit on the commission's survey and associated membership qualifications can write directly to the Chicago Crime Commission, 79 West Monroe St., Chicago, IL 60603. Phone (312) 372-0101; FAX (312) 372-6286.

Grandma's Meeting

"Grandmas Grow Gray Hair and Shopping Bags" will be the topic of guest speaker Alice Collins at the installation banquet of the Evergreen Park Grandmothers Club 423 on Wednesday, Oct. 27th at 11:30 a.m. in the East Coach Room of the Old Barn, 8130 S. Parkside. Tickets for the family-style luncheon are $13 per person.

Newly-elected officers to be installed are Mrs. Ruby Pflum, president; Mrs. Evelyn Frizie, vice-president; Mrs. Margaret Stirm, treasurer; and Mrs. Mildred Straits, secretary.

The club usually meets the fourth Wednesday of the month at 1 p.m. in the Hamilton B. Maher Community Center, 3450 W. 97th St., but there will not be a meeting in October.

Business Manager

The Board of Directors and Administration at Marist High School is proud to announce that Kathleen M. Sawicki of Oak Lawn has been appointed to the position of business manager.

Sawicki comes to Marist with a variety of experience in education and finance. For the past three years, she served as the purchasing agent for High School District 218. Previous to this, Sawicki was the director of special events and assistant to the vice-president at St. Xavier University. She also served as a board member for Elementary School District 122.

She has her bachelor's degree in business administration from St. Xavier University and is currently a master's degree candidate in the educational administration program at Northern Illinois University.

She is married to Les, has two children, Steve and Tracey (Ken) Frega, and is the proud grandmother of Kyle Frega.

This past summer Oak Lawn Community High School senior and Ecology Club president Kelly Sullivan served as a senior counselor at Camp KEEP (Kids for Energy and Environmental Protections) in Centralia. Camp KEEP is part of ILEED, the Illinois Council for Energy Education and Development. Kelly led a junior counselor and four younger students in the creation of an ecologically based newsletter that had energy conservation and alternative transportation as its themes. It was a valuable opportunity for Kelly to further develop her leadership skills and learn new ones.

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were reported by the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

Maureen Spring of Oak Lawn, in a delayed report, said she had a party at her home in July and persons unknown removed a bracelet from the top dresser drawer in her bedroom. Spring said she waited to see if someone had borrowed or misplaced it. It was a yellow gold tennis bracelet studded with two carats of diamonds.

Another delayed report was turned in by Blockbuster Video at 6260 W. 95th St. The clerk said a man came into the store and removed a number of tapes, then fled from the store. The clerk recognized the offender from a photo the owner has posted in the store in the back room. The offender is James L. Corcoran, 40, of Chicago. Estimated loss is $100 to $200 for the tapes.

On the 10th, police responded to a holdup alarm at the Clark gas station, 6800 W. 95th St. The clerk told police that a man entered the station and asked for a pack of cigarettes, then stuck his hand into his jacket pocket as though he had a gun, pulled out a brown paper bag and told the clerk, "This is a stickup. Put all the money in the bag." The clerk began to scream for help and the offender took the package of cigarettes and fled.

Five patrons of Cagney's Lounge, 4648 W. 103rd St., were arrested after police had been called about a fight. J. Marksic of Midlothian was charged with battery and disorderly conduct; Thomas Hogan of Midlothian; Jason Rohde of Lyons; Bob Kavooris of Harvey; and Robert Golden of Blue Island were charged with disorderly conduct.

Gary Olson of Oak Lawn reported someone removed the spare tire and wheel from the underside of his vehicle. Estimated loss is $150.

Wayne Bentz of Tinley Park reported that while he was parked at 10435 S. Central Ave., the side window was broken with a rock. The offender removed a brown knee-length leather coat and a Whistler radar detector. Estimated loss for the goods and window is $740.

Joseph Bartucci reported someone entered the generator room at Christ Hospital, 4440 W. 95th St., which is under construction, and took a number of spools of copper wiring valued at $1,080.

Phil Polito of Oak Lawn reported the water fountain had been removed from the Oak Meadows Park for a loss of Ignatious Grana of Bridgeview reported the theft of his 1988 Chevrolet Suburban valued at $12,000 from 10228 S. Cicero.

Laura Angelli of Chicago came to Builders Square at 8716 S. Cicero and attempted to purchase $1,150 worth of merchandise on a temporary credit card issued by Builders Square. The offender had been allowed to wheel out a cart of merchandise while the security agent was verifying the card. The driver of the car had a driver's license issued to someone else and it was found to be altered. Angelli was charged with retail theft.

Erskine Bell and Linda Smith, both of Chicago, were picked up by police after they had been described by Walgreen's at 9508 S. Cicero where they had taken a bottle of Seagram's V.O. The pair was stopped at 91st and Pulaski and the liquor was found on the back seat of the car. In a search, police uncovered a hypodermic syringe, a bag of work gloves, and bottles of alcohol and sardines. Smith told police she had taken the bottles of alcohol. Both were charged with retail theft.

School District 123 reported five windows with wire reinforcement were broken at 9130 S. 53rd Ave. Estimated cost of replacement is $250.

William E. Jones of Robbins reported someone broke the window and removed the Alpine AM/FM removable stereo valued at $250 and 16 assorted title discs valued at $200 for a total loss of $650.

On the 12th, Karen Villa of Oak Lawn reported several items were missing from her home and alleged that one of the babysitters she has may have taken them. Included were two leather coats, two pair Guers jeans, four shirts and several pieces of costume jewelry, 2 pairs of ankle high cowboy boots, for a total of $1,160, plus a diamond wedding ring valued at $2,000.

On the 14th, the White Castle restaurant at 9501 S. Cicero reported an elderly man, Lawrence Trenner of Oak Lawn, had ordered and then demanded a beer and when told they had none, punched the glass in front of the counter causing it to break. The estimated loss is $300.

Police arrested a Chicago motorist for brandishing a gun at another driver and then slapping him in the head after they got into an argument at 3:15 p.m. at 91st St. and Kolmar Ave. Antonio Artis was charged with battery and unlawful use of a weapon.

TREATING NEURITIS

If you're suffering from pain of unknown origin in any part of your body, it may be caused by irritation along one or more nerve pathways. Sometimes there are burning and tingling sensations along with the pain. This condition is known as neuritis.

Neuritis means "inflammation of a nerve". It often begins with inflammation of the sheath that covers the affected nerve. When it penetrates to the trunk of the nerve, the condition may become chronic and continue to deteriorate, causing serious problems accompanied by pain.

If the inflammation has been caused by a misaligned vertebrae in the spinal column, treatment is needed to relieve the pressure. The greater or more complex the misalignment, the more serious the condition can become.

You don't have to suffer the pain of neuritis when treatment is available to relieve this condition. It should not be ignored. It won't go away unless you get the help you need.

If you have any health questions please feel free to call our office.

Proclaim World Population Awareness Week

Governor Jim Edgar has proclaimed Oct. 22th to 28th as 'World Population Awareness Week' in the State of Illinois. The proclamation observes that world population is approaching 5.6 billion and is increasing at nearly 100 million per year. Nearly one half of the 10 million infant deaths and one quarter of the 500,000 maternal deaths that occur each year in the developing world could have been prevented if voluntary child-spacing and maternal health programs were substantially expanded, according to the proclamation.

At least one-half of the women of reproductive age in developing countries want to limit the number and determine the spacing of their children, but lack access to modern family planning information, education and services, the proclamation pointed out. Fallout from the global crisis, such as environmental degradation, pollution and natural resource depletion, will not escape people in Illinois, stated Werner Fornos, president of the Population Institute. The institute has been the chief sponsor of 'World Population Awareness Week' for nine years.

The U.S. Congress last year enacted legislation proclaiming 'World Population Awareness Week' in order to focus attention on the serious effects of population growth. In his recent address to the United Nations, President Clinton stated that, "to ensure a healthier and more abundant world, we simply must slow the world's explosive growth in population."

With Clinton administration and bi-partisan Congressional support, "there is at last renewed commitment to bringing coherence, dynamism and boldness to U.S. international population programs," Fornos said.

More than 140 organizations in over 45 countries have joined the Population Institute in co-sponsoring World Population Awareness Week. Some of the co-sponsors are the American Association of University Women, the League of Women Voters, American Public Health Association, Cooperative America Relief Everywhere (CARE), International Planned Parenthood Federation, the Women's National Democratic Club, the Sierra Club, National Audubon Society, and the National Wildlife Federation.

Senator Paul Simon introduced and Senator Carol Moseley-Braun co-sponsored Senate Joint Resolution 135. Representative John Porter introduced and Representatives Richard Durbin, Lane Evans, Harris

Fawell and Mel Reynolds co-sponsored House Joint Resolution 268. Both pieces of legislation recognize a. The approximate amount of taxes extendable under the maximum rate for educational purposes now in force is $5,735,155.00. It is estimated that the approximate amount of taxes extendable under the proposed rate increase is $8,140,221.00.

b. The amount of the most recently approved annual budget of the school district is $13,920,613.00. If increased by the amount of additional tax which may be levied if the proposition is approved, the annual budget would be $16,325,679.00. The percentage of increase in the amount of the most recently approved annual budget if the total amount were increased by the amount of additional tax which may be levied if the proposition is approved is 17.28%.

The above referendum will be voted upon in WORTH TOWNSHIP, Precincts 2, 3, 5, 25, 35, 36, 40, 41, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 53, 56, 58, 59, 60, 63, 74, 77, 82, 85, 90, 91, 92, 93, 99, 100, 103, 106, 109, 112, 113, 114, 116, 117, 118, 120, 121, 122, 125, 129, 134, 140, 153, 157, 161, 162 and 165.

SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 127
PROPOSITION TO INCREASE MAXIMUM ANNUAL EDUCATIONAL TAX RATE

TO THE ELECTORS OF SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 127:

← 294	YES	Shall the maximum annual tax rate for educational purposes of Worth School District Number 127, Cook County, Illinois, be increased and established at 2.235 percent upon all the taxable property of said School District at the value, as equalized or assessed by the Department of Revenue, instead of 1.485 percent, the existing maximum rate otherwise applicable to the next taxes to be extended for said purposes?

a. The approximate amount of taxes extendable for educational purposes under the proposed rate is $2,200,928 and the approximate amount of taxes extendable for educational purposes under the existing maximum rate is $1,482,362.

b. The percentage of increase between the maximum rate at which the tax for educational purposes may be levied if the proposition is approved and the annual rate at which such tax is currently levied is 50.5 percent.

c. The total dollar amount of the most recently approved annual budget of said School District for the 1992-93 school term is $5,955,051. If increased by the amount of additional tax which may be levied if said proposition is approved, the total dollar amount of this budget would be $6,663,617, representing an increase in the total dollar amount of this budget of 12.4 percent.

The above referendum will be voted upon in PALOS TOWNSHIP, Precincts 8, 12 and 22; WORTH TOWNSHIP, Precincts, 6, 51, 67, 81, 101, 108, 132, 137, 146 and 152.

"Street Smarts"

Students in grades six, seven and eight are invited to attend a program sponsored by Moraine Valley Community College titled "Street Smarts." This activity is scheduled on Friday, Oct. 22nd from 10 to 11:30 a.m. featuring Detective J. J. Bittenbinder teaching skill-building techniques on how to avoid becoming a victim whether at home, school, while traveling, or on the street. This will meet on the campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave., in the gym. Tickets are $2.50 per person.

Parents and schools are invited to bring children to this very informative seminar.

Bittenbinder has been a member of the Chicago Police Department for 21 years, the past 16 years in the violent crimes division. During that time, he has interviewed more than 1,000 witnesses, offenders and victims involved in violent crimes. He also completed two PBS specials on "Street Smarts."

To register, call (708) 974-2110.

Marist High School is proud to announce that four freshmen have been awarded the Denis J. Kiley Foundation Scholarship for 1993. This scholarship is worth $1,000 and is a nonrenewable award applied directly to their tuition. Receiving the award this year are Sean O'Brien of Oak Forest, Timothy Cook of Scottsdale, Peter O'Brien of Mt. Greenwood and Jeffrey Lichtenberger of Worth.

Denis J. Kiley passed away in 1989 at the age of 51. The Denis J. Kiley Foundation was established in 1990 by his family, friends, and coworkers. He was the boys basketball coach at St. Louis deMontfort, Oak Lawn, and an active member of the community.

Young men who attain this scholarship must meet certain qualifications of leadership, high academic standing and athletic achievement. Scholarship applications are currently being distributed to eight area grade schools.

Those interested in contributing to the foundation, may contact Krista Bulow at (708) 430-0393.

Jamie DeBeir

Greg Schoenbeck

Tracy McNally

Edward Wallace

Charles Hayes

Pastor William Griffin

Classes began at Luther South High School on Aug. 25th. Joining the staff on a full-time basis after substituting last year is Greg Schoenbeck. Greg is a 1988 Luther South graduate and has his degree from the University of Illinois at Chicago. He will be teaching classes in science and English. Jamie DeBeir graduated from Valley Lutheran High School and is a 1993 graduate of Eastern Illinois University. She will teach English. Tracy McNally, a 1992 graduate of Olivet Nazarene University, comes to us with a year's experience at Gompers Junior High in Joliet. She will teach Spanish and physical education.

Edward Wallace joins us with 33 years of experience in public schools. He has his degree from Chicago Teachers College and his master's degree from George Williams College. He will teach physical education and coach cross-country, wrestling and track. Joining us on a part-time basis as our choral director is Charles Hayes who comes with six years experience in public schools. He has a bachelor's degree in music from Cornell College, Iowa, and a master's degree from the University of Iowa. In addition to several church responsibilities, he is also a choral director at Oak Park-River Forest High School. Pastor William Griffin returns to Luther South as our new chapel dean and continues to serve as an assistant to our dean of students. He also teaches theology.

World's Fair Talk

Lewis University Arts & Ideas series concludes its celebration of the 100th anniversary of the 1893 World's Fair with "Chicago: The Hydraulic City and the Columbian Exposition," a lecture presentation with slides, on Tuesday, Oct. 26th at 1 p.m. in Room A133 of the academic building on the Lewis main campus, Romeoville. The guest speaker will be John Lamb, professor of history at Lewis University, discussing the close relationship between Chicago and its hydraulic environment, and how the latter was manipulated to help develop the city and place it in a closer relationship with its water environment than any other American city.

Open to the public, the program is free. Also free is "The Centennial of the Chicago Columbian Exposition," an exhibit of photographs, souvenirs and colored lithographs issued in 1893, being presented through Nov. 29th on the first floor of the Lewis University library. Materials in the exhibit are from the Illinois and Michigan Canal and Regional History special collection, housed in the Lewis library. The exhibit may be viewed during library hours: Monday through Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Sunday from 1 to 10 p.m.

The Lewis series on the World's Fair opened in early September with "The World Came to Chicago," a lecture/slide program on the World Columbian Exposition, focusing on the purpose, design and symbolism of the Exposition with emphasis on architecture.

Equity Credit Lines Make Good Sense

Are you seeking to consolidate your debts? Perhaps you think now is the time to finance a home improvement. Or you might have come to the realization that the savings you've put aside for your children's education hasn't kept pace with escalating college tuitions.

"These are the three primary reasons why a growing number of consumers today are establishing equity credit lines, or borrowing against the equity they've built in their homes," said Peter Reed, a vice-president of The First National Bank of Chicago in charge of consumer loans in a periodic feature provided by the bank entitled "Money Smarts."

According to First Chicago's market statistics, the number of equity credit lines in the Chicago region has been growing at a clip of 30 percent annually since 1990. For 1993, the bank estimates that the market volume in the metropolitan area for these loans (in terms of dollars of equity credit lines outstanding) should reach approximately $5.5 billion.

"It makes good sense for people to borrow now, using their equity," Reed said. "With historically low returns on investments, people have to manage their debt smarter than ever before — by borrowing at the lowest cost they possibly can and being able to deduct the cost for tax purposes when possible."

Reed added that since regulators removed the deductibility of interest rates from all but mortgage-related credit in 1986, the equity credit line has taken on added allure from the standpoint of tax planning.

Interest rates on equity credit lines vary among lending institutions. As one of the largest home equity lenders in the region, First Chicago's may be considered typical. For instance, it offers a product priced at prime, with certain conditions, Reed said.

Another product offers qualifying borrowers, at First Chicago with equity credit line balances today of $50,000 or greater an interest rate of 6.75 percent (based on a 6 percent prime rate) on outstanding balances; for borrowers in a 31 percent tax bracket, that translates into an effective after-tax rate of 4.66 percent.

Its "traditional" product (credit lines of $5,000 to $300,000, in the amount of 75 percent of the home's market value, less existing liens) carries rates tied to the prime rate plus 1.5 percent for balances up to $49,999; and tied to the prime rate plus .75 percent for balances of $50,000 or higher.

Additionally, First Chicago is one of the few lenders in the Chicago area offering a 100 percent home equity product. This provides recent home buyers who haven't had a chance to build up their equity the opportunity to borrow up to 100 percent of their home's value, with a cap on the balance of $25,000. This program's rates are 3 percentage points over the prime rate.

While the credit line might not be for everyone, Reed stressed that statistics illustrate that the majority of people who utilize equity loans do so thoughtfully and intelligently.

The First National Bank of Chicago has more than 70 branches throughout the Chicago metropolitan area providing a range of leading edge banking products and services. The tenth largest bank in the country, it is a subsidiary of First Chicago Corporation. Its branches in the downtown area and in the city's south and south suburban communities are located at One First National Plaza; 35 W. Wacker Dr.; Dearborn Station; 4730 W. 79th St.; 4363 S. Archer; 8340 S. Kedzie; 6245 S. Western Ave.; in Woodlawn, Little Village, Pilsen, Burbank, Oak Lawn, Orland Park, Worth and Lansing.

Discussion On Dead Sea Scrolls

"The Dead Sea Scrolls: Discovery and Controversy" will be the topic for the 18th annual Edward Surtz Lecture at Loyola University Chicago, delivered by Joseph A. Fitzmyer, S.J., lecturer in the department of Biblical languages at the Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C. He will speak on Thursday, Oct. 28th at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Crown Center for the Humanities on Loyola's Lake Shore Campus, 6525 N. Sheridan Rd. The lecture is free and open to the public. A reception will follow.

Access to the Scrolls, arguably the greatest archeological find of all time, had been limited (until recently) to a select group of scholars. But with the help of advanced computer technology, other Biblical scholars have been able to piece together the contents of these remarkable windows to ancient times.

Fitzmyer, who received his Ph.D. from Johns Hopkins University, has taught at that university, the Yale Divinity School, the University of Chicago and Fordham University. Among his many publications are The Dead Sea Scrolls: Major Publications and Tools for Study (rev. ed. 1990) and The Gospel According to Luke in the Anchor Bible (2 vols., 1981/85). He has served as co-editor of "The New Jerome Biblical Commentary" (1968 and 1990) and as editor of the "Journal of Biblical Literature" and "The Catholic Biblical Quarterly." Since 1991, he has been a member of the board of trustees of the Dead Sea Scrolls Foundation (Israel/U.S.A.). In 1988, Loyola University Chicago awarded him an honorary doctorate of letters.

The Surtz Lecture was inaugurated in 1976 in memory of the late Edward Surtz, S.J., an internationally renowned scholar of Renaissance thought and literature who spent most of his career as a member of Loyola's department of English.

For further information on the lecture, contact Robert Bireley, S.J. chair of the Surtz lecture committee and professor of history at Loyola, (312) 508-2239.

55 Alive Course

There will be a 55/Alive course at Worth Township Center, 11601 S. Pulaski Rd., on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 27th and 28th. Classes start at 9 a.m. and last until 1 p.m. Participants must attend both days to receive a certificate which may entitle them to a discount on auto insurance. The cost of the course is $8 and class size is limited to 24. Call 371-2900 for reservations.

OUTDOORS

By Jim Kirby

MY GOD - I'VE BEEN SHOT!! - The unthinkable, nightmarish, "it can't happen to me" accident occurred last week during my annual fall muskie, fishing/grouse hunting trip to Northern Wisconsin.

I decided not to write about this incident for fear of providing ammunition (a poor choice of words?) for biased anti-hunting and anti-gun groups and it might discourage individuals from continuing or taking up the inherently safe sport of hunting.

My wife Mary, persuaded me to write about the accident. As she pointed out, "There's a lesson to be learned here, you're supposed to be an outdoor communicator, so communicate." Other activities that I enjoy such as big game hunting, snowmobiling, skiing, flying, boating, white water canoeing, ice fishing and arguing with my wife can be equally dangerous.

Pheasant or quail hunting generally takes place in open fields, alongside creeks, hedgerows, fencelines, picked corn and with the farmers permission in standing corn. As a rule the hunters walk abreast of each other with blockers at the end. With exception of standing corn, all the hunters can see or at least know where other hunters are located. By law a percentage of outer clothing must be vivid blaze-orange color, yet through stupidity, carelessness or both, accidents do happen.

The ruffed grouse has aptly been named the "I wasn't ready bird." Unlike pheasant or quail, grouse are totally unpredictable, a master at flushing at the most inopportune time in thick cover affording the shooter a snap shot at an erratically flying target.

My grouse hunting companion on that particular day is one of my best friends (and still is). We have hunted and fished together for 43 years. At one time we were licensed hunting and fishing guides in Wisconsin.

We parked the truck on a walking trail and as we were loading the guns, two birds got up. I took off after the bird to the left and my buddy, the one on the right. My bird got up but the thick stand of young aspen made a clear shot impossible. A few seconds later I heard my friend shoot. We didn't have the dog, so I walked out to help him find the bird. As I stepped out of the heavy cover I heard a shot and it felt like I had been hit in the face with a sledge hammer. I began to bleed profusely and could not see out of my right eye. I made my way back to the truck where my friend and I worked on stopping the bleeding, wiped the blood out of my eye and thank God I could see.

The hour-long drive to the Memorial Medical Center in Ashland, Wisconsin seemed like an eternity. The emergency staff at the hospital was very professional; cleaned the wounds, took X-rays and gave me a tetanus shot. The attending physician and radiologist were relieved, as was I to find the two pellets in the chest shots had not penetrated the lungs.

Deep concern over the two pellets near the eye prompted a call to Dr. John Doty, an ophthalmologist who met us at the Ashland Eye Center. After an extensive eye examination, Dr. Doty used a needle to open up a tear duct clogged with blood. He informed me that I came within a half inch of losing the eye. The pellets could not be removed; they will hopefully work their way out through the entrance hole.

When we returned to the hospital, the Bayfield County Sheriff was waiting for us. A report was taken for the record, no charges were filed and I had now become a statistic.

The doctors all agreed that the 15 pellets in my face, chest and arm should not be removed at this time. If the pellets around the eyes move or cause me any further pain, a course of action will then be determined.

During the four hour period since the accident, my buddy now referred to as the "shooter" and I as the "shootee" was going through more emotional pain than one can imagine. My heart goes out to him, I know how I would feel if the situation were reversed.

The odds against repeating the sequence of events that led up to this near tragedy are about the same as winning the state lottery. At the time of the shooting my friend was walking away from me. The low flying bird got up in front of him, came over his head. He swung on the bird doing a 180° turn and fired just as I stepped out of the thick brush. Had he been walking in my direction, he would have seen me and not shot. If the bird had not flown away from him or to the sides, it would have been a different story. When he pulled the trigger he saw my blaze-orange but it was too late.

In my case, I happened to walk out on the crest of the hill; had I come out on the back side or below the hill, the shot would not have affected me. Luckily, I was hit at about 40 yards with #9 bird shot loaded in a 2-3/4" shell fired from a 12-gauge modified choke shotgun. Had I been shot at closer range with a heavier #6 or #7 1/2 shot 3" Magnum shell fired from a full choke, I would not be writing this column.

Here's the lesson to be learned - "YOU CAN'T BE TOO CAREFUL" it isn't always the other guy who has the accident, and the shooting safety glasses that I always wear when clay pigeon shooting, did me no good sitting in my duffel bag. I will NEVER go bird hunting without wearing appropriate eye protection.

"YOU BE CAREFUL OUT THERE." Pheasant season opens Nov. 6th. I urge you to take a hunter safety course, don't become a statistic. Call 1-(800)-832-2599 for the date and place of the next hunter safety course in your community.

Oh yes, my hunting buddy and I will be hunting deer in November and have made plans for our next October grouse hunt.

Annual Hunting And Archery Show

The third annual Mid America Hunting and Archery Show, the largest indoor hunting and archery show in the midwest, will once again be held at the Dolton Expo Center, 14200 Chicago Road, on March 11th, 12th and 13th, 1994, featuring displays of over 150 hunting and archery manufacturers. See and buy what is new in the hunting industry for 1994, including firearms, bows, arrows, broadheads, camo clothing, boots, ammunition, bow accessories, tree stands, turkey and deer decoys, turkey and deer calls and more.

Show attendees can also meet and plan hunts with outfitters and guides from the United States and Canada. Talk to outdoor clubs and organizations, both local and national, at the show.

The show is to feature seminars throughout the weekend by America and Canada's best outdoor experts. In addition, the show will have an indoor bow testing range, free tuneup of your bow by factory reps, and a chronograph to test your bow's speed. Upgrade your bow or trade it in on a new bow at the show.

The show opens on Friday, March 11th at 12 noon and continues until 9 p.m.; on Saturday, March 12th from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; and on Sunday, March 13th from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

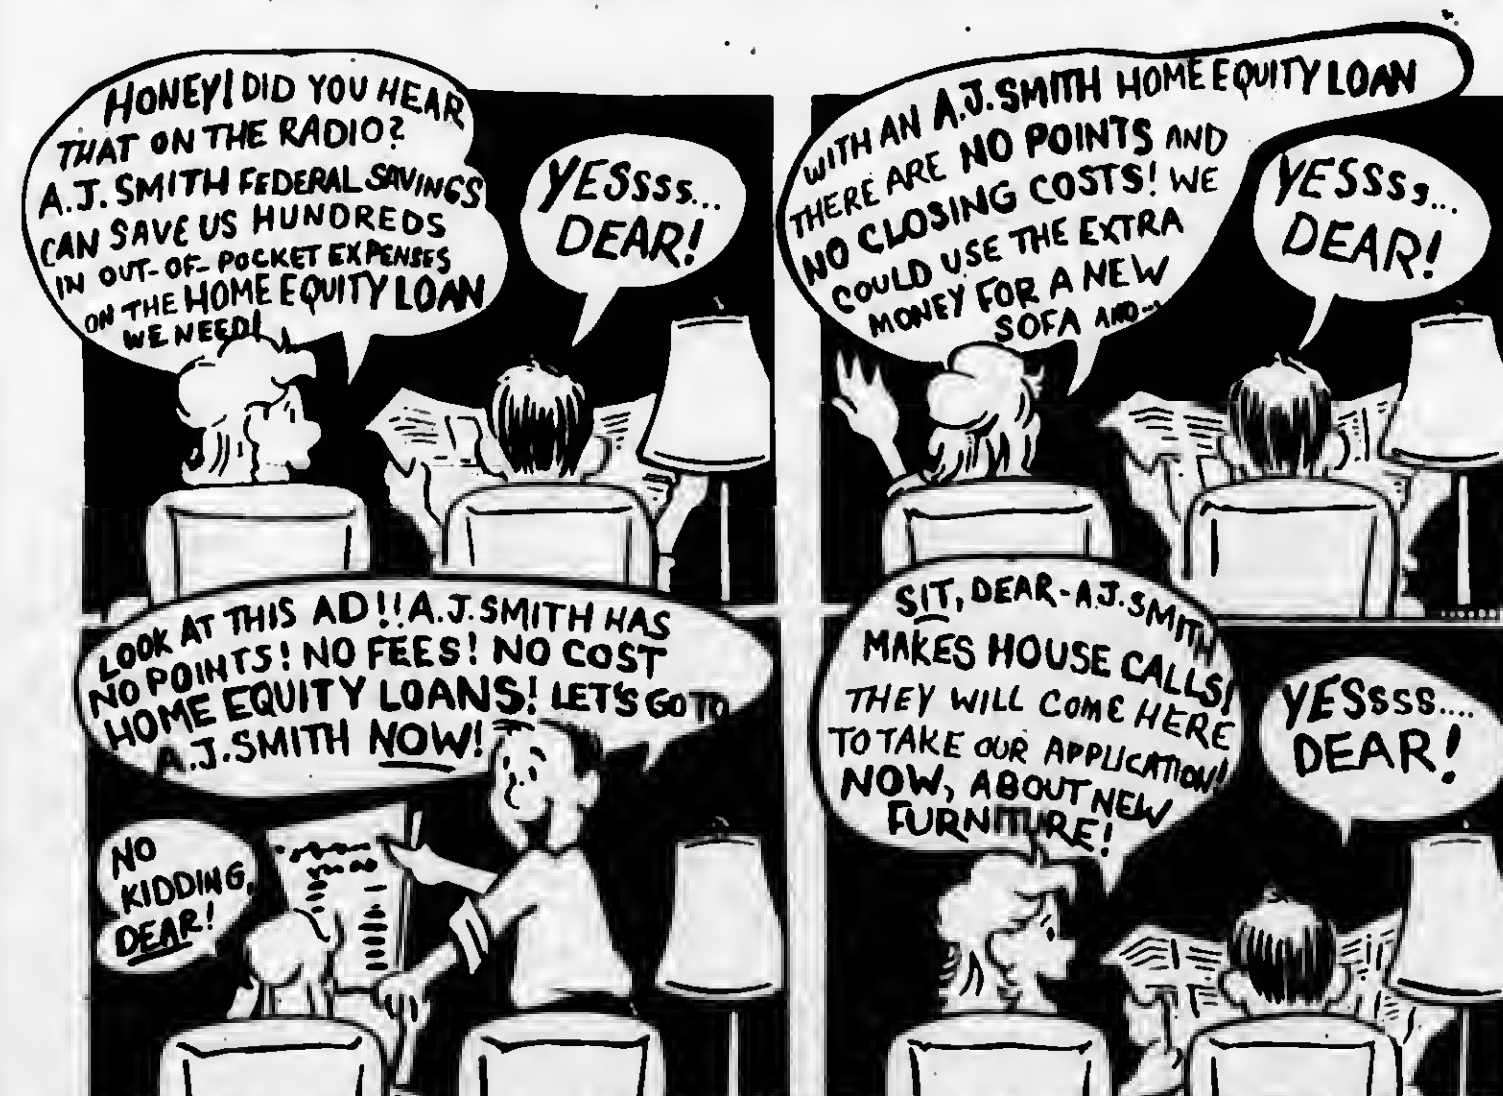

For more information, contact Mid America Headquarters, 17250 S. Oak Park Ave., Tinley Park, IL 60477, or call (708) 532-4133.

Teacher Workshop

The fifth annual workshop for junior and senior high school history teachers will be held on Saturday, Oct. 23rd from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Blackburn College, Carlinville. The workshop, "Geography in Illinois History," is co-sponsored by the Illinois Historic Preservation Agency's (IHPA) educational services program and the Blackburn College history department. The cost is $10 per teacher, with lunch being provided. Students are welcome to attend free of charge. Registration must be made before Oct. 8th by contacting Professor Jan Zimmerman, Department of History, Blackburn College, Carlinville, IL 62626.

The morning session, "The Cultural Geography of Illinois: People and Place Diversity," will be presented by Douglas Meyer of Eastern Illinois University who will discuss the interaction between people and the land in the early 19th century, examining how human ideas and actions shaped the character of society and place. The afternoon sessions will teach participants how to motivate students to study local history and create winning exhibits for state history fairs. Carolyn Kelley, recipient of a statewide history teaching award, will present "Hometown History," and Tim Talbot of the Early American Life Museum in Mahomet will present "Building Better Exhibits."

For more information on the workshop, contact Keith Sculle, IHPA educational services coordinator, at (217) 785-6916.

"ASSASSINS"...In all, 13 people have tried to kill the President of the United States. A total of four have succeeded. America is the kind of country where anybody can grow up to be president—or his killer. Unlikely as it may seem, Stephen Sondheim gets into the hearts and minds of these people through a fast-paced history lesson told to the rhythm of marches, religious ballads and love songs. In the process, writer/composer Sondheim has crafted a thought provoking musical, "Assassins," set to open on Oct. 27 at Pegasus Players, O'Rourke Center for the Arts, Truman College, 1145 W. Wilson. Will Chase stars as The Balladeer, who narrates the story of those who tried to earn their place in American history by violently changing its course.

SEAN YOUNG, ARMAND ASSANTE, KATE NELLIGAN and SHERILYN FENN (inset) star in Carl Reiner's outrageous comedy "Fatal Instinct," set to open at movie theatres on Oct. 29. The movie is a parody of such stylish thrillers as "Basic Instinct," "Fatal Attraction" and "Double Indemnity."...."Cloud Nine," Caryl Churchill's hilarious gender-bending comedy opens tonight at the University of Chicago's Court Theatre. The play begins in British South Africa, where family members and their friends attempt to mask their sexual indiscretions to conform to a priggish Victorian society. Male characters are played by women and vice-versa, allowing the hilarious irony of the characters' appearances and behaviors to illustrate the sexual and political oppression of a colonial society. The second act is set 100 years later, although the characters have aged only 25 years. Once the gender-reversed characters are switched to "normal," they behave awkwardly, declaring their sexual freedoms but still confined by society's sexual mores.... "Les Bonnes" (The Maids) will be performed in French one night only on Nov. 8 at the Court Theatre. The Jean Genet play explores the rituals of human behavior and relationships through the story of two maids who plot and rehearse the murder of their Madame.

"THE NIGHTMARE BEFORE CHRISTMAS" (inset) is set to open tomorrow at movie theatres all around Chicago. The movie follows the misguided passion of Halloween town's beloved Pumpkin King, who oversees the creation of the ghoulish delights, frights and surprises that his holiday traditionally exports to the "real world."....The Second City Alumni Series will present "Joe Show" at Second City, opening Oct. 29. The evening promises to present a rare glimpse into a strange world populated by comatose country singers, ex-con cab drivers and degenerate hand puppets....The musical version of one of America's most beloved classics, "It's A Wonderful Life," will receive its Chicago premiere at Drury Lane Oakbrook Terrace opening next Wednesday and slated to run through Jan. 2.

DANIEL DAY-LEWIS and EMMA THOMPSON (inset) appear in the Universal Pictures movie "In the Name of the Father" set to open in December. The flick is about a man falsely accused of a horrifying crime and the attorney that fights to win his freedom...."A Shyama Maldel," which means a pretty girl in Yiddish, will be presented tonight through Saturday at Moraine Valley Community College...."The Notebooks of Leonardo Da Vinci" will open the Goodman Studio Series on Nov. 9 and continue through Nov. 28. The play was adapted by Mary Zimmerman who poured through the existing 5,000 pages of observations from this remarkable Renaissance man. Zimmerman, who will also direct the production, utilized Da Vinci's drawings of angels, animals and inventions, all which reflected his vast range of interests from anatomy to love, botany to painting, engineering to dreams, and from physics to fables to prophecies. Zimmerman and her collaborators will bring these notebooks to life on the Goodman stage in a dream documentary, in what Leonardo termed "a collection without order, taken from many papers."

TV SHOW TICKETS....The toughest TV tickets in Hollywood are "Seinfeld," none available this season, followed by "Home Improvement," a six month wait, and then "Married with Children," "Roseanne," "Murphy Brown," "The Arsenio Hall Show," "In Living Color," "Coach," "Full House," and in tenth spot "The Tonight Show with Jay Leno."

Follow Ardys Krainik, general director of Lyric Opera of Chicago and "Be Bullish On Opera!" on Saturday, Oct. 30th, when Operation 93 takes to the airwaves for Lyric Opera of Chicago. Call in your pledge to (312) 565-0300 or 1-(800)-USA-WFMT. This 18-hour marathon from 7 a.m. to 12 midnight over WFMT (98.7 FM) is hosted by Lyric Opera's Chapters' Executive Board and its 18 chapters located throughout the Chicagoland area. This 14th annual Operation will offer a potpourri of musical entertainment, taped highlights of past Lyric Opera performances, and live interviews with many of the 1993/94 Lyric season's artists.

More than 300 enthusiastic chapter volunteers will take pledges and offer surprise bonuses and special premiums to entice listeners to phone in their pledges. Special premiums range in price from $15 for a Williams-Sonoma Cooking Class to $1,800 for a Nomad's Loom Oriental carpet. A number of Chicago's world-class restaurants and hotels have donated meals and weekend accommodations. There is even a Cub Skybox and a day at Arlington International Racecourse.

Holiday Dinner

The Drake Hotel, Chicago, will celebrate Thanksgiving in the Gold Coast Room and the Oak Terrace Restaurant, Nov. 25, and youngsters will be entertained in a special recreation room with cartoon videos, balloon sculptors, clowns, and many other activities.

An elaborate buffet will be spread in the Gold Coast room with hot and cold appetizers, soups and salads, traditional roast-tom turkey with stuffing, cranberries, giblet gravy and all the trimmings, plus honey glazed ham, ribeye of beef, fish, chicken, and a harvest of fresh vegetables. Apple, pumpkin and pecan pies are among the many homebaked desserts.

A sit-down dinner will be served in the Oak Terrace Restaurant with entree choices of roast tom turkey, ribeye of beef, and broiled salmon. The desserts include homebaked pies and other luscious pastries.

Thanksgiving feasts in the Gold Coast Room and in the Oak Terrace Restaurant which include coffee, tea and milk are $37.95 per person, $18.95 for children under 12 and complimentary for children under 6.

For reservations call (312) 787-2200 ext. 27.

De LaSalle Alumni Banquet

De La Salle Institute, 3455 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, announces that its 98th annual alumni banquet will be held at the Hyatt Regency Chicago, 151 E. Wacker Dr., Chicago, on Friday, Oct. 22nd from 6:30 p.m. to 12 midnight. Master of ceremonies will be 1968 alumnus Michael E. Mathis, a WGN radio traffic reporter. Michael J. Hughes, class of 1965, is the 1993 Gold Honor Key award recipient in recognition of his distinguished service in promoting Catholic education through alumni projects and activities.

Sports Hall of Fame inductees for 1993 are Daniel J. Garvey, Robert J. Cull, Frank G. Ureovich, Thomas W. Gerhardt, Ray H. Rhone and John J. Domalewski. Gene Meegan and George W. Shinnick will be inducted posthumously.

Special recognition will be presented to the class of 1943 on this occasion for its Golden Jubilee and the class of 1968 for its Silver Jubilee.

Cocktails are to be served at 6:30, followed by dinner and the awards presentation. Special parking rates are being offered by Hyatt.

For additional information or to make reservations, call the president's office at (312) 842-8350.

County's Haunted Forest

Werewolves, ghosts, mummies, even Dracula, will make their way to the Forest Preserve District of Cook County's Haunted Forest on Oct. 21st, 22nd, 23rd and 24th from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the Forest Preserve Trails in Caldwell Woods (located on Devon just east of Nagle/Milwaukee), Chicago.

"This is an enjoyable and safe way for families to celebrate Halloween," Richard J. Phelan said. "The Haunted Forest will be an unforgettable evening."

The trails will be transformed into 17 scenes inhabited by mysterious creatures and sounds. Following the eerie walk, appropriate for both children and adults, visitors can relax and enjoy refreshments and entertainment in the witches' tent. Admission is $4 a person.

50 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE INDEPENDENT

The village board was informed that Finitzo Bros. were selling lots 40 x 125 feet where the plat has been subdivided into 120 x 125 foot lots. As the subdivision is outside the sewer district, any property would require a 120 x 125 foot lot in order to obtain a building permit. The village board moved to revoke the real estate license of Finitzo Bros., pending an appearance before the board.

A new business house will open in Oak Lawn within the next few days. Kahlberg's Royal Blue Grocery and Delicatessen will occupy the 9253 W. 95th St. location last occupied by Shirley's Market. The Hugo Kahlbergs built a new home at 9330 W. Tully Ave. four years ago, coming here from Chicago. In addition to a complete line of grocery goods, Kahlberg's Royal Blue will specialize in offering the local public a wide variety of high-quality sausages, cheese and luncheon meats. And if you want to try some homemade potato salad or a home-baked ham with cloves, Kahlberg's will be your next stop.

Eddie and Fanny Cavanaugh, well-known radio stars, will appear in person at the Coral Theatre on Saturday night as one of the feature attractions at the midnight show, which is being sponsored by St. Gerald's Parish, Oak Lawn.

The Army ordinance department has announced that Walter Slowinski of Oak Lawn has just completed a specialist's course in chassis work at the wheeled vehicle chassis section conducted by the Chevrolet Motor Division at Flint, Michigan. He is now a technician 5th grade and was especially selected to attend this course in practical mechanical maintenance of the Army's equipment.

An ordinance was passed Tuesday night requiring all property owners to connect onto the village sewers if the latter adjoins his property.

Sunday Oak Lawn will play Skokie at Skokie. Oak Lawn beat the Orland Park Boosters 4-3 last Sunday. The winning pitcher was Orr, while the losing pitcher was Bormel.

The Oak Lawn Department Store, 5300 W. 95th St., is offering a special in Men's pants, caps and boy's pants. Ladies, misses and childrens gowns and blouses and a complete line of pajamas are also on sale at special prices.

On Monday the home of Stephan McNamara of Oak Lawn was damaged by fire. Mrs. McNamara was frying doughnuts when the fat caught fire and quickly spread over the kitchen. She was severely burned, but was able to be treated at home. Grandview, Columbus Manor and Oak Lawn Fire Departments answered the call, but were unable to bring the fire under control until after the interior of the home was burned.

June Knize, daughter of Mrs. M. Knize of Columbus Manor, a Wave, has finished her mechanical training at Memphis, Tenn. June was one of 44 girls in a class of 90 to receive a rating of aviation machinist's mate 3-c (Petty Officer). She is now home on a seven-day leave. On her return, she will be sent to Pensacola, Fla.

Charlie Reuter, manager of Walker's DeLux Market, 5301 W. 95th St., is offering specials in meat this week as part of the gigantic grand opening of the National Tea building in which he is located. The store has been completely renovated and will once again be open to the public at 10 a.m. on Thursday.

Discipline Lecture

Dealing with a child's misbehavior can be a parent's greatest challenge. Helping parents understand misbehavior so they can encourage cooperation and responsibility is the goal of "Effective Discipline," a lecture to be given by a cooperative network of Oak Lawn service agencies.

Part of a series of lectures on family life, "Effective Discipline" will be presented on Tuesday, Nov. 16th, from 7:30 to 9 p.m., at the Oakview Community Center Building, 4625 W. 110th St.

The lecture will be led by Christian Gostecnik, M.S., M.Div., and Joan Simpson, M.A., family therapists with the Family Care Network, an EHS Health Care counseling service.

Admission to the lecture is free. For more information, call the EHS Health Care behavioral health referral service at (708) 456-4444.

The lecture series is co-sponsored by several local agencies, including EHS Christ Hospital's department of religion and health; Oak Lawn Family Services; Village of Oak Lawn; Oak Lawn Park District; Adler School of Professional Psychology; and the Family Care Network.

Food Distribution For Needy

New hours for the distribution of food to persons in need are now in effect at Pilgrim Faith Church, 9411 S. 51st Ave. They are from 10 a.m. to 12 noon on Tuesdays and Fridays. Only at these hours will food be distributed.

Myrtle Wallender of Evergreen Park looks over Laurel Anderson's collection of Russian memorabilia shown at a recent meeting of the South West Woman's Club (SWWC). Laurel, from Oak Lawn, toured St. Petersburg (formerly Leningrad) and Moscow. Objects she brought back include dolls, jewelry, decorations and the fur hat and Moscow University sweatshirt she is wearing.

Headache Program

Oak Lawn-area headache sufferers, their families and friends may gain new insight into headache at a free public education program presented by the National Headache Foundation on Thursday, Oct. 28th from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Oak Lawn Hilton, 9333 S. Cicero Ave. Seating begins at 6:30 in the North Room. Free parking is available at the hotel. The program is made possible through an educational grant from Cerenex Pharmaceuticals, a division of Glaxo Inc.

To help people better understand headaches and their causes, prevention and treatments, a distinguished panel of experts will discuss this invisible handicap. Four headache experts will discuss the various types of headaches and their treatments. Hans Evers, M.D., of Naperville will speak on migraine headache; David I. Markovitz, M.D., of Palos Heights will discuss cluster headache; Marvin Zelkowitz, M.D., of Flossmoor will address the topic of tension headache; and Merle Diamond, M.D., of Chicago will cover organic headache.

The National Headache Foundation is the oldest and largest lay organization in the United States dedicated to headache. Established in 1970 by a group of physicians, NHF provides information to headache sufferers and healthcare professionals, increases public awareness about the debilitating nature of headaches and funds research. NHF offers a toll-free number for answers to questions about headache as well as free printed materials, (800) 843-2256.

MARIE RUF

MARILYN SOBBE

The Evergreen Park PTA Chorus (formerly known as The Mothersingers) celebrated its 50 years of existence in the community on Oct. 3rd at Trinity Lutheran Church. After inviting former members to the reunion the group honored its founder Marie Ruf and its director, Marilyn Sobbe who has directed the chorus for 25 of the 50 years. The chorus has performed before PTA, church and civic groups as well as hospitals and nursing homes. They practice Tuesday mornings at Trinity Lutheran Church. They would warmly welcome any new members and do especially seek and accompanist. Inquire at 423-4864 or 422-7333.

Metra Sets Public Hearing

The public is invited to comment on Metra commuter rail's preliminary 1994 program and budget at a hearing scheduled from 4 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 4th throughout the six-county region. The local hearing will be at Oak Lawn Village Hall, 5252 W. Dumke Drive.

Comments can be presented orally at the hearings or submitted in writing anytime before Nov. 5th. Written remarks should be sent to Metra, c/o Asst. Secretary to the Board, 547 W. Jackson, Chicago, IL 60661.

Copies of the 1994 preliminary budget, 1995-96 financial plan and 1994-95 capital program are available for public inspection at Metra, 547 W. Jackson, 13th floor board room, Chicago; and at the Regional Transportation Authority, 181 W. Madison, No. 1900, Chicago. The documents also will be available at most public libraries and city and village offices in the six-county area seven days prior to the hearings.

For information, call Metra external affairs, (312) 322-6750.

Family Days OK'd

Fred Stoettner, chairman for the Oak Lawn Family Days, with his assistant, came before the village trustees at Tuesday night's meeting to obtain a permit for Aug. 3rd through 7th, 1994. Stoettner said they had already talked to the Oak Lawn Park District and have received their approval and would like the waiver of fees and other amenities granted last year. He said they made $90,000 in 1993 which is to be divided among the participating clubs. The board gave unanimous approval.

Rex Robinson, a witness to an accident on Aug. 7th at 1:49 a.m. on 111th St. east of Kostner Ave., said that he saw a truck traveling without lights, watched it drift into the oncoming traffic and strike a car. Robinson stopped his vehicle and related to the officers who arrived on the scene what he had observed. His account of the accident assisted Officer R. Brewer and Detective J. Pacetti in reconstructing the accident and aided in charging the offender with reckless homicide. He was presented with the Oak Lawn Police Department commendation for his willingness to get involved. Gail Rauesch, Brian Marinko and Matt Christianson for assisting the police in capturing burglary suspects also received police commendations presented by Mayor Ernest Kolb.

A request for a billiard and dart parlor license by Kerry Kalafut and Michael Sodin was deferred until the next meeting.

Trustee Ron Stancik said they would have to update the ordinance regulating such a business and the question of parking came up.

Sodin said they plan to lease the building at 5410 W. 95th St. and felt there would be no problem with parking. Sodin and Kalafut assured the board that their's is a class operation. The board agreed to take it up at the legal & ordinance committee meeting on Thursday, to cover points brought up at the meeting.

Christy Tanasevic, an Oak Lawn resident, asked the board to submit the annual filing for the community development block grant. She said this will be for one year. Stancik said this is a very good program and he knows many persons in the village who meet all criteria but are unable to get the help because their home isn't on the map. Her request was approved and the papers will be forwarded to HUD.

Trustee Robert Streit said he is speaking on behalf of a senior citizen Fred Daley whom he thinks has been defrauded by an agent for Century 21 who agreed to sell his property for $105,000 and he could then purchase a condo. Daley is 78 years old and was widowed last year. There was a woman who offered to purchase the property for $105,000 but the agent, whom he trusted, allegedly said he could not take that offer because he had another buyer. The buyer turns out to be a licensed real estate broker who was to give him $95,000, but the real estate agent gave him $90,000. After he had signed the contract the commission of $2,000 was mentioned and Daley will get $88,000 and be unable to purchase the condo. He came to see the board and Streit said he had looked at the consumer fraud ordinance. Trustee Michael Walsh said the property is worth at least $125,000 and suggested that Daley get his own attorney to see what can be done and the board will pursue it further.

Clerk A. Jayne Powers reported the village hall will be open on Saturday, Oct. 30th from 9 a.m. to 12 noon for absentee voting for the Tuesday, Nov. 2nd election.

Mayor Kolb appointed Michael Burke, ESDA coordinator, to the emergency telephone system board to replace Linda Sieracki who resigned and is moving out of town. He also appointed Elaine Barry to the human services board.

Businesswomen Meet

The Oak Lawn Business & Professional Women's Club will hold its monthly meeting in the Sheffield Room at the Oak Lawn Hilton at 94th & Cicero Ave. with cocktails at 6:30 and dinner at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 3rd. The program, followed by the business meeting, will be presented by Dee Steger, senior specialist, of the Cook County State's Attorney's Office, and will concern "Elder Care and Elder Abuse."

Make reservations to attend by calling 423-1329.

Fashion Show

Co-chairs for the annual Brother Rice Mother's Club Fall Fashion Show, Donna Schmidt and Joan Kane admire an outfit displayed by Anne Marie Casey. The fashion show is to be held on Wednesday, Nov. 10th in the grand ballroom of the Martinique, Evergreen Park. For a $28 donation, spectators are treated to a cocktail hour beginning at 6:30 p.m. and a dinner beginning at 7:30 p.m. For more information, contact Donna Schmidt at (708) 597-2592 or the school at (312) 779-3410.

Review Committee Now Established

A standing committee to review personnel policy on a regular or as needed basis was established by the Oak Lawn Public Library Board of Trustees at its regular meeting, Oct. 19th. The committee will be comprised of three representatives from the staff association, two from administration and two from the board. Trustees Robert Honkisz and Lois Gasteyer volunteered to serve on the board. The other members will be announced later. The committee will discuss the general personnel policy and not specific personnel issues.

After an annual review, the board approved the reference services policy, database searching policy, selection policy and unattended children's policy.

Robert Honkisz, board president, announced that three local people had sent in letters indicating they were interested in the vacant seat on the board. Dave Gallagher, who had served 10 years on the board, resigned because he moved out of the district. The board has advertised for candidates to serve the unexpired term which ends in 1995. Deadline to apply is Nov. 1st.

In regular monthly business, the board approved payment of $34,978 for library materials, $22,450 for general operating expenses and $146,840 for personnel.

Board meetings, which are open to the public, are held at 7:30 p.m. on the third Tuesday of each month in the lower level Rotary Room. Board members are Robert Honkisz, president; Lois Gasteyer, vice-president; Shirley Barrett, treasurer; Nancy Czerwec, secretary; Joann Buschbach and Marian Sullivan, trustees.

Orr Seeks Second Term

David Orr announced last week that he will seek a second term as Cook County Clerk in 1994. Orr, a Democrat, stood with his wife Loretta, sons Jeffrey, Michael and Arturo, and hundreds of supporters as he declared his candidacy.

DAVID ORR

"In the truest tradition of Chicago politics, I am offering the taxpayers of Cook County a payoff this afternoon for their investment in a new kind of government. It's a payoff of more than 3.7 million dollars as a result of our hard work to bring accountability, modernization, effective management, and improved service to the Clerk's office," Orr said.

Orr then handed over a symbolic check to the people of Cook County, calling it the dividend on good government.

County Clerk Orr said that effective management techniques allowed his office to save more than $3.7 million for Cook County taxpayers during his first three years in office. He went on to summarize a series of his administration's accomplishments since his election in November, 1990:

- * Orr cut overtime spending by 40% his first year in office
- * Orr uncovered $1.1 million in old purchase orders and refunded the money to taxpayers.
- * Orr demanded interest for the first time on every penny of taxpayer money deposited with the Clerk's office.
- * Orr reduced the 1991 election tax bill by 25%.
- * Orr made voter registration easier and more convenient, yet less expensive for the county.

Clerk Orr recalled that his office registered a historic 370,000 new voters in Cook County in 1992 and he made a commitment for the future: "A cornerstone of my campaign for County Clerk will be to bring new voters into the fight for change," Orr said, "we will continue to register record numbers of new voters who can demand accountability. Then the challenge will rest with each of those new voters and with each of us to demand change."

Orr also described his efforts to bring accountability to Cook County government. "In my first days in office, I issued tough executive orders on ethics and discrimination in the County Clerk's office. I wrote a new Cook County Lobbyist Registration Law -- one of the best in the nation," said Orr. "I was a leader in the fight for a county ethics ordinance and pushed through tough regulations limiting gifts to County employees. I called for a strict campaign finance reform law and the county board followed my lead by capping contributions from county vendors."

"I promised a new standard of accountability and I delivered," he added.

"Today, I am asking you to renew your faith in me and support me as we continue the job we started in 1990," Orr concluded, "together, we can change the way Cook County does business."

Red Ribbon Days

Students and faculty at De LaSalle Institute are 'seeing red' through Oct. 31st to promote the 1993 Red Ribbon Campaign for a drug-free America.

"Students will wear red ribbons to support the campaign," said campus minister Bro. Joel A. Lechner, OSM, who also is a certified alcohol and drug counselor.

The red ribbon campaign originated when U.S. federal agent Enrique Camarena was tortured and murdered by drug traffickers in February 1985. Illinois Drug Education Alliance (IDEA), along with the Virginia Federation of Parents, was instrumental in organizing the first national red ribbon campaign.

The red ribbon became the symbol of intolerance to illegal drug use and a commitment to a drug-free lifestyle.

Events scheduled include distribution of material for a drug-free America, a classroom door decorating contest, 'dress in red' day and dispensing red ribbons to students so they can display their support of the red ribbon campaign theme.

"The Choice for Me, Drug-Free!"

Students will also take the red ribbon pledge: "No use of illegal drugs, no illegal use of legal drugs."

A communion prayer service will be held in De LaSalle's chapel at 8 a.m. Friday Oct. 31st for those affected by substance abuse and for their families.

Genealogy

The Irish/American Alliance will hold its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 3rd at 8 p.m., at Killarney Castle, 8055 W. 103rd St. A special feature of the meeting will be a Genealogy presentation on "Tracing Your Irish Ancestors."

The presentation will cover sources of information in Ireland and the United States. It will focus on the census, land evaluations, ship passenger lists, ports of entry, church records, Irish and American war records, and more. Handouts will be furnished identifying sources of genealogy materials.

For more information, call Tony Philbin at (312) 776-4367.

St. Laurence Holding Open House

On Thursday, Nov. 11th, St. Laurence High School is holding its annual Open House from 4:30 to 9 p.m. The school is located at 77th St. and Central Ave., Burbank. All 7th and 8th grade boys and their parents are invited to attend.

Tours of the school will begin with a performance by the award-winning St. Laurence Marching Gold 100 Band. All tours will feature the state-of-the-art computer lab, computer graphics center, and Learning Resource Center. Demonstrations by St. Laurence students in the biology, chemistry, physics, and physical science labs will enhance the evening. Exhibits will serve as visual aids in the drafting/architectural design lab and visitors may watch as St. Laurence students construct various drawings.

Stops on the tour will also include presentations by St. Laurence students in the school library, chapel, and activities office. The newly refurbished gymnasium will also be a focal point on all tours. Guidance counselors will also be on hand to explain the varied roles of the school's guidance counselors. In addition, all of St. Laurence's individual academic programs will be highlighted. Teachers from each department will be available to answer questions regarding not only St. Laurence's honors, college prep and PLUS programs, but also questions regarding each specific academic area.

All tours will be guided by a St. Laurence student acting as a tour guide. A St. Laurence faculty member will also walk on each tour to help the guides answer questions.

Following the tours, refreshments will be served in the cafeteria where each athletic program and activity will have tables manned with student-athletes and coaches providing information on their programs. Coaches and activity moderators will be on hand to give more information and answer questions. Transportation and financial aid information will also be available.

"Our Open House gives the elementary school students and their parents a unique look at all of the benefits St. Laurence High School students receive throughout the four years that they attend," remarked Thomas Kurzawski, director of admissions and elementary school relations.

"Our students become very involved with the evening, and as a result, are able to communicate to the prospective St. Laurence students all that St. Laurence has to offer in terms of academics, athletics, and activities," concluded Kurzawski.

More information is available by calling Kurzawski at the school during school hours, 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., at (708) 458-6900.

No Dumping In Forest Preserves

The Forest Preserve District of Cook County is urging all county residents not to "leave their leaves" in the forest preserve district, announced Cook County Board President Richard Phelan.

"Dumping of leaves or garden material in the forest preserve is strictly forbidden," Phelan said. "It is not only harmful to the environment, but it is inefficient use of taxpayers' money to have maintenance personnel spending time removing other people's garbage from the woods."

Dumping of any material is a violation of a forest preserve district ordinance. Those found guilty of this type of activity can face a fine of up to $500. Dumping can cause damage to the environment. The refuse material may contain diseases or pesticides which could be harmful to the vegetation. Additional harm can occur if material is dumped on environmentally sensitive areas.

"The forest preserve district, along with hundreds of volunteers, work hard to restore and preserve the native landscape," Phelan said, "dumping is counter productive to those efforts."

Phelan said people should encourage their neighbors and friends to dispose of their leaves properly. If anyone has information regarding people dumping leaves, or any other types of refuse in the forest preserve, they should contact the forest preserve district police at (708) 771-1000 immediately. People should contact their village hall to inquire about the proper disposal of leaves and yard refuse.

introducing the Evergreen HOME Savings Account

A new way to save for a home.

What is the Evergreen HOME Savings Account? Evergreen Bank is a participant in the Home Ownership Made Easy (HOME) savings program, sponsored by the State of Illinois. If you are a potential home buyer saving for your downpayment, the HOME Savings Account is for you.

How does the program work?

Any prospective home buyer who does not currently own real estate can join the program by depositing $100 in this special Evergreen Bank savings account. The Evergreen HOME Savings Account earns the same interest rate as a regular savings account. After two years, the HOME participant becomes certified and is eligible for a range of benefits.

What are the benefits of the Evergreen HOME Savings Account?

In addition to accruing interest, HOME participants receive exemption from the State Real Estate Transfer Tax, waiver of municipal transfer tax (in those communities which have approved this waiver) and exemption from paying State income tax on the interest earned when all the Evergreen HOME funds are used to make the downpayment on a home. By opening and maintaining your HOME account at Evergreen Bank, you receive even more benefits; the application fee on your Evergreen Bank mortgage will be refunded to you if you keep at least $5,000 in your HOME Account during the last six months that it is open. You will also receive a complimentary Evergreen Mortgage Simply Checking account, with all its benefits, provided you arrange for monthly automatic transfers from your Evergreen checking account to your HOME Savings Account.

For complete information on the Evergreen HOME Savings Account concerning fees and terms applicable, stop in or call your Evergreen Banker at (708) 422-6700.

Hearing Panel Member

Aurelia Pucinski, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Cook County, participated as a hearing panel member at a Summit on domestic violence at the Peace Museum. The event, sponsored by Attorney General Roland Burris, unveiled the Domestic Violence Task Force Report which is comprised of 15 recommendations based on testimony given to the Summit and/or issues that were discussed at post-summit follow-up meetings with members of the hearing panel.

"We have come together to show our commitment to, and awareness of, the need for our system of justice to coordinate its efforts on behalf of victims of domestic violence," said Pucinski. "We as teachers, clergy, social workers, advocates, prosecutors, law enforcement and all court personnel have heard the plea for justice and are answering it in our efforts to serve the public in a just manner," she added.

Pucinski's office files Orders of Protection, a legal remedy for domestic violence victims requiring law enforcement officers to provide special types of assistance to victims.

Contest Deadline

Cook County Board President Richard Phelan reminds everyone that the deadline for entries for the 1993 Forest Preserve District of Cook County Amateur Photography Contest is Friday, Oct. 29th at 5 p.m. All entries should be mailed or delivered to: Special Events, c/o The Forest Preserve District of Cook County, 536 N. Harlem Ave., River Forest, IL 60305.

"The Forest Preserves are an ideal setting and excellent subject material for any photographer," Phelan said.

Photographs may be submitted in the categories of conservation and recreation and must be taken from within the Forest Preserves. All photographs must be no smaller than 5"x7" and no larger than 8"x10" and, if possible, should be mounted on cardboard mats. Black and white photographs are also encouraged.

Entries will be judged on composition, technical merit, use of light and presentation. All photographs will be judged by a panel of professionals and awards will be presented for the top three photographs in the conservation and recreation categories.

Winning photographs will be on public display at the Crabtree Nature Center, Barrington, and at the Cook County Building, Chicago. Photographers will be notified of the results and of the appropriate place and time to pick up their pictures.

Interested participants can receive an entry form or additional information by phoning (708) 771-1062; TDD (708) 771-1190.

Halloween Safety Tips

Since Halloween is on a Sunday this year and it's the first day of standard time, the little ghosts and goblins that roam neighborhoods may be out earlier than usual. This can mean danger for children unless parents and drivers take special precautions, according to the AAA-Chicago Motor Club.

Drivers - Be extra alert for children darting out from between parked cars. Turn on your headlights at the first sign of dusk and take extra care when negotiating driveways. With so many children on the streets, a right turn on red can be dangerous, so slow down and watch out. Driving at least 5 mph under the posted speed limit in residential areas gives you and children a margin of safety.

Children - AAA-CMC urges you to trick-or-treat while it's still light and wear comfortable light-colored costumes that make it easy to walk, see and be seen. Carry a flashlight and trim your costume with special reflective tape that shines brightly in headlights (your parents can get the tape at most auto supply, hardware and sporting goods stores). Carry or wear a glow-in-the-dark Halloween light stick, available where costumes are sold. Try to trick-or-treat on well-lighted streets. Never dart out between parked cars in the middle of the block. Look both ways before crossing the street. Walk on the sidewalk, not in the street. If there is no sidewalk, walk facing traffic and as far off the road as possible.

Parents - Be sure children can see clearly. Encourage children to wear makeup instead of masks; makeup won't impair vision and it's fun to wear. If children insist on wearing masks, you should enlarge the eye holes on masks and have children remove masks before crossing the street. Accompany your children or send an older brother or sister along. If someone older can't go, kids should trick-or-treat with a group and tell you in advance what streets they plan to haunt.

Guard Challenge

Gov. Jim Edgar recently urged school dropouts to take full advantage of an Illinois National Guard program they are helping to pioneer.

"Many of you who volunteered for this challenge have had a rugged start in life. But you can't let that stop you. You can learn. You can set and reach positive goals. You can turn your back on drugs, violence and the other evils that threaten the quality of your lives and indeed your lives themselves," the governor told the first class of participants at dedication ceremonies for the Lincoln Challenge program.

The program - one of the initiatives in the governor's State of the State address last January - features Illinois National Guard members working with young people to help provide them with a constructive focus, education and self-discipline, as well as to generally show them a different lifestyle than they learn on the streets of Illinois cities.

"It is far better - far better - to have the Guard members teaching self-discipline, fitness, family responsibility and other life skills than to have the Guard restoring order to neighborhoods torn asunder by civil war," Edgar said.

The governor himself named the program in honor of President Abraham Lincoln because the 16th president serves as an excellent model for young people - particularly those who come from humble beginnings, as he did.

"President Lincoln showed that discipline and hard work paid off. He also served in the Illinois Militia, the forerunner to the National Guard," Edgar said.

The first class, which includes 218 youths from throughout the state, arrived at Rantoul last month.

"We want to make this program a model for the nation, and I hope we can expand it in the years ahead," Edgar said.

Kelly

Richard F. Kelly Jr. of Oak Forest, who was redistricted out of his senate seat after 18 years in Springfield, announced this week he will enter the Democratic Primary race for Cook County Commissioner in the new 6th District single member district. The 6th includes parts of the townships of Bloom, Bremen, Calumet, Rich, Thornton and Worth.

He joins Worth Township Supervisor Joan Murphy who announced her desire for the office two weeks ago.

Time Changes

Don't forget: Daylight Savings Time is superseded by a return to Standard Time as of 2 a.m. on Sunday, Oct. 31st. Turn your clocks back one hour before going to bed Saturday night. That way you are certain to be on the correct time schedule when you get up on Sunday morning.

Energy Program

PLOWS Council on Aging is once again taking appointments for applications to the 1993-94 low-income home energy assistance program (LIHEAP) for persons age 60 or older, with qualifying income and residing within the townships of Palos, Lemont, Orland or Worth. LIHEAP assists persons with winter heating costs. Renters and homeowners who pay heating bills, as well as persons who rent but do not pay a separate heating bill, may be eligible for assistance.

To qualify for this program, an individual or family must meet the financial eligibility guidelines set by federal regulations. Eligibility is based on a household's income for the 30 days prior to the application date: one person $726; two persons, $982; three persons, $1,239 and four persons, $1,495.

For further information, and to schedule an appointment, contact PLOWS Council on Aging at 422-6722.

Approve I & M Canal Capital Improvement Funding

Congressman Bill Lipinski (D-3) recently announced that $500,000 is to be earmarked from the United States Army Corp of Engineers planning budget for capital improvements to the Illinois and Michigan (I&M) Canal National Heritage Corridor. Through Lipinski's efforts, this funding was included in the energy and water development appropriations legislation which passed the House of Representatives and will be signed into law.

"Today we made a significant step in preserving the I&M Canal Heritage Corridor," said Lipinski. "I am pleased that I was able to secure funding which brings federal dollars home to Chicago and the entire state of Illinois."

The corridor was designated by Congress in 1984 as the first "partnership park" of its kind and is now a model for such parks throughout the nation. The project was authorized in an amendment Lipinski had included in the water resources development act of 1992, signed into law on Oct. 31st, 1992. The act authorizes the Army Corps of Engineers to make capital improvements to the I&M Canal. As a result, the federal government will now contribute 50 percent of the cost of all improvements.

On Tuesday, Nov. 2nd, voters are going to the polls to cast ballots for candidates on elementary, junior college, township, and high school boards. Referenda on various issues including rate increases for school districts are also to appear on the ballot. Raising money to support public schools can be accomplished only through taxation and many school districts are in financial straits; others are on the verge of disaster.

The ballot a voter casts for the individual(s) who represent him or her as a school trustee is not just important, it is vital. As much as any representative in Washington, Springfield, county or local government, school trustees have great control over how your tax dollars are spent. Approximately 70 percent of your tax money is spent on education in one way or another.

Yet elections for this all important use of your money are historically the lowest in terms of voter participation. Is it a lack of understanding? Probably so. Many persons are "too busy" to bother with the election process, despite the fact that registration and voting have become so easy it could be considered 'automatic.'

People stand in line for hours, even days to obtain tickets for a sporting event but all too often refuse to take 10 or fifteen minutes to vote. It is not only the apathetic who suffer... everyone does. In our free society, the voter turnout should exceed 80 percent, even for so 'unimportant' an election as for the local school board.

Ryan Chew of Cook County Clerk David Orr's office said that no projection of voter turnout is made for elections such as that to be held on Tuesday, Nov. 2nd as the local aspect is unpredictable. Hotly contested races, referenda, along with variable factors can determine the voter turnout. A projection on a county or state wide race is much easier, according to Chew.

"However," he said, "a 15 to 20 percent total turnout is probably close to what we can expect on Tuesday." A sad, sad commentary on contemporary America...

Mercedes Rauen of Palos Hills last week was named by Governor Jim Edgar to fill a vacancy on the State of Illinois Advisory Council of Spinal Cord and Head Injury Council. Rauen comes well qualified for the job. She is the director of the Illinois Chapter of the National Spinal Cord Injury Association. The appointment requires Senate confirmation, pays expenses only and is not salaried.

Secretary of State George Ryan reports that 570,000 Illinoisans who obtained Illinois driver's licenses last year also agreed to be listed in the new registry of potential organ donors. This, Ryan said, represents about 22% of all driver's license applicants. National estimates, he said, average 10-15% as potential donors.

Chicago Mayor Richard M. Daley's "Graffiti Blasters" program is reaching new heights-- literally-- with the addition to trucks which enable the Streets and Sanitation crews to reach 2nd floor levels to remove graffiti. The free service already has cleaned nearly 9,000 buildings since April, according to Commissioner Eileen Carey.

Bob Clement, director of public information for the Illinois Student Assistance Commission (ISAC), reports that over $15.8 million has been withheld from student loan defaulters from 1992 federal tax refunds.

The ISAC, the U.S. Department of Education and the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) have teamed up for the eighth consecutive year in this effort to withhold refunds of $15.8 million from 20,783 Illinoisans. Total refunds withheld since the plans inception is $73.2 million.

Congressman Bill Lipinski, who is one of the few Democrats who voted against President Clinton's budget, has been invited by the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce to address members of surrounding chambers of commerce, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce. It all takes place at the Oak Lawn Hilton at 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 15.

Other chambers participating are: Alsip, Bridgeview, Burbank, Blue Island, Evergreen Park, Frankfort, Midlothian, Oak Forest, Orland Park, Chicago Southland and Worth. The cost which includes a continental breakfast is $5. For more information call the Oak Lawn Chamber at (708) 424-8300 no later than Nov. 8.

Barbara Valerious, principal of Chicago High School for Agricultural Sciences, was in Washington, D.C. last weekend. She was among eight educators on a national committee to formulate an independent study program for students interested in agriculture. The meeting was sponsored by FFA (Future Farmers of America).

The Evergreen Park Regular Republican Organization holds its monthly meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 3rd. The meeting will be called to order by Jolene Churak, organization president, at 8 p.m. in the Hamilton B. Maher Community Center, 3450 W. 97th St.

Following years of continued effort by the Illinois Congressional delegation, Lipinski has ensured that the necessary steps are being taken to preserve this treasure for future generations. The I&M Heritage Canal runs through the City of Chicago and extends to LaSalle/Peru.

Worth Township Surplus Food Distribution Plan

There will be a surplus food distribution at the Worth Town Hall, 11601 S. Pulaski Rd., on a new date this month. Because the normal delivery date falls on Veterans' Day, the food distribution will be on Friday, Nov. 12th. Hours are from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Because of the large quantity of food coming in, two large bags will be needed to deliver it and we are asking people eligible to receive these commodities to help by bringing in large brown paper bags. It will not be necessary to come early and stand in a long line as by 10 a.m. the line should be shorter.

For more information, call 371-2900.

Pace To Link With CTA At New Midway Station

Whether you're coming from the southwest suburbs to downtown or doing the reverse commute, Pace, the suburban transportation service, just made the connection easier with seven convenient Pace bus routes linking up to the CTA's new Midway Station.

The new Midway CTA Station, centrally located at 59th and Cicero Avenue, is scheduled to open Sunday, Oct. 31st. By re-routing Pace service to the new station, a trip that used to take 45 minutes up to an hour now takes as little as 25 minutes.

Route 379 West 79th Street travels between Moraine Valley College and the Midway CTA Station via 88th Street, 79th Street and Cicero Avenue. The bus also serves Ford City Shopping Center, Mercy Health Care Center and St. Laurence and Queen of Peace high schools.

Route 382 Central/Clearing operates between 104th and Pulaski and the Midway CTA Station serving Mother McAuley High School, Brother Rice High School, St. Laurence High School, Queen of Peace High School, Bedford Park Clearing Industrial District and Ford City Shopping Center.

Route 383 South Cicero travels on Cicero Avenue between the Midway CTA Station and the Oak Forest Hospital. The bus also provides service to Ford City Shopping Center, Rivercrest Shopping Center and the Oak Forest Metra Station.

Route 385 87th/111th/127th travels between Rivercrest Shopping Center and the Midway CTA Station. The bus also serves Lydia Health Care Center, St. Francis Hospital, Marist High School, Moraine Valley College and Ford City Shopping Center.

Route 386 South Harlem travels between Orland Square Shopping Center and the Midway CTA Station via LaGrange, Harlem Avenue and 63rd Street. The route also serves Playfield Plaza, Oak Lawn Park District Pavilion, the Worth Metra Station and the 5th Municipal Courthouse. In addition, select trips operate to 127th and Homan.

For more information, call Pace's Passenger Services Office at (708) 364-7223 or the RTA Travel Information Center at 836-7000.

Township Flea Market

Worth Township Supervisor Joan Patricia Murphy announced that the township is to be the site of a flea market on Saturday, Nov. 13th from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

According to Murphy, "this event could serve as a great opportunity to turn items like clothing, jewelry, toys, artwork or crafts into cash for the holidays."

Prepaid advance registration is required. The cost for reserving a 10 ft. by 6 ft. space is $15; 8-foot table reservations are $20 each.

Area residents interested in renting display space should contact Gabe or Nancy at (708) 371-2900.

Haunted Farm Is Halloween Tradition

The Children's Farm is hosting its annual Halloween Haunted Farm on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 29th and 30th, from 6:30 until 10 p.m. Eighteen hundred children and adults are expected to attend the popular event at The Children's Farm at The Center, 12700 Southwest Highway. The Haunted Farm is a scary but wholesome family event recommended for families with children age eight and older. Children under 18 need to be accompanied by adults.

To accommodate the large number of guests, advance tickets are necessary. The $7 per person tickets are on sale at The Center's lodge. According to Lois Lauer, program director at The Center, last year's tickets sold out early in the first two weeks in October. Therefore, early ticket purchases are necessary.

As in past years, Haunted Farm guests will be treated to a spooky walk through the Haunted Barn, with mummies, ghosts, and many other Halloween creatures. A hayride then takes guests along a torch-lit path among the graves and ghouls. The tour of the Haunted Farm concludes at a bonfire with tales of Halloween plus a cup of 'spider cider' from a cauldron surrounded by cackling witches. The entire tour of the Haunted Farm lasts approximately one hour. Tickets are sold for various times throughout the evening to ensure a distribution of guests.

Guests are welcome to visit The Center and to find further information about its programs by calling 361-3650.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,
As parents, we want our children to grow up happy, healthy and safe. For our children to grow up healthy, they must receive a series of immunizations before age two.

Many parents believe that childhood diseases have been eliminated. However, Illinois experienced a measles epidemic in which 12 children died, just three years ago. Many children suffered needlessly because they were not protected.

The Governor and I have joined with the Chicago Area Immunization Campaign, local health departments and Ronald McDonald Children's Charities to promote Oct. 18-23 as Child Health Week.

But our efforts cannot end here. It is vital to protect our youngest children.

Parents statewide can call the Help Me Grow hotline, 1-800-323-GROW, to obtain information about immunizations, or to find a local health clinic that provides the shots at little or no cost.

Please help your child grow up happy, healthy and safe. Immunize now!

Warm wishes,
Brenda Edgar
First Lady of Illinois

Y-Me Support Program

The South Suburban Group of the Y-Me cancer support program will hold its monthly open door meeting on Nov. 13th at 10 a.m. at the Moraine Valley Community College, 10900 S. 88th Ave., Library Building, Room L-175. The topic is "Autologous Bone Marrow Transplant." The speaker is Janice Beschoner, RN MSW, University of Chicago. Breast cancer patients, their families and friends, and health professionals interested in the topic are welcome at the meeting at no cost.

Y-Me offers peer support to breast cancer patients via a 24-hour hotline, (708) 799-8228, and educational open door meetings throughout the Chicago metropolitan area.

"Every Possible Advantage"

The First National Bank of Chicago has introduced a new set of financial products and services aimed at small business customers. And, it is launching the program with the help of a new advertising campaign.

"The campaign theme is 'Every Possible Advantage,' and it reminds small business customers that when they bank at First Chicago, they have the value of a large bank's vast resources, paired with the community focus of your 70-plus branches," said Jerry Goldstein, head of First Chicago's community banks in the downtown, in the city's south and south suburban communities. "That's an unbeatable combination for small businesses seeking financial expertise."

First Chicago's banking products and services are designed to meet the needs of small businesses of varying sizes and complexity. "Our goal is to be able to be part of a company's life as it matures and grows," Goldstein said.

For start-ups and new businesses, First Chicago's Basic Business Checking is geared towards those customer accounts which handle fewer than 100 transactions per month. Customers pay a flat monthly service fee based on their number of transactions. And the fee can be avoided if the customer maintains an appropriate level of available balances.

Another small business product is Account Analysis Checking, aimed at companies with a higher volume of transactions. It includes an earnings credit feature and allows the customer to pay for banking services in fees, balances or a combination of the two.

Small businesses are also able to access a number of critical financial management tools that First Chicago has priced to appeal to that customer group. These include cash management products, such as lockbox and disbursement, trust and investment services, direct deposit of payroll and credit products, including import/export Letters of Credit.

"Small businesses are the engines in today's economy," Goldstein said. "We want to be there to address their every banking and credit need."

The First National Bank of Chicago has branches in the downtown area and in the city's south and south suburban communities.

Academic Olympics

"St. Rita High School is sponsoring an 'Academic Olympic Day' for eighth grade boys on Saturday, Oct. 30th at 11 a.m.," announced John Bourgeois, director of admissions. The event will feature individual academic competitions in four different subject areas: English, computer science, math and social studies. Participants will compete in all four areas by taking a 30-minute exam in each subject. The computer center will be used for this event.

Awards are given to the top 10 students based on the highest average score of all four test areas. No advance registration is required but participants should arrive by 10:30. The event will begin promptly at 11 a.m. and end at 1 p.m.

"We enjoy sponsoring academic events because students get to meet the faculty members and they get to challenge their minds in spirited competition," said Bourgeois.

Tours of the school facility are also available during the Academic Olympics for parents in attendance. For more information about this event or to register your son, contact the admissions office at (312) 925-6600, ext. 27.

The recent verdict in the Reginald Denny trial in Los Angeles and Attorney General Janet Reno's testimony before Congress on television violence are inextricably linked to an old bromide.

A married man was once caught by his wife in a sexual liaison with his next door neighbor.

The quick-thinking adulterer rose from the predicament and calmly said to his wife; "Are you going to believe me, or are you going to believe your eyes?"

The same type of ill-gotten logic appears to have invaded the minds of the twelve jurors who let off Henry Watson and Damian Williams with a slap on the wrist after the defense counsel successfully argued that they should not "believe their eyes."

The jury, and the whole nation, had seen over and over again a TV news videotape of Reginald Denny being dragged from his truck during the South Central Los Angeles riots and then bludgeoned with a brick hurled at his head by Williams, who then did an 'in your face' strut like some pro and college football players do after scoring a touchdown.

The lawyers for Watson and Williams amazingly, and successfully I might add, used the cliché; "Are you going to believe me, or are you going to believe your eyes?"

In the end, out of fear, ignorance or a lack of common sense, the jury was persuaded not to "believe their eyes" but to believe what the lawyers were saying that "intent to kill" Denny was never the reason why a brick was smashed against his skull from six inches away.

Common sense dictates when someone hurls a brick at another person's head from only inches away that unless the person doing the throwing is an engineer and an anatomy scholar, the person would never have the knowledge to figure weight and velocity of an inanimate object directed at a certain anatomical region of the skull thus avoiding any "intent to kill."

Damian Williams, who was captured on the videotape smashing a brick into Denny's head, did not have the engineering and anatomical education at his fingertips, he had only the brick.

So the "intent to kill" legal argument was and still is fatuous.

Meanwhile, Attorney General Reno went before Congress this past week to argue that violence on TV leads to violence in the streets.

Although Reno was referring to programs such as "Beavis and Butt-head," cited as why a young Ohio boy used a lighter to set fire to his families' trailer resulting in the death of his sister, she might have served the country better if she alluded to the verdict handed down by the jury in the Reginald Denny trial.

There seems to be a dichotomy between fact, the brutal assault on Reginald Denny, and fiction, a cartoon featuring two nerds "Beavis and Butt-head."

Reno wants the producers in Hollywood to be more responsible or "government should respond, and respond immediately" she told Congress.

Throughout its long history, Hollywood has always walked the thin line between reality and fiction.

Gangster films of the 30s and 40s glamorized street mayhem and violence, and Western shoot-em-ups depicted white hats and black hats blowing each other away on the "Streets of Laredo."

Even vintage cartoons such as "Tom and Jerry" had cartoon characters dropping anvils on someones head standing on the street.

The difference between the old movies and cartoons and the current TV fare is people, even small children, knew it was fantasy and if they couldn't separate fact from fiction, they had responsible parents who would sit them down and say; "Are you going to believe me, or are you going to believe your eyes?" A reverse form of the recent version of "LA Street Law."

Attorney General Reno is so close to the forest that she can't see the trees, or even the street through the tall timber.

The street violence problem in America cannot be blamed totally on Hollywood, but instead a misuse of our legal system which allows street animals to avoid prosecution to the fullest extent of the law.

A legal system which allows two "Beavis and Butt-head" real life characters to effect mayhem and violence on an innocent truck driver caught in the cross-hairs of a street mob and then use a shrewd lawyer to manipulate a jury by asking the question; "Are you going to believe me, or are you going to believe your eyes?" is a travesty of justice.

The outcome of the Reginald Denny trial and Reno's remarks before Congress would have us believe the videotape of the beating Mr. Denny took at a street intersection is fiction, and the antics of "Beavis and Butt-head" are streetwide facts.

Some Shocking Information You Should Know.

A downed power line can kill if it's live. And that's just the problem. You can't always tell if it's live. Sometimes it simply lies there, still. Even worse, it can be hidden under a fallen tree or be touching a neighboring fence, you just don't know.

You cannot afford the risk of finding out. A downed power line can carry 12,500 volts of electricity.

So keep away. If you suspect you have a downed line, report it to Commonwealth Edison at 1-800-Edison-1. (1-800-334-7661)

Beware Of Sweepstakes Prize Scams

The Reader's Digest Association Inc. is cautioning consumers about con artists seeking money from people by claiming they have won sweepstakes prizes.

Reader's Digest, which pioneered the use of sweepstakes in the United States in 1962, is cooperating with the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) in alerting consumers nationwide about scams operating in several states. The FTC has undertaken nationwide distribution of a brochure telling consumers how to protect themselves.

Reader's Digest reported that over the last few months, fraudulent telephone calls were made to consumers in California, Arizona, Oregon, Washington, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Michigan and Tennessee.

In each case, swindlers tried to bilk victims out of money by claiming they had won the Reader's Digest Sweepstakes, then said winnings could not be released until cash or certified checks were sent by overnight courier or wire services to cover taxes, shipping and handling charges. Scam artists sought $500 to $10,000.

"Legitimate sweepstakes do not require you to pay to collect your prize," Reader's Digest Sweepstakes Director Ronald Leslie said.

Reader's Digest offers these fraud-prevention tips:

- Be wary of phone calls about sweepstakes prizes. Most reputable companies notify winners by mail.
- Be suspicious if people ask you for money to claim a prize. Swindlers tell victims the money is for "taxes" or shipping and handling charges.
- Never give out your credit card number to collect a prize or enter a sweepstakes. Con artists may request this information as proof of eligibility.

• Read the rules of any sweepstakes you enter. Be aware of closing dates, prize amounts and conditions under which you would be eligible for a prize.

• Contact the company conducting the sweepstakes. Reader's Digest provides customers with information about prizes, entry deadlines and odds of winning. A winners' list is available upon request. To reach Reader's Digest Customer Service, call toll-free at 1-(800)-234-9000.

• If you think someone is trying to swindle you or you've been a fraud victim, report it immediately to your state attorney general, Better Business Bureau, local consumer protection agency, or the FTC's National Fraud Information Center at 1-(800)-876-7060.

Robbins Contract Is Called 'Risky'

The South Cook County Environmental Action Coalition has released its analysis of the proposed Robbins incinerator contract. The nine-page report details the many financial pitfalls inherent in the document.

"This contract demonstrates that incineration is the most expensive way to deal with waste," said Marcia Powers. Specifically, sections in the contract that deal with "Uncontrolled Circumstances" are the most onerous to municipalities. "Uncontrolled Circumstances are Uncontrolled Costs," said Jeff Tangel. "The document is simply asking municipalities to protect Reading Energy's profit by bearing the lion's share of the financial risk and the high cost of incineration."

SCCEAC's analysis has uncovered the fact that the contract allows Reading Energy to unilaterally terminate the agreement, rendering moot the company's claims of long-term price and disposal stability. The document, furthermore, exposes municipalities to two sets of regulatory risk. Reading Energy is allowed to pass through costs it incurs from regulatory changes required of the landfill it uses to dispose of ash residue and pass by waste. Communities therefore bear the risk of changes in law that affect the incinerator and landfill it relies upon.

"Why should we accept two sets of regulatory risk?" asked Tangel. SCCEAC points out that this risk is separate and in addition to the risk that ash may be declared a hazardous waste by the U.S. Supreme Court. "The cost of disposing of hazardous ash and the issue of flow control are wild cards that could end up costing contract signers millions of dollars over the life of the contract."

Perhaps the best argument against signing the contract is the simplest: What other business expects customers to promise to patronize their business for 20 years, then uses those promises to obtain financing for the project? Developers and entrepreneurs in any business develop their projects, take market risk and hope to attract customers. If they are successful, then customers use their facility.

"Why should incineration be any different?" asked Tangel. "After all, we'd think it quite odd if haulers asked for 20-year promises so they could buy trucks or if recyclers and landfill operators did the same so they could insulate themselves from market risk."

"Why should south suburban taxpayers become risk-bearing partners in a costly project?" asked Powers. "My town said no and all other towns ought to say no."

(NASDAQ/NMS: HERS) has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 8 cents per share, payable on Nov. 16th, to shareholders of record at the close of business on Nov. 1st. The dividend is the same amount as paid in the preceding quarter and is consistent with Heritage's annual dividend plan of 32 cents per share announced in January 1993. Heritage Financial Services, Inc. is a bank holding company with total assets of $824 million. The company has its headquarters in Tinley Park and operates 11 banking offices in the southwest suburban Chicago market.

The company's shares are traded on the NASDAQ National Market System under the symbol HERS.

The November meeting of Christians United Against Child Sexual Abuse (CUACSA) will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 2nd from 8 to 9:30 p.m. at Oak Brook Christian Center, 3100 Midwest Road. The topic of the evening will be "Building a Community of Support," a panel of survivors of sexual abuse discussing how they find a sense of community for themselves. Short, optional reaction groups will follow. Afterwards there will be opportunity for conversations with other survivors over coffee and refreshments.

From 7:15 to 8 p.m., before the regular meeting, a male support group, as well as significant others in support (S.O.S.), for spouses or significant others of survivors, will meet.

CUACSA is a support and education group for survivors of child sexual abuse, their friends and others interested in learning how to support survivors through their recovery process. It meets monthly on the first Tuesday of the month, September through June. Names are not required and anonymity is a keynote in order to provide an atmosphere of caring which will aid in the healing of the wounds of child sexual abuse. There are no fees, although donations are accepted.

For more information, call Phyl at (708) 257-8755 or Gloria at (708) 484-4158.

"THIS IS ALL ABOUT HEALTH. SO WHAT COULD BE MORE IMPORTANT THAN QUALITY?"

JAMES F. WALSH, SENIOR VP, DIRECT MARKETS & CORPORATE SERVICES

There's a watchword here at Blue Cross that pretty much defines what we're all about: If the money we spend on behalf of our clients isn't buying the highest quality health care, we go do our level best to improve the situation.

So, today nobody does more to assure the quality of care that's delivered to our customers than we do.

You see, we know great quality is the best way to go. We know that nothing costs more than substandard care. And, if things are done right from the start, you'll spend less in the long run."

WHEN YOU HAVE QUALITY HEALTH CARE, YOU HAVE IT ALL.

- ☐ The first health insurance carrier to link cost management and quality control.
- ☐ Quality control through Physician Practice Profiling to monitor utilization patterns.
- ☐ Patient Outcome Studies to monitor performance.
- ☐ The most trusted health plan in Illinois.

James F. Walsh

WE HAVE IT ALL.

I really enjoyed the lovely weekend we just had and it could stay like this for the rest of the year.

The St. Fabian Women's Club invites all to its annual arts & crafts fair on Saturday, Nov. 13th from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. The fair will be held in the St. Fabian Social Center plus five classrooms, located at 83rd & Oketo. More than 75 crafters will be on hand. The grand drawing will feature a first prize of a 13" color TV with remote control. Other prizes will include a queen-size, handmade quilt, a cordless phone, plus many other prizes. Mrs. Santa Claus will be there again with Santa's elves to accept letters from the youngsters for special delivery; Chuckles the Clown will be there to delight everyone with her face painting; and 'Mom's Bake Shop' featuring homemade goodies will be open. Admission is one non-perishable food item for the St. Vincent DePaul Pantry. Browse around, shop, play Pot O'Gold and have lunch or snacks in the Eatery. No strollers will be allowed, but there will be stroller parking available.

The Oak Lawn Area Chapter No. 3558 of the American Assn. of Retired Persons (AARP) meets on Monday, Nov. 8th at 1 p.m. at Our Lady of Fatima K.C. Hall, 5830 W. 95th St. Program chairperson Lois Harris will introduce a doctor from the American Medical Assn. who will speak on arthritis, a matter of special interest to many persons. Everyone is invited to come and bring a friend. For further information, one may call 422-5065. Felix Witches is president.

Kevin William, son of Thomas and Lynn Jareczek, was baptized on Oct. 17th at the Trinity Evangelical Church. His sponsors are Frank and Cheryl Jareczek.

Congratulations to Peter Noteman who was inducted into the Eagle Scouts on Wednesday, Oct. 20th at a ceremony held in the Oak Lawn Bible Church.

Our sympathy to the family of Arlene Susemehl who died on Oct. 25th. Interment was in Chauncey, Georgia. Arlene was a longtime resident of the village and a member of Trinity Evangelical Church. She will be missed.

Gene Gallagher, chairman of the Oak Lawn Veterans Memorial Foundation, has announced the winners of the special drawing held to raise funds for the project. They are Joe T. Zager of Chicago who won the grand prize of round-trip tickets for two on Kiwi Airlines to Orlando, Florida, including hotel for five nights at the Orlando North Hilton & Towers; 2nd prize went to Donna Smith of Markham who got the 4x4 Gaucho Jeep Stick Shift; 3rd to Eugene Zaklich of San Ramon, Ca.; 4th, Pat Leonard of Bridgeview; and 5th to J. Quinn Mucker of Oak Lawn. The drawing was held on Oct. 16th at the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post.

The Sunshine Circle of the Southwest Chicago Christian School is again offering the 1994 'Entertainment Book' ($35) and the 'Gold "C" Saving Spree' ($10) as the fundraiser for the school. The books may be ordered by calling Vi at 422-6064 or Wilma at 429-3201.

If you are still using the old type anti-freeze for your car, please take note that this is poisonous. One of our policemen reports he lost his puppy because he played with a dead bird in the yard, which evidently drank some anti-freeze. (This, according to the vet) He is reminding everyone to get Sierra which is non-poisonous.

Baptized at the First Christian Reformed Church of Oak Lawn on Oct. 14th was Rebecca Johanna, daughter of Bill and Linda De Ruiter. Rebecca was born on Sept. 14th, weighing in at nine pounds, 11 ounces, and joins a sister Jennifer, and brothers Billy and Jeff. Her happy grandparents are Sid and Marilyn De Ruiter, and Lloyd and Phyllis DeVries. Congratulations to all of you.

Baptized at St. Gerald Church on Oct. 17th were Courtney Tata, daughter of Paul and JoAnne Braasch; Elizabeth Ann, daughter of James and Margaret Burke; Jonathan Alan, son of Steven and Mary Oliver; and Nicole Josephine, daughter of Kenneth and Donna Zarnecki. Congratulations to all of you.

St. Gerald Mothers' Club will sponsor a fun fair on Saturday, Oct. 30th from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. in the parish hall. Tickets are five for $1 and will be sold at the door only.

The Johnson-Phelps VFW Aux. presented an American flag to Daisy Troop 1067 (kindergarten girls) sponsored by A. Linus School. Sharon Butterfield and Sue Flaherty are co-leaders of the troop. Ann Bennett, Americanism chairperson and patriotic instructor for the auxiliary, and President Penny Hempen made the presentation. They were assisted by Post Commander Russell Smukula and David Van Beveran.

A dinner-dance will be held for the benefit of the St. Catherine of Genoa Parish House, a shelter for homeless and/or abused women and children on Saturday, Nov. 13th, at the Sabre Room. The Friends of St. Catherine's home will "celebrate the hope" that these families can continue to be prepared to start their own households within 16 weeks.

St. Catherine's is not a place to "crash" for one or two nights, but a place to learn a way of life. All the women and children attend counseling sessions and the moms are exposed to good parenting techniques. Cooking and household chores are shared and interpersonal skills are encouraged to develop.

The aim of "Wee Love," a recently organized preschool at the house, is to open a world of learning and sharing. The clients are physically assisted in establishing their own homes through continued donations of food, clothing, bedding, furniture, kitchen utensils and toys. The goal of the house is for all families to leave the shelter and provide for themselves.

The new officers of the board of directors are Alice M. Collins, president; Sue Burke, vice-president; Evelyn Archibald, treasurer all from the Beverly area of Chicago and Denise Usher of Blue Island.

Other committee members working on the event, "Celebration of Hope" are Dr. John Archibald, Judge Daniel Weiler, Barbara Graham and Margaret Fitzpatrick of Beverly, Pat and Harry Menighini and Rosemary Kenny of Oak Lawn, Donna Collins of Oak Forest and retiring president David Lechner of Country Club Hills.

Directors are Reverend & Mrs. Victor Janowski and Angel Janowski.

John Kenny will entertain during cocktails and the "Silent Auction" beginning at 6 p.m. Dinner will be at 7:30 p.m.

For additional information call (312) 881-1882 or (708) 636-4479.

Volunteer Training

Southwest YMCA has scheduled a special volunteer orientation/training for Thursdays, Nov. 4th and Nov. 11th from 6 to 9:30 p.m. at The Barn, 12640 S. Sacramento, across from Eisenhower High School. Persons interested in learning about Southwest YMCA's volunteer program are invited to attend Thursday, Nov. 4th, as the agenda includes a YMCA overview and a run-through of volunteer opportunities. The Nov. 11th session will include training for "Active Listening," "Effective Communication" and "Group Work." Candidates are encouraged to attend both Thursdays. The Y is seeking adults and teens alike who are able to commit to both training sessions as well as a recommended minimum five volunteer hours a week.

Volunteers are able to choose from a variety of interesting volunteer activities, including working with teens and drama groups, teens and career programs, teen tutoring, trips with teens, teen arts and crafts and recreation and drop-in center activities, as well as general clerical support and other programs.

For information, and/or to register for the orientation/training, contact Laura at the Barn at (708) 489-3720.

Scholarship Awards

Christi Wainwright of Oak Lawn and Angela Luznicki were among 12 Western Illinois University students to receive university-wide scholarships during Western's eighth Scholars' Recognition Ceremony on Oct. 3rd.

Wainwright, a senior industrial technology major, received a Senior Honors Scholarship awarded to outstanding seniors in the honors program on a competitive basis. Luznicki, a senior music major, received the Dr. Roscoe G. Linder University Band scholarship and a Bessie Myers Music scholarship. The Linder scholarship is given to outstanding music students who exhibit academic excellence and an aptitude for growth in music performance and composition. It is awarded in honor of the late professor of education who served WIU from 1919-1960. The Myers scholarship is given to outstanding music majors in honor of the former English instructor who served WIU from 1929-1938.

Ban Gun Shops Near Schools

Cook County Board President Richard Phelan and the Board of Commissioners recently passed an ordinance banning gun stores from locating a half-mile from a school or park and prohibiting the sale and possession of semi-automatic assault weapons and ammunition in Cook County.

"Prior to the passage of this ordinance, the county had no gun regulation in place," Phelan explained. "One needs only to visit the county hospital's emergency room on any given day to see the destruction guns cause."

One-quarter of all trauma cases treated at county hospital last year were from multiple gunshot wounds, up 20 percent from 1982. Homicides committed in Chicago with semi-automatic weapons increased fourfold, from 70 in 1983 to 297 in 1993. In addition, it is estimated that one in 20 high school students has carried a gun at least once in the past month.

"We have reached the point where a parent's primary concern about education is not whether their child is going to an adequate school, but whether their son or daughter is going to a school where a fight on the playground might turn into a gun battle. Education should not be a battlefield. This ordinance is not going to make gun violence in the county disappear overnight, but if it prevents one more senseless assault weapon killing, it's worth it," Phelan said.

Highlights of the proposed ordinance include making it illegal to possess, sell or transfer assault weapons or ammunition; exemption of legitimate law enforcement or security-related use (i.e. armored truck drivers); it penalizes violators up to six months in prison and/or fine of $500 to $1,000; persons currently possessing these weapons have 14 days from the effective date of the ordinance to either remove it from the county, modify it or surrender the weapon to the sheriff's office; applies to suburban Cook County but does not preclude additional municipal legislation; charges a $500 licensing fee to cover costs of administration, inspections and enforcement; existing gun shops may remain until their current lease expires; and it exempts gun collectors and sales at trade or collector shows.

Halloween Treat

The Thespian Society of Mother McAuley High School presents its annual "Not So Haunted House" for children ages two to 10 on Saturday, Oct. 30th in the Little Theatre at the school, 3737 W. 99th St., from 12 noon to 3 p.m. There will be treats and games galore. Admission is $1 a child; $2 a parent, if they wish to accompany their child. Members of the Thespian Society will escort children through the "Not So Haunted House" which they designed and built. Experience the world of "Disney" to its fullest! Call Mrs. Haynes at (312) 881-6512 for more information.

The Thespians are McAuley's drama club under the direction of Mrs. Pat Haynes, chairperson of the theatre department. Girls are inducted by earning points for extra-curricular theatre work. Stephanie Childers of Beverly and Katie McKeon of Oak Lawn are co-presidents; Cheryl Kristovic of Hegewisch and Katie Miller of Mt. Greenwood are co-vice presidents; Kristen Rehfeldt of Beverly is treasurer, and Molly Gavin, also of Beverly, is secretary.

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were reported by the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

On Oct. 17th, police answered a call about a robbery at the 7-11 store, 10648 S. Cicero. The clerk said she was working behind the counter when she saw a man enter carrying a 'Big Gulp' drink and begin walking around the store. She then heard someone whisper and as she turned around she saw the offender was crouched next to the counter with his hands out of sight. She was told, "I don't want to hurt or shoot you. Just give me the money." She went to the register and gave him the money and said, "this is all there is," and he replied, he knew it.

On the 16th, at The Red Lobster, 9520 Southwest Highway, a customer came in and sat down in his station, according to Matthew Busse, a waiter, and was served dinner and drinks. When finished he said he wanted to see the manager and Busse said he would get him, but the offender opened a black bag with a revolver in it which he pointed at Busse and told him to lead him to the manager. They reached the manager who was in the process of getting ready to make a cash drop and the offender told him to drop it in the bag and take him to the office where the manager opened the safe. The estimated loss is $2,000.

Paul Stettin of Burr Ridge reported he had parked his car in the back parking lot at 4010 W. 111th St. and when he returned found someone had pried open his trunk and removed two briefcases, a portable radio, a leather jacket, and a set of golf clubs for an estimated loss of $900.

The president of the board of directors of the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post, 9514 S. 52nd Ave., reported the theft of approximately $792.55 from the office. The money was in a plastic pouch on the desk, and the robbery occurred between the 13th and 15th.

Perry Austin of Willow Springs, a patron at Frenzel's Bar, 5635 W. 87th St., approached an officer who was on patrol and reported his vehicle was stolen from the lot. Another patron in the bar left earlier, came back a short time later and asked for a screwdriver to get his keys which he had locked in the car. The bartender gave him the tool and that was the last they saw of him.

Michael Bruck of Chicago Ridge was involved in a disturbance with Karen Bruck at 1100 S. Parkside. Michael left the restaurant and Karen followed him and struck the rear of his car approximately four times. She tried to leave the parking lot and he blocked it, so she drove her car into the driver's side door of his car and left. She was picked up by the Chicago Ridge police and reportedly admitted she had struck his car intentionally.

On the 17th, Mary L. Fusco of Oak Lawn reported persons unknown smashed eight glass outside globes attached to eight wall-mounted light fixtures. The globes are valued at $8 each.

Pablo Carrillo of Oak Lawn reported someone threw a wine bottle into his 6 ft. x 6 ft. front glass window which will cost approximately $200 to replace.

On Oct. 18th, U-Haul Rentals, 4750 W. 95th St., reported Amici Mohammed of Oak Lawn had rented a truck four weeks earlier and has not returned it. He reported it stolen.

Steven Schmidt of Oak Lawn told police he was driving eastbound on 87th St. and was stopped by a light at 5800 west when four men got out of a car, one of them picked up a crowbar and broke the rear window, dented the tailgate and dented the front fender. He alleged the four were Arabs about 17 years old. He feels he can identify them from the high school yearbook. Estimated damage is $300.

Don Nelson of District 229 reported persons unknown hurled two large rocks at the east entrance door of the school and the adjacent side window, breaking both. Estimated cost to repair is $150.

Anthony Montgomery of Chicago was seen by the security officer at Dominick's, 8700 S. Cicero, taking 10 t-bone steaks and leaving without paying. A description of the offender was broadcast; Hometown police saw him running eastbound on 87th St. and after a brief foot chase Montgomery was nabbed and taken into custody. He was charged with retail theft.

Dance Marathon Drama On Stage

Backed by the music of the 1930s and the big-band sound, "Marathon 33" will be presented by Oak Lawn High School on Nov. 4th, 5th and 6th at 8 p.m. and on Nov. 7th at 7 p.m. in the Little Theatre. "Marathon 33" tells the story of an era when dance marathons were the rage.

This show, directed by Tom Dzurison, features a talented cast including Elan Kleis, John Hunt, Tanya Talon, Sharon Skowron, Jill Herrmann, John Madison, Chris Oakes, Gary Byrne, Kristy Clifton, Brian Kotowski, Sarah Roberts, Nicole Peccatiello, Nicole Rollberg, Rich Tomlinson, Pat Clifton, Kim Meares, Nora Burke, Anita Spero, Jason Hilger, Jean Lind, Mike Marcinkowski, Jen Christianson, Jill Valentine, Amy Kras, Dan Braun, Joe Herrmann, Pam Stoffreger, Katie McCarthy, Kim Dinwiddie, Keith Swiderski, Jeff Marcinkowski, Jeremy Nelson, Jaime Clark, Colleen Hurley and Beth Underkoffler.

Also, there will be a special complimentary senior citizen performance on Nov. 2nd at 7 p.m. For further information, call 424-5200.

Women Aglow Meet

The Oak Lawn Chapter of Women's Aglow meets on Thursday, Nov. 11th at Royal Palace Restaurant, 6254 W. 111th St. The speaker will be Rev. Irene M. Spilotro, co-pastor of East Side Full Gospel Church in Chicago for the past 10 years. Rev. Spilotro holds a master's degree in theology and writes teachings distributed around the world.

She is a teaching pastor on the internationally-aided radio program "Shekinah, The New & Living Way." The topic is titled "Is It Not Wheat Harvest Today?"

Dinner tickets are $10 a person, available at 6:15 p.m. at the door. For reservations and/or additional information, call Josephine at (312) 767-8031 or Judy at (312) 778-4009.

Park Lawn, a full service agency serving children and adults with developmental disabilities, extends its warmest thanks to the Ameritech Volunteers, Telephone Pioneers recently sponsored sock hop at Park Lawn School that proved to be a huge success. Music, socializing, refreshments and of course dancing were all part of the evening's entertainment. Park Lawn looks forward to working with the Ameritech Volunteers in the future and truly appreciates all they have done in the past.

25 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE COMMUNITY

Oak Lawn village officials in an abbreviated meeting on Tuesday night due to the death of consulting engineer Robert D. Moyers, turned their attention to matters non-political. First they passed a resolution urging a "yes" vote for the Illinois State Natural Resources Development Act Bond Issue Referendum of one billion dollars. Then they endorsed a "yes" vote for the Illinois State Constitutional Convention call, more commonly referred to as "con con."

Village President Fred Dumke on Tuesday night paid a glowing tribute to the memory of Robert D. Moyers, consulting engineer for Oak Lawn for more than 20 years. The gray-haired, scholarly-looking engineer died on Monday, Oct. 21st, when he suffered a heart attack while entering the civic center building in Chicago.

The record book of Americanism activities compiled by Joanna Marquez, chairman for the Johnson-Phelps VFW Ladies Auxiliary, was the first place winner in the National Contest held recently.

Postmaster of Oak Lawn Otis B. Dunn is seeking applicants for clerk and carrier positions. The starting salary is $2.95 per hour with periodic increases to $4.01 hour.

The Oak Lawn Police Department recently received the first fully equipped squadrol in village history. The 1969 Ford Econoline van was purchased at a cost of $2,523 by the Oak Lawn Police Department Club, Inc. from funds derived from the annual "Show Night" benefit at the Double Drive-In Theatre.

SHOULDER PAIN

If you're suffering from shoulder pain and can't recall any injury that could be causing it, the source of the problem may be in your pelvic girdle.

Three bones make up the pelvic girdle, the two hip bones and a triangular shaped bone called the sacrum. When this structure is out of alignment, it can cause strain throughout the body, including the shoulder area.

When the pelvic girdle is out of balance and not supporting your body the way it should, the body tries to adapt as best it can. But this adaptation only causes more problems. What causes the pelvic girdle to get out of balance? Poor posture may be one cause. A spinal column out of alignment may be another. Only a full examination can get to the cause of the problem.

A well-balanced body on a proper foundation is important to your physical health. Your shoulder pain may be directly related to a structural imbalance that needs to be corrected before the pain will go away.

If you have any health questions please feel free to call our office.

FALL FISHING ON THE KANKAKEE - Don't put your fishing tackle away. ED MULLADY, famous Kankakee River guide and publisher of the SPORTSMAN'S LETTER reports: "With the heavy rainfall we received this year, fishing boats have been able to move along portions of the Kankakee they normally would not have been able to traverse.

This opportunity, of course, depends much upon the amount of rainfall in the past week and the type of boat and motor you have.

This situation during the hot weather also meant that skiers and power boaters went into areas designed geographically for canoes and/or flat bottomed boats.

As fall turns colder, and moves into winter, most of the water skiers and strictly power boaters are not out on the river.

This means places, such as the deeper boating area from the Kankakee Dam up to Aroma Park will be fishable from a boat.

Places that are looked upon as strictly 'boating areas' can now easily become some of the best fishing locations."

THE KEY TO HUNTING PRIVATE PROPERTY - Access to hunt whitetails on private land depends on landowners approval. About 75 percent of white-tailed deer range in North America occurs on private lands, therefore it's quite obvious why good hunter/landowner relations must be preserved. Past surveys reveal that the vast majority of landowners will allow ethical hunters access to their property, providing they can control the number of people hunting at one time.

Do you face the dilemma of "How to approach a landowner and make him/her understand you are a responsible hunter and will respect their rights as a property owner?"

WHITETAILS UNLIMITED, INC. (WTU), a national, non-profit organization with the added financial support of FEDERAL CARTRIDGE COMPANY, has a proven solution....Project P.O.L.I.T.E. POLITE is an acronym for Permission Of Landowner In order To Enter. Since the program's inception in 1988, over 1/4 million ID cards have been distributed and are responsible for providing access to hundreds of thousands of acres of private property, for the sport of regulated hunting. As mentioned above, the primary tool being used with such astounding success is the WTU Hunter/Landowner ID card published and provided 'Free of Charge' by Whitetails Unlimited, Inc. FEDERAL'S "Hunters For Conservation" program provided additional financial support to make the ID cards available at no charge across the US and Canada.

IT'S SIMPLE - When a hunter has decided where he would like to hunt, he approaches the landowner for permission. Upon introducing himself, the completed WTU identification card is presented. Once permission has been granted, the landowner signs and dates the card and the hunter retains the portion with the landowner's signature. The landowner retains the portion of the card containing the specific information on the hunter; name, address, phone number, vehicle model, and license number. The WTU ID card gives the hunter the key to hunting private property.

FREE ID cards are available by sending a legal size, stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Whitetails Unlimited, Inc., Attn: Project POLITE, PO Box 422, Sturgeon Bay, WI. 54235. You may also phone (414)743-6777 or fax (414)743-4658 for cards or more information.

FOREST PRESERVE DISTRICT TO BRING NATURE PROGRAMS TO SCHOOLS - The Forest Preserve District of Cook County invites Cook County classroom teachers and students to get in touch with nature by scheduling a visit to their school by a Forest Preserve District naturalist. To obtain a brochure describing the "Getting In Touch With Nature" programs, contact the Conservation Department at (708)771-1330.

St. Laurence Summer Wrestlers

Although the start of the 1993 wrestling season is still a few weeks away, some of St. Laurence's varsity wrestlers prepared for the season by wrestling in various summer tournaments, hence making names for themselves statewide as this season begins.

Senior Mark Bybee took 1st place at the Northern Plains Regional that was held in Rochester, Minnesota. That honor qualified him to wrestle at the junior national tournament in Fargo, North Dakota, where he placed fifth in the 152-pound weight class.

Sophomore Tom Ciezki also wrestled at the Northern Plains Regional and took a second place in the 167-pound weight class. In addition, he wrestled in the 154-pound weight class at the State of Illinois Greco-Roman Championships at Oak Park High School and garnered a first place medal. Ciezki capped his summer by taking a third place in the Cadet Nationals that were held at the University of Missouri in Columbia.

Not to be outdone, sophomore Eric Riggi captured an 8th place medal at the Cadet Nationals in Columbia in the 209-pound weight class.

These accomplishments continue a long-standing tradition of off-season involvement with various tournaments and events throughout the Midwest that Viking wrestlers have grown accustomed to.

"Our kids enjoyed another fine summer," stated St. Laurence coach Tom Gauger, who helps provide St. Laurence wrestlers the opportunity to take advantage of summer tournaments by being involved with a multitude of national organizations. "These tournaments are a great way to get our wrestlers exposure. There are always numerous college scouts and coaches in attendance, and several of our wrestlers over the years have gained college scholarships based on their performances at these tournaments. In addition, they acquire great wrestling experience that aids their high school careers. Plus, they see some other parts of the country."

It should be noted that Bybee is considering the University of Illinois and the University of Pennsylvania to further his academic and athletic career.

"The upcoming season should be another good one for us," concluded Gauger, an assistant coach on St. Laurence's 1990 state championship team. "I know that the experience that Mark, Tom and Eric received over the summer will make them better and in turn, make us better."

Faith, Family and Education

No Black Cats

The Anti-Cruelty Society will continue its practice of removing black cats from the adoption room during the week prior to, and including, Halloween. This practice was established to prevent pranksters from adopting animals to accompany their costumes or simply as props to be discarded later. Black cats will be returned to the adoption room the day after Halloween. Throughout its 94 years, the society has been discouraging use of animals as adornments, props or items to be discarded when old or unwanted. The encouragement of a permanent relationship between a pet and owner has been part of the society's mission since 1899.

Halloween may be a fun-filled holiday for people but can be stressful for animals. Strangers at the door can be frightening and extra caution should be taken to see that your animal doesn't slip out into the night during the excitement. Also, watch for Halloween treats left in accessible places. Never let your animals eat chocolate, it can be toxic, and other candies can upset animals' stomachs.

Remember also that your animals may be a bit edgy during Halloween evening if you live in a neighborhood with a lot of trick-or-treaters. Constant doorbell ringing can lead to anxiety.

Do not leave your dog alone in the yard. Watch him carefully. Neighborhood pranksters have been known to harm animals that are not protected. Cats should never be let outdoors.

Call the society at (312) 644-8338 for more information about how to be a better pet owner throughout the year.

Palos Heights Fire Protection District public question:

The above referendum will be voted upon in Palos Township, Precincts 3, 9, 15, 30, 40 and 53; Worth Township, Precincts 7, 65, 89, 95, 104, 138, 147, 150, 166 and 168.

Referendum

School District No. 99, Proposition to increase the maximum annual tax rate for educational purposes:

Shall the maximum annual tax rate for educational purposes of the Cicero Schools, Elementary School District No. 99, Cook County, Illinois, be increased to a maximum rate of 2.49% of the value of the taxable property in said District as equalized or assessed by the Department of Revenue, instead of the rate of 1.50% at which such tax currently is levied?

The above referendum will be voted upon in Cicero Township, Precincts 1-71; Stickney Township, Precinct 40.

Referenda

School District No. 123, Proposition to increase maximum annual tax rate for educational purposes:

Shall Oak Lawn-Hometown School District No. 123, Cook County, Illinois be authorized to increase the maximum annual tax rate for educational purposes to 2.20% as authorized by Section 17-3 of the School Code? The current annual tax rate of the district for educational purposes is 1.55%. If the proposition is approved the percentage of increase between the maximum rate at which the tax for educational purposes may be levied and the annual rate at which such tax currently is levied is 42%.

The above referendum will be voted upon in Worth Township, Precincts 2, 3, 5, 35, 36, 40, 41, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 53, 56, 58, 59, 60, 63, 74, 77, 82, 85, 90, 91, 92, 93, 99, 100, 103, 106, 109, 112, 113, 114, 116, 117, 118, 120, 121, 122, 125, 129, 134, 140, 153, 157, 161, 162 and 165.

School District No. 130, Proposition to increase maximum annual educational fund tax rate:

"Shall the maximum annual tax rate for educational purposes of School District No. 130, Cook County, Illinois, be increased and established at 2.50% upon all the taxable property of said School District at the value, as equalized or assessed by the Department of Revenue, instead of 1.60% the maximum rate otherwise applicable to the next taxes to be extended for said purposes?"

The above referendum will be voted upon in Bremen Township, Precincts 16, 50, 81, 102 and 107; Calumet Township Precincts 2, 3, 6, 7, 10, 13, 14, 21 and 22; Worth Township, Precincts 14, 15, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 23, 24, 42, 43, 64, 68, 98, 133, 136, 144, 155, 156, 158 and 159.

Village of Alsip, Advisory Question of Public Policy:

Shall the Village of Alsip adopt an ordinance changing the last closing hour for liquor licensees from 4 a.m. to 2 a.m.? The above referendum will be voted upon in Worth Township, Precincts 8, 16, 22, 28, 73, 78, 87, 97, 119, 126, 127, 128, 133, 151, 155, 156, 158 and 168.

Unincorporated Orland Township Advisory Question:

Shall Orland Township Board of Trustees require all waste collectors who provide services to the residents of unincorporated Orland Township to provide and participate in a recycling program at a reasonable additional cost to each resident?

The above referendum will be voted upon in Orland Township, Precincts 2, 9, 10, 13, 15, 16, 18, 20, 21, 23, 27, 28, 29, 33, 35, 39, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 57 and 58.

City of Country Club Hills, Proposition to vote on the question of becoming a home rule unit:

Shall the City of Country Club Hills become a home rule unit of local government under Article 7, Section 6, of the Illinois Constitution?

The above referendum will be voted upon in Bremen Township, Precincts 8, 40, 56, 70, 80, 94, 96 and 100; Rich Township, Precincts 21, 42, 47, 53 and 54.

McAuley Open House

The administration, faculty, staff and students of Mother McAuley Liberal Arts High School, 3737 99th St., plan an open house on Sunday, Nov. 7th from 12 noon to 3 p.m. and on Tuesday, Dec. 7th from 7 to 9 p.m. for seventh and eighth grade girls and their parents. All departments will have exhibits and demonstrations. Members of the administration, faculty and students will be on hand for discussion and to answer questions.

Information will be available concerning registration and curriculum. A sample of the many social and extracurricular events at McAuley will be provided by the school clubs. Guests may tour the school at their own pace with the assistance of tour guides and student hostesses.

Parking facilities are available in the lot off 99th St. on the west side of the school building. Guests should enter the building through the new gym lobby off the west parking lot.

The McAuley Mothers' Club is sponsoring this event. Co-chairpersons for the open house on Nov. 7th are Judy Boyle of Palos Heights and Marianne Coakley of the Morgan Park area, and Joanne Bowen and Peach Berry, both of Evergreen Park, for Dec. 7th.

Speech Contest

Moraine Valley Community College's Chautauqua Toastmasters Club will host the South Division Humorous Speech and Speech Evaluation Contests on Saturday, Oct. 30th at 9:30 a.m. The contests will be held in the College Center, Moraine Rooms 2 and 3, on the campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave. Winners from the five areas in the south division will compete to advance to the Chicagoland District finals. Refreshments and food will be served. The event is open to the public. The admission fee is $3.

The club meets on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month at 7 p.m. at Moraine Valley.

The club provides a friendly, supportive environment to develop communication skills, conversational techniques, listening skills and humor. Discussion techniques, public speaking presentations and constructive evaluations are among the methods used by Toastmasters to help members become more confident communicators.

For more information about Toastmasters, call the college at (708) 974-5735.

In Session

The first Domestic Violence Court in the south suburban area was opened recently in the Cook County Circuit Court's Sixth Municipal District, Markham.

The increase in filings of domestic violence cases throughout Cook County called for an individual courtroom and judge to hear such cases. The opening of this court marks the Cook County Circuit Court's response to this societal problem.

Pictured are Chief Circuit Judge Harry G. Comerford, who was instrumental in opening the court in Markham and who was the first Chief Judge in the United States to open a domestic violence court over 10 years ago; and Judge Sheila Murphy, Presiding Judge of the 6th Municipal District.

NOW YOU CAN BE READY FOR COLLEGE WHEN YOUR KIDS OR GRANDKIDS ARE-

INTRODUCING THE HIGHER LEARNING FUND FROM MOUNT GREENWOOD BANK

HIGHER LEARNING FUND

Earn one of the highest rates available through our bank - and be ready for your child's or grandchild's educational needs after high school with the new Higher Learning Fund from Mount Greenwood Bank.

Make non-taxable gift contributions under the Uniform Transfers to Minors Act (UTMA)

Designed to give families a head start on their college savings program, the Higher Learning Fund is a long-term savings account created under the Uniform Transfers To Minors Act. The account is set up in the name of the child. As custodian you (or anyone) can make non-taxable contributions to the fund, and the taxability of the interest earnings generally flows to the child.†

You decide how much to contribute and how often until the child graduates from high school

One of the best features of the new Higher Learning Fund account is the flexibility to make deposits in any amount, at any time. At Mount Greenwood Bank, we can help you set up a more disciplined savings program with scheduled transfers from checking or savings accounts.

The Higher Learning Fund will mature when the child graduates from high school, with the custodian maintaining control of distributions from the fund for college expenses. And, regardless of whether the child attends college, accumulated principal and interest will be distributed to the minor when he or she reaches the age of 21. (Upon graduation, the account may be renewed annually at current CD rates until the minor reaches age 21.)

With the cost of college tuition rising each year, now is the time to start a savings program for your child's or grandchild's education. Mount Greenwood Bank's new Higher Learning Fund makes saving easy... with a competitive rate, FDIC insured safety, and best of all, flexibility.

In grand Circus tradition, a mammoth menagerie of exotic animal performers, from chimpanzees to buffalos, lions and elephants, take to the rings in this year's special celebration edition of Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus, running from Nov. 2nd through 14th at the Rosemont Horizon, then moving to the Chicago Stadium, Nov. 16th through 28th. Highlighting the roster of world-class animal trainers is Mark Oliver Gebel, son to Circus legend Gunther Gebel-Williams, presenting a rare combination of natural enemies -- elephants and zebras.

Young Gebel and his sister Tina present another audience favorite, two full rings of graceful Lipizzaner horses and Arabian stallions. Free of riders and reins, these animals respond to their trainers voice alone.

Making his American debut, England's daring Graham Thomas Chipperfield presents a spine-tingling display in the lions' den, spotlighting the majestic beauty as well as the awe-inspiring ferocity of 10 magnificent felines.

The Bogers of Arkansas borrow a page from the Wild West as husband and wife Steve and Kathy and their three children present an unlikely combination of massive buffalos and agile mountain lions.

Sue and Rudi Lenz and the hilarious antics of their mischievous chimpanzees have become an international sensation and a long-time favorite among circus-goers. The Lenzes are veteran animal trainers whose appearances the world over include several command performances for the Royal Family of Great Britain.

Tickets can be purchased at the Rosemont Horizon and Chicago Stadium box offices and all TicketMaster outlets. Prices are $14.50, $12.50, $10.50 and $8.50, with children's discounts available for certain performances.

To charge tickets by phone call (312) 559-1212. For general information, call the Rosemont Horizon at (708) 635-6600 or the Chicago Stadium at (312) 733-5300.

Spooky

The bewitching hour begins on Halloween, Sunday, Oct. 31st, at Shedd Aquarium when ghosts, goblins and extinct animals haunt Shedd halls. From 6:30 to 9 p.m. kids can put on their favorite extinct or endangered species costume and join in on this hauntingly fun-filled evening. They will encounter some of their favorite endangered species rattling around Aquarium galleries and Oceanarium walkways as they search for special taste treats. Cookies and cider will be served. Children should bring a bag to collect treats. Haunted Shedd Halloween costs $7 per child age 5 and up (members $5). One adult is free per child.

Smorgasbord

The American Daughters of Sweden are holding their annual bazaar & smorgasbord on Saturday, Nov. 13th at the Trinity Evangelical Covenant Church, 93rd & Putaski, at 12 noon. Mrs. Shirley Murphy of Beverly is president of the organization. For more information call (312) 561-1939.

Benefit Rock Concert

The Buckinghams, a popular band from the 1960s, will appear in a benefit concert on Saturday, Nov. 13th, sponsored by the Moraine Valley Community College Student Senate. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium on the campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave.

The Buckinghams were billed in the mid-1960s as the most listened to rock n'roll band with such hits as "Kind of a Drag," "Don't You Care," "Susan" and "Mercy, Mercy, Mercy."

Proceeds from the concert will benefit the southwest suburban homeless through 'Homeless to Housing.'

Tickets are $8 for students and alumni of Moraine Valley. General admission is $10. Tickets can be purchased in the College Store and the College Activities Office, located in the College Center, on the campus.

For more information, call the College Activities Office at (708) 974-5717.

Annual Crafts

The Parent Club of Queen of Peace High School invites all lovers of crafts to its fourth annual arts and crafts fair on Sunday, Nov. 7th from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. In addition to over 180 crafters displaying and selling items, there will be a bake sale with homemade desserts. Beef sandwiches, hot dogs, pizza and other refreshments will be available.

There is ample parking in the Queen of Peace and St. Laurence parking lots and admission is free.

"Oldies Dance"

The St. Laurence High School Father's Club will hold its annual 'oldies dance' on Saturday, Oct. 30th at the school, 5556 W. 77th St. The dance begins at 7 p.m. and lasts until 12 midnight. Music of the 60s, 70s and 80s will be provided.

Tickets are $15 per couple. Food and refreshments will be served. All parents, friends, alumni, alumni parents and faculty are invited to dance the night away.

Cork's Corner

By Bill Corcoran

I hate the man who builds his name
On ruins of another's fame.

John Gay, the English writer best known for his play "The Beggar's Opera" (1728), could have been speaking of the trials and tribulations of William Kennedy Smith, the victim of a harassment assault last weekend in an Arlington, Virginia bar, when he wrote "The Poet and the Rose" in 1720.

Smith, 33, is the son of the U.S. Ambassador to Ireland, Jean Kennedy Smith, and the nephew of Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.) and the late President John F. Kennedy and Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

Smith, a doctor specializing in rehabilitation medicine in Chicago, had gone to Washington, D.C. to visit friends and attend an awards ceremony.

Dr. Smith was in a bar with his friends when an "uninvited" man sat down at his table and began making profane comments about him and the widely publicized rape trial which Dr. Smith was acquitted of all charges in Palm Beach, Florida in 1991.

Dr. Smith said: "My friends and I were hassled, baited and insulted by people who wanted to pick a fight with me. It was a difficult situation, and I wanted to defend myself. I regret what happened."

What happened is Smith went outside and got into a fight with the club's "bouncer," who had not identified himself, and Smith thought the "bouncer" was part of the group that was insulting him.

What happened to Dr. William Kennedy Smith is all too often what happens to celebrity siblings who encounter "a man who tries to build his name, on trying to ruin another's fame."

This columnist's early years in Hollywood were marked over and over with brushes with brain-dead types who try to grab the Andy Warhol description of "15 minutes of fame" by picking a fight with innocent sons of celebrities or a celebrity family.

In the mid-1950's, we hung out with Bing Crosby's sons, Gary, Dennis, Phil and Lindsay as well as many other sons and daughters of Hollywood stars.

What happened to William Kennedy Smith brought back memories of a night when Gary Crosby and I stopped in a bar after he had appeared on a CBS-TV show.

As we sat quietly discussing Gary's performance, an "over-served" middle-aged man plopped himself down next to us and began badgering Gary about the fact that he would never be the singer or actor or achieve the fame his father, Bing Crosby had achieved.

Gary Crosby tried to dismiss the remarks, but when it was apparent the uninvited slob could not be turned off, Gary and I got up and left the establishment. The drunken jerk followed us outside and continued to rant and rave, and finally Gary, who had played football at Stanford, turned around and decked him with one punch. No charges were filed and we drove off.

But there is even a bigger lesson to be learned from personally knowing people like Gary Crosby and William Kennedy Smith who have to live in the shadow of fame of their parents or relatives.

Gary Crosby worked unselfishly for a Hollywood charity organization, The Thelians, who raised money for mentally ill and retarded children. In fact, Gary became vice-president of the 200-member group of young show business celebrities who raised enough money to build a wing on Mt. Sinai Hospital, Los Angeles, devoted to the treatment of children with mental and retardation problems.

This columnist first met Dr. William Kennedy Smith last April when our son Kevin, who had been in a coma for two months at the University of Chicago Hospitals, came out of his comatose state and was transferred to the Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago for physical rehabilitation where Dr. Smith was studying as a resident in rehabilitation medicine.

Dr. Smith was dedicated and devoted and took a keen interest in Kevin's rehabilitation.

Kevin didn't know who he was other than "Dr. Smith," but a month after William Kennedy Smith returned to the University of New Mexico for more medical courses Kevin asked me about the "Dr. Kennedy" the ambulance driver had talked to him about during his transfer from University of Chicago to Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago.

When I explained to Kevin that "Dr. Kennedy" and "Dr. Smith" were one in the same, he said: "You know something, dad, he used to come in at night and sit next to me and talk for hours about how he knew I was going to get better and walk someday."

"Would it have made a difference if you knew who he was?" I asked Kevin.

"Not at all," said Kevin, "he was kind and gentle and he acted like he really cared about me."

Gary Crosby and Dr. William Kennedy Smith, who have to bear the cross of celebrity ancestry, also have to bear the cross of chance encounters with fatuous troglodytes who "try to build a name, on another's fame."

Showcase Presents Murder Drama

The cast has been chosen and has been rehearsing for a number of weeks for the upcoming production of Elihu Winer's adaptation of the best-selling Robert Traver novel Anatomy of a Murder, to be presented at Showcase Theater, 12757 S. Western Ave., on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 19th and 20th at 8 p.m. and on Sunday, Nov. 21st, a matinee (call for time). This adult courtroom drama is directed by Melissa McGuire of Evergreen Park with the assistance of Dan Morales of Burbank, who also plays the part of Clovis Pidgeon in the production. A popular, though controversial, film version of the story was presented in the mid-60s featuring such stars as Jimmy Stewart, Lee Remick, George C. Scott and Ben Gazzara.

The storyline follows the investigation and subsequent trial of a professional soldier and war veteran who shoots and kills a man accused of beating and raping his wife. The ensuing trial raises a number of questions including that of insanity, responsibility and revenge as delivered by a defense attorney whose humor and sense of irony provide an engaging perspective. What punishment does he deserve? Every audience member will have an opinion by the time this thought-provoking story ends. The defendant Lt. Frederick Manion is played by Paul Ulrich of Blue Island; Defense Attorney Paul Biegler is played by Tony Carrella, also of Blue Island; assisted by Mike Doody of East Hazelcrest as Parnell McCarthy; Laura Manion, the lieutenant's wife and the victim of the alleged attack, is played by Kathy Holahan of Alsip.

The prosecution team consists of Robert Stillman of Mokena as Mitch Lodwick and Mark Eaton of Beverly as Claude Daner. Marty Donovan of Orland Park is Judge Weaver who presides over the trial and sometimes acts as referee. In addition, there are a number of colorful and interesting characters and witnesses introduced throughout the trial including Ronnie Dauer of Chicago as Dr. Gregory, Mike Gandy of Oak Forest as Dr. Matthew Smith, Phil Lo Presti of Chicago as Dr. Raschid, Jim Seeborg of Chicago as Warren Burke & Mr. Lemon, David Henderson of Chicago as Paquette, Tom Welchman of Mt. Greenwood as Durgo, and Steve Cammack of Sauk Village as Grover Gleason and off-stage, as stage manager. The show is not recommended for children because of the subject matter and tickets are available by calling (708) 841-7396. Tickets are $7, with an advance reservation, or $9 at the door.

Leukemia Benefit

Standard Federal Bank is celebrating Halloween this year by helping fight leukemia, the No. 1 disease-killer of children in the world. These banks will be participating in the 1993 Leukemia Society 'Costumed For A Cure' promotion on Friday, Oct. 29th. Bank employees will dress in costume that day, and customers will have the opportunity to "vote" for their favorite costume by making a donation into the chosen employee's canister. All proceeds will benefit the Illinois Chapter of the Leukemia Society of America.

Although leukemia kills more children every year than any other disease, tremendous progress by Leukemia Society researchers has enabled the cure rate to rise from 5 percent to 78 percent in the last 28 years. Leukemia affects 10 times as many adults as children, and as part of an aggressive Leukemia Society Cure 2000 campaign, researchers are hopeful for a total cure by the end of the century.

The Illinois Chapter funds

Indian Pow-Wow

The American Indian Center invites you to its 40th annual Contest Pow Wow on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 12th, 13th and 14th at the Amphitheater, 42nd & Halsted, featuring an exhibit of some of the finest authentic Native American Indian arts and crafts, including handmade baskets, headwork, woven rugs, pottery and jewelry, for sale to the public. There will be program and contest dancing by some of America's premier champion tribal contest dancers. Also featured will be Native American Indian foods such as fry bread and Indian tacos.

For more information, call (312) 275-5871.

1,200 leukemia patients statewide, who each receive up to $750 annually for medication, testing, and travel expenses and also supports $181,000 in research grants every year.

Marquette National Bank, a Chicago-based, independently owned and operated full-service financial institution, is sponsoring free seminars on living trusts. Interested individuals can select a 2 p.m. or 6 p.m. session on Thursday, Nov. 4th at the 6155 S. Pulaski location. In addition to the meeting the bank's team of trust representatives, attendees can view the newly remodeled area for the trust department. Refreshments will be served.

The moderator for these programs is Donald Bonistalli, (left) vice-president and senior trust officer at Marquette National Bank. The speaker will be attorney at law Robert J. Zapolis (right), senior partner of Zapolis and Associates, a frequent speaker on this topic. His presentation will feature an explanation of a living trust. He will highlight the features, benefits and advantages, and explain how a living trust can easily be created.

Since seating for the seminars is limited, reservations are encouraged, and can be made by calling (312) 838-3300. Information on other trust services will be available.

Marquette National Bank, organized in 1945, has grown to become one of the largest banks in the Chicago area, with assets over $750 million. Offices are located in Chicago, Bridgeview and Summit. A new full-service branch is presently under construction at 93rd and Kedzie in Evergreen Park.

SIPP Survey

Local representatives of the U.S. Census Bureau will visit selected area households beginning on Monday, Nov. 1st to conduct the monthly Survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP). Stanley D. Moore, director of the bureau's Chicago regional office, announced.

SIPP is a continuing nationwide survey introduced in the fall of 1983, one of the nation's largest, with about 60,000 households participating.

The Census Bureau publishes periodic reports with information from the survey. Subjects covered include jobs and earnings; the economic effects of unemployment, disability and retirement; how taxes affect personal spending; and participation in programs such as Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, food stamps and pension plans.

Information from SIPP helps policy makers and administrators determine how well government programs are serving the public and how changes in programs and policies will affect the public.

St. Laurence Elects Student Council For 1993-94 Year

St. Laurence High School has formally announced its Student Council officers for the 1993-94 academic year. Terry Davey will serve as president; Keith Webster is the vice-president; Greg Trusk is the treasurer; Frank Fett is the secretary; and Tom Lukareski will serve as parliamentarian.

Davey, a senior, and a graduate of St. Denis Grammar School, carries a 3.2 grade point average and has been a consistent member of the 'B' honor roll during his three years at St. Laurence. He serves the football program as the head student equipment manager and is the public address announcer for the varsity basketball team. In addition, he is a peer minister, a member of the student recycling committee, and a volunteer for the D.A.R.E. program. He is also an Illinois State Scholar.

Webster, a senior, and a graduate of St. Albert the Great Grammar School in Burbank, is a member of the varsity basketball and volleyball teams. He was recently rated as the 13th-ranked power forward in the Midwest by a noted national college basketball recruiting service.

Trusk, a junior, is a graduate of Simmons Junior High. He is a member of the school's varsity football and wrestling teams and is ranked 23rd in the junior class with a cumulative grade point average of 3.83. Last semester he made the 'A' honor roll. He has also been involved in several theater productions at Queen of Peace High.

Fett, a junior, and a graduate of St. Linus Grammar School, is a member of the varsity football and wrestling teams. As a junior, he is currently a mainstay on the offensive line on this year's edition of the varsity football team.

Lukareski, a senior, is a graduate of St. George Grammar School in Tinley Park. He is a member of the varsity hockey team and serves the computer science department as a lab assistant.

The Student Council officers are responsible for planning and coordinating events throughout the school year, including Homecoming Week, Spirit Week, Walk-a-Thon Activity Day and the Freshman Barbecue. The council also promotes and oversees the ongoing aluminum and paper recycling programs.

Protecting Your Finances

Blake-Lamb will hold its senior citizens meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 9th at Bethany Union Church, 103rd & Wood Sts., beginning at 11 a.m. The guest speaker will be Michael Doherty, who will talk on "Protecting Your Income and Assets."

"If You Need To Get A Loan After Work, You Need A Bank That's Open After Hours."

We think you work hard enough without having to make a special effort to apply for a loan. So hopefully, we're working even longer than you—until 8 pm every weekday. And until 5 pm on Saturday and 3 pm on Sunday. To make it easier to get that home equity loan or car loan or mortgage. Or find the time to refinance before time runs out. You can even apply for any First Chicago Bank loan right over the phone. Just call (312) 407-1111 weekdays between 8:30 am and 7pm.

So if you're open to a more convenient way to bank, remember which bank in Oak Lawn is open longer for you.

State Library Grants

Secretary of State George H. Ryan announced recently that 180 suburban libraries will receive more than $5 million in general purpose grants, a 25 percent increase over last year. The increase is being funded by Ryan's new "Live and Learn" program, which boosted population-based funding for the state's 585 public libraries from $9.5 million last year to $13.5 million this year.

"This is money that libraries can use at their discretion to provide the services their patrons need most," Ryan said. "An increase in this funding was long overdue. I am hopeful that it will help libraries across Illinois keep their doors open longer, keep staff on the job and keep the latest materials on the shelves."

The "Live and Learn" initiative, which became law in July, allows Ryan to give libraries an additional 24 cents per person in their districts, for a total of $1.19 per capita. When the initiative is fully funded next year, the libraries will receive $1.25 per resident, an increase of 5 percent over this year and nearly 32 percent overall.

Other libraries receiving grants include: Acorn Public Library District, Oak Forest, $37,719.42; Oak Lawn Public Library, $66,856.57; Orland Hills Public Library District, $6,556.90; Orland Park Public Library, $48,023.63; Palos Heights Public Library, $13,658.81; Green Hills Public Library District, Palos Hills, $36,680.55; Palos Park Library, $4,952.77; William Leonard Public Library District, Robbins, $10,224.47; Tinley Park Library, $47,218; and Worth Public Library District, $13,645.72.

C of C Breakfast

The Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the U.S. Chamber and the Illinois State Chamber is sponsoring an area-wide legislative briefing with Congressman William Lipinski at 7:30 a.m. on Monday, Nov. 15th, at the Oak Lawn Hilton Hotel, 9333 S. Cicero Ave. Other Chambers of Commerce in the Oak Lawn area are invited to join as co-sponsors for this event by publicizing the meeting and taking reservations from their members to relay back to the Oak Lawn Chamber.

There is no charge to the co-sponsors. However, this is an opportunity for local chambers to demonstrate their interest and strength while getting an update on both state and national legislation.

A continental breakfast, at $5 per person, will be served at 7:30 a.m. with the briefing at 8 a.m.

The session also is open to the public at large. To make a reservation or obtain additional information, contact Joan Kennedy, executive director, Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce, (708) 424-8300.

Open House For Incoming Students

Oak Lawn Community High School has announced its annual open house for incoming 7th & 8th grade students, current and transfer students, and their parents on Sunday, Nov. 7th between 2 and 5 p.m. This year OLCHS has revised the program to include continuous tours of the school's facilities, both academic and extracurricular. Beginning at 2 p.m. in the Spartan Gym and running continuously every five minutes, staff members will conduct 30-minute tours for groups of 10 to 15 participants. The last tour is to begin at approximately 4:30. Tour participants will hear brief descriptions and observe all athletic facilities, including gym, pool and weight room, in addition to classrooms, band rooms, the media center, computer and science labs, counseling, administrative offices, etc.

Student representatives from academic areas, athletics and clubs will also be on hand demonstrating their skills, working on special projects and utilizing the various equipment.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria throughout the afternoon. Administrators and department chairs will also be on hand in the cafeteria to answer any questions during this time. A special slide presentation highlighting OLCHS will also run continuously in the junior/senior lounge of the cafeteria.

All 7th and 8th graders, current students, interested students attending other schools and their parents, who reside in the Oak Lawn Community District 229, are encouraged to attend. Members of the business community are also cordially invited.

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were reported by the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

On Oct. 21st, Ronald McEathron of Oak Lawn alleged while he was a patient in Christ Hospital, his ex-girlfriend came to his home and removed $450 worth of clothing. Complaints will be signed.

William Messina of Oak Lawn reported someone removed two Halloween statues from his front lawn. Estimated loss is $25.

On the 22nd, Margaret Olson of Oak Lawn reported she heard tires squealing in front of her home at 1:20 p.m. and when she looked outside, saw her mailbox had been run over. Estimated loss $100.

Karen Diel of Streamwood reported someone took her portable cellular phone from her car while it was parked in the lot at 6100 W. 97th St. Estimated cost to replace, $150.

Giordono's Restaurant, 9630 Southwest Highway, reported someone had removed three concrete splash blocks from outside the restaurant. Estimated loss is $45.

At 1:18 a.m., Ursula Sitcar of Merrillville, Indiana reported someone keyed the right side of her 1990 Pontiac while it was parked at 4612 W. 103rd St. A witness said he saw a man with shoulder-length blond hair, T-shirt and jeans doing it. He turned in the license number of the offender's car which is registered to Rick Szczepanik of Rockford.

Feras Tadros and Thae Tadros, both of Oak Lawn, reported that while their car was parked at 10701 S. Central Ave., someone removed a black leather 3/4-length coat with a fur collar, valued at $220, and a full-length leather coat valued at $500.

At 1:15 a.m. police were called to the parking lot at 4743 W. 103rd St. near Cicero (Cagney's Lounge). Joseph Popovich of Bridgeview reported someone keyed both sides of the car. George Georgelos of Roselle and Nickolas DeSalvo of Chicago also reported their vehicles had been keyed and a witness provided the registration of the offender's car which registered to Rick Szczepanik of Rockford. Estimated damage to each car is $1,000.

An armed robbery was reported at 4:50 p.m. at 6322 W. 95th St. Kim Yong said a black male entered the restaurant, said this was an armed robbery and was pointing a white plastic bag and told her to open the cash register. The offender removed an undetermined amount of cash, left and ran south into the street.

A resident of Oak Lawn reported $990 worth of assorted tools, CDs and speakers were removed from the garage.

On the 25th, William Dewan of Oak Lawn reported he had parked his Honda Accord facing southbound, in front, and sometime during the night someone threw a pumpkin at the vehicle and dented the driver's side fender. Estimated cost to repair is $200.

At 10 a.m. Frank T. Voss of Orland Park reported that while he was parked at 10000 S. Central Ave., someone took a Motorola bag phone valued at $100.

At 8:15 a.m. Tim Richards of Oak Lawn reported he had brought his car to the Paton Auto Repair Shop for service at 10 a.m. and found the door on the driver's side was broken and the AM/FM cassette player and a case with 36 tapes were missing. Estimated loss is $360. Also taken was a Timberline speaker and fire jacket valued at $150. Repair to the door window brings the estimated loss to $910.

Pete George's Chevrolet-GEO dealer at 9440 S. Cicero reported a 1990 Chevrolet Blazer valued at $12,000 was taken from the service department.

On the 27th, Raymond Samoska of Oak Lawn reported his 1987 Chevy Caprice was stolen from the apartment lot.

Hunger caused the downfall of Henry Lightfoot, 44, who was arrested on Oct. 26th by Blue Island police. Lightfoot went into a Jewel Food Store at 159th St. and 94th Ave. in Orland Park at 11:20 p.m. and tried to buy a rotisserie chicken and strawberry shortcake with food stamps, according to police. When the cashier told him he could not purchase cooked food with stamps, he took out a gun, swore at her, put the gun to her face and fled without the chicken or shortcake.

Police chased him down at 159th St., north into Blue Island where he crashed into a tree stump at the old boatyard east of Ashland near Broadway.

Although they didn't know how Lightfoot was able to get out of the car which was in very bad shape, police said, he ran into a field and police dogs sniffed him out. He was turned over to Orland Park police who called witnesses and victims to a lineup later that morning.

He was positively identified at the Orland police station by witnesses from Red Lobster and Foot Locker in Oak Lawn and a convenience store clerk in Merrionette Park. Oak Lawn police charged Lightfoot with robbery for the stickup at Red Lobster. Orland Park police recovered a .357 Magnum revolver loaded with five rounds, and a hypodermic syringe.

Bond for Lightfoot, who has no permanent address, but had been staying at a motel in Calumet Park, was set at $350,000.

Computer Instruction

Instructions for operating the Oak Lawn Public Library's computer catalog are available at any time from staff members at the fiction desk or interlibrary loan desk on the first floor near the Cook Ave. entrance. For those interested in a detailed description, a class is held every Saturday beginning at 9:30 a.m. The class length varies depending on class interests. However, the usual length is one hour.

In August, the Suburban Library System (SLS) installed an upgraded computer catalog program for all member libraries. This has meant a change for patron use of the catalog. The Saturday class will assist patrons in adjusting to the new system and all of its capabilities.

Betty and Leonard Reno of Oak Lawn took center stage on their wedding anniversary with the Flying Eagles recently on the Midway under the Big Top at Circus Circus Hotel/Casino-Reno. Following the Flying Eagles' trapeze act, Ringmaster Mike Roberts told the audience that the Renos had chosen "The Biggest Little City in the World" for their 55th wedding anniversary because it has the same name as theirs, Reno. The Renos, who were married in Oak Lawn on Oct. 7th, 1938, have four grown children, 11 grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

New Smokeless Diesel Trucks

Gov. Jim Edgar recently unveiled seven smokeless diesel engine trucks purchased by the state in its efforts to improve air quality in the Chicago metropolitan area.

"Illinois is the first state in the nation to place smokeless diesel vehicles into its state fleet. That will help improve the air we breathe," the Governor said.

The seven trucks will be part of the Illinois Department of Transportation's fleet of 35 emergency vehicles that aid motorists in disabled vehicles on Chicago's seven expressways.

The smokeless diesel engine is manufactured by Navistar International of Chicago and has been designed to improve fuel metering and fuel combustion.

Illinois is already in compliance with the federal requirement that all its diesel vehicles use low-sulfur diesel fuel by October.

The Department of Transportation will purchase approximately 130 trucks featuring the new engines during the latter half of this fiscal year, the Governor said.

OAK LAWN

C of C Business Seminar

The Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a "Holiday Alert to Business" seminar at 8 a.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 10th, at the Oak Lawn Public Safety Auditorium, 9446 Raymond Ave. The program is free, but reservations should be made by calling the chamber office at (708) 424-8300, no later than Nov. 8.

Topics to be covered during the session include retail theft, deceptive practices with checks and credit cards and armed robbery. Speakers are Det. Jim Cassin, Det. John Lalla and Sgt. Jim Spallina, all members of the Oak Lawn Police Department.

Holiday time and shopping crowds provide more opportunities for thieves and crooks to take advantage of businesses. This informative seminar will help local business people to recognize and to prepare for prevention of crimes.

YSP Dance

Young Single Parents, Chapter No. 104, is having a dance social on Thursday, Nov. 11th at Burbank Rose, 6501 W. 79th St. Doors open at 8:30 p.m. and first-timers get in free.

NOW YOU CAN BE READY FOR COLLEGE WHEN YOUR KIDS OR GRANDKIDS ARE-

INTRODUCING THE HIGHER LEARNING FUND FROM MOUNT GREENWOOD BANK

HIGHER LEARNING FUND

Earn one of the highest rates available through our bank - and be ready for your child's or grandchild's educational needs after high school with the new Higher Learning Fund from Mount Greenwood Bank.

Make non-taxable gift contributions under the Uniform Transfers to Minors Act (UTMA)

Designed to give families a head start on their college savings program, the Higher Learning Fund is a long-term savings account created under the Uniform Transfers to Minors Act. The account is set up in the name of the child. As custodian you (or anyone) can make non-taxable contributions to the fund, and the taxability of the interest earnings generally flows to the child.

One of the best features of the new Higher Learning Fund account is the flexibility to make deposits in any amount, at any time. At Mount Greenwood Bank, we can help you set up a more disciplined savings program with scheduled transfers from checking or savings accounts.

The Higher Learning Fund will mature when the child graduates from high school, with the custodian maintaining control of distributions from the fund for college expenses. And, regardless of Prospect Federal Savings Bank's top management looks forward to this Saturday's open house at the bank's new home office in Worth. Pictured are Miloslav Lukas, chairman of the board; Carl Rosenbaum, president and CEO; Steven Rosenbaum, executive vice-president and COO. Prospect Federal is holding an open house on Nov. 6th, to kick off a two-week "homecoming celebration" for its new home office. It was announced by Carl L. Rosenbaum. The open house will be from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the office lobby, 11139 S. Harlem Ave. It will feature gifts, refreshments and prize drawings for an RCA camcorder and VCR, to be given away that day, according to Rosenbaum. Registrants also become eligible to win the grand prize, an RCA 46-inch Home Theatre TV, to be given away Nov. 20th, along with other prizes.

Equal Opportunity Lender

The Worth facility, which opened in 1990 as a branch office, became Prospect Federal's home office in August. Rosenbaum explained, "We moved our headquarters here from west suburban Lombard, reinforcing our strong commitment to Chicago's southwest side and suburbs, our primary service area. Our senior management team and departments such as lending, savings and administration are now based in Worth. This brings about greater operating efficiencies and enhanced service capabilities for customers of our Worth office." Rosenbaum also mentioned that most of the bank's management and directors live nearby, and feel strongly about providing the best possible service to area residents.

"The new Home Office festivities carry a 'homecoming celebration' theme, since the bank is returning to its roots with the headquarters relocation," added Rosenbaum. "We look forward to visiting with our customers, friends and neighbors at the open house." In addition to gifts, refreshments and prize drawing registration, open house visitors receive coupons for special offers on checking accounts, CD rates, loans and safe deposit boxes.

Prospect Federal Savings Bank, founded in 1909, is among Chicagoland's strongest financial institutions. The bank provides numerous financial services from its Worth Office and from Chicago locations at 1715 W. 47th St. and 6858 S. Pulaski Rd.

Rita Open House

All seventh and eighth grade boys interested in attending St. Rita High School, 7740 S. Western Ave., as well as their families, are invited to the school's open house on Sunday, Nov. 7th. Small group tours of the campus begin at approximately 1 p.m., with the last tour at 5 p.m. Each tour includes visits to the school's science labs, computer labs, library, chapel, auditorium and athletic fields. Teachers, department chairpersons, club moderators, coaches and St. Rita students will be present throughout the afternoon to answer questions and explain the school's academic and extracurricular programs.

"The afternoon will give seventh and eighth graders the opportunity to see what St. Rita is all about," said John Bourgeois, the school's director of admissions. "Choosing a high school is a very difficult decision for a young man to make. I encourage all seventh and eighth grade young men and their families to come experience St. Rita."

For more information about the open house, grammar school events or to be put on St. Rita's mailing list, contact Mr. Bourgeois at (312) 925-6600, ext. 27.

Pace Budget Hearings For 1994

The Board of Directors for Pace, the suburban transportation service, has approved the proposed 1994 operating and capital budget and released it for public hearings. The $96.9 million operating budget provides for $6 million less than what Pace requested from the RTA, causing expected service cuts and fare increases for 1994.

In order to fully fund current fixed route and paratransit services and expand special services under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) without raising fares, Pace had requested $68 million in subsidy from the Regional Transportation Authority (RTA) — the financial overseer for Pace, Metra and CTA. However, the RTA agreed to fund only $62 million. Pace also expects to receive $4 million in federal congestion mitigation (CMAQ) grant funds. The remaining funds will come from rider's fares, which will pay approximately $34.5 million, or 35 percent, of the operating costs.

The $6 million shortfall seriously underfunds Pace during 1994, and now Pace will consider drastic measures to balance the budget. RTA's action was taken to reserve funds for a possible shortfall in the future. Instead of reserving funds from all three service boards, the primary impact is on Pace's budget.

To comply with the decreased amount of funding, the Pace board is considering five actions to balance the budget:

1. Raise all "local" fares from $.85 to $1.10, affecting riders in Joliet, Aurora, Elgin, Waukegan and on rail feeder bus routes, and causing a .4 million drop in ridership;
2. Implement $1.6 million in fixed-route service reductions, affecting .4 million passengers;
3. Defer plans to expand ADA service (the RTA eliminated the funding for this expansion despite previously approving Pace's implementation plan for ADA services);
4. Eliminate ADA services beyond the minimum requirements of ¼ miles in Cook and DuPage counties;
5. Reduce township-dial-a-ride reimbursements from $2.50 to $2 per trip.

To gain public comment on these proposed budget actions, Pace will be holding public hearings during the last week in October at locations throughout Pace's six-county service area according to the following schedule:

On Thursday, Oct. 28, 7:30 p.m., DuPage County: Village of Glen Ellyn, 535 Duane St.; McHenry County: McHenry County Courthouse, 200 N. Seminary, Woodstock; Will County: Joliet Municipal Building, 150 W. Jefferson St.

On Friday, Oct. 29, 7:30 p.m., Kane County: Kane County Government Center, 719 Batavia St., Geneva; Lake County: Lake County Courthouse, 18 N. County St., Waukegan.

On Saturday Oct. 30, 10 a.m., North Cook County: Des Plaines Civic Center, 1420 Miner St.; South Cook County: Flossmoor Village Hall, 2800 Flossmoor Rd.; West Cook County: Forest Park Village Hall, 517 DesPlaines Ave.

"Pace had expected to provide the current level of service with status quo fares for 1994, but unfortunately, due to the RTA's shocking reduction of our budget, we will need to make some painful cuts," said Pace Chairman, Florence Boone. "Once again the RTA is penalizing us for our savings. Pace had made cuts in 1993 so we could come in at the planned budget levels for 1994. The RTA's public funding to us is actually less than the 1993 budget."

Although Pace had requested a 10 percent increase over the 1993 budget levels, half of the increase was for the expansion of federally required ADA paratransit service to Cook and the five collar counties, including the initial start up of ADA services in Kane and Will counties.

In addition to the operating expenses, the proposed budget includes $32.5 million for Pace's Capital Program. The program calls for $15.7 million for fixed-route and paratransit buses, $3.8 million for farebox enhancements and signal preemption equipment, $6.7 million for major facilities projects, and $6.3 million for support equipment. Pace's capital program is funded in part by Pace's own funds ($1.9 million), with the RTA, the Federal Transit Administration, and the Illinois Department of Transportation contributing the remaining $30.6 million.

Complete details of Pace's 1994 Operating and Capital Program are in the budget document, which can be obtained by request from Pace's Passenger Service Office at (708) 364-7223.

First Chicago Dividends Told

First Chicago Corporation recently reported record net income of $284 million, or $3.14 per common share, for the third quarter of 1993. Return on common stockholders' equity was 34 percent. Earnings, excluding the venture capital business, were $1.78 per share. These earnings were derived principally from core businesses, consumer, middle market and large corporate banking. In the 1992 third quarter, First Chicago recorded a quarterly loss of $372 million, resulting largely from the $625 million special provision for credit losses related to the establishment of the accelerated asset disposition program. "The most gratifying aspect of our third quarter was the strong performance turned in by each of our major businesses," Chairman Richard L. Thomas said. "In addition to the positive trend of core earnings, we are encouraged by our success in building our competitive positions in these businesses, which should augur well for the future. Moreover, our very large equity portfolio continues to produce incremental earnings and capital for the corporation."

For the first nine months of 1993, net income was $632 million, or $6.94 per common share. Excluding venture capital, earnings were $440 million, or $4.68 per share. For the first nine months of 1992, the net loss was $43 million, or $1.02 per common share, including the cumulative impact of changes in accounting principles.

First Chicago Corporation is the parent of The First National Bank of Chicago, the tenth largest bank in the country. The bank has more than 70 branches throughout the Chicago metropolitan area providing leading edge banking products and services to retail customers.

CUACSA Abuse Workshop

Christians United Against Child Sexual Abuse (CUACSA) is holding its annual community workshop on Saturday, Nov. 20th from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Oak Brook Christian Center, 3100 Midwest Road. Workshops will be offered throughout the day covering a variety of topics, with an emphasis on healing creatively.

For further information, call Gloria at 484-4158 or Diane at 293-7912.

The Veterans Memorial Protective Commission invites you to participate in the memorial observance at the 'Eternal Flame' monument at Veterans Memorial Park, 111th and Harlem, on Sunday, Nov. 7th. The program begins promptly at 11 a.m. and includes speakers, a wreath laying ceremony, and tributes to Veterans living and dead, who fought, and in many cases made the supreme sacrifice, in order to guarantee our freedom. Veteran organizations from throughout the area have been invited to participate, along with their auxiliaries.

The 'Eternal Flame' has been erected in memory of all who served in the Armed Forces of the United States and commemorates America's participation in every combat situation from the Revolutionary War through Somalia. This is the first Veterans Day since the completion of the monument, and anyone who has not visited the memorial is invited to do so.

The funding for the monument is virtually complete, but a contribution to help complete the task is appreciated. Send contributions to Worth Bank and Trust, 6825 W. 111th St., Worth, IL 60482. Make checks payable to the Veterans Memorial Foundation.

Funds Available

Applications for grants from the Federal Emergency Management Agency's (FEMA) emergency food and shelter program are available to non-profit and government agencies in Chicago and suburban Cook County until Friday, Nov. 5th. Funds may be used to distribute emergency food, serve meals, provide shelter and forestall evictions or loss of utility service.

Agencies may obtain an application from Emergency Food and Shelter Program, 560 W. Lake St., 7th Floor, Chicago, or by contacting Ms. Margaret Hughes at (312) 906-2442.

Awards will be made by a local board whose members represent nine voluntary organizations, the City of Chicago, the Cook County Board of Commissioners and homeless or formerly homeless persons.

This past year, 120 agencies used FEMA grants to help people who were homeless, near-homeless, hungry, or otherwise distressed by the economy or other causes beyond their control. Some food programs fed the same people every month when their public aid benefits failed to stretch far enough. Now, more towns and city neighborhoods, previously untouched by these problems, find people asking for help.

FEMA is often the program of last resort for those who fall through the cracks of other government programs. Elderly persons with income just above the guidelines for the state energy program may need help from FEMA when high medical bills leave them unable to pay for utilities. Without FEMA rent assistance, persons with disabilities facing a temporary economic crisis risk losing their affordable, accessible housing that would take many months to find again.

The Emergency Food and Shelter Program began 11 years ago as a one-time effort to address urgent needs. The survival of this public-private partnership is not only a testament to growing needs, but also to the program's effectiveness. Further information about the program and an evaluation of its efforts is available from Ms. Hughes.

Voluntary Consolidation

The State Board of Education held a special meeting by telephone conference call on Oct. 29th to meet a Nov. 1st statutory requirement for reducing the number of educational service regions. Under Public Act 88-89 (Senate Bill 937), educational service regions with fewer than 43,000 inhabitants must have consolidated voluntarily by

Oct. 15th to form 45 regions. If voluntary actions fail to create 45 regions, the State Board had to act by Nov. 1st to ensure that each region contains the minimum population as outlined in law.

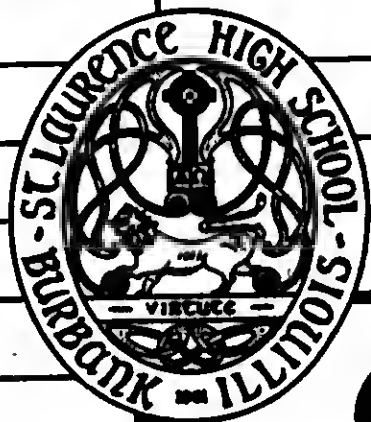

Public Act 88-89 reduces the number of educational service regions from 57 to 45 by August 1995 and to 35 by August 1999.

Ham Meeting

The regular bimonthly meeting of the Tri-Town Radio Amateur Club will feature our own member Doug Heath (WB9YSW) conducting a radio clinic. He will show members and guests how to modify their radios as well as test and adjust radios for proper operation. This should be an interesting program for all amateurs.

The meeting is on Friday, Nov. 5th at the Tri-Town Radio Amateur Club. The meeting starts at 8 p.m. at the Hazel Crest Village Hall, 170th St. and Holmes Ave.

Competitive Key

By Dr. Richard L. Leshner, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

"A truly American sentiment recognizes the dignity of labor," said President Grover Cleveland, "and the fact that honor lies in honest toil."

Dignity and honor are wonderful things, but they do not put food on the table or pay the rent. The American work ethic is perhaps the most vital asset in our economic arsenal, but in the modern world, a positive attitude toward labor is no longer enough. Many Americans eager and willing to work cannot find steady employment, and many who are employed find themselves unable to earn a living wage. Their plight has been noted frequently by the news media, prompting a variety of political responses, most of them bogus. The phenomenon of the "working poor" is a troublesome challenge that will not yield easily to political rhetoric, new legislation or a well-intended government program.

Nor are the priority items on the labor union legislative agenda, such as the strike bill or a higher minimum wage, likely to improve the lot of the working poor, for they do not address the core problem, worker productivity.

There was a time when any worker with minimal education and basic mechanical aptitude could look forward to a productive career on the factory floor, thanks in part to the influence of labor unions. When mass production was the driving force of American commerce, unionism helped to obtain an equitable piece of the economic pie for workers, and facilitated development of a vital middle class.

But the world has changed, demanding reassessment of the union mission. Commerce and industry are more splintered and diverse than a half-century ago. Science and technology are changing every aspect of the production process on a daily basis. The value of muscle is declining rapidly. Industry needs workers who think on their feet, and relearn their jobs constantly. A worker who is not intellectually alert, and who cannot help improve productivity, is more burden than asset to a business. Any attempt to defend the rights and prerogatives of ill-trained labor is fighting a losing battle.

To their credit, some labor unions recognize this reality, and are devoting an increasing proportion of their time and resources to promoting worker education and training. This is not only in the finest tradition of the labor movement, but also offers a superb opportunity for industry, unions and government to work cooperatively toward a shared objective.

Labor Secretary Robert Reich long has been an outspoken champion of worker preparation, and is promoting a variety of initiatives to encourage better education and more effective training of workers. Among these are greater emphasis on apprenticeship programs for young people who are not headed for college, and a national on-line information highway system, The Community Learning and Information Network, to provide direct, on-site training and educational opportunities to a greater segment of the population.

If there is a single most important key to this nation's competitiveness in the world marketplace, it is a world-class workforce.

Holiday Closings

All Secretary of State offices and facilities will be closed for Veterans' Day, Secretary of State George H. Ryan announced. The holiday is observed by all state agencies.

All offices and facilities will be closed Thursday, Nov. 11, and will reopen Friday, Nov. 12. The only exception is the Ford City facility in Chicago, open seven days a week in the Ford City Mall.

Senior Relief

More senior citizens will have relief from the burden of skyrocketing property taxes, under a new law co-sponsored by State Sen. Patrick O'Malley (R-Palos Park).

The General Assembly has overridden a gubernatorial veto of House Bill 317, which raises the income limit for the Senior Citizens Real Estate Tax Deferral program from $14,000 to $25,000. The new law is effective immediately.

"Too many senior citizens on fixed incomes are being forced out of their homes because they cannot pay their property tax bills. This program has provided relief for many, and we want to make it available to more people," O'Malley said. "This is basically a Band-Aid, not a solution to the underlying problem, but until we can come up with some meaningful property tax reform, this will help more senior citizens stay in their homes."

The 18th District Senator says the program allows income-eligible people ages 65 and older to defer all or part of their residential property taxes. The taxes, up to a total of 80 percent of equity, are paid by the state until the home is sold, which must be within one year of the taxpayer's death. The state holds a lien on the property and is repaid the amount of taxes paid plus six percent annual interest.

To qualify, the property must have been occupied by the taxpayer for at least three years, must not be income-producing, and must have no prior lien against it.

Information Meetings

High school students and their parents are encouraged to attend informational meetings about Moraine Valley Community College and its programs. "Deciding on Moraine: An Information Night" is scheduled on Tuesday, Nov. 9th from 7 to 9 p.m. on the campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave., on the second floor of the College Center.

Sessions include information about Moraine Valley's programs and services presented by experienced faculty and administrators. Sessions on financial aid, getting started at Moraine Valley and resources and services to help students succeed are also to be offered. Refreshments will be served.

Students interested in attending the information night, or who need more information, should call (708) 974-5355.

Tuesday's Non-Partisan Election ran true to form in most cases. Turnout was light—averaging from 10-14 percent in most districts. The exception was Palos School District 117 and Blue Island-Crestwood-Alsip School District 130. District 117 had nearly a 60% turnout to approve a rate increase while District 130 had a similar heavy turnout to reject an increase.

District 130 revealed the voting support of Mayors Chester Stranczek of Crestwood and Mayor Arnie Andrews of Alsip. Both opposed the increase while Mayor Don Peloquin of Blue Island approved the issue.

In one Crestwood precinct out of 206 votes cast there were 200 no votes. The issue was defeated 2,353 to 1,582 a record turnout in that district.

In District 117 the issue had the support of both Mayor Jerry Bennett of Palos Hills and Mayor Dan Riley of Hickory Hills in addition to a host of aldermen from both municipalities. The voters cast 3,296 yes to 1,920 no, also a record balloting in this district.

Other districts to approve tax increases were: 108 in Willow Springs; 123 in Oak Lawn-Hometown; and 127 in Worth.

Jeannette O'Donnell of Crestwood, Mayor Chester Stranczek's choice, led the field of 11 candidates to win one of four seats with 2,002 votes, over 400 more than the next winner. She was the only candidate of the 11 to oppose the tax hike.

Joan Kennedy of the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce reports that the chamber meeting with Congressman Bill Lipinski is at 7:30 a.m. Monday, Nov. 15 at the Oak Lawn Hilton. A typographical error in our ALL POINTS item last week listed it as a p.m. meeting. Remember it is a morning session with chambers of commerce from the area as well as the U.S. Chamber and Illinois State Chamber in attendance. The cost, which includes a continental breakfast, is $5. For more information call the Oak Lawn chamber at (708) 424-8300 no later than Nov. 8.

Michael Hamblet, Chairman of the Chicago Board of Election Commissioners, reports that physically disabled or residents of a qualified nursing home may be eligible under Illinois law for special absentee voting arrangements through his organization.

Those eligible would receive a Disabled Voter's Identification card (DVI) which is valid for a five year period. Under this program the voter is automatically sent an absentee ballot application by the election board to each election. The voter then completes the application and returns it to the board in order to receive an absentee ballot. If a voter doesn't wish to vote in a particular election he or she tears up the application. Hamblet says the board at present has about 2,200 voters enrolled in the DVI program. For more informa-

Orland Park Mayor Dan McLaughlin reports that the Illinois Secretary of State's Office will open its Orland Park Extended Services Facility on Monday, Nov. 8 at 10 a.m. in the Frederick T. Owens Village Hall, 14700 Ravinia Ave. The facility will offer vision testing and address changes for drivers in the Orland Park area. The facility will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays.

"Flood relief is on the way" said Thomas Fuller of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District when he learned president Clinton signed the 1994 Energy and Water Development Appropriation Bill. The bill contains $18 million for the MWRD flood control reservoirs including $13 million for new construction start for the McCook Reservoir and the continuing design of the Thornton Reservoir and completion of the O'Hare Reservoir.

SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives) is conducting a series of Winter Workshops to aid small businesses. Tuesday, Nov. 9th will be devoted to new business start up techniques. Wednesday, Nov. 10th will be devoted to "Record Keeping." Wednesday, Nov. 17th will stress "Advertising" and Wednesday, Nov. 24th will be a summation of skills needed to manage a business.

The workshops are given at 500 West Madison (Citicorp Center), Suite 1250, Chicago where SCORE is based in the Business Development Offices of the U.S. Small Business Administration. More information is available by calling (312) 353-7724.

ALL POINTS salutes the Alsip Park District for being chosen to receive the Gold Medal and Special Recreation awards by the National Sporting Goods Association. The awards were made Oct. 23 in San Jose, California during the NRPA Congress. Alsip won the Class V (less than 20,000). The awards, which have been made by The Sports Foundation since 1966, are presented on the basis of service, improvement, continuing development, extent of future planning and degree of participant involvement for the park programs. Each department must have its own budget, official population (as provided by census), programs and activities within specific and exclusive boundaries to be eligible.

Trivia On Time

Here are some little-remembered facts about Daylight Saving Time in America, provided us by the Citizen Watch Company of America.

— In 1918, US Congress adopted Daylight Saving Time as part of the World War I effort. But Congress scrapped DST in 1919, though some cities opted to continue it.

— In 1942, US Congress put the nation on "War Time"—setting the clocks ahead one hour. But, in 1945, Congress repealed War Time.

— In 1946, only six states in the US adopted Daylight Saving Time on a statewide basis.

— In 1967, Congress adopted the Uniform Time Act, which instituted Daylight Saving Time for the nation, starting at 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in April and ending at 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in October. Any state could exempt itself by law, and currently several US states and possessions are exempt.

— In 1986, President Reagan signed a bill, effective in 1987, that moved the start of Daylight Saving Time up to the first Sunday in April.

'Superheroic Award'

The Council for Citizens Against Government Waste (CCAGW) honored Congressman Harris W. Fawell with its 1993 'Superheroic' award for scoring a perfect 100 percent on votes concerning government waste issues. Fawell was one of only five members of Congress scoring a perfect 100 percent in 1993. CCAGW also announced that Fawell had the highest lifetime rating of any member of the House for voting to cut waste in government spending.

"American taxpayers can take solace in knowing that this handful of courageous elected officials haven't forgotten why they came to Washington," said CCAGW President Thomas A. Schatz. "They are true taxpayers' superheroes; legislators who have worked tirelessly to ensure that every dollar Washington takes away from hard-working, overtaxed Americans is not lost in a black hole, but is spent wisely."

CCAGW has given awards since 1990. Fawell received 'Superhero' awards in 1990 and 1991, and received the 'Hero' award in 1992.

Judge Wendt Is Sworn-In

Judge Mary Jane Wendt was sworn in Tuesday as Justice of the Appellate Court, filling the vacancy created when Justice Mary Ann McMorrow was elected as Illinois' first woman Supreme Court justice.

Justice McMorrow administered the oath. The Supreme Court last month announced the appointment of Judge Theis, a member of the Circuit Court since 1983.

The ceremony took place in the newly renovated courtroom at 160 N. LaSalle St. The court moved into its new home in the old State of Illinois building only last week.

Judge Theis' appointment makes her the third woman on the Appellate Court in Cook County, and only the seventh woman appellate justice in the history of the state. She has recently been assigned to the Chancery Division of the Circuit Court after several years in the Criminal Division.

Many of the 24 members of the Appellate Court were present when Justice McMorrow presented the oath to her successor.

Judge Theis was appointed an Associate Judge in 1983 and was elected to the Circuit Court in 1988. A 1971 graduate of Loyola University, she received her law degree from the University of San Francisco School of Law in 1974. She lives on the North Side of Chicago with her husband John, a lawyer, and her two children, Jack, 15, and Claire, 12.

The newest Appellate Court justice is the daughter of the late Judge Kenneth R. Wendt, who served on the Circuit Court from 1962 to 1980 after 10 years in the General Assembly.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

I would like to ask for your help in spreading the word that Thursday, Nov. 18, is 'Family Reading Night' in Illinois, a time to turn off the TV and turn to books. My hope is that this event will encourage parents to take time out from the daily whirl of activities and make reading a special family time.

The event is backed by the Illinois State Board of Education, the Illinois Library Association, the Illinois School Library Media Association, the Illinois Reading Council and several other reading organizations. With their help and yours, I would like to get parents and children reading together more often.

"Families that read together grow together" is the message.

Sincerely,
s/s George H. Ryan
Secretary of State and State Librarian

'Woman Of The Year' Award

Members of Financial Women International, South Suburban Group, presented the 1993 "Woman of the Year Award" to Marie Howe-Mangiaracina, account manager with Greater Illinois Title Company. Marie has served on the Board of Financial Women International previously, presiding as treasurer and most recently as awards/scholarship chairperson for the group.

Founded in 1921, FWI's mission is to serve women in the financial services industry who seek to expand their personal and professional capabilities through self-directed growth in a supportive environment.

For information regarding membership in FWI, interested persons can write to Erin Beebe at Marquette National Bank, 6316 S. Western, Chicago, IL 60636, or call (312) 476-5100.

Medicare Benefit

The Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) is continuing its effort to enroll individuals eligible for a benefit known as the Qualified Medicare Beneficiary (QMB) program. This benefit is available to a certain group of elderly or disabled individuals with low incomes and very limited assets. The eligible person would be entitled to have his or her Medicare premiums, deductibles and co-insurance paid by Medicaid. Those eligible will not have to pay for monthly Part A premium of $221; hospital deductible of $676; other Medicare co-insurance costs, such as daily charges for extended hospital and skilled nursing facility stays; monthly Part B premium of $36.60 and annual $100 deductible; and co-insurance costs, the first 20 percent of approved charges that Medicare will not pay for physician services.

In order to qualify as a QMB, you must be entitled to Medicare hospital insurance (part A) and be either age 64 years or older, or disabled. Your annual income must be at or below $601 per month for one person or $806 per month for a couple. Income includes Social Security benefits, pensions and wages. In addition, resources such as bank accounts, stocks and bonds cannot exceed $4,000 for one person or $6,000 for a couple. Some things, like the home you live in, one automobile, burial plots, home furnishings, personal jewelry and life insurance, usually do not count as resources.

If your income is too high for the QMB program, you may still be eligible for Specified Low Income Medicare Beneficiary (SLMB) coverage. Under this program, Medicaid will pay monthly Medicare part B (supplementary medical insurance) premium of $36.60. It will not pay for Medicare deductibles or co-insurance. To qualify for this benefit, you must be a Medicare part A beneficiary with monthly income under $659 for an individual or $884 for a couple.

For more information, you may also call the HCFA's toll-free number at 1(800)638-6833.

Dean's List Honorees

The Dean's List for the spring/summer 1993 trimester at Governors State University has been announced. Students included on the list were enrolled in a baccalaureate degree program and maintained a minimum 3.7 grade point average on a 4.0 scale for the trimester.

Students on the list include Julie Parker of Blue Island; Janet K. Shelhamer of Alsip; Laura M. Dore, David Garcia, Lori A. Peterson, John Schabes and Daniel D. Wilcher of Burbank; Michael Kotapka of Chicago Ridge; Renee C. Boros and Gerald F. Roma of Crestwood; James Niles of Hickory Hills; Karen L. Morgan and Jodylyn Simmons of Justice; Robert M. Florence and Laura S. Michalik of Midlothian; and Marie A. Abernethy, Karen Buettner, Ronald R. Plinkow, Robert W. Gallegher, Charity L. Kennedy, Suzanne P. Law, Jefferson Choa, Pe, Marijean Tepper and Julie A. Tracy of Oak Forest.

Other honorees include Janet M. Masek, Julie Pasqua, Michael Sempek and Lorraine Sims of Oak Lawn; Sandra Antosh, Donna J. Berens, Anthony J. Demma, Holly J. Horrell, Joan McGarry Kitchen, Sandra A. Kobey, Barbara Miller, Diane M. Podborny, Jeanne H. Veitch, Jennifer Azniv Winternheimer and Loretta Wittenberg of Orland Park; Ginger Kenny of Palos Hills; Wayne T. Frisbie, Karla A. Grunler and Dianne M. Werner of Palos Park; and Janice L. Hoessler of Worth.

Marquette National Bank, an independently owned and operated full-service financial institution, recently hosted an open house and ribbon-cutting ceremony, to celebrate the completion of their first project of their Marquette Community Development Corporation. This newly-formed corporation was established to allow the purchase, rehabbing, and resale of property in the community. The unique element of this project featured the involvement of the bank's employees, who contributed over 500 hours of painting, cleaning, landscaping and otherwise preparing the home for the new owners. In addition, the bank provided the necessary financing options.

Directors of Marquette National Bank, including James Capraro, senior vice-president Jerome Martin, chairman Paul McCarthy, president George Moncada, senior-vice president David Ransford, and Anthony Duvall, were present to welcome families, friends, and members of the community. The open house was at the location of the project, so that the keys could officially be presented to the buyer.

Marquette National Bank, founded in 1945, has grown and expanded over the years, to an organization with assets over $760 million. The bank serves customers and the community with a complete range of deposit, loan, trust and investment services. In addition to their original location in Chicago, the bank has branches in the city and suburban communities, the newest being constructed in Evergreen Park.

The Wallace Report

Chief Circuit Court Judge Harry G. Comerford (right) addresses a press conference in the Richard J. Daley Center held last week to unveil the "Wallace Report" commissioned by Comerford. It called for an investigation into the practices, processes and proceedings in the Juvenile Court of Cook County as they related to the Wallace cases and to report its findings to the Chief Judge.

At left is Jeffrey M. Arnold, Administrative Director of the Cook County Circuit Court, and Sophia Hall, Presiding Judge of the Juvenile Division.

The report has addressed areas of concern within the entire child welfare system and has made certain recommendations to address those areas.

The steps that Comerford can immediately take and recommendations to other state agencies that he can implement were outlined in his address. They include:

- * Petitioning the Illinois Supreme Court to adopt a rule requiring that when any Juvenile proceedings are transferred from one circuit to another, transcripts of each hearing in the transferring court be given to the receiving court as a part of the official record of the case.

- * To quickly adopt a Circuit Court Rule requiring any documents in such cases be filed with the court clerk and maintained as a permanent part of the legal file of such cases.

- * To merge the Court's Psychiatric Institute and Juvenile Division Clinical Services into a single entity that will provide expert opinions relating to fitness to stand trial and legal insanity, but will also provide Juvenile judges their own resource of independent certified psychiatrists and licensed psychologists to assist them in reaching their decisions.

- * To add 10 Juvenile Probation Officers to serve as investigators for the judges hearing abuse and neglect calendars.

- * Seek legislation to provide hearing officers to assist the judges in the process of making complete detailed disposition orders which identify the correct goal in the best interest of the child and specify the steps the court wants taken to achieve that goal. This will provide a less adversarial atmosphere and should result in shared information that was not heretofore available to the judge prior to making his/her decision.

Pace Adjusts Route Service

Pace, the suburban transportation service, is adjusting Route 381 95th St. to better serve hospital workers along 95th St., and Moraine Valley College.

Adjustments have been made on Route 381 morning and evening rush-hour service and several evening rush-hour trips will be reduced due to low ridership. In addition, earlier morning trips will be added on Saturdays and Sundays westbound from the 95th St. Dan Ryan CTA station. A late-evening trip will be added eastbound from Moraine Valley College to the Dan Ryan station to serve 2nd shift hospital workers.

Route 381 is a daily service that operates from 5:20 a.m. to 12:05 p.m. on weekdays, from 5:20 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturdays and from 8:08 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. on Sundays. The bus serves Evergreen Plaza, Little Company of Mary Hospital, Christ Hospital and Medical Center, Chicago Ridge Mall and many other businesses and attractions along 95th.

Passengers on this route should check revised schedules for complete details. These can be obtained by calling Pace's passenger services office at (708) 364-7223 or the RTA travel information center at (312) 836-7000.

Heritage Income Shows Increase

Heritage Financial Services, Inc. (NASDAQ:HERS) recently reported record net income and earnings per share for the third quarter which ended Sept. 30th.

Third quarter net income was $2,907,000, up 15 percent from $2,520,000 in the comparable 1992 period. Earnings per share for the 1993 third quarter rose 13 percent to 35 cents from 31 cents per share earned in the 1992 third quarter.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30th, net income was $8,147,000, up 14 percent compared to $7,145,000 a year earlier. Earnings per share for the 1993 nine months were 99 cents, up 13 percent from 88 cents per share in the 1992 period.

Richard T. Wojcik, chairman and chief executive officer, said higher 1993 earnings were due principally to increases in net interest income. This growth was attributed primarily to an 11 percent increase in average earning assets combined with wider net interest spreads. Wojcik said, "The ongoing containment of operating expenses also contributed to the increases in quarterly and year-to-date net income."

At Sept. 30th, the balance of nonperforming loans was $4.4 million compared to $4.6 million at Dec. 31st, 1992. Nonperforming loans as a percent of loans were .95 percent at Sept. 30th, versus 1.01 percent at Dec. 31st, 1992, and .80 percent at Sept. 30th, 1992. Nonperforming assets as a percent of loans and other real estate owned were 1.49 percent at Sept. 30th, 1993, compared to 1.61 percent at Dec. 31st, 1992, and 1.51 percent at Sept. 30th, 1992.

Heritage Financial Services, Inc. is a bank holding company with total assets of $824 million. The company is headquartered in Tinley Park and operates 11 banking offices in the southwest suburban Chicago market. The company also operates a trust company which serves all locations.

IMSA Info

The Illinois Mathematics and Science Academy (IMSA) has scheduled 51 informational meetings this fall for students, parents and community members to learn more about IMSA's academic, residential and admissions programs. Admissions counselors will hold meetings throughout Illinois including the Beverly Branch Library, 2121 W. 95th St., at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 10th; the Palos Heights Public Library, 12501 S. 71st Ave., on Wednesday, Dec. 1st at 7 p.m.; and at Grande Prairie Library, 3479 W. 183rd St., on Friday, Jan. 4th at 7 p.m.

Meeting

Allegations that the rights of persons with disabilities have been violated will be discussed by the South Suburban Human Rights Authority at its monthly meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 9th at 10 a.m. The meeting is to be at Christ Hospital, 4400 W. 95th St. The authority is the investigative division of the state's guardianship and advocacy commission.

"TO CONTROL BENEFIT COSTS IN PLACES LIKE KENTUCKY AND TENNESSEE, THERE'S NOTHING LIKE AN INSURANCE COMPANY FROM ILLINOIS."

MICHAEL R. SEIBOLD, SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT, MARKETING

Let's say you're headquartered in Illinois. But, to lower operating costs, you've moved manufacturing or distribution to a rural location in the South or Midwest. Who's going to keep an eye on your benefit costs away from home? Who'll make sure the quality of care and the service your people get is what it should be?

The answer to both questions is Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois.

And the key is local control.

Through our affiliated Blue Cross plans, we'll give you access to more provider networks than anyone else. We'll put you on a single claims system. And we'll bring advanced managed care cost controls right down to the local level."

WHEN YOU HAVE BLUE CROSS, YOU HAVE IT ALL.

- ☒ Local cost and quality control through our national network of affiliated Blue Cross plans.
- ☐ Money-saving PPO networks in 90% of US cities with more than 100,000 population.
- ☐ Efficient claims administration and responsive customer service.

Persian Gulf Vets Honored With Medal

The Persian Gulf Veterans National Medal is now available from the U.S. Mint. The purpose of the medal, authorized by Congress, is to recognize the contributions of the estimated 650,000 men and women of the U.S. Armed Forces who served in a combat zone in the Persian Gulf Conflict.

The Persian Gulf Conflict, one of our most significant post-World War II military achievements, served to unite the American people like few other national events in the past 45 years. In a military operation that included more women than any other conflict in which the U.S. has been involved, allied forces defeated Iraq and liberated Kuwait in 48 days.

The mint is offering the 1½ inch diameter bronze medal for sale to the general public. After expenses, all proceeds from the sale of the bronze medals go toward producing silver presentation versions of the medal for award to Persian Gulf veterans or their next of kin.

There are two packaging options available for the bronze version of the medal:

The Presentation Package is available by mail order from the mint for $15.50. The Collector's Package is available by mail order from the mint for $12.50. The mint is also offering the medals through a bulk rate discount program. To order, call 1(800)642-5552.

Oak-Lawn Reviews

by Ann Bennett

Wow!! How about this early start for winter and it isn't supposed to be here yet. I hope it doesn't presage a long, cold winter with lots of snow.

"Grieving through the holidays; moving toward new beginnings," is the theme for the free seminar being sponsored by the Thompson & Kuenster Funeral Home, 5570 W. 95th St. Participating are Reverend Don Bates, chaplain from Christ Hospital and Medical Center, Charlotte Ratcliffe, facilitator for "Compassionate Friends," who will speak from the perspective of a widow and mother who has lost a child and Bill Rook, team leader for the group, "Joyful Again." He is a resident of Oak Lawn and will talk from the perspective of a widowed person. This will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 9th, at 7 p.m. Seating is limited and they ask you to call 425-0500 by Nov. 5th to reserve your space.

The Y Service League is sponsoring a 'mini-trip' on Tuesday, Nov. 30th to Dec. 2nd for a visit to Our Lady of the Snows, "The Way of the Lights." The trip includes two dinners, one with a show, two fast start breakfasts and a three-day, two-night stay. The dinner show will be on the Robert E. Lee. There will be a tour of the Lady of the Snows and shopping at Union Station. The cost of the trip is $199 per person (two people, two beds to a room), $285 per person (one person to a room). A $50 deposit is requested to hold your space. Further information can be obtained by calling trip chairperson, Theresa Tomlewicz at (708) 599-9389 or Ann Janutis at 636-2166. Buses will leave Burger King's parking lot at 4848 W. 87th St. at 8 a.m. sharp. Cars CANNOT be left overnight. One piece of luggage per person and one carry-on is permitted. Make checks payable to "Y" Service League, fill out the reservation form and mail to Ann Janutis, 9732 S. Kenton Ave., Oak Lawn, IL 60453.

The 1994 'Entertainment Book' at $35 and the 'Gold "C" Saving Spree,' $10, are now offered by the Sunshine Circle of the Southwest Chicago Christian School. One may save money with their use and they make wonderful gifts. One may place orders with Vi at 422-6064 or Wilma at 429-3201.

Baptized Oct. 10th at St. Gerald Church was Patrick Neil, son of Neil and Colette McLaughlin. Baptized on Oct. 24th, were Leighann Denise, daughter of Lee and Deirdre Baxa; Stephen Dale, son of Dale & Donna Hunt; Molly Marie, daughter of William and Julie Sklar; and Joseph Justin, son of James and Frances Walsh. Congratulations to all of you.

Keith O'Neill a member of St. Gerald's parish and a senior at Marist High School was mandated as an auxiliary minister of the eucharist at a special ceremony held at Marist. Congratulations!!!

Congratulations to Leland and Doris Olson who celebrated their 48th wedding anniversary. May you have many more.

One happy great-grandmother is Irma Hestoffer with the arrival of Marissa Michelle, daughter of Lorie and John Englert who was born Oct. 15th at Crystal Lake.

The women of Trinity Evangelical Church made and donated 50 quilts to Lutheran World Relief.

The Johnson-Phelps V.F.W. and its Ladies Auxiliary along with the Green Oaks Post 757, American Legion, will sponsor their annual service at the tank site at 95th St. and 53rd Ave., at 11 a.m. on Nov. 11th, Veteran's Day. Everyone is invited to stop for a few minutes to remember those men and women who gave their lives for their country and those still serving in the Armed Services. Russell Smukula is the post commander and Penny Hempen is the auxiliary president.

At 1 p.m. the Johnson-Phelps Post and Ladies Auxiliary will participate in a special program to honor all veterans and a memorial to William Henry Harnew. This salute to veterans has been arranged by Virginia Harnew, widow of the late William Harnew, and will be held at the Brentwood Rehabilitation Center, 5400 W. 87th St. Everyone is invited to come.

Tickets for the annual Women's Christmas party will be on sale this week and may be purchased from Dorothy Hejl or at the post lounge. The party will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 21st, at 7 p.m. There will be a special drawing for the benefit of the Children's Welfare, sponsored by the State Ladies Auxiliary, VFW. The donation for tickets is $10.

Sound Off!! I am opposed to sending more of our young men to fight with the UN forces in North Africa. I think everyone should leave the country and stop sending food to feed the hungry. The ones we want to help are not getting anything and our people are getting hurt or killed trying to get to those in need. The "warlords" are doing a good job of keeping everything for themselves and we should cut them off. There seems to be enough money for weapons and food, so let them take care of their own and this way we can help our own residents who need help.

Brother Michael Segvich, principal of Brother Rice High School, announced that Michael A. Demery of Chicago, James M. Kerfin of Chicago, Peter I. Plechocki of Beverly and Richard G. Ziolkowski of Blue Island have joined semi-finalists Mark Rutschman-Byler of Beverly and Edward Stanek of Oak Lawn in being recognized as outstanding students in the 1994 National Merit Scholarship program. Only 15 public or private schools in Chicago had any students reach the semi-finalist status. The semi-finalists make up the top one-half of one percent of the state's graduating seniors in 1994.

About 35,000 commended students throughout the nation are being honored for their outstanding performance on the 1992 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, which was the route of entry to the 1994 Merit Program. Commended Students have shown exceptional academic promise by placing among the top five percent of more than one million program entrants.

An NMSC spokesperson stated, "Being designated a Commended Student in this keen competition is a credit to these young people as well as to their schools, which play a key role in their development. We hope that the recognition these scholastically able students receive will encourage them to develop their talents and abilities to the fullest, and that the example they set will inspire other young men and women to strive for academic excellence. Commended Students represent a valuable intellectual resource crucial to our nation's well-being."

Entries and sponsors are needed for the second annual "Holiday On the Move Parade" set for 12:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 20th, on 95th St. At the completion of the parade, Santa Claus will meet the public in the Masonic Hall, Dumke Dr. and 52nd Ave. Hot chocolate and cookies will be served.

The entry fee for those who want to participate in the parade is only $5. Sponsors are being sought to help defray the expenses. All contributions will be publicly acknowledged. To date, two marching bands will participate, St. Rita and Marist high schools. Parade chairmen are Gene Mondello and Rick Herpich.

Sponsors to date are Crown Mortgage, Evergreen Bank, Palermo's, Insure One, Always Open and George Washington Savings.

Entries include Checkers, Citizens for Patrick O'Malley, White Hen, Phelps VFW Post, Evergreen Park Chamber, Cub Scouts of St. Gerald, Sheriff Department of Cook County, Sheriff Department DARE, Thompson Kuenster Funeral Home, Advance Bank and Ford & Lyons.

Contributions can be sent to the chamber office, 9526 Cook Ave., Oak Lawn, IL 60453. Additional information is available from the chamber by calling 424-8300.

Children's Farm

November weekend visitors to the Children's Farm in Palos Park will have an opportunity to meet the farm's turkeys, and learn about corn grinding. The farm, 12700 Southwest Highway, is open to the public every Saturday and Sunday between 1 and 4 p.m. To highlight the November theme, the colonial craft of grinding corn by hand will be demonstrated. Each week visitors will be invited to participate in the craft.

In addition to meeting the turkeys who strut around the farmyard, visitors will be invited to tour the barns to see and touch the animals. The farm's population includes horses, cows, sheep, pigs, chickens, goats, rabbits, ducks, geese and a donkey. The farm staff will offer guests either a hayrack ride or pony ride, weather permitting.

Visitors to the Children's Farm pay $3 per person. Children need to be accompanied by parents. Advance reservations are not needed on Saturdays and Sundays between 1 and 4 p.m.

More information can be obtained by calling (708) 361-3650.

Church Bazaar & Luncheon

Pumpkins and Holly Bazaar will be presented by the Christian Women's Fellowship of Hometown Christian Church, 4340 W. 87th St., on Thursday, Nov. 11th from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. A luncheon will be served from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at a cost of $4.50. Come and browse through the gift room and white elephant collection. Start your Christmas shopping. Visit the bakery room and take home some home-baked delicacies.

Golden Apple

Honor a great elementary school teacher with a nomination for the prestigious Golden Apple award for excellence in teaching. Each year the Golden Apple Foundation recognizes 10 outstanding teachers in the Chicago area. Winners receive $2,500, a computer from IBM, a paid sabbatical to study tuition-free at Northwestern University, and seminars on cutting-edge educational issues.

Winning teachers are awarded Golden Apples in May on a primetime TV special, produced and broadcast by WTTW/Channel 11. They become part of the Golden Apple Academy, an active organization which initiates programs to improve education.

Nominees must be full-time teachers, pre-kindergarten through grade 5, in any public or non-public school in Cook, Lake or DuPage County. The Golden Apple awards rotate among the grade levels.

To obtain a nomination form, call (312) 407-0006 or write the Golden Apple Foundation, 8 S. Michigan Ave., Suite 700, Chicago, IL 60603-3318. Nominations close on Dec. 3rd.

ASPIRIN WON'T CURE IT

If you have recurrent headaches and take aspirin for relief, you're only masking the problem not solving it.

A headache is like any other kind of pain. It's a symptom that something may be wrong. If you only suffer headaches occasionally, like when you're overtired or have had too much to eat or drink, things can probably be set right again by getting a proper amount of sleep and eating and drinking normally. But if you have a "headache pattern" - frequent headaches over a long period of time - you may need treatment to get relief.

Perhaps the underlying cause is a misalignment of your spine. This may be causing the vertebrae to exert undue pressure and irritation on your nervous system. Your nervous system extends from your brain down through your spine to every part of your body. It plays a vital role in the body's health.

Why suffer from recurrent headaches needlessly when treatment is available to help correct the problem?

Cross Country Runner

Kim Chunis, a former prep distance runner at Oak Forest High School, is running for the North Central College women's cross-country team this fall. A two-year varsity letterwinner, Kim is captain of the 1993 team. On Oct. 8th the senior helped the Cardinals to a team win in the Illinois Benedictine College Invitational, covering a winding 5,000-meter course in 19:55 to finish 10th individually as North Central's No. three runner in a field of 123 women.

Kim, a history major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chunis.

St. Laurence High School football coach Robert DeCarlo (center) poses with Vikings Aldo Aranda, Walt Tarka, Patrick Doorhy and Keilh Schnuch, each of whom received a game ball for their individual efforts in the Vikings' first four games, all St. Laurence victories. Aranda rushed for 232 yards and two touchdowns in a 24-22 win over the Redskins earlier this year. Tarka accounted for six tackles, one sack, and two fumble recoveries in a 35-7 victory over Gordon Tech. Doorhy had 10 solo tackles and five assists in a 21-0 shutout of Weber, and Schnuch passed for 132 yards and two touchdowns in St. Laurence's season-opening victory, a 34-6 win over St. Francis de Sales.

"The Science Of Deer Hunting" Report

Does commercially prepared deer lure attract deer? What effect does the moon have on deer movement patterns? How much pressure can a buck stand before he leaves an area? Can you really know when deer will move? The answers to these and many more questions are provided by scientists who are avid hunters and hunting guides in the new book, The Science of Deer Hunting by John E. Phillips, nationally known outdoor writer and deer hunter for more than three decades.

In the chapter, "How Effective Are Scents?", Dr. Larry Marchinton, professor in the school of forest research at the University of Georgia, explains, "Deer lure work sometimes. Often I think deer react more out of curiosity to lure than anything else. They may be responding to a strange scent in their environment. So many different kinds of scents are on the market, I have no way of knowing what is in them. I am not going to make a judgment on any particular scent as being good or bad."

Numerous factors affect deer movement, including the phases of the moon, hunting pressure and sometimes the weather, as we learn in the chapter, "How to Know When Deer Move."

Horace Gore, a wildlife biologist with Texas Parks and Wildlife, says, "From my experience, I think deer move when the moon is up, even if that is at 3 p.m. Generally deer get up and down numerous times during the night, normally moving at about two and three-hour intervals. Apparently when the moon is out all night, the deer are more active, which causes them not to move in the daylight hours for the first part of the next day."

The weather also influences deer movement. Dr. Billy Hillestad, who has his PhD in wildlife ecology, reports, "If a cold front is moving in, a deer will be filling its belly with food before the front comes into an area. When the front arrives, deer in the affected region lose much heat and many calories. A deer requires more food than usual to sustain itself in colder weather and will move more to eat more heavily just before a front."

To receive a free report, "Ten Keys to Hunting Deer More Scientifically," send a self-addressed, stamped envelope (S.A.S.E.) to Night Hawk Publications, P.O. Box 375, Fairfield, AL 35064. To order The Science of Deer Hunting, send an $11.95 check or money order per book to the same address, or call toll-free 1(800)627-HAWK (4295) to use Visa or MasterCard.

PHEASANT SEASON OPENS SATURDAY AND NEW LAWS APPLY - Conservation Director Brent Manning is reminding upland game hunters they are required to wear a solid blaze-orange cap when hunting this season under a new law approved by the Legislature and signed by Governor Jim Edgar.

"The Legislative Sportsmen's Caucus and I believe this change in the law will make upland game hunting safer and reduce the number of accidents that occur in the field," Manning said.

Upland game includes bobwhite quail, hungarian partridge, ringnecked pheasant, eastern cottontail and swamp rabbits. Upland game season is Nov. 6 to Jan. 5 in the north zone and Nov. 6 until Jan. 9 in the south zone and hunters are also reminded they need to purchase a habitat stamp to participate in their sport.

The new law also reduces from 300 yards to 100 yards the distance from an inhabited dwelling a person may bow hunt, shotgun hunt using shot shells only, or trap. Hunters still must obtain permission from a landowner to hunt on private land.

"In Illinois, where 95 percent of the land is privately owned, it is becoming increasingly difficult for hunters to find landowners who will give them permission to hunt," Manning said. "The old requirement was among the strictest of those in the Midwest states. This new requirement is more appropriate and potentially will provide more hunting opportunities."

The new law also exempt individuals and groups who serve wild game to the public at special events from liability should someone accidentally become ill as long as they display notices that the game has not been inspected. Many sportsmen's groups hold fund-raising banquets and said this change would make it easier for them to serve wild game.

The Department of Conservation also has been given the flexibility to set goose hunting hours and the number of people allowed in a blind or pit by administrative rule under the new law.

COLORAMA UPDATES - Illinois residents can get updates on FALL FOLIAGE CONDITIONS in the state by calling the Department of Conservation's fall color hot line at 1-(800)-624-3077. Messages are updated weekly.

FIVE HUNTERS PER BLIND ALLOWED DURING WATERFOWL SEASON - Conservation Director Brent Manning said up to five goose hunters will be allowed per blind within waterfowl quota zones in Southern Illinois and at commercial clubs statewide.

The change from the department's earlier announced intention of keeping the number of goose hunters allowed per blind to three is the result of action by the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules (JACR).

Legislation passed and signed into law this summer allows the department the flexibility to determine through its administrative rules hunting hours and how many hunters should be allowed in a blind, but all administrative rules proposed by state agencies must be considered and approved by JACR, a 12-member, bipartisan, legislative committee.

Last month the department announced it would keep the per-person regulation at three after a survey showed large numbers of individuals who hunt geese in Southern Illinois, waterfowl organizations and commercial goose club operators in Southern Illinois wanted the three-hunter regulation to remain in effect.

"Individual club owners still can choose to limit the number of hunters per blind to three," Manning said, "but the regulation does allow them the option of having up to five goose hunters per blind or pit."

Asphalt Golf Cart Paths

Cook County Board President Richard Phelan announced that The George W. Dunne National Golf Course, 163rd St. and Central Ave., now features new continuous asphalt golf cart paths from tee to green.

"The Forest Preserve District of Cook County has made one of the areas' finest courses just a little better," Phelan said. "The new cart paths make golfing at the Dunne Golf Course more convenient and accessible than ever before."

The course is consistently ranked among the nation's top 25 public golf courses by "Golfer's Digest."

"The paths are a significant addition to the golf course because it will help reduce operating costs," Phelan said. "The course now requires less labor intensive maintenance because the paths alleviate the stress applied to the grassy areas. Carts can now be used without fear of damaging the course and creating a burden on the maintenance department, especially during soggy weather conditions."

The course is open daily from 6 a.m. to dusk during the remainder of the summer golf season. The adjacent Dunne Driving Range is open daily from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. Golfers are reminded that special discounted senior/junior and twilight rates are still offered at all of the 10 county golf courses. Golfers residing in the county receive an additional discount on green fees upon presentation of the resident identification card.

Hours at the golf courses and driving ranges are subject to seasonal change.

For information about course rates and tee time reservations or about obtaining a resident identification card, phone (708) 771-1067. Special accommodations can be arranged.

New 'Catch and Release'

This past spring, the National Fishing Hall of Fame initiated a first ever 'catch & release' program for the world record fresh water fish catches which were measured for application purposes and then released. After a summer of fishing, the Hall's Director Ted Dzialo announced that more than 100 entries were received for the new program.

The program accepts for its competition nearly 30 major freshwater game fish species caught in four divisions: rod/reel, fly-fishing, cane pole catches and ice-fishing catches.

While the rules for entry are basic, the highest priority is emphasized as quick release to ensure survival of the fish when returned to the water. 'Boat-side' release is highly encouraged.

The program discourages creating physical stress for the catch by delaying release while in the act of taking photos of the catch. A catch subjected to stress for being out-of water for longer than necessary will not survive the ordeal. Some species, muskies for instance, despite their size are sensitive and stress rapidly as do most trout species.

For the record books, Dzialo reminds 'catch & release' applicants that accurate length is the only stringent requirement for proper entry. Species identification is an individual, plus possible witness to catch, decision.

The next world book of records, published by the Hall each April, will carry the new system of listings for caught and released fish. The leading catches of each species will be listed by length and line class or strength of line used. A class called "unlimited" is provided for, as it has been in the "catch-and-kept" listings for fish caught on line beyond the line limit for that particular species, as well as unknown line class used. A 25-foot sample of line should be sent in with the application for lab-tests.

department notes that many of the listed species in the 'catch & release' program are yet waiting for entries and some are still easy to beat.

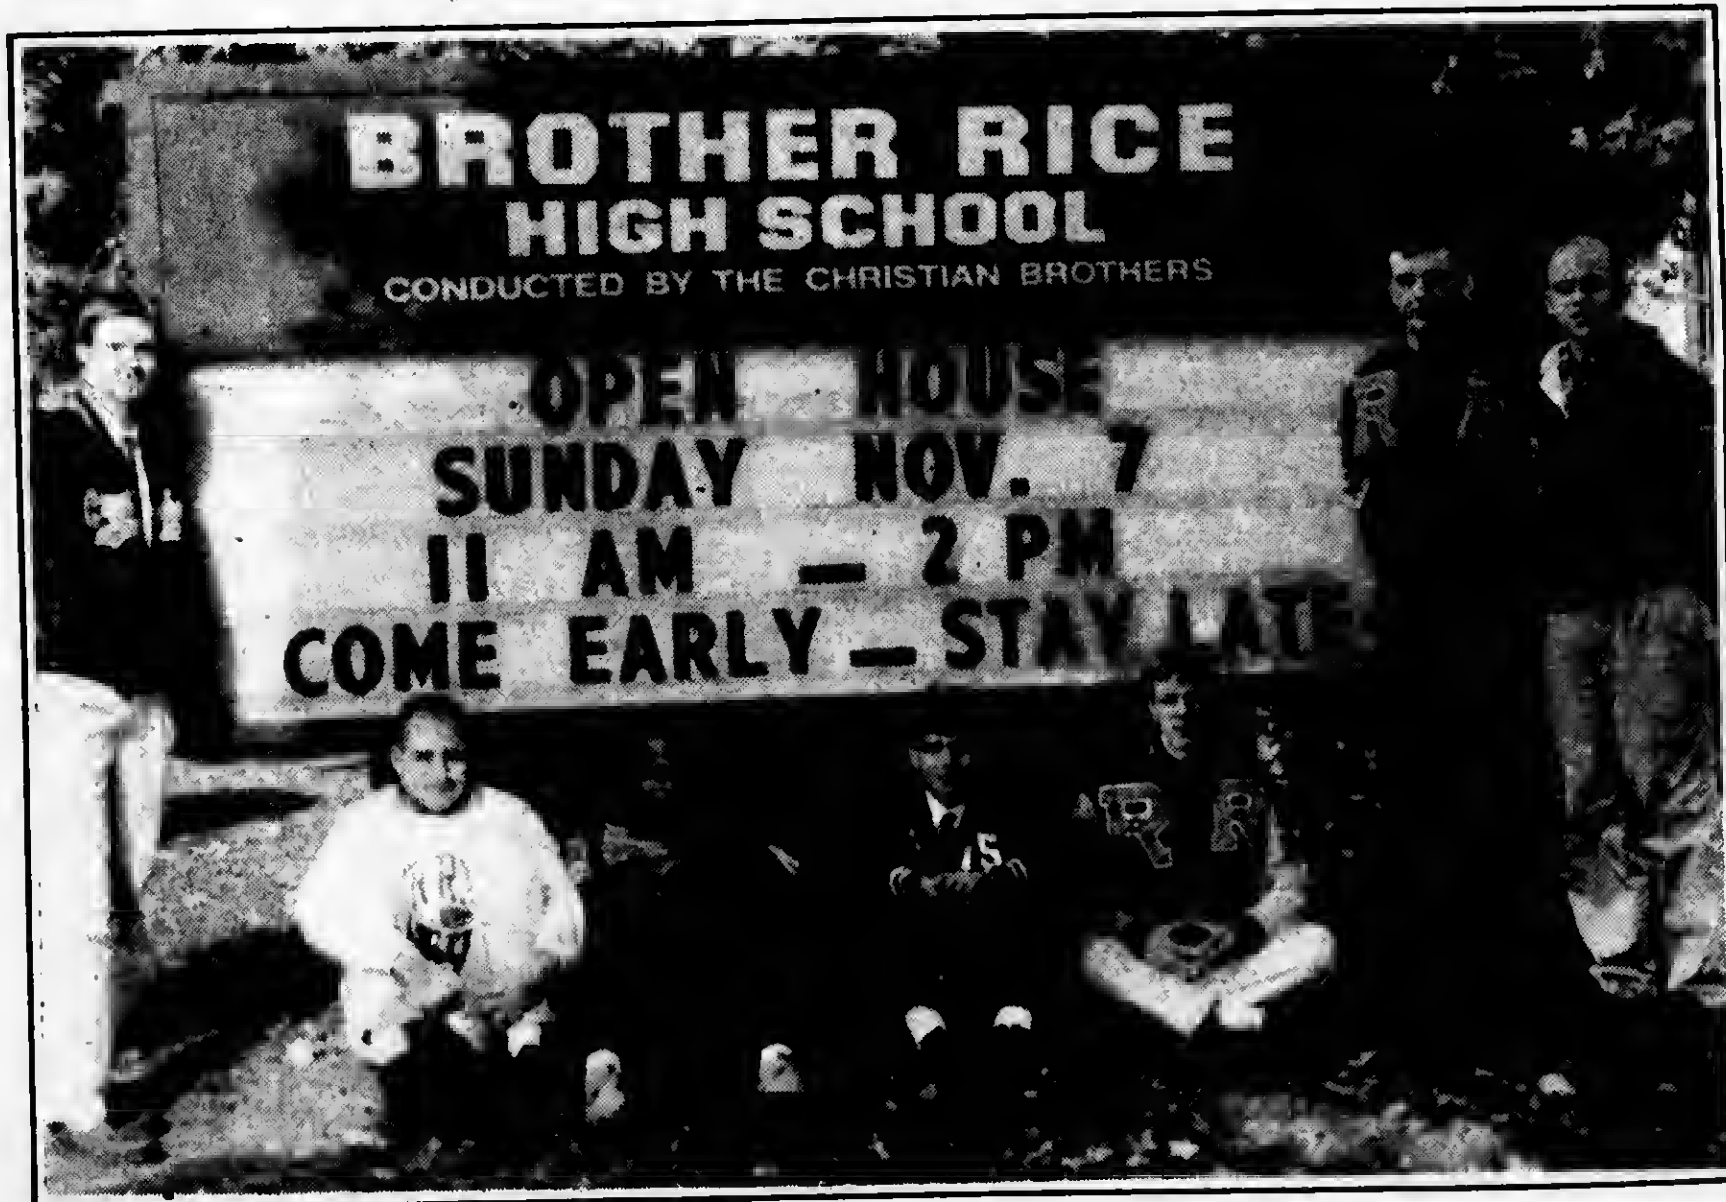

Every angler should carry in his tackle box (along with his rule/tape) a 'catch & release' application. Inquiries should be sent to the Fishing Hall of Fame, P.O. Box 33, Hayward, Wisconsin, 54843 or call (715) 634-4440.

This program, like the long-famed 'catch and kept' world record program is free. There are no charges for either applications or line lab-tests or to be published in the hall's record listings or book of world records.

The attractive 60-page records book with full color cover is free to members ($18 annual membership) along with the hall's quarterly mini-magazine "The Splash," a fishing calendar, hall pass and patches.

The record book is available to non-members or general public for $6 ($7 outside the U.S.), including postage and handling.

Millikin University freshman Dan Stell of Tinley Park is a member of the Big Blue football team. The 6-foot, 217-pounder, who earned all-conference honors at Andrew High School, plays defensive tackle. He played on the Big Blue junior varsity team which had a 3-0 record.

"Dan is a strong player," assistant coach Tim Funk says. "I look for him to improve his speed and quickness and contribute on the varsity level in the future."

Stell, an education major, is a son of Glenn and Norcen Stell.

Turkey Shoot

Worth Township is holding a Turkey Shoot on Friday, Nov. 12th from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Residents from the 13 communities will team up: one parent, with one child (youth or teen) to shoot baskets for a chance to win a turkey or a certificate they may redeem at a local store for a turkey.

We are asking local grocers, for a donation of a turkey for our six 1st place division winners or any other non-perishable food item for our drawing. All food donated and not used for the turkey shoot will be used for our needy family toy, food and clothing drive which serves over 100 families for the Christmas holidays.

If you have any questions or would like to make a donation, please call (708) 371-2900, ext. 43.

The turkey shoot is free to all Worth Township residents; $10 per team for non-residents. A parent and child team shoots 20 free throws. The best score of the 20 free throws for the age division wins a turkey or a gift certificate for a turkey. Age brackets are 29 and under, 30 to 39, 40 to 49, 50 to 59, 60 to 69 and 70 or over.

RUSH TO JUDGMENT....Who would have thunk it. Rush Limbaugh, the heavyweight champion of the airwaves, the joy and mouthpiece of conservatism, sounding off against pornography, "feminazis," and pointy-headed liberals, turning up in the most unlikely of all places, nestled between the covers of uncovered young women in the December edition of Playboy.

RUSH HUDSON LIMBAUGH III, in case you have been out of the country for the past nine years, is a passionate, glib, conservative radio and TV talk-show host, who is 42 years old, was born in Cape Girardeau, Missouri, stands six feet tall, weighs 280 pounds, and earns $5 million a year. He has been described as William F. Buckley without the thesaurus. Pat Buchanan without the meanness. Ross Perot without the paranoia.

D. KEITH MANO, novelist and former "National Review" columnist, interviews the flamboyant Limbaugh for Playboy, and sheds insight into why 15 million people a week, who call themselves "dittoheads," listen at his knee.

THE RELIGIOUS RIGHT, especially its aggressive pro-life constituency, has found a friend in Limbaugh's bombastic broadsides against homosexuality and a woman's right to reproductive choice. He challenges critics who believe he is a racist, or at least antiminority. Limbaugh's two failed marriages explains why his current loneliness is self-imposed. He admits he is a big success, but he uses a Woody Allen line to explain his success: "All success means is that you get rejected by a higher class of women."

MICHAEL J. FOX (inset) says his box office hit, "For Love or Money," has prompted him into considering doing a sequel of the flick....Ernest Borgnine, one of the truly great Hollywood actors, plays an Italian store owner who hates the Japanese, in the ABC-TV series "The Commish" which will be aired this Saturday night....Bill Erwin, known for his appearance in yogurt commercials, can soon be seen in "Beethoven's Second" and "Naked Gun 3 1/2" which will be coming to a movie theatre near you in December....Our condolences to Sunny Feeley, wife of press agent and columnist Jim Feeley, on the death of her father, Stanley Schaffer, who succumbed to cancer at age 79 in her hometown of McHenry, Illinois...The Second City Northwest will open "Gaza Strip Search, or Yasser, That's My Bubbeh" next Wednesday....Cast members from the hit production "Crazy for You," now at the Auditorium Theatre, will present a free evening of live entertainment on Nov. 15 at the Pump Room in the Ambassador East Hotel.

KRISTY SWANSON (inset) stars in the movie "The Program" which has stirred up so much controversy over a scene where members of a school's football team play a "game" of chicken by laying down on the yellow dividing line on a busy highway. The scene had to be pulled and edited from the motion picture after several copycat incidents resulted in the deaths or serious injury of a number of young people around the country....Allison Rosati, anchor/reporter for Channel 5 News, targets women smokers who want to kick the habit in a 10-part series, "It's Time," which will be seen weekdays during the 4:30 p.m. newscast beginning Nov. 11 and running through Nov. 24...."The Phantom of the Opera," Andrew Lloyd Webber's international award-winning musical, will return to the stage of the Auditorium Theatre beginning Dec. 17....Christmas must be right around the corner because we already received our first press release about the opening of Charles Dickens' holiday classic, "A Christmas Carol," which hits the boards of the Goodman Theatre on Nov. 22 and runs through Jan. 2.

DASHES TO DEADLINE....The Beverly Hills University Club will hold a Monopoly Game tournament for the scholarship foundation of the club on Saturday, Nov. 13 at 8 p.m. at the Elks Club, 11340 S. Cicero....Sig Sakowitz, who is celebrating his golden anniversary in show business, has been chosen to emcee the Veteran's Day activities at the Daley Civic Center on Nov. 11 beginning at 10 a.m....Listen up, ladies! Are working women liberated or imprisoned? This will be the topic for discussion at the next Chicago Literary Society Dinner/Author Event at Mareva's Restaurant, 1250 N. Milwaukee, on Monday, Nov. 22 at 6:30 p.m. Karen Barrie and Kathleen Cain authors of "Serpents and Apples: Emotional, Spiritual, and Physical Well-being for Working Women," will lead the discussion and answer questions so women can create their own Garden of Eden on the job. Rush Limbaugh will not be attending the dinner and discussion.

Irish Singer

Folk-singer and broadcaster Seosaimhain Ni Bheaghlaioch, a native of the Gaelic-speaking (Gaeltecht) western region of Ireland, is to present a program in which she demonstrates and discusses the ancient art of sean nos, Gaelic for 'old style,' singing at Gaelic Park, 6119 W. 147th St., on Sunday, Nov. 7th.

Sean nos singing is an unaccompanied, highly embellished style of folk song. Although the traditional repertoire includes songs on all themes, such as love, courtship and immigration, its eerie, almost otherworldly beauty tends to remind listeners of lamentation. Ni Bheaghlaioch's sean nos singing continues a tradition practiced for centuries in the Gaelic-speaking regions of Ireland.

Ni Bheaghlaioch's appearance is part of the nationwide Irish Perceptions lecture series of the Irish American Cultural Institute (IACI).

Second, she will perform on the same day in the Park Lounge during the live broadcast of the Gaelic Park Radio Program from 7:05 to 9 p.m. on WCEV 1450AM. The Irish Musician Association will also be performing in the lounge. There is no admission charge for the lounge.

For further information, call Gaelic Park at (708) 687-9323.

Musical Auditions

The Palos Village Players are holding auditions for their March production "Music Man" by Meredith Willson. The auditions will be held on Nov. 29th and 30th at All Saints Lutheran Church, 13350 LaGrange Rd. Children will audition at 7 p.m., chorus and dancers at 7:45 and main leads at 9 p.m. With the exception of the quartet, all parts are open. All potential cast members should be prepared to sing and dance at the auditions, and those wishing to audition for a major part should prepare a song from the show which is appropriate. All auditions will be videotaped. For information, call (708) 448-7941.

Louie Louis has just released his second dance single, "The Dream," on L&S Records. The song is club-oriented and has already received a very positive response among many key area D.J.s.

Louis, a Chicago native, began singing and playing different instruments at the age of 10, working his way through different wedding bands and dance groups including the Starlite Dance Band. He also studied voice and music at the Conservatory of Music and later graduated from the University of Illinois at Chicago.

Not only is "Louie Louis" an accomplished singer/songwriter, but a true all-around 'entertainer.' While incorporating "Club Dance Music with a Latin flavor and a 'live dance show' he becomes a complete crowd pleasing and excitement generating entertainment package.

Louis is performing on Friday, Nov. 5th at the Excallbur, 632 N. Dearborn. He'll be appearing later the same evening for an all ages performance at Alcatraz, 112 N. Green, Chicago, promoting his second dance single, "The Dream."

one 2-year term, Richard A. Michalak; in Palos Township, for one 6-year term, Isabel Halverson; in Stickney Township, for one 6-year term, James M. Roach; Worth Township, for one 6-year term, Marcia Stone and for one 2-year term, Tricia Cody.

Community College Trustee Elections

In the Moraine Valley Community College election for trustee, Jack Daley and Steve S. Stratakos were elected to two 6-year terms and Burton S. Odelson was elected to one 2-year term. In the South Suburban College election, Frank Zuccarelli, Patricia Wojcikowski and Louis Toney were elected to the three 6-year terms and Kathleen Meunier was elected to the 2-year term.

Municipal Referenda

Referenda in area municipalities were voted on as follows: In Alsip, the question of closing bars at 2 a.m. rather than 4 a.m. was passed by a nearly 2-1 margin. In Midlothian, an increase in the library tax rate from 15 cents to 25 cents was apparently rejected by the narrowest of margins. In Orland Hills, a bond issue in the amount of $2.2 million to buy a recreation facility was rejected by almost 4-1. A referendum seeking to elect, rather than appoint, Palos Heights Fire Protection District members was overwhelmingly passed, and a $750,000 bond issue for sanitary sewer work by the South Palos Township Sanitary District was turned down.

Annual Tech Prep Articulation Report

At the October meeting of the Moraine Area Career System (MACS) CEO Council, MACS Director Dave Corbin presented his annual tech prep articulation report. Local high school superintendents and Dr. Vernon O. Crawley, president of Moraine Valley Community College, heard a report that the articulation program between their high schools and MVCC is in full swing.

Corbin reported to the council that during the months of June to Sept., 276 certificates of proficiency credit were received and reviewed. A total of 65 regional high school students earned 270 college credits via the MACS tech prep articulation program.

Corbin also reported that this year's numbers were more than double from 1992, pilot year of the program. During the pilot year, 33 Tech Prep Students earned 104 college credits.

Corbin said, "The word is getting out to high school students in the region: enroll in tech prep course sequences in high school and work for an A or B in those courses because it earns college credits upon graduation."

The tech prep philosophy of education is fast becoming a national educational reform movement. Tech prep is designed to prepare and encourage all students to continue their education and complete, at a minimum, an associate degree at a community college. According to Corbin, this emerging philosophy has three key components. The first is a partnership between academic and technical education high school instructors. Together, these instructor teams work to reinforce academic and technical knowledge all high school graduates must possess to succeed in college and in the workplace. The applied/integrated instructional approach proves more of a challenge for all students than the traditional instruction delivery.

The second is articulated between the high school and a post-secondary institution, such as community college. It is through articulated course sequences and curriculum that students can earn college credit upon high school graduation.

The third is the partnership between education and business/industry. The MACS region is currently working on a youth apprenticeship model with local business/industry leaders. The youth apprenticeship model will provide tech prep students with a work-based learning experience, for additional college credit, and an opportunity for participation in a tech prep internship program.

Illinois CPA Society To Award 11 Scholarships

The Illinois CPA Society will award eleven scholarships of $1,000 to students pursuing careers in accounting as part of the Illinois CPA Society's scholarship program which strives to defray tuition costs for college students who show outstanding effort in the study of accounting. To be eligible for a scholarship, an applicant must be an Illinois resident; be a full-time student attending a community college, four-year college or university; and be an accounting major who has completed a minimum of six semester or nine quarter hours of college accounting. Community college applicants must intend to transfer to a four-year institution as an accounting major in the fall

Each of the society's 11 chapters will select and notify the recipients in the spring of 1994. To request an application, contact the Illinois CPA Society at (312) 993-0393 or (800) 572-9850, ext. 255. Completed applications must be received by Jan. 31st, 1994.

Last year, art teachers at Richards and Shepard high schools created graphic design associations that would develop artwork and other marketing materials for local businesses at no charge. The teachers led students, who have completed graphic design courses and are continuing their art education, as they develop their work.

"It's really a win-win situation. Businesses can get quality work done free of expense that might cost them hundreds or thousands of dollars if they hired professionals. And our students get the experience of working for someone in the labor market," said Richards art teacher Pat Huss.

Students design business logos, brochures, letterhead stationary, posters, specialty items and other marketing materials.

For more information, call art teachers Pat Huss at 499-2550, ext. 1471, or Jan Meister at 371-1111. Richards is at 10601 S. Central, while Shepard is at 13049 S. Ridgeland.

Free Grieving Seminar

There will be a free seminar "Helping People - Help Themselves" on "Grieving Through the Holidays: Moving Toward New Beginnings" on Tuesday, Nov. 9th at 7 p.m. at the Thompson & Kuenster Funeral Home, 5570 W. 95th St.

There will be three speakers: Charlotte Ratcliffe, facilitator for Compassionate Friends, from the perspective of a widow and mother who has lost a child; Rev. Don Bates, chaplain from Christ Hospital and Medical Center; and Bill Rook, team leader for the group "Joyful Again," a resident of Oak Lawn speaking from the perspective of a widowed person.

Seating is limited and interested individuals are asked to reply by Nov. 5th for a reservation.

Rescheduled

Due to the Thanksgiving holiday, the Evergreen Park Grandmothers Club 423 rescheduled its monthly business meeting to Wednesday, Nov. 17th at 1 p.m. in the Hamilton B. Maher Community Center.

What Was Happening...

25 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE COMMUNITY

Oak Lawn village officials on Tuesday night ordered two squad cars and two policemen to report for duty this week at the intersection of 107th and Cicero Ave. to help school children cross the busy highway. The move came after numerous requests by the village to state safety engineers for the installation of stop-and-go signals there. The request had become bogged down in a welter of paperwork, and village officials decided to act before an accident happened there.

Construction of a heliport for the landing of emergency aircraft at Christ Community Hospital was announced at the Tuesday night meeting of the village board of trustees. A spokesman for the hospital requested permission from village officials for construction of a 75-foot by 75-foot pad at the southwest corner of 93rd St. and Kostner Ave. The emergency landing area, lighted and marked, according to aeronautical specifications, will be part of a network of heliports serving a number of hospitals, it was stated.

Lauri M. Salovaara of Oak Lawn placed third in the junior division of the Philatelic Exhibition at the Illinois State Fair, it was recently announced. This is the fifth year in which Lauri's stamp collection has been awarded a prize at the annual Springfield State Show.

The village of Oak Lawn has asked the Metropolitan Sanitary District to join in a cooperative project to enlarge the pond in Lake Shore Park, Oak Lawn, so that it can be used as a reservoir to control flooding on Stony Creek, MSD Superintendent Vinton Bacon said on Thursday. The enlarged pond would have a shallow water level in normal times so that in a heavy rainfall it could retain water which would otherwise cause a flooding problem downstream.

The holding of a constitutional convention in Illinois is more important than the election of candidates, State Rep. Harry "Bus" Yourell told a luncheon-meeting of the Alsip-Crestwood Sertoma Club on Tuesday. Yourell said the state constitution is about 100 years old, and that the delegates to the 1870 Constitutional Convention never expected their constitution to serve for almost 100 years.

Shown during a rehearsal for STAR's production of "Ten Little Indians" are Hickory Hills resident Laurie Videka as Vera Claythorne and Ken Blouin of Oak Lawn as Captain Philip Lombard. This murder mystery, written by Agatha Christie has performances scheduled for weekends beginning Nov. 13th at Clearing United Methodist Church, 5717 W. 63rd Pl. Call (312) 436-8113 for information.

Jazz Vocalist

Joyce Lyons of Oak Lawn is a member of the Elmhurst College Vocal Jazz Ensemble "Late Night Blues." A senior majoring in music education, Lyons is a 1985 graduate of Oak Lawn High. She is also a member of the college's jazz band and is president of the college's choir.

Lyons' credits include being a member of Lambda Sigma Psi music honor society and Music Educators National Conference (MENC). She has received the David Austin Memorial Scholarship and the Andrew H. and Frances Bradley Sherratt Memorial Scholarship, both given to students concentrating in music. She was also voted 'Outstanding Vocalist' at the Elmhurst College Jazz Festival in 1993.

She is the daughter of William and Theresa Lyons. "Late Night Blues" is the nationally acclaimed vocal jazz ensemble from the Department of Music at Elmhurst College. The group performs a variety of styles of American music including jazz, funk, swing and pop. The students' non-stop energy, talent and professional standards have brought them elite status as one of the country's most exciting collegiate vocal jazz ensembles.

Holiday Craft Fair

On Saturday, Nov. 6th, the Frances B. McCord PTA is sponsoring an autumn & holiday craft fair to be held from 10 a.m. through 4 p.m. in the school gym, 8500 S. Nashville. Tables may be rented for $20 each and a donation for the PTA drawing. There will be a children's basket, face painting by a clown, refreshments, a visit from Santa and much more.

Crafters may obtain further information about table rentals by contacting the fair's chairman, Mari Schuetz, at (708) 598-4559 or Gwen Seat at (708) 430-7267.

Name Chosen For Alternative High School

Community High School District 218's Board of Education has selected Aspen High School as the name for its alternative high school. Over the last several weeks, Principal Ken Freeman asked students and staff from the new school to develop suggestions for names.

ASPEN is an acronym for 'Achieving Students Personal Educational Needs.' Students also selected purple and white as the school's colors.

Aspen High School, which opened at the beginning of the 1993-94 school year, addresses student needs that fall beyond the scope of a regular comprehensive high school. District 218 is the only south suburban high school district which operates an alternative high school as a completely independent facility. Currently, about 100 students attend Aspen.

The student body may include students who have children; students classified as "at-risk," students with erratic attendance patterns; students who have made marginal progress in credit achievement; and students who do not behave appropriately within the traditional school setting. Many students who will attend the school live in circumstances which prevent education from being a top priority.

Aspen High School is located in what was the north building of the Sauk Area Career Center, 138th and Crawford, Crestwood. The building features a flexible school day. Students may attend from 7:30 a.m. to 12 noon, or from 9:20 a.m. to 1:50 p.m., Monday through Thursday.

On Fridays, the school provides a day of choice. Students may participate in tutoring, group or individual counseling, extra credit work, field trips and makeup assignments. Teachers also visit students' homes on Fridays. Students also may stay at home on Fridays.

"When the concept of the alternative school was developed, we looked at an alternative program in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where school is closed on Fridays so teachers can conduct home visits. We wanted to give kids an option to use the building rather than restrict them on Fridays," said Freeman.

Academically, students attending the alternative school must meet the same graduation requirements (21.25 credits) as other District 218 students. This includes core courses in English, math, science, social studies and health.

Community High School District 218 also includes three comprehensive high schools: Eisenhower High School, Richards High School and Shepard High School. The district also operates the nation's only individual education program, Polaris School for Individual Education.

Board Override On Variations

Two decisions of the appeals board were overridden by the Oak Lawn Board of Trustees at Tuesday night's meeting. The first was approval for the construction of a two-car garage while allowing the petitioner to keep the one-car attached garage with a carport at 8825 S. Melvina Ave. This was passed by a 4-2 vote with Trustees Cyril Holesha and Robert Streit voting no.

The second was for a variation of the fence ordinance at 9300 S. 52nd Ave. Steve Ali, petitioner, plans to install a chain link fence which would enclose his whole property, including the front yard. This approval also passed by a 4-2 vote with William Keane and Streit casting the no votes. Permission was granted to install the fence along the sides of his home, especially the north side of the house facing Southwest Highway, but he was denied permission to enclose the front yard. He wanted that to insure the safety of the children who are practically on 52nd Ave. when they leave the house.

An amendment to the lease agreement for the 5210 Building was passed by a 5-1 vote. Streit expressed his opposition to this because he felt a two-year lease was too long.

Third party administration for the flexible spending plan for village employees was passed by a 5-1 vote with Streit again objecting. Gail Paul, director of administrative services, on a question from Streit said she had interviewed the three companies involved and recommended CSSI because their bid was the lowest.

The board also approved an ordinance for issuing a class "1" liquor license for Inn Zone, formerly Molly Malones, at 9904, 9906 and 9910 Southwest Highway.

Next came the ordinance covering billiard and pool halls which had been held over from the last meeting until the owners had given them a plan for customer parking. Parking on 95th St. and on some side streets, and access to parking from some of the businesses was discussed. Trustee Ron Stancik, said some people had registered complaints and he made a motion to deny allowing the business to start. Trustee William Keane pointed out that if they denied the license, the owner of the building would have to demolish the building if it is not used because no one else is going to rent it. He pointed out that there are many empty stores which will possibly cause some of the other merchants to move. A tie vote was broken by Mayor Ernie Kolb who said he agreed with Keane that Oak Lawn needs the business.

Stancik suggested changes in the civil service promotional exams. He said that there were not enough applying for the test and recommended that level 2 and 3 applicants be included in the testing. Streit opposed this and pointed out that sometimes persons could skip the next step up for the position they applied for and may not have the necessary experience and alleged it would give Kolb and other trustees the opportunity to "hand out patronage positions." The ordinance passed by a 5-1 vote.

An ordinance authorizing the issuance of general obligation corporate purpose bonds not to exceed $9,500,000 was passed by a 5-1 vote. All bond issues, including water bonds for Palos, are now lumped in this one to take advantage of lower interest rates and, according to treasurer Blas Olivares, Palos will pay their bond money to the village.

Village Clerk A. Jayne Powers said the village hall will be closed on Thursday, Nov. 11th for Veteran's Day, and the Chamber of Commerce Christmas parade will be held on Saturday, Nov. 20th starting at 12:30 p.m. The parade will proceed east on the north side of 95th St. from Austin Ave. to 52nd Ave.

Support For NAFTA

Stressing that Illinois industry produces goods that are much in demand in Mexico, Illinois Gov. Jim Edgar recently said that a three-way trade agreement between the United States, Mexico and Canada would create thousands of jobs in Illinois.

"Today more than ever is the time to compete, not retreat," Edgar said. "Take a look at what Mexican consumers are shopping for. Look at what we in Illinois export today. The two lists match. When NAFTA lowers Mexico's tariffs on our goods, reducing the price of our products, we will sell more than ever."

Primary reports by Illinois companies include industrial machinery, transportation equipment, electric and electronic equipment, food products and chemicals.

"Dozens of studies have been done on NAFTA's effect on the nation's economy, and the vast majority say the same thing, NAFTA is good for America, good for jobs in America and good for jobs in Illinois."

Illinois, already a major exporting state, realized a 23 percent increase in exports during the first half of this year, making it the nation's leader in export growth. Nationally, exports grew by 4.5 percent during the same period.

The Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) predicts that job gains attributable to NAFTA, combined with expected growth in exports regardless of a trade agreement, will mean 13,000 additional Illinois jobs by 1995.

In addition, a University of Illinois study projects that NAFTA will generate an additional $150 million to $200 million in annual Illinois agriculture exports, raising farm income by $5 per acre for corn producers and $16 per acre for soybeans.

Exports to Canada and Mexico represent 37 percent of all Illinois exports.

"We have heard a lot of talk from the nay-sayers, NAFTA's opponents, who fear a giant sound of U.S. jobs being sucked away to Mexico if NAFTA is approved," Edgar said. "In fact, the only giant sucking sound we are going to hear is the economic health and vitality of our citizens being sucked away if NAFTA is not approved."

Pointing out that exports now account for one in four Illinois manufacturing jobs, Edgar said Illinois exports to Mexico have increased almost five-fold to nearly $1.4 billion during the last five years.

Edgar's comments came during an electronic 'town hall' meeting sponsored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce to boost support for the trade pact, which is scheduled for a ratification vote in the U.S. House of Representatives on Wednesday, Nov. 17th.

"NAFTA represents the future, offering this country both challenge and opportunity. To stand still, to not be bold and daring, is to surrender our opportunity to others in the world who are more courageous, more visionary, more aggressive and more undaunted by challenge," Edgar said. "To not accept the challenge, to not take advantage of this opportunity is to retreat into economic isolationism that this country could not withstand in the 1920s and cannot afford today."

Holiday Bazaar

The Paulius-Lipinski-Callahan Chapter of the Leukemia Research Foundation will hold its 15th annual Holiday Bazaar and Auction, Sun., Nov. 14th, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Knights of Columbus Hall, 5830 W. 95th St. The highlight of the event is the "Black and White Elephant Auction" where mystery items are auctioned for a minimum bid of $2. For the kids, there will be a children's corner filled with activities and games. Also part of the holiday bazaar and auction is a mini-drawing, a homemade bakery, a snackshop and a handmade craft sale.

The Leukemia Research Foundation directs activities of more than 1,000 volunteers in 14 local chapters and has raised more than $12 million since its inception in 1946. Proceeds from the bazaar and auction will help fund support groups, patient/family services and medical research. For more information, contact Evelyn Mozden at (708) 423-4692.

Leader Graduation

Army Cadet Angela K. Wagner received practical work in military leadership at the ROTC advanced camp at Fort Lewis, Washington. The camp, attended by cadets normally between their third and fourth year in college, includes instruction in communications, management, and survival training.

Angela, a student at the University of Illinois, Chicago, is the daughter of Edna M. Wagner of Oak Lawn.

Scholarship

Terry Bopp, president of the Oak Lawn Kiwanis Club, presents a $500 scholarship donation to Laurie Anema, director of financial aid at Moraine Valley Community College.

"We award the scholarship to a student from Oak Lawn based on financial need and the student's grade point average," said Anema. "It's a wonderful scholarship and is generally awarded to students who are active in the community. Recipients have said that it has really helped them get back into school."

The Oak Lawn Kiwanis has been giving Moraine Valley the scholarship for three years.

"It's part of our emphasis on education and youth," said Bopp. "We also thought it was appropriate since Moraine Valley is the community college in our district and so many Oak Lawn residents attend the college."

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were reported by the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

On Oct. 28th, Robert Spokda of Oak Lawn reported vandals threw a pumpkin into a line of Halloween ornaments breaking two of them.

At 10:45 p.m., police responded to a call about a fight in progress at the intersection of 93rd and Austin. As the officer approached the intersection, he found five subjects on bikes were blocking the street and impeding traffic. As the officer stopped in his vehicle, one of the offenders yelled an obscenity and spit in his face. All but one of the offenders fled and the officer followed on foot and caught the one who had spit on him. He was taken to the station and his parents were notified along with the juvenile officer.

On the 29th at 10:29 p.m., Barry Thomas of Chicago was picked up on Cicero Ave. between 104th and 110th Sts. and charged with reckless driving, driving with a revoked license and no proof of insurance.

Julie Statkus of Oak Lawn reported someone damaged her 1993 Chevrolet by breaking the windshield and the side door and quarter panel which sustained a long crease in it.

On Oct. 31st, James R. Wilson was nabbed after he was seen leaving Genarros Drugs at 5549 W. 87th St. where he had taken 17 cartons of cigarettes valued at $116.13. Police arrested Wilson and charged him with retail theft.

William Dolkar of Chicago told police that while he was at the Chicago Health Club, 6700 W. 95th St., someone stole his wallet from the locked locker, containing $100 cash and his credit cards.

At 12:20 a.m., Anthony Bonnamo of Burbank reported someone removed a black vinyl bed cover and black plastic bed liner from his 1992 Ford Ranger pickup. Estimated loss

Enterprise Leasing, 4700 Southwest Highway, reported the theft of a 1994 Lincoln Town Car valued at $31,000.

On Nov. 1st, Jorge Sandoval of Chicago was charged with retail theft after he was allegedly seen picking up a green jacket at K-Mart, 4104 W. 95th St., valued at $59.99.

George Suarez of Chicago reported that between Saturday and Sunday, someone slashed the front and rear tires of his car.

The security agent at K-Mart, 10000 S. Cicero, nabbed Daniel Howell of Markham after he had allegedly taken 22 cartons of cigarettes, gone to a different department, put them into two plastic bags and left without paying. He was detained by Szymansky and as he was being led to the office, he shoved the agents and began to flee. Howell was caught again and broke free a second time. After a brief struggle, he was returned to the office. He was charged with retail theft and battery. Howell was taken to Christ Hospital for treatment of a head wound sustained while fighting the security agent.

Michael J. Morris of Oak Lawn reported someone entered his car and removed a dash-mounted stereo radio valued at $350. Charges for replacing the window are $150.

Kathleen Baird of Oak Lawn reported someone broke the driver's side window while she was shopping at the Jewel store, 8801 Ridgeland Ave., and removed compact discs valued at $200.

On Nov. 2nd, Yvonne Dudkowski reported her ex-boyfriend, Rick Wolf of Oak Lawn, took her winter coat valued at $300 and broke two lamps valued at $100 each. Complaints will be signed.

Susan Roseen of Oak Lawn reported she deposited her rent check for $530 in the lock box. Police suggested she go to the Chicago Ridge station where they had a suspect.

Polaris Students Recognized For Their Achievement

Polaris School for Individual Education has announced that six students have been named AP scholars by the college board in recognition of their exceptional achievement on the college-level advanced placement (AP) examinations. Only about 11 percent of the 424,000 students who took AP exams in May performed at a sufficiently high level to merit such recognition. The college board recognizes three levels of achievement - the AP scholar with distinction, the AP scholar with honor and the AP scholar.

At Polaris School two students qualified for the AP scholar with distinction award by earning grades of 3 or above on five or more AP exams with an average exam grade of at least 3.50. These students are Kristina Mucinskas and Eugene Yen.

One student qualified for the AP scholar with honor award by earning grades of 3 or above on four or more AP exams, with an average exam grade of at least 3.25. This student is Timothy Marin.

Three students qualified for the AP scholar award by completing three or more AP exams with grades of three or higher. The AP scholars are Howard Meloch, Nicole Nielsen and Christina Tharp.

AP exams, which students take in May after completing challenging college-level courses at their high school, are graded on a five-point scale (five is the highest). Most of the nation's colleges and universities award credit and/or placement for grades of 3 or higher, and more than 1,300 institutions award a year of credit to students with a sufficient number of qualifying grades. There are 29 AP exams in 16 disciplines, each consisting of multiple-choice and free-response (essay or problem-solving) questions.

Flood Relief

Gov. Jim Edgar urged the General Assembly to act quickly on flood-related legislation affecting National Guard members as well as businesses and individuals victimized by the unprecedented disaster.

The Governor made the appeal as he received a $6 million check from Rodney E. Slater, Administrator of the Federal Highway Administration, to reimburse the state for flood-fighting costs, such as efforts to reopen the U.S. 136 bridge between Hamilton, Ill., and Keokuk, Iowa.

"As we receive this partial reimbursement for costs incurred by state government in battling the Great Flood of 1993, we must renew our commitment to those who fought the raging waters and to victims of the devastation," Edgar said.

The Governor said he is seeking approval during the fall legislative session of measures to:

- Protect the civilian employment rights of Guard members called to active duty by the Governor for a state emergency.

- Spare flood-victimized employers from shouldering the entire financial burden for unemployment benefits paid to employees they were compelled to lay off because of the disaster.

- Set the stage for flood victims to receive extensions on deadlines for paying property taxes without being penalized by interest payments or by having their property put up for sale.

"There was concern among Guard members that they would lose their civilian jobs -- or otherwise be penalized -- because of their flood-fighting duties. Although I am not aware of any instance in which such fears became reality, it is imperative that the legislature and I provide the reassurance that Guard members deserve when they are serving the people of this state during an emergency," Edgar said.

The employment protection provisions are included in Senate Bill 1123, introduced by Sens. Judy Baar Topinka (R-Riverdale), Laura Kent Donahue (R-Quincy), Ralph Dunn (R-DuQuoin), Frank Watson (R-Greenville) and Harry "Babe" Woodyard (R-Chrisman). Guard members also would be shielded from having employer-provided health insurance coverage jeopardized because of health or physical conditions arising during the active service. In addition, they would be eligible for tuition reimbursement and could not be penalized academically if their schooling is significantly interrupted by a call to active duty.

Edgar said he will ask the General Assembly to attach the unemployment and property tax flood-related legislation to bills now pending in the Legislature.

The $6 million check presented by Slater represents the first installment of federal highway Emergency Repair Program funds sought by the Governor to offset costs of bridge and road repairs.

"We very much appreciate the cooperation of the federal government. The flood has caused record state expenditures in both fighting to keep roads and bridges open and to repair damage," Edgar said.

"The funds will help reimburse much of the costs for such work as our effort to open the U.S. 136 bridge between Hamilton, Ill. and Keokuk, Iowa, over the Mississippi River, to repair damage to the U.S. 20 bridge over the Rock River in Rockford, and to provide for the construction of numerous temporary roadways.

This first installment of federal emergency highway funds is based on preliminary damage assessments that now total $10.7 million. That cost is expected to rise because there are still areas along the Mississippi and Illinois Rivers that are under water. Damage assessments of those areas cannot be made until the floodwaters recede.

Tax Exemption Impact Is Told

State revenue officials and tax experts told members of the Senate Revenue Committee that tax breaks in Illinois' income and sales taxes account for nearly $3 billion annually. Committee members heard testimony from representatives of the Economic and Fiscal Commission, Comptroller's Office, Taxpayers' Federation and the University of Illinois' Institute of Government and Public Affairs about the impact of state tax exemptions, exceptions and tax credits on the Illinois economy.

Assistant Senate Majority Leader Aldo DeAngelis (R-40), who chairs the revenue committee, says rethinking the current system of tax breaks may be one way to free up more revenue for the state budget.

"Over a period of years, many exemptions and exceptions have been passed by the Legislature. It would be wise to assess the cumulative impact. I was surprised to learn that tax breaks for sales and income taxes total nearly $3 billion annually," DeAngelis said.

State Sen. Patrick O'Malley (R-18), whose Senate Resolution 222 called for the study of the tax system, says a review of existing tax exemptions will help the committee identify any exemptions that might have been useful when they were passed, but are now unnecessary.

"Policy decisions such as tax exemptions should be revisited from time to time for fine-tuning. Many of the exemptions that made sense when they were approved may not be relevant now," O'Malley said. "Decisions that were made years ago, when conditions were very different, could be denying the state much-needed tax revenue. Repealing unnecessary exemptions would provide more dollars for education, allow for property tax relief and avoid tax increases. To do otherwise would result in a windfall for special interests at the expense of Illinois taxpayers."

garbage incinerators at inflated prices. Because the utilities take a tax credit for these excess payments, the net effect is an interest-free loan for incinerator operators subsidized by Illinois taxpayers. Witnesses testifying about the retail rate law at the hearing recommended that its provisions affecting garbage incinerators be repealed because they permit incineration to compete unfairly with recycling and reprocessing businesses that could be a more cost-effective and environmentally-sound source of jobs in Illinois.

"The Illinois Commerce Commission has estimated that the developer of a single garbage incinerator in southwest Cook County will receive an aggregate subsidy of almost $300 million over the next 20 years," O'Malley said. "To put this in perspective, the 80 permanent jobs that are projected to be created in that development will cost Illinois taxpayers more than $186,000 per job, per year. That doesn't fit my definition of meaningful economic development."

O'Malley says it takes a tremendous effort by the legislature to repeal such a rich subsidy program. An alternative way to weed out such unnecessary exemptions in the future would be to require a sunset provision, which would set a time limit on legislation creating an exemption.

"Rather than requiring the legislature to repeal exemptions, a sunset provision would place the burden on proponents by making them come forward to offer evidence and testimony supporting the extension of their exemptions," O'Malley said.

DeAngelis says the revenue committee has been working with public and private groups since July to study the state's tax system. Prior meetings have focused on the property tax system; existing state revenues sources, such as the income tax and sales tax; and the state school-aid formula. The committee is scheduled to submit recommendations for change to the General Assembly by Dec. 1.

Park Lawn Awards

Park Lawn recently held its annual recognition breakfast with over 100 guests present to show their support for the full-service agency serving children and adults with developmental disabilities. Among those in attendance were Senator Patrick O'Malley (R-18), Mayor Arnold Andrews of Alsip, Mayor Ernest Kolb of Oak Lawn, Mayor Anthony Vacco of Evergreen Park and Maria Nino, representing Mayor Daley's Office as manager of community service.

The Coleman Foundation presented James R. Weise, executive director of Park Lawn, with a check for $50,000. Representing The Coleman Foundation were Executive Director Ms. Jean Thorne, President Michael Hennessey and Treasurer Trevor Davies.

Those recognized for significant support of Park Lawn include Terry Kunes, owner of Terry's Lincoln Mercury in Orland Park, Mayor Andrews, The Ameritech Volunteers-Telephone Pioneers of America South Council, Robbins Resource Recovery Company, South Cook County Association of Life Underwriters, WLS-TV Channel 7 Weather Anchor Andy Avalos, The Catherine Tolliver Foundation, and Dr. Robert Lauf, M.D.

College

High school students with a grade point average of "B" or better who are U.S. citizens interested in applying for $1,000 college scholarships should request applications by Wednesday, Dec. 15th from Educational Communications Scholarship Foundation, 721 N. McKinley Road, P.O. Box 5012, Lake Forest, IL 60045-5012.

To receive an application, students should send a note stating their name, address, city, state, ZIP code, approximate grade point average and year of graduation. All requests for applications will be reviewed on or about Jan. 14th and 125 winners will be selected on the basis of academic performance, involvement in extracurricular activities and some consideration for financial need.

A total of $125,000 will be awarded.

Food Stamp Allotments To Increase

Monthly food stamp allotments in Illinois will increase by an average of 1.3 percent next month, Acting Public Aid Director Robert W. Wright said.

"The increase provided by the U.S. Department of Agriculture will help more than 1.1 million Illinois residents who receive food stamps each month. The majority of recipients are children, the elderly and disabled persons who rely on food stamps each month to supplement their budgets," said Wright.

A family of four will see its maximum allowable food stamp amount rise to $375 from $370, beginning Oct. 1. The increase, which reflects a rise in food prices, is the first by the USDA in two years. The Department of Public Aid administers the program in the state.

The USDA made two other changes, effective Oct. 1, that will allow more people to qualify for food stamps. The standard deduction from every applicant's household gross income will be raised effective to $131 from $127. The maximum shelter deduction will also increase to $207 from $200.

To be eligible for food stamps, a family of four cannot have a gross income of more than $1,555 or a net income of more than $1,196.

Food stamp regulations allow clients to purchase food products, but not beer, cigarettes, toiletries or hot, ready to eat food items.

Food stamp clients and applicants should contact the public aid office in their area for additional information about the changes.

Maximum food stamp allotments effective Oct. 1: household size 1, old allotment $111, new allotment $112; 2, $203, $206; 3, $292, $295; 4, $370, $375; 4, $440, $446; 6, $528, $535; 7, $584, $591; 8, $667, $676.

Smokeout

Join the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout on Thursday, Nov. 18th. Smokers and smokeless tobacco users are encouraged to "Leave the pack behind." Letter To The Editor

Editor:

President Clinton says we should listen to our mothers. Mine is 93. In aging she never filed a Medicare claim until age 90. Then she suffered two serious illnesses. Medicare, supplements and savings paid the costs. Suppose she was under a European health system. They have rationed health care and those who are most rationed are the elderly. Under that system it is unlikely that she would have survived. Mr. Clinton is proposing to ration health care. My mother thinks it is irresponsible and unfair. After all, she paid Medicare premiums all those years. Mr. Clinton, I am listening to my mother and tuning you out.

Food Stamp Debts

The Illinois Department of Public Aid announced that 27,000 persons who owe the state more than $23 million in food stamp overpayments may have their federal tax refunds intercepted next year.

"We've sent notices to former food stamp clients advising them to pay up or lose their federal refund checks. While receiving food stamps, they had failed to report their full income to the department as required by law," said Acting Public Aid Director Robert W. Wright.

The department recently mailed notices to 27,000 persons who were ineligible for either part or all of a monthly food stamp allotment. They have 60 days in which to contact the department to arrange a repayment plan.

If they fail to do so, their names will be turned over to the Internal Revenue Service, which will intercept their 1993 refund checks and send the money to the department.

Former and current food stamp clients who have been repaying their food stamp debts will not be affected by the tax program.

Last year the department issued more than $1 billion in food stamps, and recovered more than $9.2 million in overpayments. The department began intercepting state income tax refund checks in 1985.

For more than 10 years, the department has intercepted federal income tax refunds of individuals who owe child support. Last year, the agency collected $21 million from federal and state refund checks for child support.

"The department has had great success with federal tax intercepts for child support, and we expect the process to pay big dividends for food stamps as well," Wright said.

Nine states participated in the federal tax intercept program for food stamps last year, and Illinois is among 12 other states which joined the program this year.

Each month the department distributes food stamps to nearly 500,000 households, which include more than 1.1 million persons, most of whom are children and the elderly.

Roadwork Contracts

The Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) has awarded road improvement contracts valued at over $30.3 million for various projects throughout the state. The total value is for 43 projects on which bids were submitted during the Aug. 27th and Oct. 1st bid lettings. Projects in our area include the intersection improvement consisting of bituminous concrete surface, widening with bituminous concrete binder, traffic signal modernization, watermain relocation and channelization, all located at the intersection of Ashland Ave. and Vermont St. in Blue Island and Calumet Park. Callaghan Paving, Inc. was awarded the contract with a bid of $932,976.

Also included was the highway lighting on FAU Route 3577 (State Road) from 79th St. to Cicero Ave. Harlan Electric Company of Gilberts was awarded the contract with a bid of $208,496.

"Bank-At-School" Program

Students at several southwest side and southwest suburban elementary schools are learning more than just the three 'Rs' this year. They're learning how to balance a checkbook, shop for the best interest rate and the importance of saving money for the future. It's all part of Illinois Treasurer Patrick Quinn's 'bank-at-school' program, which pairs schools with banks to help turn youngsters into smart financial consumers.

"We teach reading, writing and arithmetic to elementary school children, giving them a foundation for the future," said Quinn. "Until now we have not prepared them for one of life's most important jobs: planning for a secure financial future. This program teaches children how important it is to start saving."

Students will open a savings account and some will be trained to act as tellers, collecting deposits from fellow students during 'Bank Days.' To complement this activity, a special textbook designed by the treasurer's office will be used to explain money matters and describe how a bank operates.

'Bank-at-school,' the first of its kind in the nation, is being taught in 256 Illinois schools, including such southwest side schools as Bridgeport Catholic, Eberhart, Rachel Carson, Byrne, Fleming, Grimes, Dawes and Stevenson, and such southwest suburban schools as Maddock in Burbank, Walker in Bedford Park and Summit's Wharton, St. Joseph and Graves Elementary.

There are 106 participating banks statewide which have joined with Quinn's office, including those in partnership with southwest side and southwest suburban schools: Cole Taylor, Pulaski Savings, Marquette Bank, Republic Bank, Loomis Federal Savings, First National of Evergreen, LaSalle-Talman, Argo Federal Savings, Standard Federal, Community Bank & Trust and Bridgeview Bank & Trust.

"Too many Illinois citizens are 'un-banked' and reach adulthood without ever learning the basics about savings and financial services," said Quinn. "With this program we can teach the next generation how to make their money work for them. In the process we might even help students teach their parents a thing or two about financial planning."

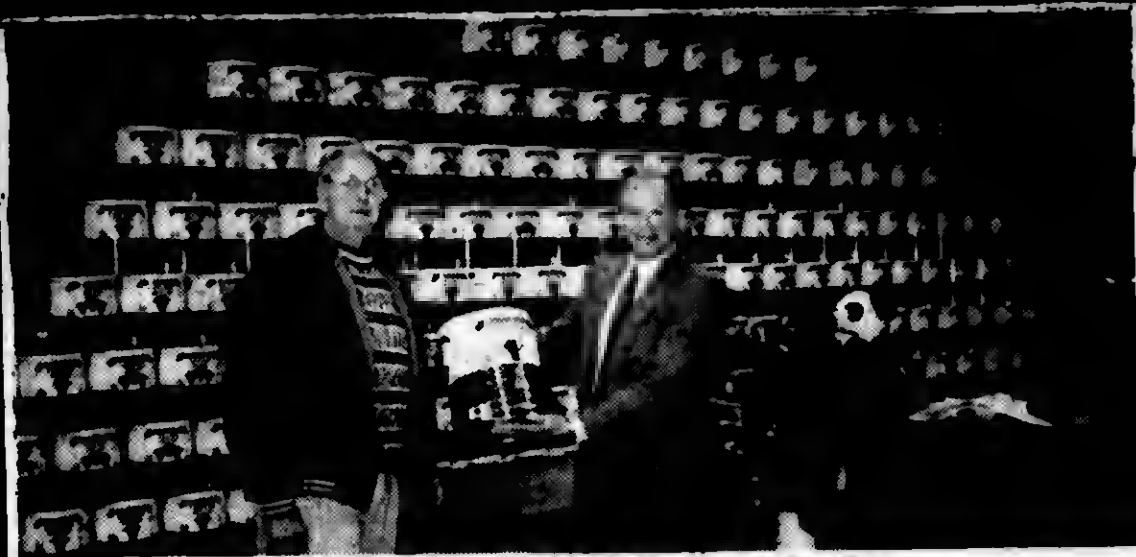

Some of the chapters in the 'bank-at-school' curriculum include a short history of money, why do people save, what is a checking account, purpose of a budget, what is credit, what products do banks offer, and what are credit unions.

Quinn noted the tremendous success of the program, which has grown from 61 participating schools last year when it was introduced. "I encourage every elementary school and financial institution in Cook County to participate in the 'bank-at-school' program," Quinn said.

For more information, contact the treasurer's office at (800) 535-1164.

Address Changes

The phone has been disconnected, the boxes are packed and the movers are loading the truck. How do you make sure your mail follows you to your new home? It's easy! All you need to do is fill out a Form 3575, Change of Address (COA) card at the United States Postal Service. These cards are available at your local post office or can be delivered upon request by your letter carrier.

Nationally, customers file nearly 37 million Change of Address forms each year. This service is provided free of charge.

The process begins when customers fill out the form indicating their old and new addresses. Post offices send the forms to their respective Computer Forwarding Sites (CFS), where an operator keys in the information and an address. Special codings are used for post office boxes and rural routes.

After the change is on file, carriers sort out mail addressed to the former locations and send it to the local Computer Forwarding Site, where an operator keys in the special code which generates a yellow forwarding label bearing the new address and a bar code. The mail is then sent on to the customer at their new residence.

First-class mail is forwarded for 12 months. Second-class mail (magazines, newspapers, etc.) is forwarded for 60 days. After the 60-day forwarding period, the USPS will notify the publishers of the new address. The computer will also record the name of the publications that have been notified for each customer so duplicate corrections are not made. Third-class (advertising) mail is not forwarded unless the mailer has endorsed their piece with the words, "Forwarding and Return Postage Guaranteed." Fourth-class mail (parcels, etc.) is forwarded free locally, or postage due if the customer has moved to a different city. Address corrections are provided by the USPS if a mailer has requested this service.

In addition, if you are not moving but plan to be away from your residence for an extended period of time, the Postal Service recommends putting a "hold" on your mail. The holding of your mail must be requested in writing with forms that are available at your local post office. This is done free of charge and helps prevent mail from building up in your mailbox and provides additional security for your mail.

If you have any further questions, please contact your local post office.

Small Business Workshops

A new schedule, covering January through June, has just been issued by SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives) for free distribution to the small business community. Six all-day and 23 half-day workshops are described.

The all-day workshops are aimed at those who are just starting, or are planning to start up a small business, to acquaint them with the management and financial aspects, as well as the responsibilities, of the small business that would succeed.

The half-day workshops, on the other hand, are keyed to owners/managers of existing small businesses who seek to improve specific aspects of their operations—marketing, advertising, financial management, record-keeping, etc.*

Special note:

All workshops are given by SCORE, under the sponsorship of the U.S. Small Business Administration. Leaders are principally SCORE retired business and professional people, all of whom have experienced, at first hand, innumerable stress periods of the economy, and learned what survival tactics are needed by small businesses if they are to succeed in today's marketplace.

The brochure will be mailed free upon request. Write or phone SCORE, c/o U.S. Small Business Administration, 500 W. Madison St., Citicorp Center, Suite 1250, Chicago, IL 60661, phone (312) 353-7724.

MWRD Flood Control

Recently the House approved $18 million for flood control reservoirs of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District (MWRD) of Greater Chicago, including $13 million for a new construction start for McCook Reservoir and continuing design of the Thornton Reservoir in the final conference report on the FY 1994 Energy and Water Development Appropriations bill.

"Today's House approval of new start construction funds for the McCook Reservoir and for continuing design of the Thornton Reservoir means real relief is in sight for our citizens who have suffered enough from damaging floods and who deserve protection. Congressman Dan Rostenkowski and Congressman Sidney Yates heard our pleas, rolled up their sleeves and convinced the appropriations committee of the critical nature of our situation, and for that I am grateful," said Thomas S. Fuller, president of the MWRD. "Not only will construction start on the long-awaited McCook Reservoir bringing protection to Chicago and the suburban community, but design will continue on Thornton Reservoir, and the O'Hare Reservoir project will be completed."

"Year in and year out, our Chicago delegation, led by Congressmen Dan Rostenkowski and Sidney Yates and our Senators have delivered the federal dollars and projects and jobs to our city enriching our lives and that of our neighbors. But never have they been so successful nor will their efforts mean so much to the homeowners and businesses of our community than this effort. Their persistence and dedication will long be remembered by our city and I thank them for it," said Fuller.

The Senate takes up final action on this funding measure this week. The president has indicated his support for the measure and is expected to sign it into law shortly.

Tax Saving Action

The Board of Commissioners of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago moved recently during the annual budget hearings to abate the debt service of the tax levies to stay within the board's limit of 5 percent annual increase. This will mean a tax reduction for taxpayers of Cook County of $11 million. Nancy Drew Sheehan, chairman of the Committee on Finance, said, "This action represents a savings of about $5 for the owner of a house valued at $100,000 in Cook County."

Road Funds

The first quarter available balance in the state's Road Funds was $212 million at the end of September, $84 million more than a balance of $128 million a year earlier, Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch reported.

Crestwood Mayor Chester Stranczek, who engineered a crushing defeat of a proposed 90 cent tax hike for Blue Island-Crestwood School District 130, now wants to sit down with representatives from SD 130 and discuss the situation. Stranczek insists he is not against a tax increase for the schools, but feels that the 90 cent proposal was much too high. "I'm willing to support a reasonable tax hike," Stranczek said, "but a 90 cent increase is excessive." He feels that a compromise is probable, realizes that schools do need money, and would back a justifiable increase in taxes; one which would be fiscally responsible. Ironically, the question of a tax hike for District 130 was the only school tax increase to be defeated on Nov. 2nd.

Congressman Bill Lipinski (D-3) asks "Would you be surprised to learn that English is not the official language of the United States?"

Recently, a federal judge allowed seven immigrants to recite their U.S. citizenship oath in Spanish. "Don't you think that an individual's first act as an American citizen should be done in our primary language?" he asked.

"I am a co-sponsor of legislation now pending in Congress to require that and to make English our official language. The fact is that being able to speak English is crucial to an immigrant's chance of success," Lipinski concluded.

Beth Ann Lema, former Bridgeview trustee, announced this week that she will seek the Republican nomination for the Illinois 47th State Representative District. Lema, Lyons Township GOP Committeewoman, faces off against Mike Buis a 29 year old Chicago insurance salesman.

Lema has the support of Bridgeview Mayor John Oremus, State Senator Judy Baar Topinka, Senator Robert Raica, and Cook County GOP Chairman Manny Hoffman.

If successful Lema will face incumbent Democrat Dave McAfee in November.

Aurelia Pucinski, Clerk of the Cook County Circuit Court and a candidate for President of the Cook County Board of Commissioners, will be feted at a reception at the Como Inn, Tuesday, Nov. 16th, from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. The Como Inn is at 546 N. Milwaukee Ave. Event chairmen are Bill Colson, well known attorney from Evergreen Park and Oak Lawn, her father Hon. Roman Pucinski and Gregory Furda. Tickets are $75 each.

Not since the days of the late Joe Konrath has Mt. Greenwood had a civic group capable of promoting the district. But, now, Dennis Nolan, an enthusiastic resident, is heading the newly formed and incorporated Mt. Greenwood Residents Association (MGRA). They'll meet Wednesday, Nov. 17th at 7 p.m. in the Mt. Greenwood Park, 3721 W. 111th St. and invite all residents to attend.

Cook County Circuit Court Judge Harry Comerford won a well deserved unanimous re-election Thursday to another three year term as chief judge, a position he has held since 1978. Comerford has authored an enormous amount of reforms and is presently working on a complete overhaul of the Juvenile Court system.

The six Democratic Township Committeemen of the new 6th Cook County Board of Commissioners District will hold a 45 minute meeting in Bremen Township Hall Saturday to select a candidate for nomination in the March Primary.

At present former State Senator Richard Kelly Jr. of Oak Forest and Worth Township Supervisor Joan Patricia Murphy have announced their candidacy.

The six committeemen of the rambling district include: Chairman Jim Jesk of Bremen, John McNamara of Worth, Kevin Conlon of Rich, John Rita of Calumet, either John Maloney or Joe Stanfa of Bloom, and Frank Giglio of Thornton.

Tom Hynes, 19th Ward Committeeman and chairman of the Third Judicial Sub-circuit committee, will hold a meeting Monday, Nov. 15th to endorse candidates for judge to run in the March 1994 Democratic Primary. Three candidates are to be elected from this sub-district which contains all or parts of the 13th, 14th, 15th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 21st, 22nd, 23rd and 34th Wards in the City of Chicago and parts of Worth and Stickney Townships.

Democratic committeeman from this district will meet in the 19th Ward Democratic Organization Offices at 10231 Western Ave. at 8 p.m. Hynes urges any qualified candidate interested in appearing before the committee and seeking endorsement should call Hynes office at (312) 238-0288.

James T. Nalepa, a small business owner and a resident of LaGrange, announced this week that he will seek the Republican nomination for Congress in the Third District. Nalepa is a graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point and a former U.S. Marine with the 82nd Airborne Division, Fort Bragg, N.C.

Democrat Congressman Bill Lipinski, who voted "no" on President Clinton's tax bill and is listed as a "no" on NAFTA and sounds like a Republican, no doubt will seek a second term.

Governor Jim Edgar announced his intention to seek a second term in 1994 at selected sites throughout the state. Edgar pointed to his record of streamlining government and adherence to his pledge of 'no new taxes' as the cornerstone of his campaign. He declined, however, to renew his 'no more taxes' pledge, saying that he has no plans to raise taxes. Three Democrats, County Board President Richard Phelan, Attorney General Roland Burris and Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch, have indicated their intention to challenge Edgar.

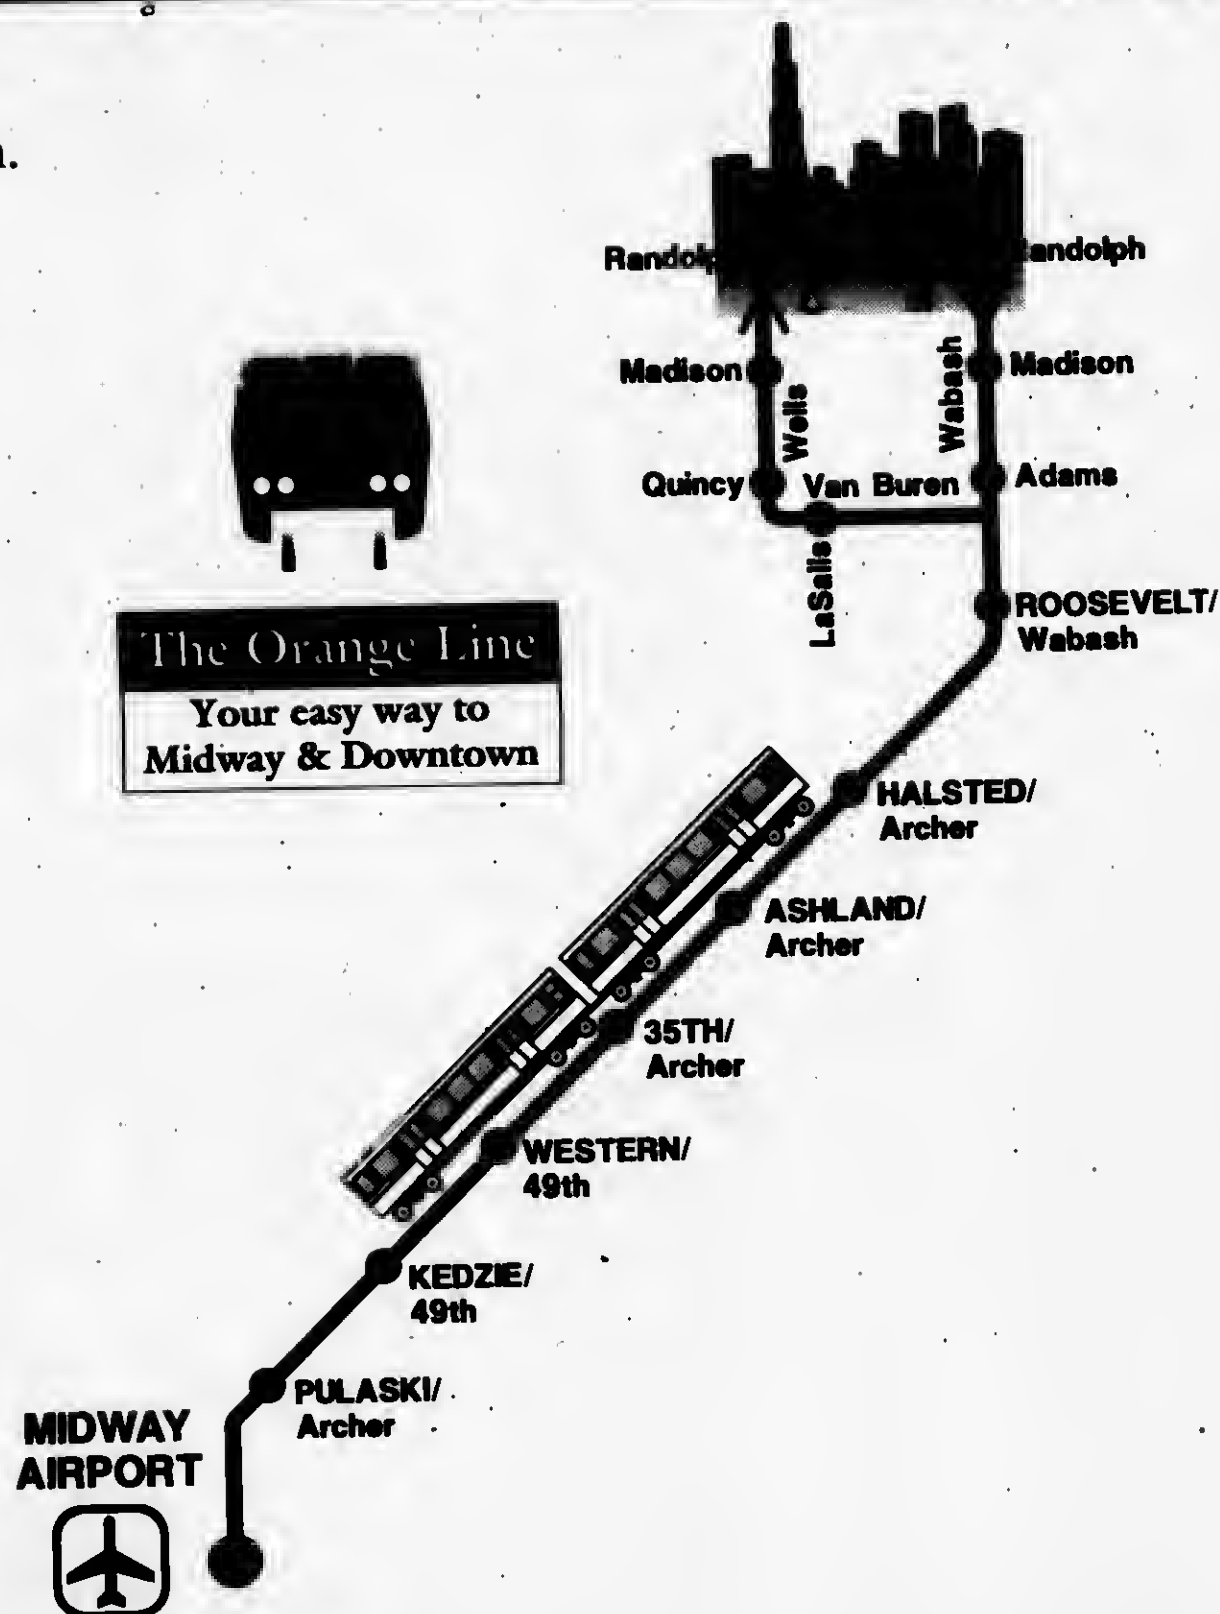

A Veterans Workshop will be held Nov. 19th at the College of DuPage in Glen Ellyn to help veterans learn about opportunities for employment in state government according to Stephen B. Schnorf, Director of the Illinois Department of Central Management Services (CMS). CMS Veterans Outreach Program with assistance from the Illinois Department of Veterans Affairs and Employment Security are sponsoring the workshop. The time is from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Student Resource Center, 22nd and Lambert Rd. in Glen Ellyn. More information is available by calling 1-(800)-643-8138 or (312) 814-6968.

Public Hearing On Cook County Board Budget

Dear Friends,

Cook County Board President Richard Phelan delivered the FY 1994 budget message on Tuesday, Oct. 26th. The proposed budget includes no fee increases and no increase in the property tax levy for the third consecutive year.

Total appropriations including capital expenditures are down $25 million for a total budget package of $2.082 billion. As always, most of this budget goes to healthcare and criminal justice. 44 percent is allocated for healthcare, 40 percent for criminal justice and 16 percent for administrative offices.

A very significant highlight of this budget includes plans to eliminate all tax anticipation notes and most other short-term borrowing. This would result in an annual permanent savings of $8 million.

The budget process will continue on Nov. 3rd in the board room of the County Building. At that time, department heads and elected officials will begin their presentations to the Finance Committee.

Public hearings on the 1994 budget will be held:

Wednesday, Nov. 17th at 6 p.m. at Sixth District Courthouse, Markham.

Thursday, Nov. 18th at 6 p.m. at Second District Courthouse, Skokie.

Friday, Nov. 19th at 10 a.m. at Cook County Building, Chicago.

Saturday, Nov. 20th at 10 a.m. at Fourth District Courthouse, Maywood.

The amendment session for the Finance Committee, which is a committee of the whole, is set for Nov. 23rd in the board room. Hopefully, the Board of Commissioners will approve the budget at that time.

A controversial ordinance known as the "Cook County Firearms Dealer's License and Assault Weapons and Ammunition Ban Ordinance" was approved by the Cook County Board of Commissioners at the regular meeting of Oct. 19th.

The ordinance specifically deals with licensing, which requires all gun dealers to apply for a $500 county license and also makes it illegal to own or sell any of a variety of assault-type guns and rifles in suburban Cook County.

Also, gun shops will not be permitted to operate within 1/2 mile of a school or a public park unless the dealer owns the premises. In the case where the shop is leased, the gun shop is exempt only for the remainder of the term of that lease.

If this ordinance conflicts with an ordinance of a municipality, the municipal ordinance shall prevail within its jurisdiction. If a municipality licenses firearms dealers with a municipal ordinance, apart from any other general business license issued by the municipality, this ordinance shall not apply within the municipal jurisdiction with respect to such license. In all other circumstances, this ordinance shall be enforceable with the municipal jurisdiction to the extent permitted under the Illinois Constitution.

I believe that these provisions offer the flexibility necessary to make this a workable ordinance. Also, the accessibility to firearms and ammunition is a growing concern to everyone and this ordinance addresses some of those concerns.

The Forest Preserve District of Cook County invites Cook County classroom teachers and students to get in touch with nature by scheduling a visit to their school by a Forest Preserve District naturalist. Teachers are urged to take advantage of this unique educational opportunity.

From Nov. 1st, 1993 through March 4th, 1994, naturalists will be available to present a free "Getting in Touch with Nature" program to schools. There are six different hands-on programs that have been developed as well as several video and slide programs.

To obtain a brochure describing the program and for information on scheduling a naturalist's visit, contact the Conservation Department at (708) 771-1330.

Sincerely,

Robert P. Gooley
Cook County Commissioner

Attends Township Conference

Joan Patricia Murphy, Worth Township supervisor, attending The Township Officials of Illinois (TOI) conference in Springfield, along with other township elected officials, reported that nearly 2,000 delegates are in attendance at the 86th annual conference.

General and divisional sessions of the 86-year-old organization were designed to give delegates a new insight on laws affecting township officials, new developments in the administration of township general assistance, and reports on legislation affecting Illinois townships.

Murphy reported that TOI is comprised of nearly 12,000 officials from 1,433 townships in 85 counties across the state. Member townships receive information concerning legislative activities, proper functions of their offices and development of new programs for that unit of government. TOI also acts as a clearing house for information for both state and federal legislators.

Murphy reports some quotable offerings from guest speaker Susan Mogerman, director, Illinois Historical Preservation Soci-

Annual Suburb Meeting

The 1993 annual meeting of the United Way of Suburban Chicago (UWSC), a federation of 79 member United Ways serving the suburbs, will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 16th, at the Drury Lane Oakbrook Terrace. Awards will be presented to the UWSC Member United Way 'Volunteer of the Year,' recognizing outstanding leadership to the United Way and the community, and to the 'Affiliate Agency Executive Director of the Year,' recognizing exemplary leadership, innovation, and administration in the human service not-for-profit sector.

In addition, UWSC Board Robert A. Young will make a report on the accomplishments of UWSC during the past year. James R. Kackley, managing partner, Arthur Andersen & Co. and the 1994 United Way/Crusade of Mercy Campaign Chair, will give an update on this fall's campaign. Directors for the UWSC Board will also be elected.

The hospitality hour, with cash bar, will be held from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Entertainment will be provided by pianist Kathie Nicolet. Dinner will begin promptly at 7 p.m.

The cost of the dinner is $25 per person. Reservations may be made by contacting the UWSC office at (708) 325-8240.

ety, regarding township government.

"Township Government was in existence and worked 140 years before The American Revolution, and it is still working today." "Township Government works so well and makes so few errors, it goes unnoticed."

Murphy stated, "The ideas and information I bring back from the conference will be a benefit to myself and the people of Worth Township."

Bowler's Dream

Pictured (standing): Rich Barrett, IOF No. 1076; Kris McCune, Michelle Mullen; Mary Heagley, Children's Memorial; (seated) Kathy Edwards and Jan Schmidt, young ladies who have bowled 300 games. As a matter of fact one of them has bowled eight 300 games and is just in her 20s. For most bowlers a 300 game is a very distant dream. Dreams do come true and the children at Children's Memorial Medical Center are helped by the monies generated through the IOF Foresters Bowling for Miracles Family Fun Days. Volunteers run the local bowling event and IOF Foresters foots the bill for the administration and matches each and every dollar pledged so 200 percent goes to the Children's Memorial Medical Center in Chicago.

Dreams do come true and everyone can help these kids by bowling. Anyone can get a pledge sheet by calling Lols Oplela at (708) 422-3418 or (708) 857-7880 or Rich Barrett at (708) 403-2000 or (708) 803-3500 or (708) 515-1790 to help make a child's dream of a normal life or life at all come true.

Democrats Interview Candidates

Thomas C. Hynes, 19th Ward Democratic Committeeman and chairman of the Third Judicial Sub-circuit Committee, announced a meeting to be held at 8 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 15th for purposes of endorsement of candidates for judge to run in the March 1994 Democratic Primary. Three candidates will be elected from this sub-circuit.

Democratic committeemen from the Third Judicial Sub-circuit will meet at the 19th Ward Democratic Organization office; 10231 S. Western Ave., at 8 p.m. Any qualified candidate interested in appearing before the committee and in obtaining the endorsement of the Democratic Party should notify Mr. Hynes' office at (312) 238-0288.

The Third Judicial Sub-circuit contains all or part of the 13th, 14th, 15th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 21st, 22nd, 23rd and 34th Wards in the City of Chicago and parts of Stickney and Worth Townships.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

The IOF Foresters 'Bowling for Miracles' program supports the Children's Miracle Network of children's hospitals very generously. The National Kiwanis has also come on as a supporter recently. The program works well through the efforts of volunteers who gather pledges from the people that read your paper. Please consider printing this and subsequent news releases promoting the IOF Foresters 'Bowling for Miracles.' Your help is greatly appreciated and needed to promote the event successfully.

Sincerely yours,

Eight And Forty Meeting

South Suburban Salon No. 480 of the Eight and Forty will hold its regular meeting on Thursday, Nov. 18th at 7:30 p.m. in the Mt. Greenwood Park Fieldhouse, 3711 W. 111th St., with Le Petit Chapeau Ruth Elzinga presiding. Ways and Means Chairman Sylvia Valenting and Elaine Valenting are making plans for the salon's annual card and bunco party to be held in January. Donations for prizes are always welcome. Just bring them to the salon meetings.

Children and Youth Chairman Marge Maszkowski reports the theme for Children and Youth is "Owlets of the Forest Will Hoot, When Being Fed with Loot, for Children and You." Marge is all ready to receive donations of games, puzzles and toys for the children with lung and other respiratory diseases. Toys are taken to the National Jewish Center and Wyler Children's Hospital.

Salon No. 480 recently donated $1,500 to Virginia Kates of Scottsdale, the Nationale Le Chapeau. Virginia is a partner (member) of our salon and we are all very proud of her. She has worked many years for the betterment of our salon and the department and held many offices and chairmanships.

"JUST TAKE ALL THE THINGS THAT MAKE HEALTH CARE NETWORKS A GOOD IDEA AND ADD BLUE CROSS."

RAYMOND F. McCASKEY, PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Employers join networks to gain buying power—the economies of scale. To offer their people quality health care, good service, and the best rates, wherever they may be located.

HMO Illinois is a Blue Cross HMO with more doctors in more places than any other plan. The Blue Cross PPO brings the largest statewide network of hospitals and doctors closer to home. And we've recently put a full scale Point of Service network into place in six major midwest cities.

So, if you honestly believe a health care network is a good idea, doesn't it follow that one from Blue Cross is an even better idea?"

WE HAVE IT ALL.

Man Charged In Abduction

Sam Lupo, 23, who allegedly abducted his 19 year old wife Anna, then held her for three days, was ordered held without bond until a hearing scheduled for Friday. Lupo is charged with aggravated battery, aggravated stalking, kidnapping, violation of an order of protection and a misdemeanor charge of aggravated assault.

On Monday, in Fifth District Court, Assistant State's Attorney Cheryl Schroeder asked Judge Thomas Carmody, Jr. that Lupo not be allowed bail since, she argued, he could be a threat to his wife's safety. Lupo's attorney, Terrence McConville, told Judge Carmody he had been hired just that morning and that he needed until Friday to see if Lupo would argue for a bond.

Carmody granted the postponement, but ordered Lupo held until the hearing.

Lupo had been living with his wife in an apartment on the 7800 block of west 66th St., Bedford Park. On Sunday, Oct. 31st, Lupo beat his wife during an argument over divorce proceedings. Three days later, he allegedly abducted her at gunpoint, the beginning of a three-day odyssey that began and ended in Illinois, following a journey through Indiana and into Kentucky. Lupo had been released on $1,500 bond following a charge of domestic battery for beating his wife, breaking her nose, on Halloween. An order of protection forbidding Lupo to contact his wife also was issued.

According to records, Lupo checked into an Oak Lawn motel with his wife a short time after kidnapping her, then on Thursday, he rented a car and drove to Indiana and Kentucky. He returned to Illinois and released his wife, telling her that if she did not lie to police and he went to jail, that he would kill her when he was released.

Anna Lupo revealed that she had mixed emotions, claiming that although she was glad her husband was in Cook County Jail, she still had feelings for him. The couple has two children.

Carmody also cautioned Lupo not to attempt to call his wife from jail, saying that Lupo could call relatives and his lawyer, but if he attempted to call his wife, he would be forbidden to make any phone calls.

Patrick Hennessy, guidance counselor and moderator of the National Honor Society (NHS), announced that 88 upperclassmen were recently inducted into the Marist High School chapter of NHS. The officers, (front) Chris Neu, president (Oak Lawn); Andrew Dlig, vice president (Crestwood); Dan Carmody, secretary (Beverly); (back) Hennessy, and Mike Guzan, treasurer (Lockport), orchestrated the induction mass held on Oct. 25th. "It's Academic" Competition Sign-Up

"St. Rita High School, 7740 S. Western Ave., will hold its 9th annual 'It's Academic' competition on Thursday, Nov. 18th at 4 p.m.," announced John Bourgeois, director of admissions. "Last year over 100 students from 25 schools participated in the event which consisted of an individual examination along with the team competition." The team competition was won last year by St. Barnabas as they defeated Christ the King in the championship round. St. Gerald was last year's third place finisher. Each round saw very spirited and competitive contests with each team serving as excellent representatives for their respective schools. The competition consists of four-man teams who first participate in an individual section, then enjoy dinner in the cafeteria before the main event—the team quiz bowl competition where teams play for championship plaques.

"Each year the competition gets tougher and tougher and it is because the teams come here very well prepared," continued Bourgeois. "Their academic preparation is a real credit to their hard work, their families and their schools. We are expecting a competition as enthusiastic as last year with even more teams competing."

The deadline for registration is Monday, Nov. 15th. For information or to register a team for the competition, contact the admissions office at (312) 925-6600, ext. 27.

Lung Cancer In Women At All-Time High

On the eve of the 17th annual Great American Smokeout, Thursday, Nov. 18th, the proportion of Illinois women diagnosed with lung cancer has reached an all-time high, increasing 20% over the last decade alone. According to new data from the American Cancer Society, Illinois Division in 1991 38% of all the state's lung cancers were diagnosed in women, up from 32% in 1981. In 1976, women constituted just 24% of the state's lung cancer cases. Cigarette smoking is responsible for 79% of lung cancers among women and 87% of lung cancer cases overall. Many of the remaining 13% of lung cancer cases are attributable to passive smoke.

"Every year since 1987, lung cancer has killed more U.S. women than breast cancer. That's discouraging. And it's a trend that's got to stop," said Cathy Powers, volunteer with the American Cancer Society Bridgeview Unit. November 18th is an opportunity for smokers to "kick the habit" for the day with the help of their families, friends and co-workers.

The ACS offers smokers a free "quit kit" to help them participate in the Great American Smokeout. The kit includes tips about how to quit smoking, how to avoid weight gain from quitting, and how to stay quit over the holidays. It also provides information about alternative smoking cessation methods and smoking cessation support groups and clinics. The kit is free: Call the ACS at 1-(800)-ACS-2345.

"The Great American Smokeout is the perfect opportunity for businesses to go smoke-free as well. More than half of U.S. businesses are 'smoke-free,'" Powers added.

The ACS offers a smokefree workplace kit with step-by-step suggestions for how to go smoke-free.

Hickory Hills Tots Drown In Local Pond

Two boys drowned in a fishing pond near a playground in Hickory Hills on Tuesday afternoon. Aagad Salameh, 3, and Adai Mustafa, 2, who lived in an apartment complex near the pond, apparently waded or fell into the pond at approximately 1 p.m.,

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

This letter is being sent to you to express the feelings of the South Suburban Mayors and Managers Association (SSMMA) related to the recent cancellation of the grant by the Federal Aviation Administration for the Master Plan Study for the South Suburban Airport. A number of newspapers have commented that no expression of anger has been heard. Perhaps this is because we were simply too numb. However, I believe that the following letter which has already been forwarded to President Clinton, Secretary of Transportation Pena, and FAA Director Hinson will show that there is violent reaction to the withdrawal of those funds...

The South Suburban Mayors and Managers Association is writing to express its outrage at the recent denial of funds to the South Suburban Airport as requested by the State of Illinois. The association has requested that FAA reconsider its decision and reauthorize and release these funds.

The SSMMA represents 40 municipalities in both South and Southwest Cook and East Will counties. These communities have approximately 560,000 residents. The organization is composed of the mayors of these communities and these mayors are both Democrats and Republicans. Currently, and in the past, the organization has had a Democratic mayor as its president.

The association's point in this is that the Chicago area is not made up just of the City of Chicago and the only Democrats in the area are not those from the City of Chicago.

Ordinarily, the association does not address partisan politics. However, in this case the decision appears to have been a political decision. The association has been involved in the Third Airport process for over 10 years. During that period of time, FAA officials, both political and technical, have only expressed support for this project. Our first trip to Washington was met with overwhelming delight by FAA officials who saw support for an airport from those communities near the project. Now, all of a sudden, when an administration that is close to the City of Chicago is elected, this project requires (greater than normal) criteria in order to obtain federal funding.

The association objects to this political determination. This project is important to the Southern Suburbs and its jobs are important to the Northeastern Illinois area. Are you aware that the poorest suburb in the United States is a Southern Suburb? The association asks the administration, which ran on the ticket of jobs, to explain to that Democratic mayor how it could cancel his hopes for future jobs for his residents?

There are two and one-half million people living within 45 minutes of the proposed airport site. Did the Denver airport meet this criteria? Can U.S. DOT discount a balanced transportation system for the Chicago area? Can U.S. DOT discount the benefits to the country's air transportation system of this facility to reward one of its cronies.

Do not tell us this was anything but a political decision. We have been part of this process the entire time. We know the feelings of the professionals at FAA. FAA couched its denial on the basis of the lack of a 'regional consensus.' This criteria, if placed on all projects, could effectively stop every major U.S. DOT and FAA project in that those objecting to the projects will use this criteria as a precedent. How much harm is the administration doing to the entire transportation system by this political decision?

The association adamantly expresses its objections to the decision of the FAA on cancellation of funding for the third airport master plan study. The association adamantly expresses its objection to the unheard of requirement that a regional consensus, which appears to be an agreement to support the project by Mayor Daley, be placed on this project. The federal government has enough politics to play in Washington. It is time they stopped playing politics in the State of Illinois.

Sincerely,
Executive Committee
South Suburban Mayors and Managers Association

'Fiscally Responsible'

Cook County Clerk David Orr presented a 'fiscally responsible' 1994 budget to the Cook County Board's finance committee. Orr's 1994 budget represents an overall decrease of almost 5% from last year's, adjusted for inflation, and is below the spending controls originally set by President Phelan's office.

"As I enter my fourth year as county clerk, I am proud to say that we are continuing our record of safeguarding tax dollars while adding new and improved services for the people of the county," said Orr. "We've been successful at cutting waste and controlling costs in the clerk's office because we simply won't settle for the excuse that 'it's never been done that way before.'"

Orr also announced that his office will spend less money in 1993 than was spent by the previous administration in the comparable year of 1989, adjusting for inflation, while increasing revenues generated over 1992. In the first 10 months of 1993, the clerk's office generated 5% more revenue dollars than were generated over the same period in 1992. "By economizing, by bidding contracts and by slashing overtime, we are building a very strong record of responsible fiscal management in county government," said Orr.

"I've worked hard to give taxpayers what they deserve for their hard-earned tax dollars, fiscally responsible government that finds creative ways to provide better service for less money," Orr continued. "Because of that approach, we saved over $750,000 on one printing contract this year; we improved the Journal of Proceedings of the County Board and reduced costs by 75%; and we reduced waiting time in our Bureau of Vital Statistics by 80%."

Orr has set ambitious goals for his office in 1994. "One of my top priorities is to continue the major reforms we have begun in our tax redemption department," Orr explained. "We will also implement the 17 new country board districts and our state-of-the-art computerized mapping system. We will work closely with the National Voter Registration Act. And we will administer the newly revised Lobbyist Registration Ordinance in the most cost-effective manner to obtain maximum compliance."

"I look forward to the continued support of the commissioners and the people in working to find creative ways to make the clerk's office even more productive in 1994," Orr concluded.

Drawing Winners

On Oct. 18th, Maria High School had the drawing for the winners of the fall student fundraising drawing. All students participated in the fundraiser and proceeds went into the general operating fund which, in part, helps to subsidize many of the special programs for students. REDUCING STRESS

If you feel abnormally weighed down by stress, the best solution is to identify the cause and eliminate it.

Mental stress usually has roots in emotional trauma, such as the death of a loved one or impending job loss. Chemical stress can be caused by environmental pollution, too many preservatives and other chemicals in food, or misuse of medication.

Physical stress can also cause pain and other problems. This can be created by over work, lack of sleep, or pushing your body beyond its endurance level. It can also be caused by structural problems of the body, such as spinal imbalance or some other distortion of the body.

Mental stress may require psychological treatment. You can avoid some chemical stress by eating natural foods, shunning polluted areas, and by reducing improper drug intake. To eliminate the physical stress caused by structural problems of the body, your doctor of chiropractic can help restore you body to proper balance and good health.

If you have any health questions please feel free to call our office.

Community Service Backed

Cook County Circuit Court Clerk Aurelia Pucinski, joined by local community leaders at Probation Challenge, outlined and endorsed a Community Service Strategy targeting non-violent, first-time youth offenders.

"Community service and community service sentencing for non-violent youth offenders, under the auspices of community organizations, constructs alternatives to prison, and provides support for legitimate community works projects," stated Pucinski, "community service can help reclaim the kids from gangs."

Appearing at a press conference with local community, religious and youth leaders, Pucinski, a candidate for Cook County Board President also said the City of Chicago's 'Community Adjustments,' which provides community service as an alternative to prosecution, is a vital initiative.

"The 'Community Adjustments' program does not create a criminal record for the youth; it avoids an overcrowded court system and directs the youth back into constructive community service," said Pucinski, "This is a model program which I endorse."

Currently there are 1,091 juvenile offenders in the 'Community Adjustments' program.

Pucinski detailed four key elements of her strategy: increase the number of community organizations available to receive non-violent, first-time youth offenders for community service; work with suburban community organizations available to receive non-violent, first-time youth offenders for community service; work with suburban communities to develop a county-wide pre-court alternative community service network program; work with community colleges to develop tuition-based courses for parents and children, focusing on a parenting and community responsibility curriculum, and promote the 'Community Adjustments' program.

"Creating a network of suburban community service programs, increasing available community organizations, developing education curriculum for community responsibility will be crucial to save children the early stage and deter them from gangs," said Pucinski.

Yule Pageant

This year Green Oak Reformed Church, 10100 S. 52nd Ave., is hosting its sixth annual presentation of the "Journey of Joy," a 10-scene re-enactment of the Christmas story, with 20 live animals in two scenes.

Last year, more than 1,400 people came to take a guided tour of this pageant. The tour groups travel within the church building and outside. They stop and visit the 10 scenes, lit by candles and oil lamps. The outside of the church is decorated with Christmas lights.

On the 'journey' participants stop, visit Mary and hear her tell how the angel appeared before her, followed by a visit to Joseph in his carpenter's shop. Along the journey you will stop and visit Simeon, then hear the messenger tell about the decree that has gone out to all the people from Caesar Augustus. You also will hear from the angel and visit the shepherds on the hillside with their sheep. Along your journey you will visit King Herod as he hears the wise men tell of the star they are following. While you visit King Herod you will hear from his scribes. Once you leave King Herod you will stop and see the census taker to pay your taxes and register your hometown. Your travels will bring you to the innkeeper's wife and hear her explain the birth of Jesus Christ. Finally, you will be led to the manger scene where you will see Mary, Joseph and Baby Jesus among the live animals in the stable.

This Christmas pageant will be held on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 4th and 5th between the hours of 4 and 7:30 p.m. The tour lasts approximately 25 minutes.

For more information, call Rich Schuler, pageant director, or Pastor Tom Dekker at (708) 499-1123.

Bachelors Degrees Received

Two-hundred eighty-one students at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wisc. received degrees in August. Students include Paul R. Colson of Oak Lawn who received a bachelor of arts in English; Christine C. Guzdol of Worth who received a bachelor of science in biology; Kevin T. McGrath of Palos Heights who received a bachelor of science in business administration; and Ann M. Murphy of Orland Park who received a bachelor of arts in English.

The Evergreen Park and Oak Lawn communities recently joined to support the Leukemia Society, an organization designed to raise funds in order to find cures for this dreaded disease. They hosted a special event, a unique dinner at which business and community leaders, dressed in costumes, acted as celebrity waiters and waitresses. Businesses contributed funds by purchasing tickets and sponsoring tables. Additional funds were raised through tips. Guests, for example, donated dollars to purchase back their silverware or have the host wait on them. Attendees paid to ask people to sing, dance, or otherwise perform.

Among those enjoying the special event were (seated) Eudora Watkins; Robn Fullerton, administrative assistant of the Evergreen Park Chamber of Commerce; Gerald Gibbons, editor of the Southwest Messenger Press and president of the Evergreen Park Chamber of Commerce; and (standing) Mayor Anthony Vacco of Evergreen Park; JoJene Churak, assistant director of EP Citizens' Services; Robert Watkins; Mayor Ernest Kolb of Oak Lawn, and Laura Shallow of Marquette National Bank. The Evergreen Park and Oak Lawn Mayors acted as honorary maître d's, with Laura as a White Sox player, William Salamone, branch manager of Standard Federal Bank for Savings as a police officer, Burton Odelson, attorney, as a yodeler, and others in costume, served as waiters and waitresses. Robert Kuenster, of Thompson and Kuenster Funeral Home, served as master of ceremonies.

The way things are going it looks like a long, cold winter..

Congratulations to Mark McNaughton III, 7th grader at Simmons School. He is one of six students to be presented the patch for participation in the President's physical fitness program. The program contained grueling activities with extremely short periods of time to complete. Keep up the good work, Mark.

Our sympathy to Jean Ainley and her family on the death of her mother Clara Byrne, 91, who died Aug. 25th.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sugrue are announcing the arrival of Clara Marie born Sept. 21st in Dayton, Ohio. The ecstatic grandparents are Lucy and Dan Sugrue. This is the first granddaughter after four sons and three grandsons. Congratulations.

The Oak Lawn Garden Club has changed its meeting to the third Thursday of November, the 18th, because of the Thanksgiving Holiday. The meeting will be held at 9:30 a.m. at the Oak View Center, 4643 W. 110th St., in Room No. 4. The program will be "Introduction to Perennials" given by John Dekoker Jr. Hostess for the meeting will be Eleanor Litto and Marge Rapp. For further information call 422-3376.

The 7th annual craft fair, sponsored by Trinity Lutheran Church will be held this Saturday, Nov. 13th from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. There will be a Christmas room, bake sale, cards & napkins, white elephant, a raffle, candies and nuts. Food service is available. Everyone is welcome to drop in and shop.

Trinity Lutheran Church will have a Thanksgiving Day service at 10 a.m.

Congratulations to Irma Hestroffer who became the great-grandmother of Marisa Michelle, born to Lorie and John Englert of Crystal Lake, on Oct. 15th.

Baptized on Oct. 30th at St. Gerald Church, was Kaylee Anne, daughter of Darian and Jennifer Killilea Brown. Congratulations.

The Paulius-Lipinski-Callahan Chapter of the Leukemia Research Foundation will hold its annual Harvest Bazaar this Sunday Nov. 14th from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 5830 W. 95th St.

St. Gerald Parish is sponsoring its 6th annual country store this weekend, Nov. 13th and 14th, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. This will be held in the parish hall at 93rd St. & Central Ave., Admission is free.

You are invited to participate in the annual memorial service sponsored by the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post and their Ladies Auxiliary on Thursday, Nov. 11th, at 11 a.m. The Johnson-Phelps VFW Post & its Ladies Auxiliary will participate in a special celebration to honor veterans of all wars today Nov. 11th. There will also be a memorial service to William H. Harnew, a member of the post who is deceased. The Colors will be posted by the post. Hope to see you there. Russell Smukula is commander of the post and Penny Hempen is auxiliary president.

Our sympathy to Harry Ross and Charlotte Ross, on the loss of their mother, Sophia Ross who died Nov. 6th following a short illness. She was active in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Ladies Auxiliary and was a 55 year member having joined in 1938. She served for two years as president of Louis B. Davis Aux. and the Chicago Ridge Memorial Aux. and was also a president of the Second District VFW Auxiliary. She joined the Johnson-Phelps Aux. in 1983 and served in various positions. Graveside services were held on Thursday at Shalom Memorial Park. Harry Ross will have an open house. She will be missed.

Plaque Dedication

Donors and other important members of the community have been invited to attend a brief dedication of a special plaque on Tuesday, Nov. 23rd from 5 to 6 p.m. at The Barn, 12640 S. Sacramento. Refreshments will be served. The plaque honors the many individuals, institutions and businesses who have made the dream of a Southwest YMCA youth activity center become a reality.

The return of the landmark Barn as a YMCA-operated youth center is the result in large part of last year's grant from The Chicago Community Trust, contingent upon the YMCA raising $100,000 in matching funds, which it did with the help of donors who contributed to a capital campaign last year.

Florida Duty

Air Force Airman 1st Class Michael A. Vysoky has arrived for duty at Eglin AFB, Florida.

Michael, an apprentice aircraft armament systems specialist, is the son of Leroy J. and Irene Vysoky of Oak Lawn.

Brother Hank Hammer F.M.S., principal of Marist High School, has announced that seven Marist seniors have been named as semifinalists in the 1993 National Merit Scholarship program: Christopher Neu (Oak Lawn), Thomas Owens (Oak Lawn), John Peveriler (Lockport), John Keily (Oak Lawn), Charles Hafner (Palos Heights), Thomas Winstead (Beverly), and David Cuicasi (Lemont). The competition is based on Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (PSAT) scores taken in their junior year. Further qualification depends on their Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores taken as seniors. Once semifinalist status is achieved, the students move on to qualify for finalist status.

BPW "Woman Of The Year"

The Oak Lawn Business and Professional Women's Club has named Penny Doyle as its "Woman of the Year" for 1993. The presentation is given each year to recognize a woman from the community or the local BPW organization who has had a significantly positive impact on the world around her. The ideal recipient devotes her energy to enhancing the working environment for women.

Penny, an employee of the Oak Lawn Hilton, has served her community and the Oak Lawn BPW. She is an active member of several organizations including her church, Greenpeace, works for animal rights and has devoted countless hours to fundraising for the March of Dimes and the American Cancer Association, in addition to assuming major responsibilities in the BPW's annual scholarship fundraising effort and Crisis Center projects.

Travel Program

A Scandinavian Countries travelog, presented by Stanley and Paula Sims, is scheduled for 7 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 11th in the lower level meeting room, Oak Lawn Public Library, 95th St. and Cook Ave. It is open to the public without charge on a first-come, first-served basis. This is the last adult program in the library's 1993 series.

Stanley and Paula create their own shows with appropriate music and synchronized narrations. For all of their presentations, they aim to preserve the folklore of other lands, show the diversity of the different countries and display the splendor of nature and man's achievements.

This production includes Norway with its thrilling fjords; Sweden and its dramatic history; Denmark and its charm, palaces, mountains and musical heritage; and Finland, an independent, courageous small country. The colorful slides are enhanced by the descriptive narrative and Scandinavian background music.

Additional information about the program is available from Mary Nelson, public relations and development officer, (708) 422-4990.

St. Laurence High School senior Aaron Mihajevich (right), a member of the Viking cross-country team, captured 1st place at the recent Illinois High School Association cross country Regional Championship. Aaron, who finished the 2.8 mile-course in 15:05, is shown with assistant coach John Szafoni. Aaron excels in the classroom as evidenced by his 4.50 grade point average, and his number one ranking in the senior class.

"Player of Week"

St. Xavier University football player Scott McLean was recently named 'Player of the Week' in National Association Intercollegiate Athletics, District 20. McLean, a junior transfer from Moraine Valley Community College, is a starting end on the Cougar defensive line. He had seven solo tackles, 15 assists, four tackles for loss and two hurries to earn the NAIA District 20 defensive player of the week honors against the nation's number one rushing offense, Trinity College. During the last two years, McLean has had 22 solo tackles, thirty-one assists, 10 tackles for loss, four quarterback sacks, and eight hurries.

"Scott is by far one of the best defensive linemen at this level. He is such a force on our line that every team runs away from his side," said Cougar Defensive Coordinator Art Dalgard.

McLean is the first player in St. Xavier football team history to receive this recognition.

Head Coach Mike Craven said, "Scott deserves to be the player of the week because of his performance these past two games."

Coaches Clinic

The St. Laurence High School basketball program is sponsoring its first-ever youth basketball coaches' clinic on Friday, Nov. 12th, beginning at 7 p.m. and lasting until 10 p.m. The cost of the clinic is $5 per person. Topics to be discussed include defensive and offensive drills, dribbling, ball handling, shooting, and rebounding. The Viking varsity basketball team will demonstrate all drills and coaches are to watch the team in an 'actual' practice session. A 'hot stove session' will also be included where guests at the clinic will be able to ask questions of the coaches. Refreshments and hearty discussion follow at the end of the evening.

Speakers at the clinic will be Tom Pallardy, head Viking basketball coach and members of his coaching staff. Anyone interested in attending is encouraged to call and make reservations.

St. Laurence is at 5556 W. 77th St. For further information or to make a reservation, call Pallardy during school hours at (708) 458-6900.

All-Conference

Steve Payne, a graduate of Shepard High School and member of the Ball State University men's basketball team, has been named to the six-member pre-season All-Mid-American Conference Men's Basketball Team, as selected by the MAC News Media Association.

Payne, a junior, was an All-MAC first-team selection last season after averaging 12.4 points and leading the Mid-Am in rebounding with 9.9 per contest. Payne was named MVP of last year's

MAC Tournament after helping the Cardinals to the tourney title and a trip to the NCAA Tournament. The 6-foot-7 forward started 33 of the team's 34 games and ranked second for BSU in scoring.

State Soccer Title For Eagles

Move over, north and west siders! The southwest suburban Carl Sandburg Eagles have just claimed the 1993 state soccer high school championship. After years of getting so close, the Eagles triumphed on Saturday at Harshbarger-Welzel Field in Naperville as an early goal by their All-American Josh Feigl and exceptional goal-tending by Chris Pope gave the Eagles a 1-0 victory over Fremd in the IHSA tournament.

The state soccer title is the first in Sandburg's history in any team sport and the first soccer title ever for either a south side, south suburban or southwest suburban school in the 22 years of the tournament.

On their steady route to the top, the Eagles (29-0-1) set records for fewest goals allowed (0) and most shutouts (3). And with 11 goals, Sandburg fell just one shy of tying the tournament record for goals scored.

Eagle Coach Brian Papa was ecstatic. His team is only the second in history to go undefeated and win a title. Even the Granite City teams of the 1970s and '80s could not accomplish this feat. Papa said, "The school had never won any kind of team state championship. Like they were saying, it's about time for the Eagles to spread their wings."

Sandburg's lone goal in the final game came off of a corner kick by Nick Kolliniatis in the second minute. He found a wide-open and waiting Feigl on the far side of the box. Feigl then "plucked" the ball out of the air and headed it over leaping Fremd goalie Mike Morrissey.

The Fremd Vikings put up a mighty effort to capture the crown. The team gave Sandburg goalie Chris Pope (12th straight shutout and 21st overall) his toughest tournament test, forcing the all-tournament senior to make all four saves. Moments before Sandburg scored, Fremd's Conrad Taylor had a goal taken away when one of his mates was called for offside.

The Vikings got some great scoring opportunities by Taylor, Chris Molenda and Andy McDermott, all stopped by Pope or drifted wide. Even when Pope was beaten, Denis DaSilva's 25-yard free kick in the 19th minute rang off the crossbar.

The Eagles advanced to the title match by virtue of a 2-0 whitewashing of two-time defending state champion Collinsville earlier in the day. Kolliniatis, who had a corner kick goal called back earlier in the match, finally put the Eagles on the board in the 60th minute of play. He converted on a penalty kick.

Kolliniatis was later ejected with his second yellow card of the game forcing the Eagles to play shorthanded for most of the final 13 minutes.

However, Tony Frangella assured the win in the 79th minute when he scored off a pass from Feigl and beat goalie Clay Hunter to his right. Pope made one save to earn his 20th shutout.

After the semifinal win, Coach Papa explained what this meant not only to Sandburg, but to the south and southwest suburbs as a whole. "There's all this 'mystique' with the teams from down south. Hey, we've only lost six games in the last three years, but this is the first time we've gotten to show what we're all about."

"We've got a chip on our shoulders and I'm not about to take it off. I tell the kids before every game to remember what they're taught and to believe in who they are...I think we've sent a message to everyone that the south suburbs are pretty good too," he added.

All In The Family

Cousins from the southwest area are contributing significantly to Loyola University's cross-country team. In the men's division, Mike Billish of Evergreen Park, a graduate of Brother Rice High School and a senior at Loyola, took seventh place in the recent District IV Championships at Bloomington, Indiana. Billish's time was 25:45.8. Overall, Loyola finished in a solid second place at the meet.

The Loyola women's team also finished in second place at the meet. Mike's cousin, Stacey Billish, a Loyola freshman from Mother McAuley High School, took 10th place with a time of 18:17.6. Stacey was one of four Rambler cross-country competitors finishing in the top in the women's division.

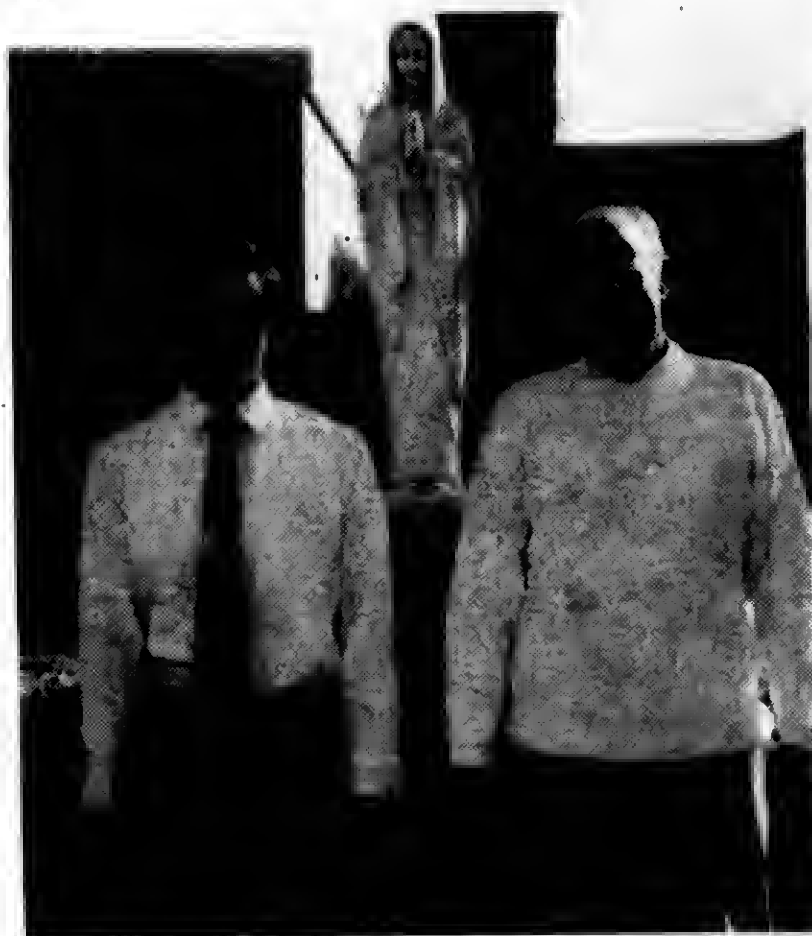

North Central College sophomore Kristin Krause is a member of the Cardinals 1993 volleyball team. A graduate of Carl Sandburg High School, she is a setter for coach Marcy Thurwachter's defending College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin (CCIW) squad. Kristin a 1992 varsity letter winner, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Krause of Palos Park.

See Action

Two former Tinley Park High School football players saw action in Millikin University's 45-14 victory over Carthage on Oct. 9th.

Sophomore defensive tackle Emmett Cunnane, a 1992 graduate, made three tackles, and freshman Mike Fahey, a 1993 graduate, returned a kickoff 16 yards.

Emmett is an education major and the son of Thomas and Kathy Cunnane of Orland Hills.

St. Laurence sophomore Steve Milewski, (left) shown with Golf Coach Tom Gorman, finished eighth in the Illinois High School State (IHSA) championships and garnered a state medal. Milewski shot a 78 at the state championships and thus became the first Viking golfer in history to receive a state medal.

COOK COUNTY HOLDS THE RECORD FOR DEER/VEHICLE ENCOUNTERS - Latest figures released by the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) show that Cook County had the highest number of accidents (1,006) involving deer in 1992. Cook County was followed by Lake County (777) and McHenry County (635). Total reported state-wide (16,651) up (981) from 1991.

MOTORISTS ADVISED TO WATCH FOR DEER - Accidents between deer and vehicles are likely to reach their highest levels of the year within the next several weeks, according to Conservation Director Brent Manning.

Because deer tend to travel together during the mating season, seeing one deer along a roadway often means there are more nearby. Motorists who see deer should reduce speed slowly and sound the car's horn in short bursts. To try to get deer to move off a road at night, drivers should alternate blinking their headlights from bright to dim. Studies regarding the effectiveness of such car devices as 'deer whistles' in preventing accidents have not yielded conclusive results.

Paul Shelton, forest wildlife program manager for the Department of Conservation (DOC), said the peak time for accidents coincides with when deer are most active -- just before sunset until about 11 p.m. and in the hours around sunrise.

A driver hitting a deer is allowed to have it processed, but must inform a DOC regional law enforcement office no later than the next regular working day or within 24 hours if the accident occurs Monday through Thursday. If a driver doesn't want the deer, any Illinois citizen can claim it by notifying a regional office. Offices are located in Sterling, (815) 625-2968; Spring Grove, (815) 675-2385; Champaign, (217) 333-5773; Alton, (618) 462-1181; and Benton, (618) 435-8183.

LAW ENFORCEMENT DIVISION PLANNED - Efforts are underway in Congress to establish a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service 'law enforcement division,' through H.R. 2360. Sponsored by Rep. Richard N. Lehman (D-Calif.), the bill splits out the service's current law enforcement unit and places it under a proposed law enforcement assistant director. The measure has been referred to the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries. No hearing date has been set. The Wildlife Legislative Fund of America National and International Affairs Director William P. Horn was critical of the bill noting that it does not go far enough to ensure that enforcement supports Fish and Wildlife Service goals and programs. In certain instances over the past few years, he said, service enforcement actions were not closely tied to its wildlife-conservation mission. Horn said the Lehman legislation will create a situation in which enforcement acts as an entity unto itself, not as a critical component of wildlife management, as it should.

U.S. BOATING DEATH DROP - According to the Hayward, Wisconsin, based FISHING HALL OF FAME "The U.S. Coast Guard reported that boating deaths reached a new low: 816 deaths in 1992. This record lowered the previous low of 865 deaths in 1990. In 1987, there were 1,036 boating deaths, representing a fatality rate of 6.1 per 100,000 boaters. The 1992 rate was 4.0 fatalities per 100,000.

The Coast Guard encourages the use of life preservers when in a boat and discourages the use of alcohol. The Coast Guard supports stricter enforcement of 'boating under the influence' laws, for mandatory testing for alcohol after boating accidents, and the mandatory use of life preservers for children.

In Florida, the much publicized deaths of two major league ball players led the state to lower the blood alcohol limit on boaters from .10 to .08."

Full Disclosure

Initiating a full scale, voluntary and unprecedented public disclosure of internal preliminary management letters of the Cook County Circuit Court Clerk's office, Aurelia Pucinski, Clerk of the Circuit Court, went beyond the Nov. 1 narrow order by the Cook County Board of Commissioners to direct the material to the Chairman of the Finance Committee, John Stroger, alone. In a letter to Commissioner John Stroger, attached to a phone book size ream of reports, Pucinski said, "The request defies, as you know, basic public accounting industry standards and basic business school principles, and rests on questionable legal ground."

But Pucinski added, "I am proud of my accomplishments...and I am always grateful for any opportunity to cite the advances made managing the world's largest court system."

Pucinski, who is a candidate for Cook County Board President and will be challenged by Stroger and Commissioner Maria Pappas in the March Democratic primary, said, "I am concerned that the Board of Commissioners may be used as a campaign fishing pole on behalf of the political interests of its individual members."

Pucinski added that her decision to fully disclose her office's preliminary management papers should not be interpreted as a precedent for other Cook County elected officers. "These internal work documents are not released by agency heads in the City of Chicago, Kane County, the Illinois or the United States government," said Pucinski.

Preliminary Management Letters

Preliminary management letters are developed by the Auditor's staff during the course of an audit. They are a compilation of questions, suggestions and observations made by the Auditor's staff. They are submitted to management which reviews them and responds. During the response phase, items may be clarified, accepted or eliminated. The items which remain after the discussion become part of the action plan of management. It is those remaining items in a final management letter which are normally released by the auditor with the financial statement. The two documents are considered the "Final Audit."

The Cook County Auditor has never released the Preliminary Management Letters because they are so often corrected, reduced or eliminated during the response phase. These letters are an important but incomplete tool for management to focus on potential problems.

They are not released by the auditors or agency heads in the City of Chicago, Kane County, the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District, or the Federal Government. State agencies do not release them. The Government Finance Officers Association, public staff at De Paul University and the public accounting staff at Arthur Anderson, when asked, all responded that these preliminary management letters are also not released because they are not final, but that normally the final management letters are released along with the financial statement to form the final audit.

Review Of Tax Credits Needed

On Monday, state revenue officials and tax experts told members of the Senate revenue committee that tax breaks in Illinois' income and sales taxes account for nearly $3 billion annually. Committee members heard testimony from representatives of the economic and fiscal commission, comptroller's office, Taxpayers' Federation, and the University of Illinois' Institute of Government and Public Affairs about the impact of state tax exemptions, exceptions and tax credits on the state economy.

Assistant Senate Majority Leader Aldo DeAngelis (R-40), who chairs the revenue committee, says rethinking the current system of tax breaks may be one way to free up more revenue for the state budget.

"Over a period of years, many exemptions and exceptions have been passed by the Legislature. It would be wise to assess the cumulative impact. I was surprised to learn that tax breaks for sales and income taxes total nearly $3 billion annually," DeAngelis said.

State Sen. Patrick O'Malley (R-18), whose Senate Resolution 232 called for the study of the tax system, says a review of existing tax exemptions will help the committee identify any exemptions that might have been useful when they were passed, but are now unnecessary.

"Policy decisions such as tax exemptions should be revisited from time to time for fine-tuning. Many of the exemptions that made sense when they were approved may not be relevant now," O'Malley said. "Decisions that were made years ago, when conditions were very different, could be denying the state much-needed tax revenue. Repealing unnecessary exemptions would provide more dollars for education, allow for property tax relief and avoid tax increases. To do otherwise would result in a windfall for special interests at the expense of Illinois taxpayers."

O'Malley says an example of an unnecessary tax credit is the state's retail rate law, which requires electric utilities to buy electricity generated from garbage incinerators at inflated prices. Because the utilities take a tax credit for these excess payments, the net effect is an interest-free loan for incinerator operators subsidized by taxpayers. Witnesses testifying about the retail rate law recommended that its provisions affecting garbage incinerators be repealed because they permit incineration to compete unfairly with recycling and reprocessing businesses that could be a more cost-effective and environmentally sound source of jobs.

"The Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) estimated that the developer of a single garbage incinerator in southwest Cook County will receive an aggregate subsidy of almost $300 million over the next 20 years," O'Malley said. "To put this in perspective, the 80 permanent jobs projected to be created in that development will cost taxpayers more than $186,000 per job, per year. That doesn't fit my definition of meaningful economic development."

O'Malley says it takes a tremendous effort by the Legislature to repeal such a rich subsidy program. An alternative way to weed out such unnecessary exemptions in the future would be to require a sunset provision, which would set a time limit on legislation creating an exemption.

"Rather than requiring the Legislature to repeal exemptions, a sunset provision would place the burden on proponents by making them come forward to offer evidence and testimony supporting the extension of their exemptions," O'Malley pointed out.

DeAngelis says the revenue committee has been working with public and private groups since July to study the state's tax system. Prior meetings have focused on the property tax system; existing state revenue sources, such as the income tax and sales tax; and the state school-aid formula. The committee is scheduled to submit recommendations for change to the General Assembly by Dec. 1st.

Ethanol Expansion

Gov. Jim Edgar recently commended Midwest Grain Products Inc. on the $43 million expansion of its ethanol production facility in Pekin.

"I am pleased to see Midwest Grain become one of the first companies in the nation to take steps to expand its ethanol production facilities since the passage of the Clean Air Act," the governor said. "By producing more ethanol in Illinois, it is helping support and strengthen the economy of the entire Midwest."

The multi-million dollar expansion project will increase the Pekin plant's production of ethanol by nearly 60 million gallons yearly, tripling its current output, and will double the total alcohol production capacity of the Atchinson, Kan.-based company. It is the single largest expansion project in the corporation's history.

The project is expected to be completed in early 1995 and will employ about 200 construction workers.

"Many firms have been unwilling to commit more funds toward the production of ethanol fuels in light of the uncertainty of the Clinton administration's position on the reformulated fuels program," Edgar, who is the current chairman of the Governors' Ethanol Coalition, said. "Midwest Grain Inc. is to be congratulated for its vision."

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has reviewed the use of ethanol in compliance with the Clean Air Act for more than two years. In a recent letter to President Clinton, Edgar urged the U.S. EPA to consider the finding of a comprehensive study on ethanol which further demonstrated the environmental advantages of ethanol-blended fuels.

Illinois leads the nation in production of ethanol and is the second largest producer of corn.

MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of Moraine Valley Community College is to educate the whole person according to a philosophy which values the physical, social, intellectual, emotional and ethical dimensions and recognizes our responsibilities to one another and to the world we share. To this end, the college provides an accessible, affordable environment for learning which promotes quality in education, excellence in service and a sensitivity to its partnership with a diverse and multicultural community.

The college fulfills its educational mission through:

GENERAL EDUCATION courses integrated throughout the college which foster critical thinking and enable informed judgement and decision making.

UNIVERSITY PREPARATION course work in sciences and business leading to an associate's degree or university transfer.

CAREER EDUCATION, occupational preparation and workforce development centered around business and community needs leading to a certificate or an associate's degree.

CONTINUING EDUCATION resources for the community to engage in lifelong learning and cultural enrichment.

Disability Act
Video Packages

A new era of civil right has begun. With the president's signing of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), the nation's 43 million physically and mentally disabled citizens were formally acknowledged and granted federal protection from discrimination.

The Appraisal Institute's new videotape, "A Clear Path: The Americans with Disabilities Act and Its Impact on Real Estate Appraisal," explores the impact that this landmark legislation will have on the valuation of commercial real estate. Drawing on the expertise of lawyers, architects, appraisers, and ADA consultants, the video examines various communication and architectural barriers to the disabled. It also answers appraisers' questions concerning how the ADA may affect a property's value, what structural components appraisers should look for in inspecting properties, and where the appraiser's legal responsibility lies in the preparation of appraisal reports.

According to Appraisal Institute President Bernard J. Fountain, MAI, SRA, "By becoming familiar with the Americans with Disabilities Act, appraisers can play an important role in bringing about social change and helping to provide disabled persons with the opportunities all Americans rightfully deserve."

Each video package includes a complimentary booklet with a list of 21 readily achievable alterations that can bring a property into compliance with ADA requirements, a list of agencies and organizations that provide information and advice on the ADA; and the Appraisal Institute's Guide Note 9, "The Consideration of the Americans with Disabilities Act in the Appraisal Process."

The 43-minute videotape is priced at $65, but Appraisal Institute members and affiliates may purchase a single copy for $52 through Dec. 31st. Subsequent videos can be purchased for $65. (Add $3.50 for shipping and handling for each video ordered; Illinois residents add 8.75 percent sales tax.)

To order, send a check or money order to: Appraisal Institute, P.O. Box 10956, Dept. 93ADANR, Chicago, IL 60610-0956, or call (312) 733-2979. Visa and MasterCard are accepted.

Anti-Smoking Exhibit

Noted Chicago artist Norym presents the 1993 installation of his annual exhibit "Glamour is Myth," which was created four years ago as an expression of concern for the perils and dangers involved with smoking. The exhibit of approximately 20 different artworks uses collage and paint mediums to create works of striking beauty and elegance with an anti-smoking message woven throughout in multiple languages. The concept for "Glamour is Myth" evolved from Norym's first anti-smoking exhibit "No Smoking In The Tea." During the past 10 years, Norym's creations have appeared in art galleries, nightclubs and in "Playboy" magazine.

"Glamour is Myth" is designed to reinforce the U.S. Surgeon General's message that smoking is dangerous, and that the glamorous image of smoking portrayed by advertisers is an illusion. Previous exhibits have received letters of support from President Bill Clinton, Mayor Richard M. Daley, as well as a spoken tribute from U.S. Representative Bobby L. Rush, a part of the Congressional Record.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

Much has been written recently about the Office of the Cook County Regional Superintendent of Schools which criticizes the way in which Cook County Board President Richard Phelan and the county board run the office. Critics' comments are extremely misleading. When Phelan campaigned for Cook County Board President in 1990, one of his campaign promises was to eliminate the office of the county superintendent of schools. Phelan believes the office is duplicative, an unnecessary bureaucracy riddled with red tape and a waste of taxpayers' money. Phelan recently released a task force report which states that the functions of the office can be better performed by the state board of education and recommended appropriate state agencies and departments to assume the duties.

In 1991, Phelan secured a 1995 elimination date for the office from the Illinois General Assembly and shifted the burden of funding the office from property taxpayers to the users of the office's services who pay fees. In 1992, he returned to the General Assembly and with bipartisan support accelerated the elimination date to 1994. Unfortunately in 1993, through political jockeying and just plain poor judgment, the governor and General Assembly reinstated this ineffective and unnecessary office. On July 7th, the Cook County Board of Commissioners passed a resolution 16-0 in favor of the office's abolishment. Phelan plans to return to Springfield to push for the office's elimination.

Critics oppose Phelan's efforts to abolish the Cook County Superintendent's Office and are now trying to reinstate the office in 1995. They also support the findings of a state education bureaucrat that the Cook County Superintendent must be financed by taxpayers and not by fee-payers who use the office.

Phelan contends that until the office is eliminated, the users of the office's services should pay for the office through fees instead of draining the pockets of taxpayers. The Cook County Auditor and a 1991 opinion of State's Attorney Jack O'Malley agree that placing the burden of this office on the users of the office and not the taxpayers was proper and have disputed the state bureaucrat's findings.

If efforts to revive the office are successful, it will cost Cook County taxpayers millions of dollars every year, money that could be better spent on educating our children and retraining our workers.

Very truly yours,
Jennifer Bialobok

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT partnerships with business, government and social agencies, both public and private, for the development and improvement of communities.

STUDENT DEVELOPMENT programs and services to encourage and enhance academic, career and personal growth in a diverse and changing student population.

DEVELOPMENTAL EDUCATION course work and remediation in mathematics, reading and writing leading to college entry or high school equivalency.

By dedicating its human, physical, financial and informational resources to these purposes, the college affirms a commitment to its role in preparing informed citizens for participation in a global community.

Brother Michael Quirk, F.S.C., president of De La Salle Institute, 3455 S. Wabash, has been named recipient of the Illinois Institute of Technology's Community Recognition Award for Education.

"Receiving this award from IIT is an honor both for me and for De La Salle, and for our efforts at educating boys who go to De," said Bro. Quirk who has been at De La Salle since 1983 and been its president since 1988.

The Community Recognition Awards recognize leadership and spirit in the areas of Community Development, Continuing Service to the Community, Education, Faculty Commitment to Community Enrichment, Public Service, Sustained Leadership to the Community, and Student Community Service.

Bro. Quirk was presented with the award at IIT's Second Annual Community Recognition Awards Dinner on Wednesday, Nov. 10th.

"It's Academic"

"St. Rita High School, 7740 S. Western Ave., will hold its 9th annual 'It's Academic' competition on Thursday, Nov. 18th at 4 p.m.," announced John Bourgeois, director of admissions. "Last year over 100 students from 25 schools participated in the event which consisted of an individual examination along with the team competition." The team competition was won last year by St. Barnabas as they defeated Christ the King in the championship round. St. Gerald was last year's third place finisher. Each round saw very spirited and competitive contests with each team serving as excellent representatives for their respective schools. The competition consists of four-man teams who first participate in an individual section, then enjoy dinner in the cafeteria before the main event—the team quiz bowl competition where teams play for championship plaques.

The deadline for registration is Monday, Nov. 15th. For information or to register a team for the competition, contact the admissions office at (312) 974-6600, ext. 27.

Dinner

Financial Women International, South Suburban Group, is holding its November dinner-meeting on Tuesday, the 16th at the Old Barn Restaurant, 8100 S. Parkside. The speaker for the evening will be Kevin Butler from the Chicago Bears. The cost is $30 for members and guests. A cocktail hour begins at 5 p.m. followed by dinner at 6 p.m.

For additional information or reservations, call Candice DeYoung or Pat Greeney at South Holland Trust & Savings Bank at (708) 333-2600.

New Orange Line

Mayor Richard M. Daley steps off the Chicago Transit Authority's new Orange Line, which provides rapid transit service from the Loop to Midway Airport. The Mayor said, "Southwest side residents can now enjoy, for the first time, the convenience and speed of rapid transit service to and from downtown. The new line will improve access to jobs, open up educational and recreational opportunities, and ease traffic congestion."

The Orange Line is a true boon to South and Southwest area commuters who have been spending as much as $20 a day to park their cars downtown. Midway has an all day parking charge of $1.50 and from there aboard the Orange Line travel time to the Loop is 30 minutes or less. Trains run every 6 to 8 minutes during the rush period with free connections to all other CTA train lines. Sixty CTA and Pace bus routes connect to the line.

Travelers aboard the the Orange Line will appreciate the convenient, smooth ride and wide aisles with plenty of room for luggage or carry on shopping.

Catholics Celebrate 150 Years

Cardinal Joseph Bernardin announced plans for the sesquicentennial celebration year of the Archdiocese of Chicago at a news conference on Nov. 9th. The news conference took place at one of the most historic buildings in the Archdiocese, Old Saint Patrick's Church, 700 W. Adams. During the news conference, Cardinal Bernardin formally announced the theme of the anniversary celebration: "Rooted in faith, rising to our call," and asked all Catholic parishes throughout Cook and Lake counties to ring bells at noon on Sunday, Nov. 21st, as part of a joyous ceremony beginning the celebration.

The Archdiocese of Chicago was officially founded as a Roman Catholic diocese on Nov. 28, 1843. Today it is the second-largest Roman Catholic diocese in the United States.

Speakers at the conference included the co-chairs of Sesquicentennial, Rev. James J. Close and former State Senator Phil Rock.

Media Consultant

Jeff Ladd, a Republican candidate for Illinois Attorney General in next spring's primary election, announced the signing of The Murphy, Pintak Gautier Agency, one of the national GOP's top media consulting firms, to his bid for public office.

"I am proud to have the best talent available to help us win this initial battle in the war on violent crime. Cliff Pintak has been in the trenches. He understands my message and knows how to communicate it effectively to the voters. Before we can get the gangs, drugs and guns off the street, we have to get the Democrats out of the Attorney General's Office."

Pintak, a partner in the Washington, D.C.-based firm, will be the agency's lead consultant in the Ladd effort. Pintak heads for Illinois directly from New Jersey, where he spearheaded a massive political upset that saw Christie Whitman elected Governor of New Jersey. Murphy, Pintak Gautier was the media consulting firm for Whitman in her defeat of incumbent James Florio. The firm was pitted against Clinton advisor James Carville who was Florio's lead consultant.

The Murphy, Pintak Gautier Agency, Inc. had the best record of any GOP media firm in the country in electing open and challenger seat candidates in 1992. (Ladd is running for the open seat of Attorney General Roland Burris, who is running for Governor.) They helped elect two GOP Senate freshmen and four GOP House freshmen in 1992. Clients of the firm have included: Sen. Bob Dole (Kansas); Gov. John Engler (Michigan); Sen. Dick Kempthorne (Idaho); Sen. Larry Pressler (South Dakota); Sen. Paul Coverdell (Georgia); and Sen. Slade Gorton (Washington).

"It is a privilege to be able to return to this state in the service of Jeff Ladd," said Pintak. "By March 15th, every Republican in Illinois will know why Jeff Ladd's program to make Illinois the toughest state in the nation on guns, gangs and drugs will work. We think Illinoisans agree with Ladd when he says that the state needs someone who'll be a 'little less attorney and a lot more general'."

Area Labor Survey

Employees of the U.S. Census Bureau are to visit a sample of area residents the week of Nov. 14th to 20th to collect labor force information for the current population survey, according to Stanley D. Moore, director of the bureau's Chicago regional office. Local data contributes to November's national employment and unemployment picture to be released on Dec. 3rd by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The Census Bureau collects monthly labor force data for BLS from a national sample of 71,000 households. This month's survey will include questions on school enrollment and computer usage.

Information supplied by individuals is kept confidential by law. Only statistical totals are published.

SWSRA Fundraiser

South West Special Recreation Association (SWSRA) is holding its annual Candlelight Bowl Fundraiser on Saturday, Nov. 20th. Tickets are $15 per person and bowling begins at 9:30 p.m. This fundraiser takes place at Orland Bowl, 8601 W. 159th St. Family and friends will enjoy four games of bowling (two peek-a-boo, one crazy bowl and one scotch doubles), a buffet dinner and over 150 door prizes, drawing prizes and "split-the-deck." All proceeds benefit recreation programs for individuals with disabilities, ages three to seniors.

To purchase tickets, or for program information, contact the SWSRA office between 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday at (708) 389-9423.

VETERANS DAY....Today we should all pause for a moment and remember all the veterans from all the wars the United States has been involved in since the founding of this great nation. And let us also not forget those who gave that last full measure of devotion to our country.

SPEAKING OF VETERANS...

Ray Rayner (inset), one of the most beloved veterans from his many years at WGN-TV as well as appearing in numerous theatre productions around the Chicago area, will return to Chicago from his New Mexico home to star in the Light Opera Works holiday production of "Babes in Toyland" which opens Dec. 26 and runs through Jan. 2 at the Cahn Auditorium in Evanston. Rayner's most memorable television roles were as Oliver O. Oliver on "Bozo's Circus" and his own long-running "The Ray Rayner Show." Another old friend of this columnist is Chuck Schaden, the guru of old time radio and a noted historian of the industry's "golden era," who was inducted into the Radio Hall of Fame last Sunday at the Museum of Broadcast Communication's Chicago Cultural Center. Schaden can be heard Monday through Friday at 12 midnight on WBBM radio where he hosts "Old Time Radio Classics." On Saturday and Sunday the program airs from 8 to 10 p.m. He also has been host for the past 23 years of "Those Were The Days" which airs on WNIB-FM. Schaden has an extensive collection of vintage radio programs such as "Fibber McGee and Molly," "The Fred Allen Show," "Charlie McCarthy and Edgar Bergen," "The Green Hornet," "The Lone Ranger" and "Lux Presents Hollywood" just to name a few of the old time radio shows he plays for his vast and faithful listening audience.

NOTES TO YOU....The Original Gino's East Pizza, synonymous with Chicago-style deep-dish pizza for more than 25 years, has opened a restaurant in Orland Park at 15840 S. Harlem....St. Rita High School and Chicago Vocational High School are among the top 15 high school bands from across the country who will perform in Brach's Holiday Parade scheduled to march up Michigan Ave. on Saturday, Nov. 27 beginning at 12 noon....Fellecia Ferguson and Emmett Miller, Channel Five news reporters, will host the fourth edition of "News For Kids: Chicago Style" which will be aired on Channel 5 on Dec. 4 at 9:30 a.m.

MEREDITH BENSON

and WILLIAM BAIERBACH (inset) are featured in the world premiere of "The Gift of the Magi" which opened last night at the Steppenwolf Theatre, 1650 N. Halsted. The production is part of Ballet Chicago's "1993 Holiday Program" which also includes "In a Nutshell" and "The Nutcracker" and will run through Sunday, Nov. 21....The Apple Tree Theatre Company, in association with Mill Mountain Theatre of Roanoke, Virginia, will present "All I Really Need To Know I Learned In Kindergarten!" which opens Dec. 5 and runs through Jan. 2 at the theatre located in Highland Park....Moraline Valley Community College's Theatre Department will present "A Flea in Her Ear" opening Dec. 9, running through Dec. 12...."Nunsense II, The Second Coming" will begin discount previews on Dec. 1 at the Candlelight Dinner Playhouse. The first production ran two and a half years and "Nunsense II" picks up where the original left off, featuring the lovable nuns up to their old fund-raising tricks, staging a variety show to thank those who supported their first production.

CARMEN DECKER (inset) appears in the world premiere of "The Queen of Bingo" which opens Nov. 20 at the new Buckingham Theatre in the Congress Hotel, 520 N. Michigan. The comedy explores the relationship of two sisters who come to discover the secrets of life, love, gambling and weight loss at a Bingo game in St. Joseph's church basement....John Travolta and Kristie Alley co-star in "Look Who's Talking Now" which opened last Friday at movie houses all around Chicago....Irish writer Roddy Doyle's second installment from his "Barrytown Trilogy," "The Snapper" will be coming to a theatre near you soon. Doyle's first movie, "The Commitments," was a big box office hit....Michael Keaton and Nicole Kidman star in "My Life" which opens tomorrow at theatres all around the Chicago area. The movie is a touching story of a man who discovers he has cancer and might not live to see the birth of his first child.

This year's all-school musical at Mother McAuley High School, "Belis Are Ringing," tells the story of how a young switchboard operator, Ella Peterson, has a positive effect on the lives of the people around her. Set in the 1950s, "Belis Are Ringing" features an unforgettable music score and fine choreography. Performances are on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 18th, 19th and 20th at 8 p.m., and on Sunday, Nov. 21st at 3 p.m. Tickets are $7 and can be purchased at the door. Special performances will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 17th for children and senior citizens. For further information call (312) 881-6512.

Mrs. Patricia Haynes, chairperson of McAuley's theatre department and director of the 99th Street Summer Theatre, is director of "Belis Are Ringing." Assisting her are Jalinda Wilson (Chicago) and Tarah Karczewski (Beverly); Stage Managers Lee Harwig (Evergreen Park), Cathy Crudele (Evergreen Park) and Molra Rellily (Evergreen Park) and Choreographer Michael Gutrich. Sister Ellen Marie Ryan, RSM and Don Hall are directing the vocal music. Mrs. Phyllis Karge, Roger Rocco and Miss Christine Stefaniak are directing the orchestra.

Annual "Messiah"

In celebration of Christmas, the South Side Choral Group of Chicago is presenting two performances of Handel's "Messiah" this holiday season. The group is under the direction of Mr. Robert Iler, formerly of Moody Bible Institute. Performances are scheduled on Saturday, Dec. 4th at Elim Baptist Church, 10835 S. Pulaski Rd., at 7:30 p.m., and on Saturday, Dec. 11th at Salem Baptist Church, 15500 S. 73rd Ave., at 7:30 p.m.

The choral group is a chorus composed of approximately 100 voices, all volunteers, representing some 35 churches in the southern suburbs and surrounding areas. The performances are free of charge, although a freewill offering is taken at each performance to help defray the costs of professional soloists and musicians.

Area residents participating in these productions of "Messiah" include Roxanna Marinka and Leonard Reichard of Chicago Ridge; Herbert Petersen of Evergreen Park;

Township Flea Market

Worth Township Supervisor Joan Patricia Murphy announced that the township is to be the site of a flea market on Saturday, Nov. 13th from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

According to Murphy, "this event could serve as a great opportunity to turn items like clothing, jewelry, toys, artwork or crafts into cash for the holidays."

Prepaid advance registration is required. The cost for reserving a 10 ft. by 6 ft. space is $15; 8-foot table reservations are $20 each.

Area residents interested in renting display space should contact Gabe or Nancy at (708) 371-2900.

Larry Bettenhausen, Evelyn Bettenhausen, Olive Mekebak, Doris Watchek and Cindy Wessels of Midlothian; Virginia Brinnel of Oak Lawn; and David Gordon of Orland Park.

For more information, call Diana Erickson at (708) 636-8556.

Cast Announced

The Oak Lawn Park District has announced the cast for the fall theatre production of Studs Terkel's "Working," scheduled for two weekends at 8 p.m., Friday, Nov. 12th; Saturday, Nov. 13th; and Friday, Nov. 19th; Saturday, Nov. 20th. Sunday matinee performances will be held at 3 p.m. on Nov. 14th and 21st, with all performances at Oakview Center, 4625 W. 110th St.

"Working" is about the working class of Chicago and what each of us loves and hates about our jobs. The story was adapted by Stephen Schwartz and Nino Faso and songs are by Craig Carnelia, Micki Grant, Nancy Rogers, Stephen Schwartz and James Taylor.

Cast members include Oak Lawn residents Debbie Bacon (teacher), Curt Lang (stock boy), Melissa Orban (dancer); Chicago residents Kim Brines (waitress), Veronica Sundstrom (telephone operator), Angela Mehalak (housewife) and Mitch Young (car attendant); Orland Park residents Julie Cummins (prostitute), Sara Ketchum (chorus), Josie Nirchi (cleaning woman) and Lynn Cihlar (chorus); Summit resident Ted Bojanowski (retired man); Chicago Ridge resident Tod Gourley (migrant worker); Burbank resident Scott Hayes (fireman); Evergreen Park resident Steven Kind (newsboy); Western Springs resident David P. Knezz; Oak Forest resident Carly Morgan (chorus); and Buffalo Grove resident Terri Ryan-Schlossberg (executive).

Orland Park resident Paul Nirchi will produce the musical with Tom Dzurison directing and Lynn Cihlar as assistant director. Diane Madden is musical director and Laura Parson from Oak Lawn will choreograph the musical numbers.

Tickets are $8 for adults; $6 for seniors and children.

Elsie was born in Palos Park, April 12, 1916, the daughter of Eugene and Minnie Martin. She married Alfred Bodin March 10, 1937 and moved to Worth where she lived until she moved to Bridgeview Convalescence Center.

The Rev. Michael Thierer officiated. Interment was at Fairmont Willow Hills Cemetery, Willow Springs.

Edward W. Burba

Chapel Services were held at the Hills Funeral Home, Palos Hills, on Tuesday, with interment at Resurrection Cemetery, for Edward W. Burba.

He was the husband of Winifred and brother of Robert.

William Baker

Mass was said at Incarnation Church, Palos Heights, on Saturday, with interment at St. Mary Cemetery, for William "Tom" Baker.

He was the husband of Dora and father of Chris and Bill.

Martha M. Schmaedeke

Services were held at Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church, Orland Park, on Friday, with interment at Christ Lutheran Cemetery, for Martha M. Schmaedeke, 85, a licensed funeral director, who, along with her husband, the late Orville, founded Schmaedeke Funeral Home in Orland Park and Worth. The Orland Park funeral home was established in 1935, at 14205 S. Union Ave. The second funeral home was opened in Worth, in 1959. The Schmaedeke's ran both locations until they retired in 1982, and their son took over.

Mrs. Schmaedeke was also a member of the Palos Heights Women's Club and the Orland Park Historical Society. She was a frequent donor to a number of charities and did volunteer work. She was a member of the Quarterly Dance Club.

She was the mother of Richard S. (Janee) and Barbara S. (David) Sheldon; grandmother of five and great-grandmother of one.

George W. Wille

Services were held at Salem Evangelical Lutheran Church, Blue Island, on Monday, with interment at Chapel Hill Gardens, South, for George W. Wille, 92, of Blue Island, the founder of Wille Brothers Company of Blue Island, Oak Forest and Alsip.

He was the father of Roy (Josephine), Richard (Ida), and Elaine (Vern) Lentz; grandfather of 16; great-grandfather of 32; and brother of Frieda Nordbrock.

Dorothy B. Neighbors

Mass was said at Sacred Heart Church, Palos Hills, on Monday, with interment at Queen of Heaven Cemetery, for Dorothy B. Neighbors, 68, a member of the Worth Friendship Club.

She was the mother of Timothy (Michele) and grandmother of two.

Richard H. Freimuth

A memorial mass was said at St. Linus Church, Oak Lawn, on Wednesday, for Richard H. Freimuth, late of Fresno, Calif., formerly of Oak Lawn.

He was the husband of Dr. Beth Hartung-Freimuth; father of Keith Robert; son of Henry and Margaret Borsch Freimuth; and brother of Bradley (Joyce).

William T. Dugdale

A chapel service was held at Blake-Lamb/Becvar Funeral Home, Worth, on Saturday, with interment at Mt. Hope Cemetery, for William T. Dugdale, a veteran of World War II.

He was the husband of Beatrice; father of Lee (Bill) Dwyer; grandfather of three and brother of Robert (Madelyn).

What Was Happening...

50 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE INDEPENDENT

Albert H. Brandt, president of the village of Oak Lawn, is urging women of the town to consider joining the WACS. He says: "Applications for enlistment in the WACS, together with pertinent data regarding requirements, jobs the WACS do, their training, pay and officer selection may be obtained at the village hall, 9437 Cook av."

Rev. J. H. Prange, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church of Oak Lawn, has accepted a call to Benson, Ill., and will leave Nov. 1. Rev. Prange has been the pastor here for the past 17 years, during which time a beautiful church was built and dedicated in 1940. Rev. Prange said he has enjoyed the work very much.

The Oak Lawn Lions club voted to hold a theatre party in January at their last meeting. A committee will be appointed to arrange details. At that meeting Alyda Ratajik entertained with music on the vibra-harp. She was forced to play several encores.

The regular November meeting of the Oak Lawn PTA will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 9th at 8 p.m. at Covington School. A movie "And So They Live" will be shown. C. Sward, principal, will entertain. The children are asked not to attend this meeting. Refreshments will be served.

A two-story building on the premises of Max Rettinger at 91st and Moody, a barn and chicken storage building, was totally destroyed on Monday night by fire caused by defective wiring. Fire departments from Oak Lawn, Grandview and Columbus Manor put out the fire and saved the house and other buildings.

On Oct. 26th, a car driven by Arthur Aldrich collided with another car at 121st St. and Ann St. in Blue Island while enroute to the Blue Island High School with five classmates. Herbert Mott was seriously injured and is in the hospital. The other occupants escaped with minor cuts and bruises. Both cars were demolished.

There will be pies, cakes, rolls, coffee cakes, salads, baked beans and other delicatessen items at St. Gerald's Altar and Rosary Society's hake sale to be held at Elmore's real estate office, 5324 W. 95th St., on Saturday, Nov. 6th. Space was donated by Mr. Elmore.

At the Nov. 2nd meeting of the Oak Lawn Lions, the club passed a resolution requesting the village board to install the Chicago street-naming system in such portions of Oak Lawn as are not now covered by the Chicago system. It appears that the area between Cicero and Central Aves., one mile, is the only area where street names require changing.

Home nursing instruction began this Wednesday evening in Columbus Manor at 7:30 p.m. in MacDonald's basement. All women are asked to attend these classes as they are so valuable when doctors are extremely busy.

Rev. Oscar R. Smith of Richmond, Ind., who has accepted the call to the pastorate of Trinity Lutheran Church, Oak Lawn, will be officially installed on Sunday, Nov. 21st. The installation service will be held at 10 a.m. and a reception preceded by a pot-luck supper will be given in the parish hall, 97th and Brandt Ave., at 6:30 p.m.

PARK DISTRICT NOTES

The Oak Lawn Park District Community Pavilion, 9401 S. Oak Park, is offering three months free with a membership purchase through Nov. to 25th. Yearly resident memberships cost $75 with the senior rate of $60. Promotion also applies to non-residents. For more information, call the pavilion at 857-2420.

Oak Lawn residents have already received the winter program brochure and non-residents may pick up a brochure at any facility location: Oakview Center, 4625 W. 110th; Ice Arena, 9400 S. Kenton; Tennis & Racquetball Club, 10444 S. Central; Administration Office, 5760 W. 95th; and the Community Pavilion. Resident registration begins on Nov. 8th. Great Escape registration is on Nov. 6th and non-residents may register beginning on Nov. 22nd.

A grand opening of the Oak Lawn Tennis & Racquetball Club is scheduled for Friday, Nov. 12th and Saturday, Nov. 13th. The club recently underwent extensive renovation and is now open. Scheduled from 6 to 9 p.m. on Friday are free racquetball lessons and tennis lessons and an exhibition tennis match with local pros from 7 to 9 p.m.

On Saturday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, tennis lessons will again be offered and a wallyball tournament with an eight-team sign-up. The new pro shop will offer a special on all Nike products and selected pro shop items. Other special offers of the weekend include a tennis and racquetball membership "One Month Free" special and a "2 for 1" fitness membership for new members. A $15 stringing special by a certified U.S.R.S.A. stringer will be available for all size tennis & racquetball racquets this month.

Registration is required for all free lessons and wallyball tournament. For more information, call the Racquet Club at 857-2215.

The Buckingham, a popular group from the 1960s, will appear in concert on Saturday, Nov. 13th, at Moraine Valley Community College. The concert, sponsored by the college's Student Senate, is a benefit for the homeless.

Summer Reading

A total of 1,878 Oak Lawn children and elementary students participated in the Oak Lawn Public Library's "Amazing Book Capers" summer reading program. They read 35,697 books during a 10-week session. The young people were from 18 Oak Lawn schools, from preschool through eighth grade.

For their efforts, the young people earned 1,159 certificates of achievement and 1,158 prizes. Prizes were donated by local merchants.

Information about fall programs sponsored by the library's youth services department is available in the library or by calling (708)

422-4990 and asking for that department. The library is at 9427 Raymond Ave.

Speaker

Kathleen Dravillas, assistant attorney general in the consumer protection division, in the office of Illinois Attorney General Roland W. Burris is the guest speaker for the Faith Seniors on Thursday, Nov. 18th.

Grace Scott, program coordinator, announced the meeting will be held in the Faith Lutheran Church, 9700 S. Melvina, at 1:15 p.m. Kathy will share her expertise on "Consumer Protection and Fraud."

Leaders Workshop

Oak Lawn Community High School and the Illinois Cook County Sheriff's Youth Service Department provide a workshop each year for officers of all student extra-curricular clubs and organizations. It takes place at school, during the school day. For six hours recently, students attended this required program.

The training includes group simulations, discussions, role-playing and team-building about such topics as communicating with peers and advisors and administrators, cooperation among peers and adults, courtesy, conflict resolution, decision-making as it relates to the school mission statement, role-modeling, and encouraging school spirit within the entire school.

By offering this program, student leaders hope to increase participation in co-curricular activities; provide officers with knowledge and skills for effective leadership; encourage students with leadership promise to develop their potential; help student leaders to communicate more effectively with peers and staff; assist sponsors in their advisory role; serve as role models, not only in their individual club or sport, but throughout the school; and give students a voice in the decision-making process on issues that affect them as outlined in the school's new mission statement.

Drug Abuse Study Warns Of "Upward Trend"

Drug-related problems are sending more people to Chicago hospital emergency rooms according to a new federal report. Illinois Department of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (DASA) Director Jim Long says this is more evidence that illegal drugs like cocaine and heroin continue to be a serious problem.

The Drug Abuse Warning Network (DAWN) study estimates the number of emergency room visits that are drug-related, based upon sampling of hospitals in major cities including Chicago. The 1992 DAWN estimates continue an upward trend that began three years ago. Cocaine is the primary reason for the national increase according to the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration which released the study.

"These emergency room episodes include life-threatening emergencies like overdose, chronic health problems that result from addiction, and addicts seeking treatment," said Long.

Trends measured in Chicago match the national experience, with increases in both cocaine and heroin-related emergency hospital visits. Drug abuse mentions in Chicago emergency rooms rose from 23,616 in 1990 to 30,532 in 1992. Cocaine-related mentions increased from 4,900 to 8,200 during the same two year period. Heroin-related mentions increased from 1,848 in 1988 to 2,958 in 1992.

"This increase in drug-related emergency room episodes comes at the same time that illegal drug use is decreasing among the general population," Long said. "We know that drug users become more susceptible to addiction's severe medical consequences over time. There is a population of aging, chronic drug abusers who are now experiencing more problems and turning to emergency rooms for help."

The emergency room trends in Chicago mirror the trends seen in admissions to DASA-funded substance abuse treatment programs, where more people are seeking treatment for problems with cocaine and heroin.

Cocaine is the second most frequent cause for treatment admission. Of the 15,443 Chicagoans admitted for treatment of cocaine problems last year, more than thirteen thousand (86%) reported that they used cocaine by smoking it.

Of the 6,812 heroin users who entered treatment in Chicago last year, almost 65% reported inhaling (snorting) the drug rather than injecting it -- the traditional means of heroin use. At the same time, street studies made by the University of Illinois at Chicago School of Public Health have found disturbing increases in availability of higher grades of heroin.

"All of this tells us that a new contingent of young people in Chicago has been introduced to the risks of opiate addiction, and we can expect to see them in our health care and substance abuse treatment programs in growing numbers," Long warned.

Take Charge Of Your Life!

United Charities Family and Mental Health Services/Southwest is offering a series of four free workshops, "Take Charge of Your Life!" on a variety of topics including stress management, conflict resolution, parent-child relationships, confidence building and effective communication. The workshops are to be held on Wednesdays from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Worth Township Hall, 11601 S. Pulaski Rd. The topics and dates of the remaining workshops are Nov. 17th, Build a Healthy Functioning Family and Dec. 1st, Manage Your Stress.

Those interested may attend one or all of the workshops. For more information or to register call Leonard Szymczak, licensed clinical social worker, at (708) 448-5700.

Second Annual Holiday Parade

The Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce is still accepting entries and sponsors for the second annual "Holiday on the Move Parade" set for 12:30 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 20th on 95th St. At the completion of the parade, Santa Claus will meet the public in the Masonic Hall, Dumke Dr. and 52nd Ave. Refreshments will be served.

The entry fee for those who want to participate in the parade is only $5. Sponsors are being sought to help defray the costs for marching bands and other related expenses. All contributions will be publicly acknowledged. Rental floats are available through a catalog located in the chamber of commerce office, 9526 Cook Ave.

The parade route is from Oak Lawn High School, 95th St. and Southwest Highway, east on 95th St. to 52nd Ave., then north to the Masonic Hall.

There is time and room for others to participate in this festive opening to the holiday season. Call the chamber office at (708) 424-8300 to reserve a place in the parade or to become a parade sponsor.

Parade chairmen are Gene Mondello and Rick Herpich.

Renewal By Phone

A pilot program for renewal of vehicle stickers has been initiated by Illinois Secretary of State George Ryan. Approximately 1,000,000 motorists are to have the option of renewing their stickers by telephone under the program. The touch tone renewal was mailed last week to more than 50,000 randomly selected car and truck owners whose stickers expire on Dec. 31st and as of Sunday 153 individuals had used a toll-free (800) number to renew their licenses.

The service is available at any time, every day of the week and the costs of the system are to be paid by a $2.50 service fee. The cost of the license plate renewal remains the same. MasterCard, Discover and Visa cards will be accepted for payment. Vehicle owners can currently renew their registration at facilities operated by the Secretary of State, at financial institutions or through the mail.

"This represents the latest and one of the most dramatic advances we have made in improving customer service," Ryan stated.

Under the pilot program, vehicle owners call (800) 664-1212 and, by following instructions on their registration renewal notice, can take advantage of the new option.

Improving Education

Mayor Kolb's desire for excellence in education and concern for its funding has led to the formation of the Education Summit Committee. A core group of concerned citizens led by Trustee Marge Joy have joined forces to work through critical issues in education.

With a motto of "Education is Everybody's Business," it is hoped that the entire community of Oak Lawn -- government, business, church, educators, students, seniors and parents -- will adopt the goals this group is working toward.

The primary goals are to improve the overall quality of education in Oak Lawn, provide programs that are responsive to the needs of the community and establish a stable source of adequate funding. Anyone wishing to join in this endeavor is welcome to call the Village of Oak Lawn Manager's office at 499-7743.

Support Group

The Chicago Area Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association presents an Alzheimer's Support Group in Oak Lawn on the first Thursday of each month from 6 to 8 p.m. at Christ Hospital, 4440 W. 95th St. These informal sessions are designed for people to meet others coping with Alzheimer's disease and caring for Alzheimer's patients. They are free and open to the public.

For more information, call the helpline of the Chicago Area Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association at (708) 933-1000.

Craft Bazaar

Our Lady of Loretto Women's Guild Christmas arts and crafts bazaar will be held on Sunday, Nov. 28th from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the parish hall, 8925 S. Kostner. There will be over 90 crafters displaying handmade items. A lunchroom, bakery, drawings and pictures with Santa will also be featured. Admission is free.

For information, call (708) 424-7471 weekdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Program Input

The Oak Lawn Public Library is seeking program input from the public as plans are being made for adult programs in 1994. Persons who have ideas for special topics, workshops, seminars, speakers, music, classes or a series on a subject are invited to share them. Every effort will be made to include as many as possible within the program timeframe and budget.

Several suggestions made by library patrons include career planning and job search, classes in parenting, more American Sign Language classes, poetry and short-story readings, recitals or concerts by local musicians, sessions to help local clubs and organizations with public relations and classes for budding authors. These will be considered, but more input or support for the suggestions listed above is invited.

The library will continue to sponsor the writers group and the Great Books discussion group. Plans are underway to establish an ongoing program of American Sign Language classes. More ideas are needed.

Suggestions should be made to Mary Nelson, library programmer, 9427 Raymond Ave., Oak Lawn, IL 60453, (708) 422-4990.

Finance Meeting

A special meeting of the Oak Lawn-Hometown School District 123 finance committee, has been scheduled for 7 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 18th, at the administration center, 4201 W. 93rd St. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss performance contracting.

Tree Lighting

Committee members of the Oak Lawn "Love Lights a Tree" campaign kick off the special fund drive for the American Cancer Society. Included are (front row) Vince Clark; John Crivellone; Marie Napalillo; Joan Kennedy; Chairperson Marianne Karson; Jayne Powers, village clerk; (back row) Oak Lawn Mayor Ernest Kolb; Robert Kuenster; Tom Hawkinson; George Freitag; and Jeanette Renzetti, area representative for the American Cancer Society. Other committee members include Dave Hellmann, Edna McElroy, Annette Mandel, JoAnn Vinci and Mary Nelson.

This project raises money for cancer research. Community residents are offered the opportunity to make a contribution to the American Cancer Society in honor of or memory of a special person. Each honoree is represented by a "light" or a string of lights on Oak Lawn's official Christmas tree, Cook Ave. at 95th St. The public is invited to the official tree lighting ceremony on Friday, Dec. 10th.

For additional information, contact Marianne Karson at 636-2112.

Hollywood High Jinks Reported In "Cork's Corner"

Marist High School seniors, Christopher Neu of Oak Lawn, and Matthew Springer of South Holland, returned this week from a special trip to the steps of the capital in Washington, D.C. The students are pictured with Tim Kennedy, a Cook County sheriff's youth service representative. They, along with students from Thornton and St. Scholastica high schools and representatives of the sheriff's youth department, traveled to Washington to present their gun control petition, with over 15,000 student signatures, to Senator Paul Simon. The petition was circulated by the students from these and other schools in Cook County. The students felt they needed to do their part to heighten awareness of the violence and guns in the streets. They hope that this petition will help push the current gun control legislation through the proper channels in the nation's capital. While in Washington, these students visited the National Archives, the Smithsonian Institute and attended a press conference with Sheriff Michael Sheahan, and Senator Paul Simon.

District 218 Students Excel

Eisenhower High School sophomore Elizabeth Davenport has been selected to participate in the 1993 Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation state leadership seminar in the spring. The first conference sponsored by the National Honor Society included several representatives from Eisenhower including Cheryl Vacca, Humberto Ruiz, Sarah Corradino, Patricia Alvarez, Jenny Noah and Dave Lesniak who attended the conference last month in Pittsburgh. Senior Jeanne Alejandro has been selected as the school's representative to District 218 Board of Education meetings for the 1992-93 school year. Each month, student board representatives report on school events, student awards and staff achievements to the board of education.

H.L. Richards sophomore Ryan Roach has been selected to participate in the 1993 Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation State Leadership seminar this coming spring.

The HLR student council will sponsor its annual charity Christmas banquet on Wed. Dec. 15th from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Last year the student council set a new record by raising $5,300 to donate to local food pantries, the Salvation Army, and WGN's Neediest Kids Fund.

Senior Susan Lash has been selected as the school's representative to district board meetings. Lash and Dan Raines earned commended student awards in the National Merit competition. Students Carly Nelson, Nicole Pavlatos, Margie Warzocha, and Any Warzocha have been selected to participate in the Illinois Music Educators Association district music festival on Nov. 20th. Andy also has been selected for the IMEA jazz festival. This past summer, students Raquel Omelas, Baltazar Rodriguez and Natalia Venturini attended the National Hispanic Institute at DePaul University. The institute emphasizes Hispanic culture, motivational workshops and academic excellence.

Shepard High freshman Anne Carmel has been selected to participate in the IMEA district festival. Senior Joshua Berling has been selected as a semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Corporation competition. Berling now will compete as a finalist for NMSC scholarship monies. Senior Amy Pawlak has been selected as the school's representative to district board meetings. It's the second straight year Pawlak has served as board representative.

The Shepard band delivered an outstanding performance at the Marengo Settlers Day and Field Show. In the parade category, Shepard placed fourth in the AAA class; in the auxiliary category, second for its color guard; in the percussion category, second; and in the field show, sixth out of 20 schools. The band also competed in the Wheeling High School band festival, taking fourth place in the Class A category.

Polaris School for Individual Education (P.I.E.) senior Leah Bartelt (Worth) earned a Commended Student award in the National Merit competition. Senior Brian Moore was named a National Merit Commended Black Scholar.

The following students were selected to participate in the IMEA district music festival; choral, Jackie Crowe (Alsip), Lisa DeSchaaf (Merrionette Park) and Sonce Vargas (Worth); orchestra, Ben Sullivan (Garden Homes), Jarell Cottrell (Calumet Park), Rhonda Tuma (Blue Island), Grace Uy (Alsip), Leah Bartelt (Worth), Sanders Yen (Palos Heights), Edward Polzin (Worth), Christina Richardson (Worth) and Chris Skubic (Oak Lawn).

Chosen Chairman

Burton S. Odelson was elected chairman of the Moraine Valley Community College Board of Trustees at the board's special meeting on Monday, Nov. 8th. Mary Zawaski was elected vice-chairman and John Donahue, secretary. Odelson, a resident of Oak Lawn, has been a member of the college board since 1978. He served as chairman from 1981 to 1987 and vice-chairman from 1990 to 1993.

"As this board begins its journey forward, I encourage you to work hard to make the community proud of the board and the college we serve," Odelson said.

Odelson is an attorney in municipal and election law, and practices in Evergreen Park. He received a law degree from IIT-Chicago Kent College of Law in 1972.

Zawaski has been a member of the board since 1988 and served as board secretary from 1989 to 1991. A resident of Palos Heights, Zawaski is a realtor-broker and has 26 years of experience as a realtor-broker, salesperson, developer and manager.

A resident of Evergreen Park, Donahue has been a member of the board since 1989. He is a graduate of the John Marshall Law School and is a practicing attorney. He is currently apprentice coordinator for the Electrical Joint Apprentice Training and Trustees.

The term of office for chairman, vice-chairman and secretary of the board is two years.

Intern

Millikin University senior Lisa Manfredi of Oak Lawn is earning academic credit while serving a writing internship with WAND-TV News. She is a communications major. Lisa is the daughter of Frank and Victoria Manfredi and a 1990 graduate of Oak Lawn High School.

She is a member of University Center Board, Alpha Chi Omega social sorority and the staff of WJMU-FM student-operated radio station. She is president of Millikin Communication Organization and serves on the Student Senate.

At Forward

Oak Lawn resident Emily Balis, a 5'9" forward, will be participating as a member of the Loras College women's basketball team for the 1993-94 season. A freshman from Oak Lawn High School, Emily is the daughter of Thomas and Joan Balis.

Accident Victims

Three men died in area accidents in the last week. State police reported that Brian Henke, 22, of Oak Lawn was killed in a head-on collision in Willow Springs on Nov. 13th. Henke crossed over the median strip on Archer Ave., one-half mile south of 95th St. and struck a car driven northbound by John Hull, 41, of Romeoville at about 3:15 a.m. Both men were pronounced dead at LaGrange Memorial Hospital at 5:10 a.m., according to officials.

In an unrelated incident, Loannis K. Arfanis, 49, of Worth was struck Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 10th, at the intersection of Church St. and Ashland Ave. near Beecher. It was reported that Arfanis was heading westbound on Church when he apparently failed to yield at the intersection and was struck by a Nissan Sentra heading southbound on Ashland at about 2:34 p.m. The Nissan was driven by a 34 year old woman from Momence. She was not ticketed and was only slightly hurt.

Arfanis was taken to Olympia Fields Osteopathic Medical Center, where he died at 8:15 a.m. on Friday.

Party For Holidays

South Suburban Family Shelter, a non-profit agency serving battered women and their children, is organizing the 1993 Children's Holiday Party, to be held in early December. Persons interested in making a monetary contribution or donating new toys should contact the children's counselor at (708) 335-4125.

Special Olympics' 25th Anniversary

Stars will be shining at Navy Pier as the Caritas Society celebrates the 25th anniversary of Special Olympics. "Caritas Salutes the Stars" is the theme for the 41st annual Caritas benefit to be held on Nov. 20th. WLS-TV Eyewitness News reporter, Jim Gibbons will serve as master of ceremonies for the evening. Caritas Society is a women's auxiliary of St. Coletta's Lt. Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr. School for Exceptional Children and currently has over 50 active members from the Chicagoland area. The society has raised nearly $2.5 million for St. Coletta's in the last 40 years.

The black tie optional evening begins with cocktails in the Rotunda Balcony at 6:30, followed by an awards ceremony at 7:30. Ten Special Olympians, wearing their Olympic uniforms and displaying their medals, will be led into the Grand Ballroom by Chief Darrell Sanders. Sanders will be carrying the Olympic torch that was presented to him at the 1993 World Winter Games in Austria. Chief Sanders was inducted into the Special Olympics Hall of Fame in 1991.

Benefit chairperson Barb Siwinski said, "The Olympians are so excited to be a part of the 25th celebration. They will follow Chief Sanders carrying flags bearing the Olympic symbol of their athletic competition, including alpine skiing, figure skating, athletics, swimming, bowling, tennis, equestrian, volleyball, basketball and hockey. Among the Olympians present will be two of the original Chicago-area athletes, as well as two athletes chosen to represent Team USA in alpine skiing and figure skating at the World Games in Austria last spring."

A St. Coletta's Award will be presented to each of the following: Hon. Sargent Shriver, Jr., chairman of the board and CEO of Special Olympics International; Richard Potter of the Eastman Kodak Company; and Earl Leonard of the Coca-Cola Company. The awards are bestowed for exceptional service, leadership and achievement in the field of mental retardation in education, health, medicine, research, publications, legislation; athletics, entertainment, public relations and fundraising.

The Administrative Team of the Sisters of St. Francis of Assisi will receive the 1993 Caritas Award given for outstanding work or service in the field of mental retardation especially with the Caritas Society, the Lt. Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr. School and St. Coletta's of Illinois for significant endeavors to enhance the lives of the developmentally disabled in Illinois.

Immediately following the awards ceremony, guests will enjoy a filet of beef dinner and an evening of dancing to music of the Brian Patti Orchestra. Also included in the evening's festivities will be a drawing and silent auction. Drawing prizes include: condo for one week in Ft. Myers, FL, including airfare for two; condo for six with airfare in Phoenix, AZ, during the Chicago Cub spring training; White Sox skybox for 14 including four parking passes; and a dining package of $100 gift certificates to Italian Village and Spiaggia.

Tickets for the Caritas benefit are $125 per person. All proceeds will benefit children and adults with developmental disabilities and abused or abandoned children and babies exposed to prenatal substance abuse. For ticket reservations or to purchase drawing tickets, contact Barb Siwinski or Jackie Kies at (708) 448-6520.

Grand Raffle '93

The major fundraiser for St. Laurence High School, the Viking Grand Raffle '93, is now underway. All students are offering tickets to friends, family and neighbors. Each ticket involves a $5 donation. Complete ticket books are available at $40 each. In all, over $21,000 in cash prizes will be awarded in 1993. First prize is $10,000 which augments to $11,000 if the winner happens to be present at the drawing on Dec. 9th. Second prize is $5,000, third prize is $2,500, fourth and fifth prizes are $1,000 each, and 20 prizes of $100 each will be awarded.

Proceeds are to be used to improve existing facilities and programs, as well as finance new endeavors at St. Laurence. Past fundraisers have helped finance such projects as renovations in the art and science labs, a new computer graphics center and a newly refurbished gym floor. Part of this year's proceeds will be used to construct an all-purpose, outdoor track on the school's athletic complex where work will begin next spring.

"I'd like to encourage not only the St. Laurence community, but all surrounding communities to help make our drawing a success," stated Dan Errico, director of St. Laurence's in-house fundraising. "Proceeds from the drawing directly benefit the students at St. Laurence, and it's a great opportunity for the public to indirectly get involved with our school and have a chance to win some money."

In addition, numerous incentive prizes are available for St. Laurence students who meet and exceed their selling quotas.

"We want to make the drive fun for the students, as well as worthwhile for the prospective winners. We're stressing that everyone who gets involved can win," he said.

Tickets are available from St. Laurence students or by contacting Errico at the high school, (708) 458-6900. The drive ends on Dec. 1st.

The Moraine Valley Community College Board of Trustees congratulates district high school seniors who graduated in the top 10 percent of their class and welcomes those who chose to attend Moraine Valley Community College as Distinguished Scholars.

1993 MORaine VALLEY DISTINGUISHED SCHOLARS
CONGRATULATIONS

The fifth grade classes of Shirley Partman and Bill Badke at Lane School are participating in the Junior Achievement (JA) program. Classes are held once per week and are taught by Kelly Ryan and Tracy Bialek both seniors at Shepard High School. These girls took JA training under the guidance of Ms. Doider at Shepard. The purpose of JA is to teach the students more about the business world using words such as sole proprietorship, partnership, and corporation. They learn about starting a business, the risks and the profits.

Polish Meeting

The Southwest Polish Society meets on Thursday, Nov. 18th beginning at 7 p.m. at the Palos Heights Recreation Center, 6601 W. 127th St. This is one week earlier than the usual fourth Thursday of the month due to Thanksgiving. The final part of the video, "Land of the White Eagle," will be viewed. Coming attractions will be outlined. Reservations for the field trip tour of southwest-area churches with outstanding religious art will be accepted. The tour will include a visit to St. Stanislaus Bishop and Martyr in Posen to view the work of Polish artist Ryszard Orski of Zakopane; St. Fabian of Bridgeview, art of Kenar; the Franciscan Convent Chapel and St. Cyril and Methodius Church, Lemont, concluding with optional dinner in a Polish restaurant. The field trip date is Sunday, Nov. 21st. The society underwrites the cost of the bus for members. Guests may be invited at a cost of $5 for the bus.

Refreshments are always served following meetings, which are usually very interesting and informative, featuring occasional guest speakers.

The Southwest Polish Society is dedicated to the preservation of Polish culture. Annual dues are $8, which includes a monthly mailed newsletter. Call (708) 385-4364 for further information.

Working Women

The Museum of Broadcast Communications (MBC) presents "Images of Working Women" on Saturday, Nov. 20th at 2 p.m., the fourth in a five-part series of educational seminars presented as part of the MBC's "From 'My Little Margie' to 'Murphy Brown': Images of Women on Television" exhibition. Diana Muldaur, 'L.A. Law,' 'Star Trek: The New Generation'; Linda Kelsey, 'Lou Grant,' 'Day by Day'; Dr. David March, author, 'Demographic Vistas'; Susan Stewart, television critic, and Dr. Carol Williams, humanities professor, Roosevelt University, will join moderator Dr. Dhyana Ziegler, University of Tennessee, in a panel discussion of the changing television roles of women in the workplace. Topics to be discussed include television's depiction of the 'glass ceiling,' financial security, sexual harassment and discrimination. This seminar runs through Friday, Dec. 17th.

Tickets for the "Images of Working Women" seminar are $25 per person, $10 for seniors and students and all seminars are free to museum members.

To reserve tickets, call (312) 629-6023.

Bridge Rehab Begins

It has been reported that the 86th Ave. bridge over the Southwest Highway has been closed. The bridge is the first Palos Park-area bridge scheduled for rehabilitation by the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT).

The project, which will take nearly a year to complete, will see the 63 year old bridge stripped of its foundations and then rebuilt, according to officials. The $950,000 project is scheduled for completion next September.

Detours will be posted that will direct 86th Ave. traffic to 123rd St., LaGrange Road, 135th St., Harlem Ave., 131st St. and back to 86th Ave. At least one lane of traffic will be open on Southwest Highway during heavy traffic hours; but there will be temporary off-peak closures. The long, complicated detour is necessary due to weight restrictions on 131st and 123rd St. bridges over the Southwest Highway.

Blood Drive

Brother Rice High School, 10001 S. Pulaski Rd., is sponsoring a blood drive on Wednesday, Nov. 24th from 8 a.m. to 12 noon in the school's north gymnasium. The drive is being organized by the school's Key (Klwanis Educates Youth) Club to offset the current shortage of the local blood supply. Students must be 17 or older to donate. The drive is open to the public.

For more information, call (312) 779-3410.

White Presents 1994 Budget

Cook County Recorder of Deeds Jesse White presented his 1994 budget to the county's Finance Committee on Nov. 9th, his first since being elected last year. The budget reflects a reduction of 31 positions, a 10 percent cut.

White told commissioners of the Cook County board that he presents a budget that's realistic. "In today's economy, business leaders are forced to make tough personnel decisions," White said. "As chief executive of the Cook County Recorder's office, I must answer to the taxpayers by tightening the belt of this office, while ensuring that services are improved and the future of this office is being planned."

"This budget allows me to do just that. The planned computerization project will bring the day-to-day operation of the office into the 21st century, as well as generate new revenues to the county," White said. "The budget also includes plans for the opening of a fifth suburban location, allowing better access for suburban Cook County residents."

Despite a leaner workforce, the office's productivity has dramatically increased. It's being projected that the Cook County Recorder's office will record over 1 million documents in 1993, the first time in history that over 1 million documents have been recorded.

"When I came into this office last year, I was faced with an unrealistically lean 1993 budget that was offered by the previous administration. That budget left a nearly $3 million gap," White said. "I am proud to say that through sound fiscal management, I was able to close that gap, without increasing fees."

Over the past year, the White administration: Implemented the office's first mission statement; Established a reorganization plan that consolidated several sections of the office and reorganized the satellite offices by appointing a director, which improved productivity, accountability and communication;

Created Title Express, a separate window for title companies to record their heavy bulk filings. This allows quicker service for the title companies and individual customers;

Extended office hours;

Opened a fourth suburban location in Rolling Meadows; Created the Council of Title Company Executives; an advisory panel that allows for better communication between the Recorder's office and title companies;

Cross-trained over 40 employees from the abolished Torrens division into the Recording division, which utilizes the experience and expertise of existing employees;

Dramatically reduced turn-around time for recordings. Prior to the White administration, original documents were returned to customers nearly three months after recording. Today, the turn-around time is 10 days.

"The future of this office is bright," White said. "We have come a long way in one year, but this is only the beginning. Record level of recordings and revenues, with fewer employees and a lean budget, is what the taxpayers of Cook County expect. I am proud to say that we met this challenge and responded beyond our expectations."

The Office of the Cook County Recorder of Deeds is one of the county's largest revenue generating offices with expected earnings of $30 million in 1993. Jesse White was elected recorder in November 1992, after serving 16 years in the Illinois General Assembly, and is the founder of the internationally-known Jesse White Tumbling Team.

'Love Lights A Tree' Campaign

The American Cancer Society is planning for the holidays with preparations in full swing for "Love Lights a Tree."

"Love Lights a Tree" will raise funds for cancer research, education and patient services by allowing individuals and businesses to purchase 'love lights' and 'love ornaments' for holiday trees located throughout the south suburbs.

A donation in honor of, or in memory of, a special person will be represented by a light or decoration on a special holiday tree. The names of donors and honorees will be recognized at each tree. This is a dignified and lasting way to honor a special person at this special time of the year.

Area tree lighting ceremonies are scheduled to launch the holiday season at Evergreen Park Village Hall on Friday, Nov. 19th at 7 p.m.; at Orland Park Village Hall on Monday, Dec. 6th at 5:45 p.m.; at the recreation center in Palos Heights on Tuesday, Dec. 7th at 7 p.m.; at Oak Lawn Village Hall on Friday, Dec. 10th at 5 p.m.; at Western & High, Blue Island, on Friday, Nov. 26th at 7 p.m.; and at Alsip Village Hall on Monday, Dec. 6th at 7 p.m.

While contributions can be made year-round to the honor gifts/memorials program of the American Cancer Society, special forms are now available for making 'Love Lights a Tree' donations. To obtain a form or to get more information about the project, call the American Cancer Society at (708) 754-2700, or write the society at 1010 Dixie Highway, Chicago Heights, IL 60411.

Job Hunting Plan- For The Disabled

Job hunting can be a frustrating experience for anyone, but it can be especially intimidating for a person with a physical disability, reports the Arthritis Foundation, Illinois Chapter.

"Great strides in legislation protecting workers with disabilities have been made in recent years," said Karen Bacher, director of patient & professional education of the Illinois Chapter. "Certainly, many disabled people now work in rewarding, high-level jobs. But despite this legislation, many people with physical limitations have found that attitudes of employers are still a real barrier."

According to the Arthritis Foundation, there are many positive things a person with a disability can do to make a job interview a success. Be aware that an interviewer can legally ask you questions concerning health and disability, but these questions must directly apply to your ability to perform the job. If you anticipate some of the questions you are likely to be asked, you can prepare answers that will emphasize your abilities.

"You may encounter some interviewers who ask unwarranted or ignorant questions related to the disability," said Bacher. "By keeping your composure and carefully planning what you will say before you speak, you can deflate many questions or turn them around to portray a realistic and positive image of yourself. If you are asked whether you can meet certain demands of a job such as driving around town, explain how you have been able to get around in the past and describe what you can do."

However, be honest and don't promise things you know you can't accomplish. Be tolerant of the ignorance behind condescending words or expressions and gently educate the interviewer. Tactfully let the speaker know that a question is not job-related by saying, "I'm not sure how that question applies to my obtaining this position. Can you please explain this to me?"

Many interviewers will be embarrassed to ask about a disability but may use its presence against you when rating you in comparison with other applicants. If the subject doesn't come up in the interview, you may wish to deal with it directly yourself to overcome any concerns the interviewer might have.

For information on an upcoming free seminar on employment issues or to request a copy of the brochure "Arthritis and Employment," contact the Arthritis Foundation, Illinois Chapter, at 1(800)735-0096.

Academic Honors

"Several young men at St. Rita High School were honored at a special mass held recently in the school's chapel," announced Joseph Bamberger, school principal. The young men were honored by the St. Rita's Fathers' Club and received the Heeney Academic Award. Each student received a certificate for $25 from the fathers club through the Heeney Academic Fund. The young men who were honored for their performance in the Spring semester of 1993 were seniors Robert Aye (St. Mary Star of the Sea), Doug Cullum (St. Albert the Great), Steve Gliva (St. Mary Star of the Sea), and Vide Sutalo (St. Symphorosa). Juniors honored were Joseph Christensen (St. John Fisher), Michael Frias (St. Joseph 48th), Antonio Garcia (St. Catherine of Alexandria), Muhammad Gigani (Our Lady of Fatima), Joseph Newton (St. Catherine of Alexandria), Salvador Ortiz (St. Agnes) and Brian Zabloudil (St. Thomas More). Sophomores honored were John Castaneda (St. Adrian), Michael Higgins (St. Richard), Pete Kalogiannis (McGugan), Thomas Novotny (St. John Fisher), Ryan Schiesser (St. Adrian) and Edmund Velasco (St. Albert the Great).

"All of these young men excel in all aspect of their lives because they have work ethics in which they all strive to be the best," said Bamberger. "We as a community wish to reward those whose goal is to be the best. The Heeney Award is just one way we can reward these fine young men."

FOOD LOVERS DIET

To introduce a new approach to dieting, free samples were given to 50 people. With The Omicron Diet, one man lost 14 pounds in 5 days and one woman lost 18 pounds in 10 days. The average weight loss was over a pound a day for women and over 2 pounds a day for men. The Omicron Diet is a revolutionary new concept for unbelievably fast weight loss developed and clinically proven by National Dietary Research of Washington, D.C. This significant breakthrough in metabolic weight control was made possible by the utilization of biological information overlooked by other diet programs. With a formulation of natural enzymes along with real food, you shed unwanted pounds extremely rapidly and safely. Now available:

Credibility Of Charities Poll

Three-fourths of Americans believe there needs to be more mandatory regulation to ensure that organized charities are fulfilling the promises they make to donors, a new survey shows. But those respondents who favored more regulation were not necessarily calling for increased government intervention. When asked who was best suited to monitor charities, two-thirds said they felt that an independent, reputable organization was as well suited as the government. The national poll of 1,000 Americans age 18 and over was conducted by The Gallup Organization for the Better Business Bureaus to determine public opinion regarding regulation of charitable organizations.

"The survey indicates significant public concern about the credibility of charities," said Bennett M. Weiner, vice president, philanthropic advisory service, Council of Better Business Bureaus Inc., "most people want to make informed contribution decisions and would support efforts to encourage charities to be more accountable to the gift-giving public."

The amount of information currently available from charities was deemed insufficient by a majority of those surveyed. Only one-third of all respondents believe that charities provided enough information about their activities to help them in their decision to contribute. Findings indicate that the overall image of not-for-profit charities regarding their level of credibility has suffered over time. Only 15 percent of those surveyed think charities have gained credibility in the last 10 years. One-third said that charities had become less trustworthy over the past year and 52 percent thought they'd become less trustworthy in the last 10 years.

Half of those surveyed were very concerned about the amount charities spend for fund-raising and other expenses not directly related to their stated mission. Almost one-third were somewhat concerned about this issue, and fewer than one in 10 were not at all concerned. When asked about voluntary standards that could be established dictating the percentage of contributions charities would be able to spend on promotion and fund raising, 75 percent of the respondents indicated that such a system was necessary; 31 percent thought it very necessary and 44 percent considered it somewhat necessary.

If such a voluntary system did exist, 75 percent of all respondents indicated that they would find it very or somewhat helpful in making their donation decisions.

The public opinion study, conducted in July, also asked respondents how the proposed federal tax increases would affect their contribution behavior. Almost half said the amount of their contributions would stay the same. Thirty-one percent said their contributions would decrease and 13 percent said they would stop altogether. Of those who said they would decrease their contribution amounts, 60 percent said they would donate to the same number of charities, but decrease the total amount donated.

The survey also revealed that 59 percent of respondents regularly contribute to organized nonprofit charities, other than their local church or religious charities; on average, respondents said their yearly contribution to these charities was slightly less than $900; respondents aged 35-54 and those with incomes of more than $60,000 per year were significantly more likely to be regular contributors, and 55 percent of respondents said their contributions level this year had stayed the same compared to last year.

The BBB of Chicago and Northern Illinois Inc. develops information on charities, based on 23 voluntary standards for charitable solicitations, which solicit donations in 19 counties in Northern Illinois. Reports on over 700 charities are available by calling the BBB at (312) 444-1188.

Golden Apples

Less than three weeks remain to nominate a pre-kindergarten through 5th grade teacher for a prestigious 'Golden Apple' award, which honors excellence in classroom teaching. Each year the Golden Apple Foundation awards Golden Apples to 10 outstanding teachers in the Chicago area. Winners receive $2,500, a computer from IBM, a paid sabbatical to study tuition-free at Northwestern University and seminars on cutting-edge educational issues.

The winning teachers are awarded Golden Apples in May on a prime-time special produced and broadcast by WTTW/Channel 11. They also become part of the Golden Apple Academy, an active organization which initiates innovative programs to improve education.

Eligible nominees must be full-time teachers of grades pre-K through 5 in a public or non-public school in Cook, Lake or DuPage County. The Golden Apple awards rotate among the grade levels; next year the foundation will seek nominations of 9th through 12th grade teachers.

Nominations close on Friday, Dec. 3rd. To obtain a form, call (312) 407-0006 or write the Golden Apple Foundation, 8 S. Michigan Ave., Suite 700, Chicago, IL 60603-3318.

Free Fair

All high school special education students or students with physical disabilities are invited to a fair that can help them make the transition from high school to adult life. This free fair is open to students, recent graduates, their families, educators, community service representatives and anyone who works with disabled young adults. The fair will be held on Friday, Dec. 3rd from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Daley College, 7500 S. Pulaski Rd.

The fair is sponsored by the Chicago Southside and Southwest Suburban Transition Planning Committee.

Report Card On Student Reading

by George H. Ryan,
Illinois Secretary of State

The nation's latest report card on student reading contains some troubling facts about our country's future leaders. Of those tested in 1992, nearly a third of the eighth graders and 40 percent of the fourth graders had such poor reading skills that they failed to understand material which should have been simple for students their age.

Many of these students' reading problems were traced to a simple cause: too much time with television and not enough time with books. The children who read best spent three hours or less in front of the television each day. Those who scored at the lowest levels sat in front of the tube for six hours or more, day after day after day.

There's a lesson here for every parent. The hand that wields the remote control can also steer a child into the world of books and lifelong learning.

In hopes of encouraging more parents to do that, I am designating the evening of Thursday, Nov. 18th as 'Family Reading Night in Illinois.' On that night, I urge parents throughout Illinois to switch off the television, whether for 15 minutes or a few hours, and set aside time with their children for reading.

Families across the state took me up on this challenge last year, the first time we designated 'Family Reading Night.'

Hundreds of families, and about 300 schools representing about 25,000 students, wrote my office saying thanks for a great evening.

On Nov. 18th, I want to invite families to try it again; help your child succeed and help yourself to a good book. Make reading a lifelong habit.

It took the Democratic Committeemen of the 6th District 45 minutes last Saturday to choose Richard F. Kelly Jr. of Oak Forest to be their candidate for County Commissioner. Kelly edged Worth Township Supervisor Joan Patricia Murphy who was supported by John McNamara of Worth Township. Murphy is expected to run in the March Primary, without party backing.

Kelly, who served 20 years in the Illinois State Legislature, won the plaudits of Chairman James Jesk of Bremen Township who said, "His knowledge and expertise on education, business/labor relations and local government make him the best candidate for this office."

Also present were Kevin Conlon of Rich Township, Joseph Gambino representing Frank Giglio of Thornton Township and John McNamara of Worth Township who cast the only dissenting vote.

The Chicago Bureau of Forestry workers are busy planting 6,000 trees citywide this fall as part of Mayor Daley's continuing effort to increase Chicago's urban forest. Streets and Sanitation Commissioner Eileen Carey said parkway trees can be requested for next spring by calling Daley's office at 744-5000.

In response to concerns from a number of communities about a 'rate lock-in' by Reading Energy for a 20-year period, the company said Tuesday that it would consider revision of the contract every five years. The main concern of the communities which have already said 'no' to the Robbins waste-to-energy facility, or which have yet to vote, is that the cost of other methods of waste disposal such as landfill is uncertain in coming years.

Jim DiBiasi of Reading Energy believes that it may not be in the best interest of the concerned communities to adjust prices for incineration to landfill charges. "However," he said, "if that is what municipal officials want, that is what we will do."

More than 100 Stickney Township homebound senior citizens, most of them over 75, will be entertained at a traditional Christmas party for the 15th consecutive year by the township office on aging. Supervisor Lou Viverito, who originated the idea, said the party will be held in cooperation with local service clubs, schools, and municipalities on Tuesday, Dec. 7th at Burbank Manor, 7345 W. 79th St.

Guests will be picked up by limousines or lift-equipped buses and taken to the banquet hall where they will be awarded red carpet treatment, as they are escorted to their tables for an afternoon of food, entertainment and gifts that will be passed out by Santa Claus.

"Homebound seniors who cannot attend the party due to physical problems, are sent gifts by the Homebound Christmas Party Committee," said Viverito.

This unique community-wide event won the 1990 Governor's Hometown Award for Senior Achievement.

Good news for golfers who enjoy the Cook County Forest Preserve District fairways. Board President Richard Phelan announced at his budget hearings that he would roll back greens fees at four south suburban courses. Recommended is the roll back of fees from $12 to $11 at Burnham Woods, Joe Louis and River Oaks courses.

Greens fees at George Dunne National in Oak Forest will be lowered from $30 to $27 for residents with an activity card. So popular is the George Dunne course that fees have nearly doubled since its opening in 1991.

Thomas "Bud" Gavin, Worth Township Clerk, was elected to the Board of Directors of the Township Officials of Illinois, Clerk's Division for a term of two years at a meeting last week in Springfield. Over 2,000 delegates and guests attended the 1993 Educational Conference sponsored by the Township Officials of Illinois, where delegates were alerted to laws affecting township officials, new development in the administration of township general assistance and reports on legislation affecting townships.

Governor Edgar Signs Bill On Chicago Schools

Governor Jim Edgar this week signed legislation to avoid a shutdown of Chicago schools, saying the measure contains numerous reforms and does not require additional state dollars.

"This legislation will improve the fiscal management of the Chicago school system and the quality of education the system provides. It also will assure the 411,000 children are in classrooms, where they belong, without a state bailout," the Governor said.

"I am pleased to sign this legislation in behalf of those children and in behalf of Chicago school reforms that have been sought for years and years."

The legislation essentially embodies a compromise proposal fashioned two weeks ago by the Governor. Among other things, the new law:

- * Gives the Chicago School Finance Authority more tools to improve management of the Chicago school system --including the creation of an inspector general position and the power to initiate management audits.

- * Gives principals more authority over their staffs.

- * Makes it easier for principals and teachers to waive union work rules on a school-by-school basis.

- * Replaces immediately the current lifetime protection for "supernumerary" teachers who are paid regardless of whether they spend time in a classroom.

- * Permits the School Finance Authority to borrow sufficient funds to provide $378 million to Chicago schools over the next two years to assure they remain open.

"We were able to achieve these reforms and to keep kids in classes in Chicago without borrowing from teacher pension funds and without taking money from schools elsewhere in Illinois and other state services," the Governor said.

Publication Lists Top High School Students

Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1992-93, published by Educational Communications, Inc., is the largest high school recognition publication in the country. Students are nominated by high school principals and guidance counselors, national youth groups, churches or by the publishing company based upon students' performance in scholarship award contests or extracurricular activities.

Final selection is determined on the basis of criteria which include high achievement in academics and leadership in school activities, athletics or community service. Traditionally, 99 percent of Who's Who students have a grade point average of 'B' or better and 97 percent are college-bound.

The 27th edition of Who's Who, published in 16 regional volumes, features nearly 725,000 students or just over 5 percent of the nation's 12,000,000 high school students. They represent approximately 15,000 of the 22,000 public, private and parochial high schools in the country.

Who's Who students also compete for $125,000 in scholarship awards and participate in the publication's annual opinion poll of teen attitudes. The book is distributed to up to 15,000 high schools, colleges, universities and public libraries throughout the country.

Local students selected include: Peter J. Becker, Marianne Grisolano, Amin O. Ibrahim, William A. Lauer, Karen T. Lawrence, Alberto R. Moyano, Alexandria Prisco and Madeline F. Charged In Collision

John Heenan, 26, of Hickory Hills has been indicted on charges that he was responsible for an automobile collision that resulted in the death of a north suburban woman. Heenan faces up to 14 years in jail on charges of driving under the influence of alcohol (DUI) and reckless homicide, according to prosecutors.

According to the police report Heenan's car crossed the center line of the street on the 4300 block of 111th St., at approximately 2 a.m.

Heenan's car collided with another and a passenger in the car that was struck, Patricia Stoops, 30, of Hoffman Estates was killed.

A blood test, conducted following the collision, showed Heenan's blood alcohol level at .263, more than two and one-half times the legal limit of .10, according to the report.

Heenan, free on $10,000 bond, said he was driving home from a bachelor party when the crash occurred.

Edgar Names Directors Of Two State Agencies

Gov. Jim Edgar recently named John G. Mitchell of Orland Park as director of Illinois Emergency Management Agency and Thomas Ortiger of Flossmoor as director of the Department of Nuclear Energy.

The governor also appointed Richard G. Austin, who managed more than 20,000 full-time employees as administrator of general services in the Bush Administration, as assistant secretary of the Illinois Department of Transportation.

"My Cabinet has effectively met the tremendous challenge of managing state government during very difficult budgetary times, and these appointees fit in well with our outstanding management team," the governor said.

Mitchell, 45, has been directly responsible for the management, direction and supervision of field personnel for the Oak Brook Police Department.

As a police officer and as a volunteer in community activities, Mitchell has been especially active with youths. As an officer, he has focused on anti-drug programs. A former Chicago patrol officer, he also has served as a commissioner of the Orland Park Youth Association and as a board member of the Greek Orthodox Youth Athletic League.

"John's supervisory experience and his background as a police officer give him valuable credentials to lead the state's response to emergencies. John Plunk has done an outstanding job as acting director during some very difficult times, and I know he will be very helpful to the new director," Edgar said.

Mitchell earned a master's degree with honors and a bachelor's degree with high honors from Lewis University. His annual salary will be $49,997.

Ortiger, 52, has been serving as acting director of the Department of Nuclear Safety.

"Tom has done well in leading the department, and I am delighted to have him stay on," Edgar said.

Before joining the nuclear safety agency, he was director of the Illinois Emergency Management Agency.

He holds a bachelor's degree from Shimer College and will be paid $63,071 annually.

Austin, 45, who has been residing in Alexandria, Va., has held major positions in the federal government since September 1986. Prior to that service, he was chairman of the Sangamon County Board and a division manager in the Department of Central Management Services.

"This administration has enjoyed excellent relations with local officials as we work to enhance one of this state's major economic development resources -- its transportation network. And I know Dick Austin will do extremely well in building on those relationships."

Austin earned a bachelor of arts degree from Sangamon State University. His annual salary will be $66,710.

Report Cards For Area Public Schools

Report cards for Chicago and suburban schools have been submitted and scrutinized. Scores were recorded for 3rd grade students in math & writing; for 4th graders in science & social science; for 6th graders in math, writing & science; for 7th graders in science & social science; for eighth graders in math and writing; for 10th graders (high school sophomores) in reading, math & writing, and for 11th graders (high school juniors) in science & social science.

Overall, and certainly in comparison with the state average scores, the South Suburban schools fared well. Amos Alonzo Stagg High scored considerably above average and Carl Sandburg, along with Oak Forest and Andrew, not far behind. Scores near, or slightly above the state average, were recorded at Evergreen Park High and Oak Lawn Community High. Shepard High and Tinley Park High also ranked close to the state average. Playing catchup but generally improving over earlier testing were Bremen, Eisenhower, Hillcrest, Reavis and Richards.

Among suburban elementary schools most were considerably above the state scoring average. Alsip, Hazelgreen, Oak Lawn; Arbor Park; Atwood Heights; Evergreen Park; Forest Ridge; North Palos; Oak Lawn-Hometown; Palos; Palos Heights; Ridgeland and Tinley Park all scored well and in most cases, well above the state average. Chicago Ridge and Midlothian averaged close to, or slightly above, state scores. Crestwood, Alsip, Blue Island schools; Posen-Robbins and Summit rated somewhat lower.

Chicago elementary and high schools on the southwest side, although showing improvement, did not fare as well as their suburban counterparts. Among high schools, Morgan Park, while below state averages, did well on the whole in comparison with other schools. Chicago High School for Agricultural Sciences was less successful while Bogan High trailed.

Elementary school scores indicated that more must be done if Chicago schools are to compete successfully with the suburban schools, although Clissold School was a bright spot, averaging close to those suburban schools which were average or slightly above. Mount Greenwood and Sutherland schools also demonstrated that they are in competition and with a little more effort can improve significantly. Only Stevenson, among the southwest side elementary schools had generally lower than state scores. However, the positive aspect of Stevenson scores is that they were, for the most part, improved when compared with 1991-92 scores.

A note to long-suffering taxpayers; the amount spent per pupil is not always indicative of academic achievement. A random check indicates that while more is spent per pupil in Posen-Robbins District 143½ ($5,041) and in Ford Heights District 169 ($6,697) scores are considerably lower than in Oak Lawn-Hometown District 123 ($4,885) or Atwood Heights District 125 ($4,538).

The answer to the question of a good education for everyone is obscure to say the least. Perhaps such an effort is tilting at windmills. One compelling argument for better education is "attitude." If the school administrators, the staff, the teachers, the students, the families, all move in the same direction, positive results seem to be the norm. If one or more of those involved deviates, indifference or lack of direction takes over and a new course must be set.

Committeemen Back Richard Kelly

Democratic Committeemen in the 6th District recently held a state-making meeting in which they selected Richard F. Kelly Jr. of Oak Forest to be their candidate for county commissioner. Kelly, who served in the Illinois General Assembly for 20 years, assured the committee his campaign would be based on experience, service to his new constituency and committed to finding solutions to the crime problem, excessive property taxes and the need to find more employment opportunities in the southern suburbs.

RICHARD F. KELLY JR. and John McNamara of Worth Township, who was the only dissenting vote.

"It is always a humbling experience to come before the political leaders of your party to ask them to endorse your candidacy," Kelly said. Kelly, who graduated from Governors State University with a BA degree, is a co-founder of the Chicago Southland Regional Economic Development Coordinating Council (CSREDDC) the principal proponent for economic development in the southern suburbs.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

Influenza season has arrived. Soon people everywhere will be coughing, sneezing and suffering from symptoms such as fever, runny nose, sore throat, aches and pains. While most will recover within a week of the onset, thousands may die. Influenza is an infectious disease that combined with pneumonia is the sixth leading cause of death in the U.S.

Sadly, many of these deaths could be prevented if individuals received a flu shot. The influenza vaccine is a safe and effective means of protecting one's self and one's family against flu's discomfort and fatal complications. This is specially true for those in high risk groups such as adults over the age of 65, individuals with chronic lung disease including asthma and emphysema, health care workers and those with heart and kidney ailments.

It is not too late to get your flu shot. The American Lung Association of Metropolitan Chicago encourages everyone to take the sting out of the flu by getting vaccinated.

Sincerely,
s/s Lewis J. Smith, M.D.
American Lung Assoc. of Metropolitan Chicago, Chairman, 1993 Flu Awareness Campaign

Seize Guns In Mt. Greenwood

Mount Greenwood resident Richard Lebeck, 29, was arrested Monday after police removed 34 loaded weapons from his home on the 110th block of Whipple Ave. The arrest was made at 7:45 p.m. after police, armed with a search warrant, seized the weapons. According to the police report, Lebeck claimed to be a gun collector.

The weapons were found in dresser drawers, under furniture, in cabinets and gun safes.

Police had initiated an investigation earlier this month when neighbors complained that Lebeck had a number of guns in his home.

Following a reported burglary of a home on the 10900 block of Albany where Lebeck was living, police began surveillance of the Whipple Ave. home. The burglary report was filed on Nov. 5th and when police took the report of the alleged incident, they noticed empty gun cases and literature on obtaining guns.

During the surveillance, police reportedly witnessed Lebeck carrying live guns into the home on two occasions.

Lebeck was charged with 34 counts of failing to register a firearm and police indicated they plan to investigate whether any of the confiscated weapons had been reported stolen or whether any had been used in crimes.

Nature Center's Grand Opening

County Board President Richard J. Phelan announced that the Forest Preserve District of Cook County is commemorating the grand opening of the Sand Ridge Nature Center's new environmental educational facility, 15890 Paxton Ave., South Holland, with a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 21st. The grand opening is to be held in conjunction with the 20th annual Settler's Day celebration at Sand Ridge from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Both events are free of charge and open to the public.

"The completion of the new educational center at Sand Ridge and the annual presentation of Settler's Day represents the district's perpetual commitment to the conservation and preservation of natural areas and wildlife," Phelan said. "When the public is exposed to recreational and educational activities within the forest preserves, their appreciation for natural areas is heightened."

During Settler's Day, Sand Ridge will be transformed into a pioneer setting with volunteers in period dress demonstrating and performing a variety of activities depicting life in the early 1800s. The public is invited to participate in these activities which include spinning, candle-dipping, soap-making, wool-carding and pioneer cooking in a log cabin. Demonstrations in the art of making corn husk dolls and the growing and use of herbs by pioneers are also featured.

Forest preserve naturalists will lead guided walks around the nature center and discuss the relationship between local and natural history and also conduct a hike simulating a wagon train trip from Pennsylvania to Illinois for farmers.

At 2 p.m., remarks by Phelan, Cook County

Commissioner Robert P. Gooley and Forest Preserve District Superintendent Joseph N. Nevius will mark the 'official' opening of the facility. Following the ceremony there will be a short reception and visitors are welcome to tour the new facility. The ceremony is to take place on the patio in front of the new building and, in the event of inclement weather, be moved indoors.

"This state-of-the-art facility stands as a symbol of the district's ongoing commitment to providing the resources and the creative programs that strengthens the relationship between nature and education for the residents of the county," Phelan said. "A building of this stature is significant because it can complement work in the classroom or serve as a new vital center for our children's studies of local and natural history."

For additional information concerning Settler's Day, the grand opening of the educational facility at Sand Ridge, or the "Getting in Touch with Nature" program, contact the nature center at (708) 868-0606 or the Conservation Department at (708) 771-1332. Special accommodations can be arranged.

Murder In Alsip

Ronald Hudson, a 52 year old Evergreen Park resident, was found slain in an Alsip parking lot early Thursday morning, Nov. 11th. It was reported that Hudson told his family that he was going out Wednesday night to "discuss a business deal" but expected to return home by 10:30 that night since he had planned a hunting trip for Thursday morning.

However, Hudson was found next to his van at about 6:10 a.m. in the parking lot in the 12600 block of Laramie Ave. with a single gunshot wound just above the right eye. Police said that they have no suspects. The Cook County Medical Examiner's office has not established a time of death.

According to Alsip Police Lieutenant Thomas O'Farrell, this was the first murder in Alsip since June of 1992. He also stated that no information would be released as some evidence has been recovered and an investigation was continuing.

Music Festival

Alan B. Shepard High School will be represented at the Illinois Music Educator's Association district music festival by freshman Anne Carmel. The festival will be held at Oswego High School on Saturday, Nov. 20th. Placement is made through stringent auditions, and selection for membership in one of the performing organizations is a reflection of high standards for and by the student, director and school district. Shepard High is proud of the dedication and preparation that Anne has shown.

About 10,000 students will participate in similar events, to be held in eight geographic districts throughout the state. From that number, only 1,200 senior high students will be chosen for membership in one of 10 performing organizations at the all-state conference in Peoria from Jan. 28th to 30th, 1994.

Concert

A benefit concert for HOPE Ministries will be held on Saturday, Dec. 4th at 7:30 p.m. at Beth Eden Baptist Church, 11121 S. Loomis Blvd. Tickets are available by contacting Craig M. Coleman at (708) 371-2633 or 333-0431. Proceeds from the event will be used to rehabilitate the housing facility, provide staff salaries and funding for program operations. The mission at HOPE Ministries is to "Help Our Children."

Guest Speaker

Loleta Dildrickson, former State Representative and Governor Jim Edgar's director of the Illinois Department of Employment Security, is to be the featured speaker at the November meeting of the North Township Regular Republican Organization. Mrs. Dildrickson is a candidate for State Treasurer in next spring's Primary Election. Mrs. Dildrickson will address the North Republicans at the Nov. 18th meeting in the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post, 9514 S. 52nd Ave.

The meeting is to be called to order at 8:15 p.m. by organization president Bob Butala. A report on the fall legislative session in Springfield by area lawmakers is another feature and refreshments will be served. Everyone who is interested in federal, state, county, township and local government is welcome to attend.

First Amendment Award

As a judge and attorney, James C. Craven has been a leading advocate of press rights in Illinois. The Illinois Press Association recognized that distinction on Saturday during its annual News-Editorial Conference in Springfield with the establishment of an annual award in his name: the James C. Craven First Amendment Award.

"I do not know of another person in Illinois who has devoted more time and given more of himself for the preservation and protection of the free press than Jim Craven," said David L. Bennett, executive director of the Illinois Press Association. "He has spent a lifetime doing it and usually for no other personal gain than the satisfaction derived from the principles he defended."

Craven's life's work began in 1949 after graduating from the University of Illinois School of Law. He served as an assistant attorney general for the state and as a law clerk to the Hon. Barry B. Hershey of the Illinois Supreme Court.

He then established a private practice in Springfield and managed it until 1964 when he was elected to the Illinois Appellate Court, 4th District. While on the bench, he was a vocal advocate of free press and access issues. He retired from the Court in 1981 and resumed his private practice.

He concentrated on First Amendment issues and voting rights legislation on behalf of African-American and Hispanic communities in Illinois and California. He continued to address legislative committees to effect libel and access legislation. The IPA was among his media clients.

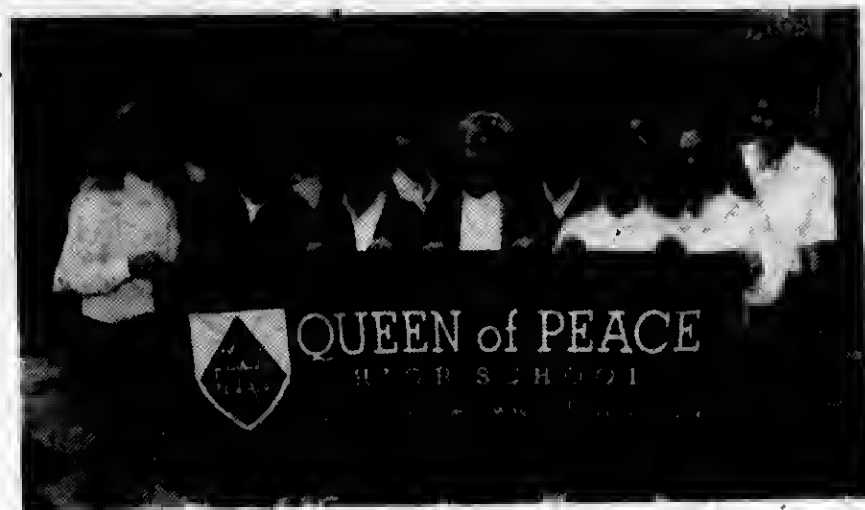

His son, Don, joined the practice in 1986, and Judge Craven began retiring in 1989. Since then, the practice has specialized in libel and First Amendment issues.

Bennett said the permanent Craven award "pales by comparison" when placed next to "the monumental contributions made by its namesake." He continued, "The newspaper industry and all media owe Judge Craven its deepest gratitude."

Judge Craven and his wife, Gloria, have two sons and two daughters, all of whom are attorneys.

introducing the Evergreen HOME Savings Account

A new way to save for a home.

What is the Evergreen HOME Savings Account?
Evergreen Bank is a participant in the Home Ownership Made Easy (HOME) savings program, sponsored by the State of Illinois. If you are a potential home buyer saving for your downpayment, the HOME Savings Account is for you.

How does the program work?

Any prospective home buyer who does not currently own real estate can join the program by depositing $100 in this special Evergreen Bank savings account. The Evergreen HOME Savings Account earns the same interest rate as a regular savings account. After two years, the HOME participant becomes certified and is eligible for a range of benefits.

What are the benefits of the Evergreen HOME Savings Account?

In addition to accruing interest, HOME participants receive exemption from the State Real Estate Transfer Tax, waiver of municipal transfer tax (in those communities which have approved this waiver) and exemption from paying State income tax on the interest earned when all the Evergreen HOME funds are used to make the downpayment on a home. By opening and maintaining your HOME account at Evergreen Bank, you receive even more benefits; the application fee on your Evergreen Bank mortgage will be refunded to you if you keep at least $5,000 in your HOME Account during the last six months that it is open. You will also receive a complimentary Evergreen Mortgage Simply Checking account, with all its benefits, provided you arrange for monthly automatic transfers from your Evergreen checking account to your HOME Savings Account.

For complete information on the Evergreen HOME Savings Account concerning fees and terms applicable, stop in or call your Evergreen Banker at (708) 422-6700.

PNA Flood Relief

The Polish National Alliance, the largest ethnic fraternal in the United States, has announced that the flood victims in Missouri, Iowa and Illinois will receive non-perishable food, new toys, new clothes, cleaning supplies and even cash. PNA President Edward J. Moskal stated that a month-long drive will culminate on Nov. 18th, so that a caravan of trucks will deliver the necessary items.

Moskal stated, "In early October, our vice-president Teresa N. Abick delivered cash to PNA victims who suffered severe damages and loss of property in those areas and as a fraternal organization, we not only help our fellow Poles, we also have to share in the responsibility of easing the burden and hardship of others less fortunate than ourselves, hence the PNA Flood Victim Express."

Main collection will be at 6100 N. Cicero Ave., Chicago (PNA headquarters), Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and Friday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Make check or money order payable to: PNA Flood Victims Express, 6100 N. Cicero Ave., Chicago, IL 60646.

More information is available by calling (312) 286-0500, ext. 309.

Writer's Workshop

On Saturday, Nov. 20th, The Art Institute of Chicago's Museum Shop will host a number of Chicago-area children's book authors and illustrators in an open workshop for young literary fans as well as adults who have an interest in writing children's books. The event will take place from 12 noon until 4 p.m. in The Chicago Stock Exchange Trading Room of the museum, located on the lower level, with entrance through the Columbus Drive lobby. As part of the activities, authors will share information on developing stories and characters, and illustrators will demonstrate their drawing talents. Admission to this event is the donation of a new or used book, which in turn will be given to local needy schools.

An array of children's products will be awarded at special drawings. Children will be encouraged to create their own works of art at a coloring event, with special giveaways to take home as mementos. A very special guest at the festival will be the Monster character from author Maurice Sendak's popular book Where the Wild Things Are.

For additional information on this event, call (312) 443-3536.

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were reported by the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

On Oct. 30th at 8:12 a.m., Michael Martin of Oak Lawn told police that when he arrived at work, he saw the rear door was open with the catch off the deadbolt. The offender had entered the front office where the cash box was found open. Martin said $140 cash was missing but 19 dollar bills and some change was left. He also said they received a late-night delivery and one had been made the previous night. The delivery man has a key to the east side door.

On Nov. 2nd, a clerk in the A&M Cigo station, 5601 W. 87th St., confronted a theft suspect. The man began acting suspiciously, according to the clerk, and the clerk grabbed him to see if he had anything in his pockets. The man ran from the store dropping items as he fled to a Buick. The clerk followed and bashed the rear passenger window with a baseball bat as the robber sped off.

On Nov. 3rd, James Bowman, 33, of Oak Lawn was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct after harassing four children at 8:45 p.m. in the 6800 block of W. 95th Pl. According to police, Bowman ran out into the street after arguing with his cousin, James Joniak, who said Bowman was too drunk to drive. He then began hassling four youngsters passing by. According to police, Bowman knocked one child off his bike; chased another and struck him on the back with a hammer; started to chase another juvenile with the hammer, but Joniak stopped him and Bowman struck the fourth with his open hand. Joniak intervened and the police arrived and Bowman was held on the ground and handcuffed. He also continued to yell obscenities for the next hour.

Ted and Kostantinos Giannakopoulos, both of Bourbonnais, and Gerald Gilligan of Oak Lawn reported someone broke the driver's side window and removed his Kenwood stereo. Gilligan told them that about 15 minutes before he had seen three youths, 14 to 16 years old, on bikes near the car. Estimated loss of the stereo is $300.

At 9 p.m., John Studinick of Alsip reported the theft of his radar detector while his car was parked in the Freshline lot. A witness told him about 15 minutes before he arrived, three white youths 14-16 years old had been looking in the car. Estimated loss for the radar and window is $260.

Joe Gerson of Oak Lawn, manager at Mancari's Chrysler-

Plymouth dealership, reported someone took an in-dash AM/FM CD stereo from his car which was parked there. Estimated loss, damage to the dashboard $500 and the stereo $2,000.

On the 5th, Dean Hassell of Chicago reported that while his car was being serviced at Hawkinson Ford, persons unknown entered the trunk and removed a white plastic bag from the trunk. Taken was a Meldova watch with a black leather band and face of gold worth $300; a ring with eight diamonds in an octagon shape with a gold band, $500; a 20-inch diamond cut rope necklace, $812; and a diamond cut rope bracelet, $309, for an estimated loss of $1,921.

On Oct. 31st, David Tischer of Oak Lawn was arrested for shaking and yelling at a 12 year old boy on Halloween. The victim told police he and some other children were trick-or-treating and knocked at Tischer's door, and when no one answered, started to walk away. Tischer came out of the house, grabbed the boy's jacket roughly and dragged him back to the house because he thought the boy had sprayed shaving cream on his landscape lights. When the victim's mother came to intervene, Tischer screamed at her. Tischer told police he was just holding the boy until they arrived, but a neighbor told the officer Tischer "poked the boy's chest and pulled extremely hard on him."

On Nov. 8th, Ed Napleton Mazda/Volvo dealership, 4141 W. 95th St., reported a 1993 Mazda valued at $23,000 was stolen from the lot.

J. Kenneth Spatz of Oak Lawn reported someone gained entry to his van by popping the lock on the rear passenger side double door. Taken were his carpenter's tool belt, tools, a speed square and snap line. Also taken were two 50-pound boxes and a Skill circular saw. Estimated loss is $300.

Eugene Twardy, 67, of Evergreen Park was seen by the security officer at Jewel Foods, 9424 S. Pulaski, removing items from shelves in Aisle 2, placing merchandise in a shopping bag and leaving the store without paying. He was charged with retail theft and $11.35 worth of merchandise was recovered.

Evelyn J. Gelvin of Oak Lawn reported she and her sister were cleaning out the dresser drawers of their deceased father. Missing were three watches, a pair of men's leather slippers. Estimated loss is $100.

Michael Feniuk of Evergreen Park reported that while he was parked at 4440 W. 95th St., someone removed his four GMC stainless steel brushed hubcaps. Estimated loss is $300.

The staff and students of Harold L. Richards High School recently inducted Dr. Charles F. Dunning, O.D., from the class of 1973 into its 'Distinguished Alumni.' Dr. Dunning, his wife Marge and son, Christopher were present at the homecoming assembly when Dr. Dunning received his plaque and made some comments to the student body on the value of education.

Dr. Dunning continued his education after Harold L. Richards High School at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, where he received a bachelor of science degree in 1980. He culminated his education at Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago, with his doctor of science degree in May of 1992.

STOOPING AND BACK PAIN

There may be many occasions in the course of the year when you need to stoop or bend over to perform a task. Weeding your garden is one example. Shovelling is another. Unless your body is accustomed to vigorous exercise every day, constant stooping for short periods of time may throw your spine out of alignment. This may cause aches and pains because of the pressure of nerves, tissue, and bone.

Suppose you're a very busy person and when you finally get to weeding your garden, it's long and heavy work. It may take you hours to finish the job. There are other things to do, so you work harder and faster than normal, putting unusual strain on back and muscles. When you finish, you go back into the house and flop into a chair, exhausted.

You expect some aches and pains when you've had a long, physical workout. But if they persist and cause increasing discomfort, back pains, and troubled sleep, you may need treatment to bring the relief you need to feel tip-top again.

If you have any health questions please feel free to call our office.

Voters Support Lower Blood Alcohol Levels

By a two-to-one margin, Illinois voters support lowering the blood alcohol content (BAC) level at which a motorist is considered driving under the influence, according to a recent statewide poll. Sixty-one percent of those surveyed favor lowering the BAC level from the current 0.10 percent to 0.08 percent, while 31 percent oppose the change. A majority of voters in all parts of the state and within all age groups favor the lower BAC level. A 0.08 BAC level means there are 0.08 grams of alcohol per 100 milliliters of blood. To reach that level, an average 160-pound person would need to consume about four drinks in one hour on an empty stomach.

The poll was conducted statewide among registered voters who have cast ballots in recent elections. The results have a margin of error of 3.5 percentage points. Telephone interviews of 801 voters were the basis for the announcement.

"The poll demonstrates indisputably that voters want a .08 law in our state," Secretary of State George H. Ryan said. "Illinois is at the forefront nationally in cracking down on drunk drivers. To maintain this position, we must join the 10 other states that have lowered the illegal DUI limit to .08. Once again in 1994, I will ask the General Assembly to pass .08 legislation."

For the past several years, legislation to lower the BAC to 0.08 percent has failed to be approved by either chamber of the Illinois General Assembly. This year, SB 903, sponsored by State Sen. David Barkhausen, was held in the Senate Transportation Committee.

The Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act, passed in 1991, stipulates that states are eligible for federal grants if they meet four of five anti-drunk driving criteria. Illinois currently receives $2.2 million annually in such incentive grants, but those funds will dry up if the state does not have a 0.08 BAC law in force by Oct. 1st, 1996.

The poll also found that a vast majority, 95 percent, strongly approve of the steps the Illinois Legislature has taken in recent years to reduce the number of drunk drivers; a 55 percent majority believe there should be a lower BAC level for drivers under the age of 21; fifty-six percent said a motorist who had three drinks, or even less, in an hour should be considered driving under the influence (DUI); and fifty-three percent report having seen someone in the past year driving under the influence, while 42 percent have not seen someone they suspected of driving drunk, and only eight percent say they were a passenger in a vehicle with a driver who appeared to have had too much to drink.

Most Valuable

St. Xavier University softball player Lynne Di Grazia was named to the National Softball Coaches Association All American Team. Di Grazia was also named a first team All American by the National Softball Coaches Association. Lynne, a graduate of Maria High School, was an outfielder for the Lady Cougars. While at St. Xavier, she was also named to the All-District 20 team in 1991 and 1993, Most Valuable Player of District 20 in 1993, All Conference in 1992 and 1993 and was named to the all Tournament Team in 91-92-93.

In 1993, Lynne led the Cougars in batting average, home runs, RBI and also had the best slugging percentage. According to Head Coach Lynn O'Linski, "Di Grazia is one of the best players that I have coached; all the awards that she has received prove her success at St. Xavier."

Indoor Soccer Tournament At St. Rita

St. Rita High School, 7740 S. Western Ave., is sponsoring its third annual Grammar School Indoor Soccer Tournament at the school on Sunday, Nov. 21st, announced Tim McCarthy, head coach of the school soccer team. The tournament is to take place in the St. Rita gymnasium with registration from 11 until 11:45 a.m. Games begin promptly at 12 noon. Each young man in the tournament will receive a T-shirt and the first and second place teams will receive trophies. The tournament's most valuable player receives the "Golden Foot" award at the end of the day.

Rules for the tournament include a 5 on 5 player format with a limit of 10 members per team, single elimination consisting of two 15 minute halves per game. Gym shoes, and shin guards are required for each competitor. Parents who attend will be able to tour the campus and enjoy refreshments while watching the competition.

The Oak Lawn Tornados won last year's competition knocking off some tough competition en route to the title. In the championship round they defeated St. Barnabas, a perennial grade school soccer powerhouse.

"The tournament, besides being a fun-filled time for those involved, is an opportunity for some of the most talented soccer players in the area to compete against each other," said McCarthy, "It also gives their parents an opportunity to see St. Rita High School."

To reserve a spot in the tournament, call John Mientus at (312) 925-6600 during the day or Coach McCarthy at (312) 238-2642.

Santa Fe Banquet

Culminating an exciting 1993 racing season, Santa Fe Speedway welcomed drivers, pit crew members, sponsors, track officials and race fans to the Lexington House, Hickory Hills on Nov. 5, for the 32nd annual Santa Fe Speedway Banquet of Champions and Miller Genuine Draft Victory Celebration.

In 1993, Santa Fe Speedway celebrated its 41st year of motorsports entertainment in the Chicagoland area. The event was sponsored by Miller Genuine Draft, which supplied over $3,500 in door prizes, Pepsi-Cola and the Hoover Vacuum Company.

Track announcer and master of ceremonies Terry Kimes led the festivities honoring this year's champions including Late Model champion Dennis Erb Sr. of Carpentersville, Sportsman champ Ted Loomis of Genoa, Lightning Rod champion Elmer Fandrey of Lemont and Short Track American Racer (S.T.A.R.) victor Don Darrow of Villa Park.

Also receiving championship awards were Ladies division champion, Liz York of Brookfield and Figure-eight winner, John Klimek of Brookfield. Tournament of Destruction champion Mean Green Machines and Car Train champs Derailed, driven by Eric Fishel of Westmont.

Area drivers and their finishing positions include Larry Stotts, 4th in 'Late Model' competition; Andy Gestautas, 14th in Sportsman competition; Frank Izzo of Hometown and Dave Brown of Bridgeview, 6th and 8th, respectively, in Lightning Rod competition.

Santa Fe Speedway is on the corner of 91st and Wolf Rd. in Hinsdale.

Hunting Guide

Opening day is just around the corner and you have been anticipating the challenge for months. It's time to test your pre-scouting, hunting area selection, marksmanship, knowledge and understanding of the whitetail deer. It is the time of year when millions of sportsmen and women participate in one of the greatest outdoor sports, deer hunting. Preparation is an integral part and the best assurance of an enjoyable, safe and rewarding experience. To help stack the odds in your favor, Whitetails Unlimited, Inc. has produced a full-color booklet to help sharpen your deer hunting skills. The publication, titled "Whitetail Deer Hunter's Guidelines," is tailored to the novice hunter, but will add a degree of success to any hunt.

The intent of the booklet is to prepare the hunter for the upcoming season, so that regardless of harvest success the outdoor experience can be fully enjoyed. The publication is being made available to all interested sportsmen and women across the United States and Canada through Whitetails Unlimited's D.E.E.R. program.

To receive your free copy of "Whitetail Deer Hunter's Guidelines," send a stamped, legal-size, self-addressed envelope to Whitetails Unlimited, Inc., Attn: WDHC, P.O. Box 422, Sturgeon Bay, WI 54235.

Third Place Finish

"The St. Rita High School Golf team recently qualified for the IHSA sectional competition with an impressive third place finish at the Mt. Carmel Regional at Glenwood Country Club," announced Coach Stan Kastelic. The Swinging Mustangs shot a team total of 359 to earn themselves a spot in the IHSA sectional, led by senior captain Greg Zaber, St. Nicholas of Tolentine parish, who shot an 86 and sophomore sensation Brian Harty, St. Nicholas of Tolentine, who fired an 88 to qualify for the individual state sectional competition.

The team compiled a 11-4 match play record during the regular season en route to their most successful golf accomplishment in several years. In addition to Zaber and Harty other team qualifiers include seniors Bob Pasinski, Five Holy Martyrs; Rob Cizek, Immaculate Conception; Ryan Harty, St. Nicholas of Tolentine and Pat Cunningham, St. John Fisher.

"This team has been a pleasure to work with because they have each picked each other up at different times of the season making for a great season record and a chance to qualify for the state tournament. Most importantly, though, is that they had fun and learned more about the great sport of golf," said Kastelic.

The team competed in the Mt. Carmel Sectional in hopes of qualifying for their first state golf tournament championship.

"People counted us out early but the kids kept their composure and have improved with each round they've played," concluded Kastelic.

Basketball League Registration

The Alsip Park District is currently accepting registration for their youth basketball league which shall consist of an eight to 10 year old division, an 11 to 13 year old division, and a 14 to 16 year old division. Both boys and girls are eligible to participate. Competition for the eight to 13 year old division is scheduled on Saturday mornings and competition for the 9th and 10th grade division, on Sunday evenings. All games will be played at the Apollo Recreation Center, 12521 S. Kostner.

The registration fee is $35 for residents, $40 for non-residents. Registration is accepted on an individual basis only.

The park district is also looking for individuals to volunteer their time as a coach. Coaches are needed to oversee each team and provide supervision, guidance and fun.

For additional information, contact Brian McLaughlin at the park district, (708) 389-1003.

World Cup Soccer In Chicago

Preparations at Soldier Field for the 1994 World Cup games next June have already started. The restoration and rehabilitation of Soldier Field was described recently by Mayor Richard M. Daley, chairman of the Public Building Commission of Chicago (PBC). Touring the construction work at Soldier Field, Mayor Daley said, "Next June, thousands of soccer fans from around the world will gather in this historic stadium for the Opening Ceremonies and five games of the World Cup Tournament. We want to make sure Soldier Field is in the best possible shape to welcome our international visitors."

Renovations will include repairs and improvements to the facade, upgrading existing washrooms and adding new ones at the stadium's north end and widening the playing field by adding sod to the sidelines. Most of the renovations are being handled by Blinderman Construction Company and will be completed by March 1994.

Soldier Field was built in the 1920s using Benedictstone -- large concrete blocks that were cast on-site for the facade and colonnade. The structure is still sound, but some of the blocks require attention due to many years of exposure to Chicago's extreme weather conditions. The blocks that are repairable will be patched; others will be replaced and some areas will be dismantled and rebuilt. Molds will be made to cast the new blocks to match the old ones and the exterior will retain its historic appearance.

Changes will also be made to accommodate the visiting press during World Cup. The games are expected to bring in more than 1,500 reporters from throughout the world. The press area can currently handle about 200 reporters, therefore, a temporary press area will be created in the stands to accommodate the excess press. Electrical and telephone hookups for computers, fax machines and modems will be installed to allow reporters to send reports as they write them.

The Public Building Commission of Chicago has issued Building Revenue Bonds for over $20 million to cover the cost of repairs and improvements.

OUTDOORS

By Jim Kirby

GEYSER, MONTANA - Our 16th annual Montana hunt proved a success. My hunting companions were TOM JEFFERY of Palos Heights, his son TOM, of Palos Park and TERRY MULCAHY of Mokena. We all filled out on mule deer and white tail deer.

The heavy rains filled all the water holes and depressions causing the ducks and geese to be widely scattered. Migratory bird shooting presented a real challenge.

Over the years we have seen the ranchers and farmers experience good years and bad years. Drought; too much rain; grasshoppers; too hot; too cold; disease; low crop and livestock prices, and wind damage to crops are but a few of the on going problems.

This year, large hail (the size of golfballs) and an over abundance of coyotes contributed to the decline of grouse, partridge and pheasants. The hail destroyed crops and produced welts on the cattle and horses. As the cows were giving birth, the coyotes were seen stalking the calves. We were asked to dispatch any coyotes we saw, and we did.

Our hosts - JOHN AND LOIS HILL operate a 16,000 acre family ranch in the Highwood Mountains and Missouri Break area in Central Montana. They raise crops, cattle and quarter horses. This is a working ranch - nothing fancy, but provides access to deer, antelope, elk, bird hunting and excellent trout fishing.

ON A LOCAL LEVEL - There seems to be an empty supply of pheasants. However, the standing corn provides a haven for the birds making them difficult to flush. The farmers are letting Mother Nature dry the corn as opposed to expensive propane gas corn dryers. The higher moisture content reduces the price of corn. The current moisture content is running about 24%, the desired level is about 15%. Once the corn is harvested, pheasant hunting should improve.

CNN TO AIR MAJOR FISHERIES DOCUMENTARY - Imagine a restaurant without any seafood on the menu; imagine a stream existing without any fish. It's probably very difficult to do so, but for fisheries scientists, it's more than an image.

Since Colonial times the watersheds of North America have been greatly altered as a result of rapid increases in human population and development. Fertile estuaries have been filled or polluted and marine fish stocks have been badly exploited.

There is a critical need to communicate science-based fisheries conservation information to the public. The American Fisheries Society (AFS), an organization which promotes scientific and technical information on fisheries, is pleased to announce that an upcoming Cable News Network (CNN) report on fisheries in North America is underway.

Ted Turner, founder of CNN, has committed the network to air a six-part series on the plight of North America's fisheries. Parts of the series will cover overfishing, commercial catch of non-target species, habitat alteration, fish population trends and the role of science in fisheries. With an audience of more than 30 million households worldwide, the documentary series will give the American public a new understanding of fisheries problems as well as remedies which will hopefully insure healthier fisheries in generations to come.

"It was only a few hundred years ago there were too many fish and not enough people. Now there are too many people and not enough fish," said Turner.

For fisheries information contact Paul Brouha, executive director of AFS, at (301) 897-8616. To confirm the air-time schedule, please contact your local cable company.

Tournament Participants

St. Rita High School is hosting the 3rd annual McGovern Classic Thanksgiving Basketball Tournament from Monday, Nov. 22nd through Saturday, Nov. 27th. 1993 participants include St. Rita High School, Eisenhower High School, Brother Rice High School, Curie High School, Nazareth Academy, Shepard High School, St. Ignatius College Prep and The Latin School.

POLITE Program For Deer Hunters

About 75 percent of white-tailed deer range in North America occurs on private lands, therefore it's quite obvious why good hunter/landowner relations must be preserved. Past surveys reveal that the vast majority of landowners will allow ethical hunters access to their property, providing they can control the number of people hunting at one time. Do you face the dilemma of "How to approach a landowner and make him/her understand you are a responsible hunter and will respect their rights as a property owner?"

Whitetails Unlimited, Inc. (WTU), a national, non-profit organization with the added financial support of Federal Cartridge Company, has a proven solution, Project P.O.L.I.T.E. (Permission Of Landowner In order To Enter). Since the program's inception in 1988, over 1/4 million ID cards have been distributed and are responsible for providing access to hundreds of thousands of acres of private property, for the sport of regulated hunting. As mentioned above, the primary tool being used with such astounding success is the WTU Hunter/Landowner ID card published and provided free of charge by Whitetails Unlimited, Inc. Federal's "Hunters For Conservation" program provided additional financial support to make the ID cards available at no charge across the US and Canada.

When a hunter has decided where he would like to hunt, he approaches the landowner for permission. Upon introducing himself, the completed WTU identification card is presented. Once permission has been granted, the landowner signs and dates the card and the hunter retains the portion with the landowner's signature. The landowner retains the portion of the card containing the specific information on the hunter: name, address, phone number, vehicle model, and license number. The WTU ID card gives the hunter the key to hunting private property.

Basketball Classic

"St. Rita High School is kicking off the season in grand fashion as they play host to the 6th annual Tom McGovern Classic from Nov. 22nd to 27th at St. Rita Gymnasium," announced Jim Prunty, head basketball coach.

The tournament will have eight teams operating in two separate divisions. The teams participating in group one are Brother Rice, Latin School, St. Ignatius and Shepard. Group two teams include Curie, Eisenhower, Nazareth Academy and St. Rita. Each team in the tournament is guaranteed to play four games by first playing a three game round-robin format against each team in their group. The teams will then play on the last day against an opposite group team with the same or similar record. Last year, St. Rita won the tournament going 4-0 and defeating Shepard in the title game.

"This tournament is a great start for all teams competing because they get to play four very intense games before entering their conference races," said Prunty.

The tournament was renamed the McGovern Classic in 1991 in memory of former St. Rita basketball assistant coach Tom McGovern, who coached at the school from 1984-1988, and whose untimely death two years ago was a great loss to all who knew him. He was known for his great rapport with kids of all ages, especially those he coached in basketball.

For more information about the schedule of games or to receive information about St. Rita basketball, contact the school at (312) 925-6600.

Three For Three

The 7th grade Lady Rams basketball team finished the first half of their season this week evening their record at 3 wins and 3 losses. In Monday's game against Kerkstra, the Rams lost 24-12 after leading 7-2 during the 1st quarter. The Indians shut down the offense in the remaining three quarters.

Rosemary Brooks led scoring with 16 points and had 4 rebounds. Missy Butz scored 3 points and grabbed 3 rebounds. Peggy Maluck topped off the scoring with 3 points.

Tuesday's game was against arch-rival Finley in the Rams' gym. After falling behind 7-11 at the end of the first half, the Rams stepped up their play in the 2nd half and won 26-13.

Bull head coach Phil Jackson recently tipped-off the National Basketball Association's "Stay in School" awareness campaign for the 1993-94 season. Throughout the year, members of the Bull organization will visit local schools and community groups to encourage kids to stay in school and stay away from drugs. To request a speaker at your school, write a letter on school stationery and mail to the Chicago Bulls Community Services Department, 980 N. Michigan Ave., Suite 1600, Chicago, IL 60611.

Pace Is More Than "Just A Bus Company"

Pace, the suburban transportation service in the northeastern Illinois region, has made great strides since its inception in 1984 to operate efficiently, cut costs and live within a limited budget while still providing a quality and valuable service. Pace has proven itself to be more than just a bus company; it is an innovative and responsive transportation provider offering comprehensive public transportation solutions to regional transit problems.

Pace has a proven track record for operating efficiently, despite often being criticized for the 'empty bus' myth. Pace continues to increase its farebox recovery ratio while other systems decline. Since taking over operation of suburban services from the Regional Transportation Authority (RTA), Pace has increased the farebox recovery rate by 25 percent. Pace has increased the recovery rate for suburban bus service from 28 percent to 35 percent in 1994.

In addition, from 1985 through 1993, Pace's cost per mile has grown by only 8.1 percent while the inflation rate for the same period has grown by 31.6 percent. The average cost per mile for bus transit systems in the U.S. is $4.26 compared with Pace's $2.99.

Even though Pace serves a low density suburban market without a central business district, Pace's overall recovery rate is better than the recovery rate for major urban systems like Denver (29 percent), Detroit (23 percent), St. Louis (25 percent), Dallas (29 percent) and Minneapolis-St. Paul (30 percent). In addition, Pace's recovery rate is in line with the national average for all transit systems of 36 percent, which includes major urban systems like Chicago, New York, Los Angeles and Philadelphia.

If separated into two categories, inner suburban and outer suburban, Pace could compare with its two sister agencies' (CTA and Metra) farebox rates. The four Pace divisions in Cook County have a combined recovery rate of approximately 47 percent, while the four divisions in the surrounding five counties have a recovery rate of approximately 30 percent.

"Illinois Bell doesn't make a profit by running phone lines out to the farmers in the Midwest, but they continue to do it because it provides a needed and valuable service," explained Joe DiJohn, Pace executive director. "That's how we view our service. We may have only 16.3 percent of our riders in the satellite communities, but still provide an important service to the entire region."

Although light density service is important to the outer suburbs, Pace was one of the first transit systems to develop a criterion for evaluating bus routes. By eliminating or reducing service on poorly-used routes, Pace has been able to continue its efforts to cut costs. Since 1985, Pace has saved more than $6.4 million by service eliminations or reductions based on this established criterion. All routes must meet a minimum of 50 percent of the system average or be subject to cuts.

If a route falls below the criterion, Pace examines the route to determine what can be done to increase ridership and productivity, meets with local communities and businesses to promote the service, then discontinues the route if there is no improvement. Service on 69 routes has been discontinued since 1985, and major service reductions have taken place on an additional 53 routes. Pace currently operates 245 fixed-routes.

Although Pace sometimes falls under scrutiny because of the 'empty bus' myth, the fact is Pace takes many actions to prevent such an occurrence. There may be some reasons why citizens see an empty bus; it is going to or from the garage to the first point or terminal on its route, or it may be the start or end of its route, carrying a few passengers because the riders got on or off at other destinations. Pace is always available to explain its ridership or provide citizens with information on routes. Just provide our passenger services office, (708) 364-PACE, with the bus location and time, and Pace will respond with an explanation and information.

Pace, through good management, has been able to live within its limited budget. Pace, since 1984, has reinvested more than $27 million in budget savings for capital projects. The reason Pace has been successful in balancing the budget and generating savings is because it implements aggressive cost controls. Without these controls, Pace would have spent an additional $21.8 million more each year to provide the same level of service.

The importance of public transportation in the suburbs will only continue to grow. With the costs of parking lots, the new mandates of the Clean Air Act, and the region's increasing problem with traffic congestion, Pace's role in the northeastern Illinois area will become more vital. If this region is expected to grow, profit and continue to be a stronghold of the nation, it is time to believe and invest in the benefits and service of Pace, the suburban transportation service.

Greenland Patrol

Fifty years ago, as World War II raged, units of the Coast Guard Greenland Patrol were plying the frigid arctic waters off Greenland hunting German submarines, escorting convoys and patrolling to prevent Germans from setting up weather reporting stations on the Greenland Icecap. In October, 1943, the duties and size of the Greenland Patrol had expanded to its war time peak of 47 Coast Guard cutters, six submarine chasers and the Coast Guard manned Patrol Bombing Squadron 6.

Fifty years later over 100 surviving members of the Greenland Patrol will gather at Daytona Beach, FL to remember the war, their actions and the shipmates that never came home. Four survivors of USAT Dorchester, rescued by CGC Escanaba after their Army transport was torpedoed by a German U-Boat, will meet Raymond O'Malley, one of two Coast Guardsmen who survived the sinking of Escanaba, two months after the Dorchester rescue.

In June, 1941, assigned to "neutrality patrols" Coast Guard cutters Modoc, Greene and Northland entered World War II five months before the attack on Pearl Harbor. Modoc witnessed the fight to sink the German battleship Bismarck. While looking for survivors of a torpedoed cargo ship, the three Coast Guard Cutters stumbled upon Bismarck. Modoc tied US flags all over the cutter to keep from being mistakenly identified for Bismarck. The Captain of Northland did the same after a British naval vessel almost opened fire. When the British properly identified Modoc, British torpedo bombers began to use Modoc as an approach point for attacking Bismarck.

Three months before the U.S. was at war CGC Northland made the first U.S. naval seizure of World War II when it seized the trawler Buskoe on Sept. 12, 1941 for infiltrating a German weather observation and radio team into Greenland.

The Coast Guard, in addition to operating its own cutters, crewed 351 Navy and 260 Army vessels in World War II. These included attack transports, submarine chasers, destroyer escorts, patrol frigates and the landing ship tank (LST), known as the backbone of the invasion fleet. By the end of World War II more than 171,000 men and women were wearing the Coast Guard uniform.

The SPARs (women's reserve) had reached over 11,000 and the temporary reserves had more than 51,000 volunteers. Coast Guard units fought in every war zone and landed troops in all invasions. Twenty-eight vessels were lost along with 1,050 Coast Guard lives. Cutters and aircraft rescued more than 2,400 survivors of submarine attacks, sank 12 enemy submarines and saved over 1,500 soldiers and sailors from drowning on D-Day, June 6th, 1944.

Florian Byczynski, USCGC Northland (WPG-49), of Palos Hills is an area man who survived.

"Street Smarts"

Recently, St. Gerald School had Chicago Detective J. J. Bittenbinder speak to the children on 'Street Smarts.' Bittenbinder told the children about gangs and drugs. Gangs give the pleasure of having money and giving this money to members. The reason they do this is gang members have no support from their family or friends. Drugs get hold of you physically. They are no good for you, so be smart and say no. Detective Bittenbinder told parents to empower their children with the ability to respectfully say no to other adults. Teach your children not to talk to strangers. Stay away from strangers in cars. If someone chases you, drop your books and run. Tell your parents if this happens to you. The last point Detective Bittenbinder made was there is safety in numbers so stay together. Bittenbinder has been on the Chicago Police Department for 21 years. The last 16 years have been spent in violent crimes. He is a recognized expert in assault and crime scene investigation. He has been featured in two PBS television specials. "Street Smarts: How to Avoid Being a Victim" and "Street Smarts: Straight Talk for Kids, Teens and Parents."

From his extensive background he has developed a hard-hitting presentation loaded with practical proven strategies to help individuals become 'tough targets' for criminals.

Holiday Food Drive For Needy

The holidays will soon be upon us. In the spirit of the season, Local 881 of United Food and Commercial Workers (UFCW) will conduct its annual Holiday Food Drive during December. The drive benefits needy families served by the Better Boys Foundation. Ronald E. Powell, Local 881 president and UFCW International vice-president, has set this year's goal at 1500 baskets.

Local 881's 40,000-plus members have made this effort a success for the past seven years by donating non-perishable food items or cash at their worksites. They also assist in the collection, sorting and distribution of the food baskets. Chicagoland-area retailers and suppliers will also be asked to continue their support through generous contributions.

In addition to the Holiday Food Drive, Local 881 will sponsor an annual Christmas party on Dec. 22nd.

Disadvantaged children from North Lawndale, East and West Garfield, the near Westside and the Austin area communities will enjoy a holiday meal, treats and a visit from Santa Claus who will present the kids with donated toys and gifts.

Food drive items will be collected at work locations represented by Local 881 from Dec. 5th through 13th (Sunday through Monday). The union staff will pick up the donations on Dec. 14th and 15th and deliver the food to BBF on Dec. 16th. Volunteers will sort the items on Dec. 19th. For more information on the Holiday Food Drive for the families served by the Better Boys Foundation or the Christmas party for the kids, contact Patricia Crawford-Sanders at Local 881 at (708) 954-1800, ext. 415.

Business Start-Up

The Small Business Development Center at the Women's Business Development Center presents "Before You Start Your Business," a workshop for prospective entrepreneurs. Persons interested in learning about entrepreneurship and the joys and pitfalls of owning their own business should attend the first of four workshops on Tuesday, Dec. 7th from 12:30 to 3 p.m. or on Thursday, Dec. 9th from 5:30 to 8 p.m. at the Women's Business Development Center offices, 8 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Suite 400.

Brother Rice senior Mark Rutschman-Byler is featured in a journal of high school fiction writers put out by Columbia College as part of their high school summer institute program. Rutschman-Byler, of the Beverly area, had two of his works published in the journal. The first, titled "The Beast" is a short story about a worm named 'Acknls' that craves a certain compound that adolescents smear on their faces and, in its craving, causes the spread of acne. The second story, "First Light" is about an astrophysicist in the future who is allowed to oversee a space probe's travels to Mars' largest moon despite having made a mistake that killed hundreds of people on a previous mission. The end result in the probe's journey is the destruction of the human race.

The 16 young writers whose work was published came from all over the state. The program "provided a genuine challenge to their imagination and writing skills," said John Schultz, chairman of the fiction writing department at Columbia.

Rutschman-Byler is ranked near the top of his class and is a National Merit Scholar semi-finalist.

Comerford Elected

Chief Circuit Court Judge Harry G. Comerford was elected to a three-year term as Chief Judge of the Cook County Circuit Court in an election held in the Daley Center Nov. 4th.

Comerford, who has been the Chief Judge since 1978, said "By their mandate, the Cook County Circuit Judges overwhelmingly demonstrated their confidence in my policies and leadership. This vote also endorses my management style which has always been to approach matters thoughtfully and thoroughly, and then to act decisively. The Court to which I was first elected Chief Judge in 1978 was a very different one than the Cook County Court of today. I like to think that it is a better Court and that I had some small part in making it better."

Comerford told the judges he intended to go forward in his efforts to improve the Court and thanked them for their continued support and input.

Board Certified

Seventeen Respiratory Therapy Technology students from Moraine Valley Community College recently passed the certification examination for entry level respiratory therapy administered by the National Board for Respiratory Care.

"This represents a 100 percent pass rate," said Raymond Lehner, department chair of allied health and coordinator of the respiratory therapy technology program at MVCC. According to Lehner, for the past six years, Moraine Valley students have consistently achieved a pass rate of more than 90 percent, when taking the test for the first time.

"A perfect pass rate of 100 percent reflects on the high quality of our program. We are extremely proud of our students for what they are contributing to society," Lehner said.

Class Reunions

A 50th reunion of the class of 1944 (January) of Harvard Grammar School, 75th and Harvard Ave., is being planned for January 1994. Information on former students is being sought. For information, call (708) 779-5956.

St. Nicholas of Tolentine class of 1968 is looking for alumni for a 25th reunion on Nov. 27th at Carriage Green Country Club in Darien. For more information, call Chuck Hills at (312) 778-2028.

THE HOLLYWOOD ATHLETIC CLUB.... Long before alleged "Hollywood madame to the stars" Heidi Fleiss gave new meaning to the words "Hollywood Athletic Club," there was a real Hollywood Athletic Club. The nine-story building, then Hollywood's tallest building, opened on New Year's Eve, 1923. Right from the onset there were plenty of protests where gambling halls, billiard dens and saloons were prohibited in the God-fearing community of Hollywoodland (its original name). The Los Angeles Times even described the sleepy little hamlet as a place where "the saloon and its kindred evils are unknown."

ANITA LOOS, screenwriter and author of "Gentlemen Prefer Blonds," recalled how Hollywoodland's conservative churchgoers of the early 1920s were unprepared for the movie industry and soon found themselves dwelling amid a "troupe of scalawags." The "scalawags" had banded together and launched a membership drive and a million dollars later the Hollywood Athletic Club opened with a flourish on Dec. 31, 1923.

THE HOLLYWOOD ATHLETIC CLUB was an instant success and the gym's first fencing instructor was Cornel Wilde. Wilde was later "discovered" by a few of the stars he was hired to teach. Buster Crabbe was the club's lifeguard and he even trained in the club's pool and went on to win a gold medal in the 1932 Olympics. After his Olympic honors, Crabbe went on to star as Flash Gordon and share "Tarzan" roles with Chicago's own Johnny Weissmuller, another Olympic gold medalist.

THE PLAYGROUND OF THE RICH AND FAMOUS of the 1920s, 30s, and 40s, the Hollywood Athletic Club's membership roles read like a who's who of the entertainment industry. John Barrymore, Errol Flynn, W.C. Fields, John Wayne, Dick Powell, Charlie Chaplin, Clark Gable, Anthony Quinn and Rudolph Valentino were all members and all kept bachelor pads at the famous playground-for-the-stars. Some wags have even gone so far as to say the comings and goings at the old Hollywood Athletic Club and its famous members would probably make Heidi Fleiss' much talked about diary and address book read like "Alice in Wonderland."

PROHIBITION was not a problem and liquor was dispensed in teacups at the club's dances. Hollywood history buffs record that all-night drinking parties were a regular occasion in the bawdy surroundings of the club's penthouse. At one bash, John Wayne stood on the penthouse balcony and hurled billiard balls at passing motorists. Another time, John Barrymore climbed atop the roof of the Hollywood Athletic Club where he remained until the Hollywood Fire Department could rescue him.

JOHN WAYNE and a producer once took bets on who was better at punching his fist through doors. Wayne was the winner, but the club presented him with a $2,000 bill. Al Jolson recorded "I'm California Dreaming" in the basement of the club, and Walt Disney was so close to a breakdown after he went into debt that he spent weeks recuperating at the club and going through strenuous workouts in the gym. Tyrone Power, Sr., a Shakespearean actor and "silent film" star, died at the club in the arms of his 17-year-old son, Tyrone Power, Jr.

THEN AND NOW... The National Organization for Women was not around in the halcyon days of the Hollywood Athletic Club or they would have certainly had something to say about the club's rules which prohibited women above the first floor. W.C. Fields, however, didn't let club rules stand in his way and he once wrapped his mistress Carlotta Monti in a rug and smuggled her upstairs.

GREATEST HOLLYWOOD PRANK... When John Barrymore died in 1942, many of the members retired to the club to drown their sorrow. As the evening wore on, several of the mourners decided to steal Barrymore's body from the mortuary and take it to Errol Flynn's house. They propped the body of John Barrymore up in a chair in hopes of giving Flynn a real scare. Old-timers say Flynn almost had a heart attack when he walked into the room and saw Barrymore seated in the chair.

THE HOLLYWOOD ATHLETIC CLUB began to deteriorate and in 1958 it was sold and became the West Coast branch of the Jewish Theological Seminary. Four years ago the 70-year-old building was leased to a developer who put $1.3 million into refurbishing it and bringing it back to its glamour days.

TODAY, THE HOLLYWOOD ATHLETIC CLUB... is restored to its original velvet and beautiful wood interior and some of the "stars" of this generation have signed up as members. Madonna, Kiefer Sutherland, Charlie Sheen, Kathleen Turner, Eric Clapton, Axl Rose and Kevin Costner are just a few of the Hollywood luminaries who can be seen dining at the club, playing a friendly game of pool, or doing a few laps in the swimming pool.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN... But it just doesn't seem the same anymore. Nobody as yet has hurled a billiard ball at a passing car, or decided to steal a body from a funeral home, or make a bet on who can punch their fist through more doors. However, it is early in the restoration and membership process. Maybe the Hollywood Athletic Club Membership Committee can invite Heidi Fleiss to join and with her coterie of "friends" liven up the place a little bit. Ah, but even so it won't be like the good old days of the Golden Era of the Hollywood Athletic Club.

Popular Irish entertainer Dave Coady and his Irish Express Band will play for a special dinner and cabaret show at Chicago Gaelic Park, 6119 W. 147th St., on Sunday, Dec. 5th. The doors open at 4 p.m. with dinner served at 5 p.m. sharp. The $25 admission price includes a five-course family style dinner. Reservations are recommended.

Waterford born Dave Coady and the Irish Express have been captivating audiences for years. The six person group jokes, dances and sings a variety of songs from Irish ballads to Nell Diamond to Al Jolson. They are big favorites here in Chicago as well as Las Vegas where they have been based for years.

For further information, call Gaelic Park (708) 687-9323.

Polish Exhibition

The Polish Museum of America announces the opening of a new exhibition, "Polish Contemporary Graphic Art and Silver Artistic Jewelry," which continues from Dec. 3rd to Feb. 6th, 1994. The exhibit consists of the works of 17 artists. The displayed graphic works are not linked thematically or stylistically. Each artist is "one of a kind" and at the same time universal in his own way. The growth of creative freedom led to the splitting up of graphic art into a variety of styles. The artists do not follow the beaten paths but like to explore the fruitful by-ways.

Relief printing, shocking novelty of treatment of the medium, it is characteristic trait of Andrzej Bednarczyk, who synthesized an abstract play of forms. Quite different is Krzysztof Tomalski's multi-component graphic art. His "pictures" are gleaming with colors and lines. Leon Jez, Grzegorz Bienias, Andrzej Kasprzak, primarily illustrators with penetrating eyes and intellects, create their imaginative world full of melancholy and lyrical mood.

The exhibit is open seven days a week from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Suggested donation is $2 for adults; $1 for students and senior citizens. Reservations are accepted for guided tour groups.

For further information, please call (312) 384-3352.

Reunion

All former members of the Morgan Park High School A Cappella Choir (classes of '61-'67, the Hurst years) are invited to join other choir alumni for an evening of socializing and caroling on Saturday, Dec. 18th, led by Mr. Hurst himself. We'll gather at Trinity Methodist Church, at the corner of 99th and Winchester, from 7 to 11:30 p.m. Please bring an appetizer and $5.

For more information, call Sue at (708) 949-5869 or John at (815) 476-5715 (both class of '68).

Car Show

Brother Rice High School is presenting a special holiday sports car show on Saturday, Nov. 27th at the school, 10001 S. Pulaski Road. The show will run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. featuring cars from all sports, with door prizes every half-hour, refreshments, a sports drawing plus other giveaways. Admission is $1, with children under seven admitted free.

For more information, call Ed Kalata at (708) 636-8386.

Yule Shopping

St. Rita Mother's Club is having an open meeting on Monday, Dec. 13th, at 7:30 p.m. at the high school, 77th and Western Ave. Come and 'Shop 'Til You Drop.' There will be crafters, snacks and a visit from the Man in Red. Bring an ornament for the grab bag.

Greetings

Area residents have the unique opportunity to send their friends and loved ones a beautiful holiday message while contributing to the work of the American Cancer Society (ACS). The South Cook Area Office of the ACS has a variety of attractive boxed holiday greeting cards for sale. Designs range from manger scenes to Currier and Ives, but each and every card is imprinted with the message, "This card represents a gift to the American Cancer Society."

The cards range in price from $15 to $23 per box. Proceeds from the sale of the cards will help fund the ACS comprehensive programs of cancer research, education and service to cancer patients.

The cards may be purchased at the ACS South Cook Area Office, 1010 Dixie Highway, Suite 404, Chicago Heights. Office hours are Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Senate Approves Flood Relief Funds

During the final week of the fall veto session, the Illinois Senate passed measures to provide supplemental funding for flood-related expenses to state agencies, provide job security for National Guard members and create a Senior Citizens Bill of Rights, according to State Sen. Patrick O'Malley, (R-18). The fall supplemental appropriations bill contained a request of more than $305 million for cleanup costs incurred during this summer's flood disaster. Only $29.9 million of the total is state money, with the rest coming from federal disaster relief funding.

O'Malley says a wide variety of state agencies requested money to cover flood costs. Among those items requested were funds to repair state parks affected by the flood; pay correctional officers on flood duty; provide flood-related counseling services; and pay for water, sanitation, lab testing, pumps and related equipment.

While the Senate approved the spending measure, the House of Representatives adjourned on Nov. 4th without acting on it. The Senate also adjourned on Nov. 4th, and both chambers are not scheduled to return for regular session days until Jan. 12th, 1994.

The Senate also took action on a measure that changes Illinois law to provide job security, protect homes and ensure college tuition for National Guard members called to duty for state emergency, such as this summer's flood. While Guard members are assured job security in times of national duty, the law is currently unclear on state emergencies. The bill also increases the death benefit for those killed on duty and protects guard members from discrimination from health insurance coverage.

In other action during the week, the Senate adopted a resolution urging lawmakers to be more aware of senior citizens and their rights and needs when voting on legislation and passing laws that affect them. The resolution states that senior citizens have special needs and rights in a variety of social, health care and legal situations.

The General Assembly also approved a measure to protect a Kewanee woman's constitutional right to a secret ballot. House Bill 344 allows county boards to move precinct lines to correct situations like that of Lydia Thorpe, who is the only voter in her precinct in a separate legislative district, allowing everyone to know how she voted.

Attends HOBY Seminar

Ryan Roach, sophomore, has been selected as Harold L. Richards High School's participant in the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation state leadership seminar to be held in the spring of 1994. The two and one-half day workshop will explore the topic "America's Incentive System." Roach is planning a career in aeronautical engineering. He is a member of cross-country, basketball, baseball and the Aviation Club. Active in his church's youth programs, he is also a supporter of his church's food drive. He is the son of Brad and Debbie Roach of Oak Lawn.

Roach was selected for the HOBY award by a panel of teachers on the basis of student interviews. All interviewees described how they have demonstrated leadership ability, expressed sensitivity and concern of others and shown the desire to learn and share knowledge and experience with others.

Writers To Compete

Mrs. Maureen Lighthall, English teacher at Polaris High School for Individual Education, has recently submitted the names of three young people who will compete in the National Council of Teachers of English Achievement Awards in Writing.

The students, Sam Jacob (Alsip), Grace Uy (Alsip) and Pam Piarowski (Oak Lawn) will have their writing sent in by January 1994.

This past summer was a busy one for Oak Lawn Community High School science department members Jan Sulek and Dan Maloney. Science department leader Jan, along with colleague Dan Maloney attended a summer workshop at Argonne National Laboratory sponsored by the federal government. The focus was to enable the teachers to learn how to operate the newest microscopic and analytical instruments available. The teachers are able to borrow this sophisticated technological equipment from Argonne National Lab and share it with their students in the form of advanced experiments. In chemistry classes Ms. Sulek will use the 'optical bench,' a spectrophotometer that uses light energy to analyze unknown substances. In biology classes Maloney will use videomicroscopy and computer generated photography to allow students to visualize a variety of different life forms. It was a valuable and exciting learning experience for both educators.

Lucia Fest Queen

Gail Stearns of Oak Lawn will reign at the Lucia Fest on Sunday, Dec. 12th at the Hilton, Oak Lawn. The 'Queen,' together with a performance by the Solstralen Muskal Group, will sing in both Swedish and English. The event includes a sit-down dinner and program beginning at 12 noon. Reservations are available by telephoning Britt Nilsson at (312) 239-1855. The ticket cost is $16 adults and $8 for children.

Gail is a sixth grade student at St. Gerald School and is also active in the St. Gerald Girl Scout Troop. She is also active in Bethel No. 13, International Order of Job's Daughters, active church and Luther League member at Mt. Zion Lutheran Church, and is an avid ballet and tap dancer, studying at the Ideal School of Dance.

For the past several summers, Gail has been a voice student of Professor Marlon Frogni, professor of music at the University of Krakow, Poland, during his summer tours in the United States.

Her forbears came from the city of Eskilstuna in the province of Smaland in Sweden.

The Solstralen Lucia Pageant will also give a performance on Sunday, Nov. 21st at the Christmas Around the World festivities at Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry.

GAIL STEARNS

What Was Happening...

25 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE COMMUNITY

An aerial photograph showing a vacant parcel of land surrounded by homes and landscaped yards proved to be a strong point Tuesday night in helping the Oak Lawn Village board of trustees make up their minds on what had appeared to be a see-saw case. Attorney Louis Cankar, representing Casimir Solewski, owner of the vacant land, had appealed the Aug. 26th ruling of the planning and development commission, in which that group denied a petition to rezone from R-1 to R-3 the northwest corner of 101st street and Park ave. The board studied the blown-up aerial photograph. Trustee Jim Dwyer said the photograph told the story vividly and honestly. He moved that the village board uphold the rezoning board recommendations and reject the petitions that were received on the subject. The vote was unanimous.

Voters in School District 126 on Tuesday approved two propositions in a long-range school improvement program. The district includes sections of Alsip, Hazelgreen and Oak Lawn. A $2,200,000 bond issue was passed 690 to 426, and the proposal to utilize Illinois School Building funds squeezed through 579-517. The bond issue will allow the construction of 60 new school rooms, William D. Smith, superintendent, said.

Thieves broke into the L. Fish Furniture Store, 9659 S. Cicero Ave., last week, broke open the store's safe and got away with an undetermined amount of cash and checks, police reported.

Pretty Sheila Johnson, Oak Lawn High School senior, was completely overcome when it was announced at Saturday afternoon's football game that she was to reign as Queen of the gala Homecoming Weekend. Last year, as a junior, she was a princess, so she was accustomed to the suspense...but not the victory! Sheila, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson, has been a cheerleader for three years, served as a student council representative, and is also active with the yearbook staff at FHA.

A long time dream will come true early next Spring when Central Avenue, from 87th Street south to 111th Street in Oak Lawn, is fully improved and open to traffic. Village President Fred Dumke and the Oak Lawn board of trustees fought a long and consistent battle to get the much needed improvement. Under an agreement with the county, made about three years ago, the village will pay about fifty percent of the cost of the project which is estimated at about $300,000.

Marine Major Richard J. Webb, 33, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Webb of 7714 S. Natchez av., Oak Lawn, and husband of the former Miss Irene V. Rosengren of Evergreen Park was awarded the Navy Achievement medal. The presentation was made during ceremonies at the Command and Staff College, Quantico, Va.

Private First Class Richard Michael Geerdes of Oak Lawn has been assigned to Headquarters Fifth US Army Flight Detachment, Fort Sheridan.

Oak Lawn Mayor Fred Dumke, assisted Mr. and Mrs. Lou Mirabelli this week at the ground breaking ceremonies for the new Lou Mirabelli Furniture and Appliance Store at 10550 S. Cicero. The ground breaking is the beginning of a fulfillment of a lifelong dream, according to Mirabelli. The representatives of a number of nationally known appliance and furniture concerns were on hand as the work got underway for the 30,000 square foot modern store.

Special Thanksgiving For Homebound Seniors

The holidays should be a time of family and sharing. But sometimes distance separates older persons from their loved ones and they find themselves alone for the holidays. This holiday season, the Suburban Area Agency on Aging service network is offering 'Meals on Wheels' to make sure homebound seniors in need receive some special attention on Thanksgiving. All across the state, 'Meals on Wheels' reaches out to isolated older persons not able to prepare a special holiday meal. Last year, in suburban Cook County, 154 seniors received meals served by volunteers recruited by local service agencies. This special holiday program supplements the Home Delivered Meals program which supplies an average of 6,024 meals weekly to older persons in suburban Cook County.

A home-delivered holiday meal through 'Meals on Wheels' costs just $7. That's the value of a special, commemorative holiday card offered by the Area Agency to help support the program. It is the perfect way to make the holidays a true cause for celebration for a lonely, homebound elderly person. The entire donation for each card is used exclusively for the cost of a meal and is tax deductible.

If you would like to purchase a card, know of an older person in need of a special holiday meal this Thanksgiving, or would like to make your own holiday a little more special by delivering a meal to a grateful senior, call the Suburban Area Agency on Aging at (708) 383-0258 and ask for the 'Meals on Wheels' program. Your contributions of time and money will help to make the holidays especially memorable to a senior who may feel forgotten and alone. If you know of an older person in another area of Illinois who would appreciate a special holiday meal, call the Illinois Department on Aging at 1(800)252-8966 to locate the local service agency coordinating the 'Meals on Wheels' program.

ISO Director Of Sports Marketing Hired

Illinois Special Olympics (ISO) announces the hiring of Judy Bergh as director of sports marketing. She is based at the Illinois Special Olympics Chicagoland Marketing Office and assumed her duties in September.

Bergh said that a large part of her duties will involve "developing long-term partnerships with Chicago-area businesses and other members of the community on behalf of ISO. There is a significant number of athletes waiting to participate with this wonderful program, but funds are needed. I am very excited about the potential to expand community and corporate support to meet this need."

Doug Snyder, president and CEO of ISO, said, "We at ISO welcome Judy. Her strong background in the areas of advertising, marketing and non-profit fundraising will make her an asset to our organization as we prepare to move from celebrating our first 25 years to readying more athletes and sponsors over the course of our next 25 years."

ISO is a non-profit organization celebrating 25 years of providing sports training and competition to over 20,000 athletes registered in 22 geographic areas throughout Illinois. The two sports offered in the first games in 1968, athletics (track & field) and aquatics, have become 17 sports, including: athletics, aquatics, bowling, basketball, gymnastics, floor hockey, poly hockey, speed skating, figure skating, volleyball, football (soccer), softball, cross-country skiing, alpine skiing, tennis, powerlifting and equestrian sports.

More information on ISO can be obtained by contacting the Illinois Special Olympics Center, 605 E. Willow, Normal, IL 61761, phone (309) 888-2551.

Board Approves Agreement On Cable TV

Rezoning from M-1 (restricted manufacturing) to R-1 (single family) and R-3 (multi-family) at 111th St. and Cook Ave., for the proposed development of the former Zayre property by Hartz Construction was postponed until after the Dec. 8th meeting of the legal and ordinance committee. The measure was approved at Tuesday night's regular Oak Lawn Village Board meeting.

Trustee Robert Streit pointed out that the village needs business property to generate taxes. Trustee Marjorie Joy said she had reservations about how this will affect the wet lands and flooding and agreed with Trustee Ron Stancik to postpone action on this until there was more information about the questions raised.

The revised cable TV agreement was adopted by a 5-1 vote with Streit stating he did not feel this was good for Oak Lawn and the village would not have any recourse if they wanted to regulate subscriber rates from FCC for "basic cable service."

Trustee Michael Walsh pointed out that "Streit was wrong" and that there was no documentation for some of his remarks.

He said this covers everything we could want; all customers of Multimedia shall be given a minimum 30 days prior written notice of any changes in the rate and/or programming and the village will be given 60 days notice. Multimedia agreed to re-evaluate its late payment procedure and expand its phone service hours for customer service inquiries and complaints, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Multimedia shall develop and assist local school officials relative to the use of "Cable in the Classroom" as an effective tool to assist teachers. This was suggested by Trustee Joy.

An increase in sewer rates and charges was approved by a 6-1 vote. This will increase the residential sewer rates 20%, from $3 a month to $4.50 a month. This raise will provide sufficient revenue to cover the cost of the 1994 sewer fund operations.

There will also be an increase in ambulance fees from $100 to $135 for basic life support and $150 to $250 for advanced life support; according to Walsh, who said the initial fees are comparable to many surrounding suburbs and with the individual line items as suggested by the private collection agencies, will increase the annual receipts. The proposed revenue for 1994 from ambulance billing is estimated at $300,000. Transportation to a hospital not located within the village at the patient's request, in addition to mileage, is $25. Those individuals receiving ambulance service shall be requested to send the bill to their insurance to reimburse the village and in the event that an insurance company refuses to pay, or only pays a portion of the charges, the individual will be responsible for paying the balance.

The board approved an ordinance amending the village code in regard to the emergency telephone system board and another approving an amendment to the intergovernmental agreement with the City of Burbank and the Village of Evergreen Park regarding emergency communications. The ICC will proceed with hearings relative to the village's '911' upgrade application with approval of the ordinance.

Directory of Officials

Cook County Clerk David Orr has introduced the new 'Directory of Cook County Elected Officials.' The directory contains the names, addresses, phone and fax numbers of over 2,500 Cook County elected officials and was developed to help the public locate basic information about their elected officials.

Copies are available at the Cook County Clerk's Office, 118 N. Clark St., Chicago, or at any of the suburban offices in Markham, Maywood, Rolling Meadows and Skokie.

County Child Support

Cook County Child Support application services have expanded to include two suburb courthouse locations. The pilot project, initiated by Aurelia Pucinski, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Cook County, in cooperation with the Circuit Court Judiciary and the Illinois Department of Public Aid, will offer enrollment into the free child support enforcement service called the IV-D Program at both the Skokie Courthouse, 5600 N. Old Orchard Road, and the Markham Courthouse, 16501 S. Kedzie Parkway.

Prior to the new pilot program, IV-D intake was only available at the 32 W. Randolph location in downtown Chicago. "The goal of the new program is to make the first step in obtaining child support a convenient one," said Pucinski. "For many citizens in Cook County, handling business in their neighborhood is a welcome reprieve from traveling to downtown Chicago with their children," Pucinski added.

Now with the application process taking place in the suburbs, only the court proceeding will need to be handled downtown.

The child support intake process will be available at the Skokie Courthouse on Tuesdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The phone number to make an appointment is (708) 470-5093. The process will be available at the Markham Courthouse on Thursdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Call (708) 210-4585 for an appointment.

"Love Lights A Tree" Campaign

The annual "Love Lights a Tree" campaign for the Oak Lawn Unit, American Cancer Society (ACS), is underway until Dec. 20th. Community residents are invited to make a contribution to ACS in honor of or in memory of a special person in their lives. Each person is represented by a "light" or a string of lights or ornaments on Oak Lawn's official Christmas tree, Cook Ave. at 95th St. The donors will be recognized.

This project raises money for cancer research, education and patient services. Since this debilitating disease, unfortunately, touches all of society either directly or indirectly, most people can relate to the cause and its needs.

The goal for the Oak Lawn Unit this year is $5,000. The campaign provides an opportunity for individuals and businesses to support the ACS by honoring someone in a meaningful and dignified way. Contributions along with the honoree's name should be sent to Oak Lawn Unit, American Cancer Society, Evergreen Bank/

Oak Lawn, 9400 S. Cicero Ave., Oak Lawn, IL 60453. The cost is $5 for one bulb; $25 for six; $50 for a half-strand; and $100 for a full string.

Additional information about the campaign is available from Marianne Karson, committee chairperson, at (708) 636-2112.

Crafts And Toys

The Simmons Middle School Science and Technology Club is sponsoring a craft fair and toy flea market on Saturday, Dec. 4th from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the school's multipurpose room. The proceeds will be used for science activities and for a planned trip to Stasquest and the Challenger Learning Center in Florida. The school is at 6450 W. 95th St.

Choral Director

Moraine Valley Community College recently named Karyn Carbray of Oak Lawn as the director of the Moraine Valley Chamber Singers. Karyn is currently choral director, private voice instructor and choreographer for the Connection and Rhythm Express for the Oak Lawn Park District.

The Chamber Singers, which will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2 to 3:15 p.m. beginning Jan. 11th, is a 12 to 16-member vocal performance group with some choreography involved. Two spring performances will be held: a concert with the Jazz Band on April 9th and a recital on May 6th.

Her previous experience also includes choral director and general music instructor for McClure Junior High School, Western Springs, choral director and general music instructor for Central Junior High School, Evergreen Park, and church choir director for First United Methodist church, LaGrange.

Her performing experience includes both college and professional work, including back-up vocals for the Perry Como Holiday Tour in 1991 and 1992, industrial show performances, and a member of a vocal jazz ensemble, a touring choir and a show choir.

"I am very excited about directing the Chamber Singers," Carbray said. "I have a commitment to the arts in the southwest suburbs and hope to bring energy and enthusiasm to the college."

For more information about the Chamber Singers, call the college at (708) 974-5215.

Winter hasn't officially arrived, but the cold weather we have been having makes it seem so.

The Country Thrift Shoppe, sponsored by the Auxiliary of Christ Hospital and Medical Center, at 1800 W. 95th St., Chicago, is in need of Wednesday and Friday morning volunteers for a few hours. Also, all donations are gratefully accepted. The shoppe accepts better furniture on consignment to sell for you. For pickup service, call (312) 238-6985 from Thursday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. to make arrangements.

On Sunday, Dec. 12th at 2 p.m., the OLCBS will have its holiday music festival with the choirs, bands and orchestra performing. Admission is free and refreshments will be provided.

I have received some calls from our senior citizens who are complaining that one of the buses they used to get around in has been dropped. Worth Township has two buses operating; Tuesday for visits to their doctor and Wednesday for shopping which takes them to Jewel or Dominick's.

Belated congratulations to James and Bonnie Wells who celebrated their 36th wedding anniversary on Nov. 16th. Also to Garth and Eleanor Price who celebrated their golden anniversary. May you have many more.

Received word over the weekend that a former resident, Edward Lurgio, now of Somanuk, IL died on Nov. 19th. Our sympathy to his wife Annabelle and their children. He was a veteran of WW II and member of the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post in Oak Lawn.

Arthur P. Roche of Chicago died on Nov. 19th following a long illness. He leaves his wife Frances; children, Jane Cox, Maryann McCool, Philip and Patricia Trahan; nine grandchildren; one great-grandchild and two sisters. A veteran of WW II, Roche was a past commander of the Chicago Ridge Memorial Post 2255, and past commander of the 3rd District, VFW.

Congratulations to Jack and Ruth McDermott who celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Nov. 27th. May you have many more happy years.

Baptized at St. Gerald Church on Nov. 15th were Kaitlyn Nicole, daughter of Daniel and Nicole Jimenez; Joshua Paul, son of Paul and Deborah Lillwitz; Allyson Jean, daughter of Michael and Cathy Murray; and Steven Matthew, son of Slawomir and Joanne Zegarski. Congratulations to all of you.

SOUND-OFF! I don't know about anyone else, but I am very disturbed and tired of reading and hearing about men teachers, coaches, etc. being accused of rape, child molestation. I will grant you that there are always sickos who do this sort of thing, but one hears or reads about persons who have been accused and quite sometime later find they

A PAIN IN THE NECK

If you have a pain in the neck, you may be astonished to find the source of the pain isn't really in your neck at all, but further down in your spinal column.

That's one reason why the doctor of chiropractic will examine your entire spine to find where the problem may be. When your spinal column is moving, either in physical activity such as walking or even when you're breathing, there is a synergistic action at work. In other words, the upper part of your spine is interacting with the lower part. An injury to your lower spine may be so slight that you're really not aware of it. But it may be putting unusual pressure on the upper part of your spine. That may be the cause of the neck pain.

Your spinal column, from top to bottom, should be properly aligned and in good working order for you to feel well. Any weakness may cause stress, discomfort, and pain, until it is returned to good working order.

Hopefully, that pain in the neck can be relieved. It's certainly worth looking into.

If you have any health questions please feel free to call our office.

The children's Christmas party, sponsored by the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post and Ladies Auxiliary will be held on Sunday, Dec. 12th in the post hall from 1 to 4 p.m.

The Christmas party and drawing for child welfare is being sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary on Tuesday, Dec. 21st in the post hall. The donation for tickets is $10 and may be obtained by calling chairperson Dorothy Hejl between 9 and 11:30 a.m. at 423-5220, or her assistant Florence Van. Carole Brown is in charge of the child welfare drawing and Penny Hempen is auxiliary president.

Hope your Thanksgiving was a good one.

Polaris Students In IMEA Music Festival

Polaris High School for Individual Education will be represented at the Illinois Music Educators Association District Music Festival by chorus students: Jackie Crowe (Alsip), Lissa DeSchaaf (Merrionette Park) and Sonce Vargas (Worth) and by orchestra students: Ben Sullivan (Garden Homes), Jarell Cottrell (Calumet Park), Rhonda Tuma (Blue Island), Grace Uy (Alsip), Leah Bartelt (Worth), Sanders Yen (Palos Heights), Edward Polzin (Worth), Christina Richardson (Worth) and Chris Skubic (Oak Lawn).

The festival will be at Oswego High School on Saturday, Nov. 20th. Placement is made through stringent auditions and selection for membership in one of the performing organizations is a reflection of high standards established for, and by, the student, director and school district.

About 10,000 juniors and seniors will participate in similar events, to be held in eight geographic districts throughout the state. From that number, only 1,200 seniors will be chosen for membership in one of 10 performing organizations at the all-state conference in Peoria from Jan. 28th to 30th, 1994.

The public is welcome and encouraged to attend. There will be a nominal admission charge. For more information, contact Lori Palmisano, choral director, at (708) 424-2000, ext. 745.

'Family Fares'

Metra commuter rail will get into the holiday spirit by extending its discounted weekend 'Family Fare' plan to include the day after Thanksgiving and 10 consecutive days during the Christmas/New Year's season. To accommodate families traveling downtown for holiday outings, shopping or the annual Christmas parade, Metra's 'Family Fares' will be in effect on Friday, Nov. 26th and every day from Monday, Dec. 20th through Friday, Dec. 31st. The special fare is usually available only on weekends or holidays.

With 'Family Fares,' up to three children under 12 ride free when accompanied by a fare-paying adult and all young adults ages 12 through 17 ride for half-price.

"Holidays should be spent relaxing, not fighting traffic," said Metra Executive Director Phil Pagano. "These discounted fares let families minimize their travel time, maximize their quality time and save money, all at once."

Trains run on a normal weekday schedule on Nov. 26th with extra coaches added during the mid-morning and afternoon to handle traditionally large crowds of shoppers. Ticket agents will be on duty at several major Metra stations on that morning.

For information, call Metra passenger services at (312) 322-6777 during business hours, or the travel information center at (312) 836-7000.

"Coaches Corner"

Marist basketball coach Ken Styler will be the guest on the premiere of Multimedia Cablevision's new sports show, "Coaches Corner." Styler will join Multimedia Sports Director Rick Schutt to discuss the upcoming season for his Redskin team. "Coaches Corner" will be a live, half-hour, viewer call-in program that will focus on high school coaches in the Alsip, Chicago

Ridge, Evergreen Park, Hometown and Oak Lawn areas. Each show will feature a particular coach and his or her team will be highlighted and analyzed. In addition, viewers will have the opportunity to actually call in and ask the coaches questions on live cable TV.

The premiere of "Coaches Corner" is on Tuesday, Nov. 30th at 8 p.m. on Multimedia Cablevision.

In a continuing effort to advise court personnel of the importance of recognizing the sensitivity necessary when assisting victims of domestic violence, Aurelia Pucinski, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Cook County, recently held a Stress Management Program open to all court employees.

"My staff works directly with victims who are desperately seeking help from their abusers," said Pucinski. "I want to be sure court personnel who are working with these victims understand the stress and anguish they are experiencing."

The seminar, conducted by Dr. Keith Berndtson of Rush Corporate Care/Rush Presbyterian St. Luke's Hospital, provided an overview of various sources of basic physiological information and approaches to understanding and managing the sources of acute and chronic stress, with an emphasis on assisting victims deal with the stress in their lives.

The seminar, which was held at the Criminal Court Building at 26th & California, was attended by Clerk's Office employees as well as representatives from the Cook County State's Attorney's Office, the Public Defender's Office as well as several domestic violence advocacy groups.

Senator Emil Jones Honored

More than 1,000 of the state's top business, civic and labor leaders, in a display of political, racial and ethnic harmony, honored State Senate Democratic Leader Emil Jones' 20 years of service in state government last Thursday night.

Preliminary figures indicate that the "All Illinoisan Tribute" raised more than $500,000 which will be used to elect Democrats to the Illinois Senate in 1994.

"I want to thank everyone who helped make this event a success. Once again this demonstrates that people can unite for a common effort. Hopefully we can continue the spirit of unity in the upcoming fall session," Jones said.

Among those attending the tribute at the Sheraton Chicago Hotel and Towers were: Mayor Richard Daley; House Speaker Michael Madigan; John Stroger, Cook County Commissioner; noted Chicago businessman and civic leader Ed Gardner; Bill Hogan, president, Teamsters Joint Council 25; Sam Skinner, president of Commonwealth Edison; Jim Reilly, CEO Metropolitan Pier and Exposition Authority and John Rogers, chairman, Chicago Park District.

Statewide candidates attending the 5:30 p.m. event included: Illinois gubernatorial candidates Attorney General Roland Burris, Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch, and Cook County Board President Richard Phelan; Attorney General candidate Al Hofeld; Secretary of State candidates State Senator Denny Jacobs (D-36) and Kane County Coroner Mary Lou Kearns; Comptroller candidates State Senator Earlean Collins (D-4) and State Senator Penny Severns (D-51); Illinois Treasurer Patrick Quinn; and State Senator Bill Shaw, candidate for the 2nd Congressional District seat. Other VIPs included Senate and House members and local elected officials.

Co-covenantors of the event were Alvin J. Robinson; Melvin Caldwell; Jacoby Dickens; Peter Fox; Larry Huggins; Dorothy Rivers; Patrick Rooney; Mike Segal; Bernard Sieracki; Richard Stein; and Joe Williams.

Drive For Term Limitations

Illinois Treasurer Patrick Quinn and DuPage County Board Chairman Aldo Botti joined forces last week to announce the beginning of a bipartisan petition drive in support of a constitutional amendment limiting state legislators to no more than eight years in the General Assembly. Quinn, a Democrat, and Botti, a Republican, announced their plans to build a coalition 'Eight is Enough' campaign for term limits at news conferences in Chicago, Springfield, Peoria, Moline, Rockford and suburban DuPage County.

"Today, in Illinois, we have too many career politicians in both parties who are more worried about pleasing lobbyists and staying in office, than in squarely addressing the important issues of the day. We need to limit the powers of incumbency and make room for new people with fresh ideas to enter the political system," Quinn said.

Botti pointed out, "This will be a strong grass-roots initiative. I anticipate other individuals and organizations will be working with us to limit the terms of our legislators. Quinn and I are just the beginning of many coalitions."

Quinn has led successful petition drives which reduced the size of the Illinois legislature by one-third in 1980 and in 1983 helped to create the Citizen's Utility Board (CUB), the state's largest consumer group. Botti is chairman of Term Limits Illinois, which is focusing on collecting the needed petition signatures.

Under Article XIV of the Illinois constitution, citizens have the binding power of referendum to propose legislative reforms that legislators themselves refuse to seriously consider. In announcing the term limits campaign, Quinn and Botti are spearheading a citizen movement to collect the 260,593 petition signatures required to place the term limits proposal on the November 1994 general election ballot.

Botti added, "The system is broken and term limits are a sound, practical way to fix it. We can no longer tolerate political leaders who care more about the special interests, than they care about school children, parents and others who work every day just to make a living."

"Today we are kicking off the 'Eight is Enough' petition drive to insure that voters are given the opportunity to express their support for term limits here in Illinois. The Eight is Enough constitutional amendment will put the voters of Illinois back in charge of our government and break the grip of political careerism in our state," Quinn said.

"Our founding fathers and the authors of early American state constitutions envisioned a class of citizen leaders who would see serving government as a temporary interruption in one's private life, not as a permanent career," Quinn said.

In order to qualify the 'Eight is Enough' term limits amendment for the 1994 ballot, the 260,593 initiative petition signatures would have to be collected by May 8th, 1994.

Individuals interested in obtaining the 'Eight is Enough' petitions should telephone Quinn at (800)366-8448 or Botti, with Term Limits Illinois, at (800)308-0308.

First Chicago Elects Mullin President And CEO

First Chicago Corporation announced that Leo F. Mullin has been elected president and chief operating officer of the corporation and its banking subsidiary, The First National Bank of Chicago, and that David J. Vitale has been elected vice-chairman of the corporation and the bank.

Richard L. Thomas, chairman and chief executive officer, said, "With the concurrence of our board of directors, I have asked Leo Mullin and David Vitale to join me as members of the office of the chairman. Leo and David have provided outstanding leadership to our organization over a period of many years. I look forward to working closely with both of them, and with our other senior managers, as we continue to address the many opportunities and challenges facing First Chicago and our industry."

Mullin, 50, has been with First Chicago for 12 years, and will continue to serve as chairman of American National Corporation and its banking subsidiary, American National Bank and Trust Co. In his new role, he will also have senior management responsibility for all of First Chicago's other banking activities.

Mullin received an A.B. from Harvard University, an

M.S. from Harvard Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, and an M.B.A. from Harvard Business School.

Vitale, 47, has served with First Chicago for 25 years and will continue as head of Corporate and Institutional Banking. In that position, Vitale is responsible for managing all functions associated with providing financial services globally to large corporate and institutional customers. In addition, Vitale remains responsible for direct management oversight of public banking origination, underwriting and distributing activities, all risk management functions, and corporate banking activities overseas. As a member of the Office of The Chairman, Vitale will bring his judgment and experience to bear on issues of broad corporate significance. Vitale received a B.A. from Harvard University and an M.B.A. from the University of Chicago.

First Chicago Corporation, with $55.2 billion in assets, is the nation's 10th largest bank holding company.

Office Reformed

Cook County Clerk David Orr spoke recently to the meeting of the Southwest Municipal Clerk's Association, explaining how his administration is reinventing government in the County Clerk's Office.

"When I was elected, the Clerk's Office was a reformer's dream, a place that really needed change," Orr said. "By creating a service orientation among our employees and keeping an eye on costs, we've shown that good government really pays off for the voters."

"I think the Clerk's Office is a model of success at a time when voters are showing their mistrust and even disgust with government," Orr said. "We have to be more accountable, and that means providing fair, efficient service while holding the line on spending."

"We inherited an office full of bad management habits," Orr said. "We cut overtime expenses by 40 percent, saving hundreds of thousands of dollars. By challenging the old notion that election printing contracts are too complex to be put out to bid, we saved $760,000 from a printing contract of $1.1 million. That's nearly 70 percent off. You can't even find savings like that at an outlet mall."

"As a result, my office has submitted four straight budgets which, adjusted for inflation, are lower than those of my predecessor," Orr said.

"Yet, we have continued to push the envelope in providing service. Our voter registration campaign signed up 370,000 new voters, a record, leading to the first turnout increase in 30 years. Waiting times have plummeted in our Vital Records and Tax divisions. And computerization in the Clerk of the Board and Tax divisions is helping us provide more useful services to our customers."

Orr said he hasn't yet lost his excitement about the Clerk's Office. "We're working to implement the National Voter Registration Act, commonly known as the Motor/Voter Act. At the same time, we're developing a computer mapping system, to provide better election maps. So I've got some interesting tasks ahead of me."

Senior Tax Help

PLOWS Council on Aging is once again offering Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) to senior citizens in Palos, Lemont, Orland and Worth Townships. This program is run strictly with volunteers who play a vital role. The training of volunteers is most important. Two training sessions are to be held in January and consist of both beginner and advanced classes. These sessions will be sponsored by the Oak Lawn Senior Citizens Commission, and be taught by the IRS to provide volunteers with the skills necessary to complete simple income tax returns.

In 1992, with the help of volunteers, 734 area seniors who could not afford commercial tax consultations were assisted through this free program. Volunteers work in teams from early February through mid-April, one or more half-days per week. If you enjoy working as a team member and feel comfortable with numbers, we need your help.

For more information on becoming a trained tax preparer through the VITA program, call Diana Santolin at 422-6722 before Friday, Dec. 31st.

Area SIPP Survey

Local representatives of the U.S. Census Bureau are to visit selected area households beginning on Wednesday, Dec. 1st, to conduct the monthly Survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP), Stanley D. Moore, director of the bureau's Chicago regional office, announced. SIPP is a continuing nationwide survey introduced in the fall of 1983, one of the nation's largest, with about 60,000 households participating.

The Census Bureau publishes periodic reports with information from the survey.

Twelve Years Is Better Idea

by
Jerry Gibbons

A bi-partisan petition drive in support of term limitations has been initiated by State Treasurer Patrick Quinn and DuPage County Board Chairman Aldo Botti. The petitions call for an amendment to the Illinois Constitution which would limit state legislators to a maximum of eight years in the General Assembly. Quinn, a Democrat, and Botti, a Republican, announced plans for an 'Eight is Enough' campaign for term limits.

The idea of 'Eight is Enough' is at best vague. How many years for each term would legislators be required to serve: two?, four?, six or eight? How would the terms be allocated? Would it be four-year terms for State Senators and four two-year terms for State Representatives? Quinn and Botti, if they have determined the 'proper' number of years for each term to be served, have not yet said what the terms are to be. 'Eight is Enough' is far too loose a battle cry to guarantee success for the term limitation proposal. The bi-partisan effort, which requires 260,593 signatures by May 8th, 1994 in order to be placed on the 1994 ballot.

It seems to me that anyone interested in an equitable term limit proposal would be better served by supporting a 12-year limit on both State Senators and State Representatives; two six year terms for Senators and three four-year terms for Representatives. This 12-year proposal is just four years longer than 'Eight is Enough.'

The one striking feature of the 12-year proposal is that, with three four-year terms, Representatives would not be running for re-election when just into the second year of a two-year term. They should be more effective when not concerned with re-election so quickly and, therefore, be better legislators, more responsive to their constituents; those who elected them to do a job, not be obsessed with the problems of facing the voters again, even before they have accomplished the tasks they were sent to Springfield to address.

The second obvious advantage to three four-year terms for Representatives is that the cost of the election process would be less. Instead of being bogged down in financial straits, Representatives would obviously be demonstrating greater concern for the pressing problems facing the state. These include financing schools, improved education, crime, drug and alcohol problems and the myriad other questions brought before the legislature each session.

Rather than 'Eight is Enough,' it is clear that a 12-year limit on terms for all members of the General Assembly is the practical solution to limitation of terms. The time to initiate a drive for that goal is now, unless someone can come up with a more feasible solution to the spectre of 'career politicians' continuing to dominate the destiny of Illinois citizens.

Additional bonuses to the six-year Senate terms and four-year Representative terms include fewer of the seemingly interminable cocktail parties, dinner-dances, rallies and other such political 'fundraisers,' thus saving the public money.

A cut in taxes is always welcome and tax savings through the 12-year limit would certainly be realized since fewer ballots would have to be printed, the expense of election day would be cut as there would be fewer and, while not a monetary consideration, perhaps more people would take the time to cast ballots since they would not have to be urged to go to the polls as often. A longer term of office, six years or four years respectively, affords voters and legislators valuable time to better evaluate the questions before them.

Closings

All Secretary of State offices and facilities will be closed on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 25th and 26th for Thanksgiving. Secretary of State George H. Ryan announced today. The holiday is observed by all state agencies.

Driver Services facilities outside Cook County, which normally are open Tuesday through Saturday, will reopen on Saturday, Nov. 27th. The Chicago West, Midlothian and Niles facilities in Cook County, now open Tuesday through Saturday, also will resume business on Saturday, Nov. 27th.

All other offices return to their regular work schedules on Monday, Nov. 29th.

Speak Out

The Suburban Area Agency on Aging (SAAA) is holding community speak-outs (public hearings) on the needs of the elderly in early December at locations throughout suburban Cook County to find out how seniors in the suburban Cook County area feel about President Clinton's proposed health care plan; what gaps in transportation services exist for seniors in this area; and what other needs concern older persons and their caregivers.

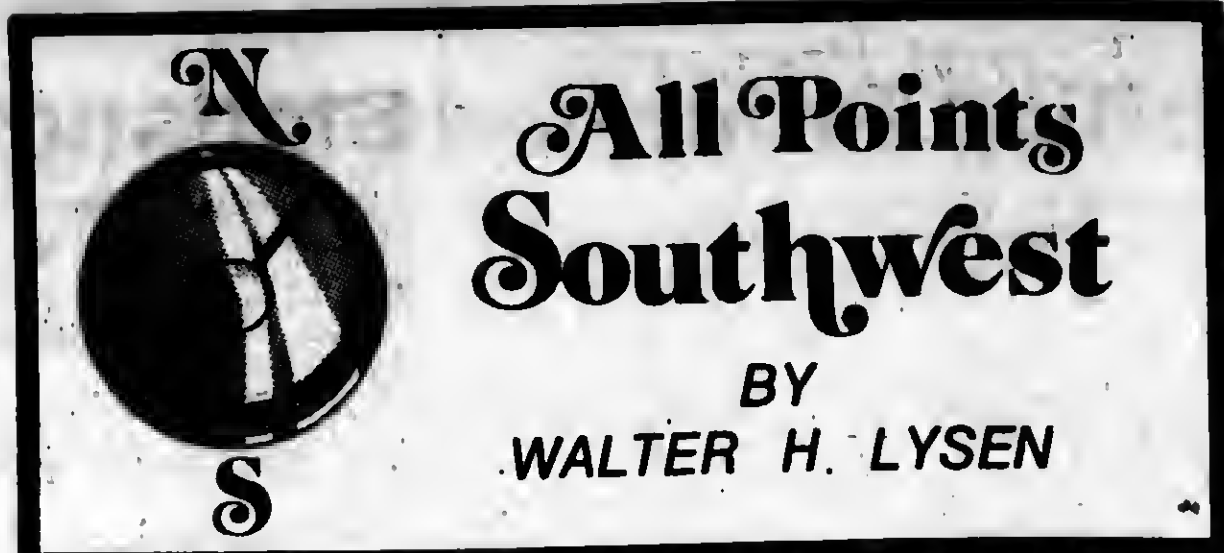

The speak-outs are an important forum for targeting problems that face seniors and their caregivers, and reflect SAAA's commitment to serving the best interests of the elderly in suburban Cook County. This year, because of the changes proposed for the health care system under President Clinton's administration, the area agency advisory council selected health care needs of older persons as a primary focus.

Older persons, as well as others who care about the concerns of the elderly, are invited to attend the hearings and offer their opinions. The speak-outs will be held at two area handicapped-accessible locations: Southern Suburban Cook County, Bloom Township Offices, 425 S. Halsted, Chicago Heights, (708) 754-6024; and Southwestern Suburban Cook County, Lemont Township, 16020 127th St., Lemont, (708) 257-2522.

The area agency will accept written comments on the hearings or statements from those unable to attend a hearing anytime before Wednesday, Dec. 15th. The agency's address is: 1146 Westgate, Suite LL112, Oak Park, IL 60301-1054. For more information, call Kimberly Blechschmidt at (708) 383-0258 (voice and TDD).

Meeting

The next meeting of the Southwest Chapter of the American Diabetes Association (ADA) will be on Thursday, Dec. 2nd at 7:30 p.m. at Chesterfield Savings and Loan Association, 10801 S. Western Ave. The annual Christmas party will be featured. Share in an evening of socializing with other chapter members while enjoying delicious, 'low-cal' treats made by chapter officers. Feel free to bring your own favorite 'low-cal' treats for all to enjoy. Admission is free, so bring your friends.

The Cook County Democratic Central Committee voted Tuesday to endorse an all-male slate for 10 offices in next spring's Primary Election. County Commissioner John Stroger was selected as candidate for county board president when County Clerk of the Circuit Court Aurelia Pucinski decided not to seek the party endorsement.

The committee also slated incumbents David Orr for county clerk, Michael Sheahan for sheriff, Thomas Hynes for assessor. Also on the ticket are Joseph Barrios and Wilson Frost for Board of Tax Appeals commissioners, and Joe Gardner, Terrence O'Brien and Harry 'Bus' Yourell for commissioners of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District (MWRD) board. All are incumbents.

Aurelia Pucinski is running for Cook County Board President but is not seeking a seat on the board, an unprecedented effort.

The Cook County Board, just after 12 midnight on Tuesday, approved a $2.1 billion budget for 1994, which includes a record $58-million rebate to taxpayers. The rebate means that the county portion of the bill for a $100,000 home is to be reduced by approximately $25 in each of the next two years.

The Evergreen Park Regular Republican Organization holds its monthly meeting at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 1st. Meetings are in the Hamilton B. Maher Community Center, 3450 W. 97th St. Jolene Churak is president of the organization.

Hats off to Stickney Township Supervisor and Township Health Commissioner Lou Viverito who this week announced that his Stickney Township Health District reported a 100% immunization of school children in the 1992-93 school year. Year in and year out Viverito and his Stickney Township Health District continue to amaze health departments around the US with their accomplishments. Most US districts are lucky to reach 91%. Ninety percent is the state requirement.

Those invited to the ground breaking for the Regional Center for Technology and the Performing Arts at Governor's State University on Thursday, Dec. 16, are urged to bring a coat and/or canned goods to be donated to the Ford Heights Community Service Center.

Governor Jim Edgar and State Senator Aldo De Angelis will join GSU President Paula Wolff at the dedication in University Park. The on-site ground-breaking ceremony will take place at 2 p.m. with a Holiday Reception in the Hall of Governors from 2:30 to 5 p.m.

Helen Elizabeth Kelley, an Oak Forest attorney, has joined the growing list of candidates seeking the newly created 6th District Cook County Board of Commissioners seat. Kelley, a Republican and Richard Kelly Jr. a Democrat may cause some name confusion at the polls should both win their respective March primaries. In the last general election we had Democrat Bill Lipinski and Republican Harry Lepinske opposing each other.

Tom Hynes, 19th Ward Democratic Committeeman and chairman of the Third Judicial Sub-circuit nominating committee, announced the party endorsement of the following three candidates at their meeting last week. Cyril Watson of the 19th Ward an assistant in the Judicial Board of Review; Tom Murphy of the 18th Ward an assistant State Attorney; John Klein of the 23rd Ward an attorney with 20 years police experience.

Members of the committee in addition to Hynes were Committeemen Tom Murphy of the 18th Ward, Mike Madigan Speaker of the House from the 13th Ward, Alderman Ed Burke of the 14th Ward, Lou Viverito of Stickney Township and John McNamara of Worth Township.

Eileen Carey, Commissioner of the Department of Streets and Sanitation, warns that Chicago's seasonal parking ban on the city's emergency priority streets begins Wednesday, Dec. 1. Overnight parking will be prohibited on these major routes -- marked by familiar red-and-white signs from 3 a.m. to 7 a.m. through April 1st. Fines are heavy... she reminds...$105 towing fee to the nearest open auto pound...plus a $25 parking ticket...plus a $10 per day storage fee.

Then there are the familiar red and white and blue signs which prohibit parking when two inches or more of snow falls. Chicago averages 40 inches of snow per year. Last year 46.9 inches of snow fell according to the commissioner.

The following is a statement from Eric Adelstein, Campaign Manager for Phelan for Governor:

"Illinois needs leadership that can make the tough decisions. The choice of a partner to help run the state tells a lot about the person running for Governor. Dick Phelan chose Senator Penny Severns as his running mate because she has been a leader on issues of importance to Illinois workers and because of her ability to help lead Illinois into the 21st century. Refusal to make this most important choice shows the kind of indecision Illinois can ill afford in a Governor."

Employees at the 6th District Markham Courthouse, 16501 S. Kedzie Ave., are hosting a "We Share and Care" Thanksgiving meal program for those in need. Dinners will be served between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. All are welcome.

"Our goal is to lend a hand to the unfortunate in the immediate area. Our supplies are limited to 300 dinners on a first come basis," said Chairman Dave Badali who can be reached at (708) 210-4157 for more information.

Participating in the event are the Cook County Facilities Management Department in conjunction with the Cook County Sheriff's Department and the K&D's Cafeteria Services. Chief Judge Sheila Murphy along with Badali promoted the program.

Associate Cook County Circuit Court Judge John Dohm of Oak Lawn has announced he will run for a full judgeship in the March primary. Judge Dohm comes from an active Democratic family in the Oak Lawn area and no doubt will receive support from many quarters in the spring election.

Former Chicago Mayor Michael Bilandic was chosen by the Illinois Supreme Court to a three-year term as Chief Justice. He succeeds Benjamin Miller whose term expires at the end of this year. Bilandic served six years with the 1st District Appellate Court before being elected to the Supreme Court in 1990. He had been 11th Ward Alderman from 1969 to 1976 when he was named acting mayor, following the death of Richard J. Daley.

Forest Preserve District Must "Hold The Line"

The Cook County Forest Preserve District is being asked to show the same type of fiscal restraint it exhibited in 1993 and basically "hold the line" in 1994, announced Cook County Board President Richard Phelan during his annual budget address to the District's board of commissioners.

"The Forest Preserve District displayed great fiscal responsibility during 1993 and was able to achieve 'more with less' with great success," Phelan said. "Through innovative programs and management, the district has recommitted itself to treating its visitors as valued customers while at the same time continuing its commitment to conserving and protecting the environment."

In just three years, the district has gone through several major renovations, all of which improve service and efficiency. The district is the first golf course system in the nation to institute a computerized telephone reservation system by credit card and it reduced from months to minutes the time it takes to receive a picnic permit.

The district has also improved, increased and diversified its police force, and contracts to minorities and women have risen 600 percent. In addition, the district sought and signed inter-governmental and private sector partnerships to create more open space throughout the county. For example, last year the district signed an agreement with the U.S. Department of Fisheries to jointly develop Wetfoot Lake, a 114-acre lake and wetland project in northwest Cook County. This project will set a national standard of what can be achieved in an urban landscape -- something the district could not have achieved acting alone.

"It is my hope that each year, like 1993, we can continue to improve the programs and services offered to county residents," Phelan said. "Our successes benefits everyone in the county."

For 1994, the district's tax levy will increase less than 1 percent or about $334,000. The combined levy on the county will remain unchanged for the third straight year. About 50 percent of the district's levy increase will go to the Botanic Garden.

Changes to concessions contracts and improved management helped generate an additional $256,000 for the district. That is a 142 percent increase from 1992. In 1992 the district took over operation of the driving range at The George W. Dunne National Golf Course. This year, the district's income from that facility was nearly triple what it was before the district's management stepped in. These types of changes help to reduce the burden on taxpayers.

"The district has become increasingly more self-sufficient as it has instituted more and more reforms," Phelan said. "New initiatives planned for next year will continue to make the district more efficient."

Projects include a study of forest preserve district police to examine personnel and resource allocation to improve the efficiency of the force, a study of each maintenance division's use of labor, computerization to dispatch police and track fleet maintenance, and continuation of the award-winning Youth Opportunity Corps (YOC) program.

The 1994 budget call for expenditures of $100 million, which includes spending on the Brookfield Zoo, the Botanic Garden, construction and development, pension contributions, bonds and interest and land acquisition. With these improvements, the zoo will be an even greater asset to the county.

Phelan said the district hopes next year to begin to acquire an additional 7,000 acres of land, which would bring the district's total holdings to 75,000 -- a limit set by the State Legislature.

"Cook County residents should take pride in its forest preserve district," Phelan said. "As the district begins its 79th year, it will remain undaunted in its mission to preserve and protect the natural landscape of the county."

End Honey Subsidy

The House of Representatives overwhelmingly adopted (430-0) the 'Fawell amendment' which virtually eliminates the federal honey subsidy program. The original amendment to terminate subsidies, presented by Congressman Harris W. Fawell (R-13), is now part of the 1994 Agriculture Appropriation bill which now goes to the President for signature.

"The overwhelming vote in the House to stop honey subsidies is an important milestone," Fawell said. "This is the first time that I can remember Congress eliminating a federal subsidy program. While the program is relatively small, this is, hopefully, the first toddling step toward eliminating wasteful and outdated federal programs."

The honey subsidy program has long been cited as one of the most unnecessary and outdated programs in the entire federal inventory. It is the only program President Clinton called for eliminating in his budget. Also, Vice-President Gore's 'Reinventing Government' proposal recommended termination of the program. The U.S. General Accounting Office twice called for its elimination, as did former President Reagan, taxpayer organizations and many members of Congress.

But, attempts to kill the program have been thwarted repeatedly over the past 10 years. That is, until Aug. 6th, when Fawell offered a surprise amendment to terminate subsidies. Supporters of the program tried to block the amendment on a procedural motion that was defeated. Fawell was then able to offer his amendment which was adopted 344-60. The amendment went to the Senate where Sen. Hank Brown (R-CO) offered a motion to concur with the Fawell amendment and added clarifying language leaving no doubt that all types of honey subsidies are eliminated for 1994.

When the Fawell amendment, with the Brown clarification, came back to the House, it was adopted 430-0.

Statistics From State Police

The Illinois State Police in District Four handled 900 calls for service during the month of October. Capt. Ronald Janota, district commander, stated that troopers arrested 58 persons wanted on outstanding warrants, 40 persons for driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs, 12 persons for unlawful use of a weapon, eight persons for possession of a controlled substance and recovered 13 stolen vehicles. All totaled, troopers made 118 criminal arrests. During October, the division of operations received 18 new criminal cases and have solved 11 as of this date.

October traffic enforcement statistics showed that troopers issued 3,353 traffic citations and 2,101 written warnings. They also cited 40 overweight trucks with bonds totaling $71,990. Additionally, troopers handled 717 accidents, 142 motorist assists and towed 661 vehicles.

District Four covers the south half of Cook County.

Sesquicentennial Bells

The sounds of thousands of bells, handbells and church bells, large bells and small bells, rang out throughout Cook and Lake counties at 12 noon on Sunday, Nov. 21st as Chicago-area Roman Catholics 'made a joyful noise' to ring in the Archdiocese of Chicago's year-long Sesquicentennial celebration. The "Ring of the Bells" marked the beginning of a special year of celebration commemorating the 150th anniversary of the Archdiocese of Chicago, founded on Nov. 28th, 1843.

Prior to the ringing of the bells, Cardinal Joseph Bernardin presided at mass at Holy Name Cathedral, and his auxiliary bishops celebrated mass at a parish located within their vicariates.

When the diocese's first bishop, William J. Quarter, arrived in May 1844, there was only one Catholic church inside Chicago's city boundaries, St. Mary's at the corner of Wabash Ave. and Madison St. Today, the Archdiocese of Chicago is the nation's second largest Roman Catholic diocese, and the Catholic church's presence in this area has grown to include more than 800 Catholic institutions throughout Cook and Lake counties: parishes, schools, hospitals, colleges and universities, Catholic Charities, and other institutions. An estimated 2.3 million Roman Catholics live within the boundaries of the Archdiocese of Chicago.

Every parish in the Archdiocese was invited to participate in the "Ring of the Bells," and although not every Catholic church is equipped with church bells, that didn't stop the spirit of the celebration.

"Some Catholic schools have handbell choirs that plan to participate. One parish, St. Germaine's in Oak Lawn, had its parishioners 'bring their own bells,'" said David Ryan, director of the Sesquicentennial. "Many other parishes followed their lead."

Ryan said that many parishes began ringing the bells at 12 noon, while others rang their bells immediately following the late-morning masses.

NAFTA Statement

In supporting NAFTA (North American Free Trade Agreement) in the House of Representatives last week, Congressman Harris W. Fawell (R-13) made a comprehensive statement on his reasons for supporting the agreement in the "Congressional Record."

Copies of Congressman Fawell's complete statement are available to the press and public by contacting either of his congressional offices, (708) 655-2052 or (202) 225-3515.

Economist Speaks At Bank Seminar

Heritage Bank business customers recently heard Robert Dederick, chief economist at Northern Trust Company, speak on "Our Current Economy: What to Expect in the Future." Dederick was the guest speaker at the Heritage Bank economic seminar held on Nov. 4th. The seminar is an annual event sponsored by the bank for their business customers.

Richard Wojcik, CEO of Heritage Bank, indicated, "The seminar is our way of thanking our customers for their business. Each year we invite a well-known, respected economist to share some of his viewpoints on the economy and the future. Our customers seem to enjoy this opportunity to hear from the experts and it gives our banking officers a chance to visit informally with our customers."

In his speech, Dederick forecast a slowly-growing economy in the next few years. He predicted "interest rates won't move much and inflation will not be a problem in 1995." In the question and answer period that followed, Dederick indicated that his predictions were very influenced by politics and the presidential election in 1996. He also answered questions on the proposed NAFTA agreement and the international economic situation.

Dederick served in the Department of Commerce as assistant secretary for economic affairs. He also taught economics at Harvard, Cornell and Boston University. Currently, as chief economist at Northern Trust, he serves as the bank's spokesman on matters relating to economic affairs.

Heritage Bank is a subsidiary of Heritage Financial Services and has locations in Blue Island, Oak Lawn, Crestwood, Palos Heights, Orland Park, Tinley Park, Mokena, Frankfort, Alsip and Country Club Hills. The bank is a community-focused bank, serving businesses and residents throughout the south and southwest suburbs.

Holiday Program

Once again the Worth Township general assistance office, under the direction of Supervisor Joan P. Murphy, is busy completing preparations for its annual "Neighbor Helping Neighbor" Thanksgiving and Christmas program for those in need in the community. Food baskets, toys and food vouchers will be distributed to families, children and the disabled. Assuming the roles of "Santa's Helpers," staff members have created an atmosphere of joy, anticipation and excitement, envisioning the happy smiles and joy of our Worth Township families.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the "Holiday of Joy" program should call the general assistance office at 371-2900. Experience teaches us that it really is better, and much more fun, to give than to receive.

The closer you look at it, the more you realize that there are HMO's from Blue Cross and then there's everybody else.

Tom Denham
Senior Vice President, Sales

Blue Cross has been offering HMO coverage for pretty close to twenty years now. And over those years, we've become the biggest HMO in Illinois.

With far more doctors in far more locations than anybody else. With more options than any of the others.

Of course, new HMOs pop up all the time. Promising to give you more. Promising to do it for less.

But HMO Illinois—a Blue Cross HMO—continues to thrive. Taking on all comers. Winning over companies that need a strong, efficient HMO on their side.

Today, nobody can offer your people better access to good quality health care than we can. Here in Illinois. And all across America, where Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans care for more than 70 million people.

When it gets to be time to re-enroll, look at our track record. Look at the hard numbers. Look at what we've accomplished over twenty years.

You know what I think you'll find? I think you'll find that the gold standard in HMO coverage isn't really gold after all. It's actually a very nice shade of blue.

Special Dividend

Southwest Bancshares, Inc. (NASDAQ/SWBI), the parent company of Southwest Federal Savings and Loan Association of Chicago, announced that the board of directors has approved a special dividend of $1.20 per common share outstanding to be paid on Dec. 17th, to stockholders of record as of Dec. 2nd.

Richrad E. Webber, president and chief executive officer, commented, "Since becoming a publicly held company, we have experienced substantial profits and have completed three repurchase programs." Even though these repurchase programs have been completed, the company continues to have excess capital, much of which was received in our initial public offering. After the payment of the special dividend, the company will have sufficient capital for business expansion, asset growth or any acquisition opportunity that may arise.

Consolidated capital of the company at Sept. 30th, was $52.8 million which was 17.6% of total assets and amounted to $20.87 per share.

College Fair

St. Rita High School, 7740 S. Western Ave., will hold a College Fair with displays from 62 colleges and universities throughout the country in the school gymnasium on Monday, Dec. 6th. Each school will have a representative present to answer questions and to pass out materials. The students will have two class periods to visit with the representatives. The schools invited to the college fair are the schools that are most frequently attended by St. Rita students.

LEGAL NOTICE NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

A Hearing will be held on Monday, December 6th, 1993, at the Chicago Ridge Village Hall located at 10655 South Oak Ave., Chicago Ridge, IL. at the hour of 7:00 P.M., for the purpose of reviewing the tentative annual budget ordinance of the Village of Chicago Ridge for January 1, 1994 - December 31, 1994. The ordinance will be on file in the Village Clerk's office located at 10655 South Oak Ave., Chicago Ridge, IL. for the purpose of inspection.

Name Change For Sertoma

Sertoma Centre, Inc. is the new name for the charitable organization previously known as Sertoma Career Center. The name change to Sertoma Centre, Inc. is an important step in reflecting the wide array of services provided to people with disabilities. The centre provides many programs in addition to the vocational training and community job placement that 'career center' denotes. The board of directors and staff at Sertoma Centre, Inc. feel that the new name change will carry over into the 21st Century.

In addition to vocational programs, Sertoma Centre offers many other services to people with disabilities and their families including vocational evaluation, vocational training, community job placement, supported employment, residential services/foster care/respite counseling, education and case management.

Last year Sertoma Centre served over 600 people with disabilities through its various programs. Community job placement had 71 successful people placed in jobs in the 1992-1993 fiscal year. Residential services provided more than 50 people with foster care and living in community group homes.

Sertoma Centre in Alsip is not to be confused with the Sertoma Center for Speech and Communicative Disorders in Palos Heights. Although both charitable organizations share the Sertoma name as recipients of Sertoma Club support, they each operate under separate board of directors, funding sources and services provided.

Sertoma Centre, Inc. has a new logo which means energy and independent movement. This represents the independence Sertoma Centre is striving for the individuals it services.

Sertoma Centre, Inc. serves people with disabilities in 27 southern suburbs and parts of Chicago. For more information on Sertoma Centre, call (708) 371-9700.

Premium Comparison Guide

A new premium comparison guide published by the Illinois Department of Insurance will make it easier for senior citizens to shop for Medicare supplement insurance.

In addition to listing the premiums charged by each insurance company licensed to sell Medicare supplement insurance in Illinois, the guide provides other useful information such as: each company's waiting period for pre-existing conditions; whether or not a company provides coverage for Medicare disabled persons under age 65; and whether a company has a cross-over agreement with Medicare that allows claims to be sent automatically to the supplemental insurance carrier.

"We are very excited that we can finally offer Illinois seniors specific price information that will enable them to make more informed buying decisions," said Insurance Director Stephen F. Selcke. "Prior to the standardization of Medicare supplement policies, it was very difficult to provide meaningful price comparisons because there were so many different policies on the market."

The guide may be obtained by writing to: Senior Health Insurance Program, Illinois Department of Insurance, 320 W. Washington St., Springfield, IL 62767.

Should you take our heart test?

Contrary to opinion, a heart screening test isn't just for people with a history of heart disease in their families.

In fact, the Heart Risk Assessment at EHS Christ Hospital and Medical Center is for almost everyone.

It isn't difficult or painful. It's a quick and easy 90-minute session that most people find surprisingly fun. A lot like taking a walk in your exercise clothes. And you can even do it with a spouse or good friend.

Our Heart Risk Assessment gives you more complete information (and more accurate readings) than you'd get from similar tests at most other hospitals. It's designed to detect heart disease at its earliest stages. Which is a good idea because 40% of heart attack victims never feel any warning signs.

For only $45, this comprehensive, state-of-the-art assessment

If you check any of the following, our Heart Risk Assessment is for you.

- ☐ I smoke cigarettes.
- ☐ A relative of mine has heart disease.
- ☐ I don't know my good cholesterol from my bad.
- ☐ I have high blood pressure.
- ☐ I live on cheeseburgers and fries.
- ☐ I'd rather wait for the next bus than run for one.
- ☐ I feel stressed out.
- ☐ I'd like to reduce my risk of developing heart disease.

includes:

- a unique multi-lead EKG monitored exercise test
- complete cholesterol, triglycerides and glucose screenings
- body fat composition analysis
- grip strength and flexibility tests
- an extensive heart profile

You'll receive a detailed report. And you can attend a seminar led by a physiologist and dietitian where you'll learn more about your results.

Of course, all reports are completely confidential.

So don't take chances with your heart's health.

Call and schedule an appointment for our Heart Risk Assessment today.

EHS Christ Hospital and Medical Center is the largest provider of cardiovascular services in southwest metropolitan Chicago. We offer advanced diagnostic, treatment and rehabilitative services.

Thompson Appointed As Library Board Trustee

Robert K. Thompson was appointed to the Oak Lawn Public Library Board of Trustees at its regular meeting on Nov. 16th. He was selected from a field of eight candidates to fill the unexpired term of Dave Gallagher who moved out of the area. Thompson was sworn in before the meeting by State Rep. Maureen Murphy (R-36). He will serve until the next election in 1995.

The board approved holiday closing of the library on Dec. 24, 25, 26, 31 and Jan. 1. The library will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 2.

The board policy on fines and fees was reviewed and several changes were approved. These included a change from five to 10 cents for overdue youth services materials. Adult overdue fines remain at 10 cents. Videotape rental for non-residents was increased from 50 cents to $1. Oak Lawn residents will continue to pay 50 cents. Non-residents will pay $2 per hour for use of the public typewriters and the public IBM personal computers. Resident fees remain at $1 per hour.

Monthly expenses were approved including $55,385 for library materials, $18,799 for general operating expenses and $147,465 for personnel.

Department heads Susan Baird and Judith McMahon presented a proposal for installing signage throughout the library. Although old signs were removed when the library underwent major remodeling several years ago, the program for updating signage was never completed. Administration and staff have been working on the project since early summer according to Dr. James Casey, library director. The board approved the recommended proposal from Modulex at a total cost of $18,387.

Regular board meetings are held at 7:30 p.m. on the third Tuesday of each month in the Oak Lawn Rotary Room of the library, 9427 Raymond Ave. (95th St. at Cook Ave.). Meetings are open to the public. Board members are Robert Honkisz, president; Lois Gasteyer, vice-president; Nancy Czerwicz, secretary; Shirley Barrett, treasurer, and Joann Buschbach, Marian Sullivan and Robert Thompson, trustees.

TALK ABOUT YOUR TURKEYS - Every effort should be made to discourage the CHICAGO CITY COUNCIL from disbanding the CHICAGO POLICE MARINE UNIT. This marine unit patrols 27 miles of lake front and 38 miles of riverways in Chicago.

One need only drive along Chicago's beautiful lake front and observe the thousands of boats on the water and docked at the numerous marinas. The vast number of pleasure boaters and fishermen using the Chicago area of Lake Michigan contribute to the local economy in the form of license fees, taxes and jobs.

The Calumet and Willmette Harbor Coast Guard stations along with the Illinois Conservation Department Marine Unit cannot handle the safety and crime considerations of such a vast water front area and number of boaters.

The Department of Defense is seriously considering closing Glenview Naval Air Station which serves as a base for the only Coast Guard helicopter in the area, another reason to keep the idea of disbanding the Chicago Police Marine Unit.

BIRD FEEDER TIME - Our feathered friends need your help in surviving our harsh Chicago area winters. Start your bird feeders NOW and keep them filled through spring. The antics and beauty of these creatures will help get you through those cold dreary winter days and provide excellent photo opportunities.

Cook County Board President Richard Phelan announced that wild bird seed is available for sale at the forest preserve district's LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE (Willow Springs) and SAND RIDGE (South Holland) nature centers.

Orders for wild bird seed can be placed from now until Dec. 10. Residents can also purchase the wild bird seed through the mail by obtaining an order form from the nature centers or by calling the District's Conservation Department at (708) 366-9420 or (312) 261-8400. Upon completion of the order, the seed will be available for pick-up only at the selected nature center on Jan. 8 and 9, 1994, from 9 a.m. until 12 noon.

WATERFOWL HUNTING AREA PERMIT - Flooding has resulted in some farm property being used for waterfowl hunting. Landowners are reminded that if they directly or indirectly receive compensation for allowing others to waterfowl hunt on their property, be it land or water, they need to obtain a waterfowl hunting area permit. The annual permit fee is $15 for each blind or pit on the property. For more information contact (217) 785-3423.

LOOKING FOR THAT PERFECT GIFT? - Place an order from the Illinois Department of Conservation's HOLIDAY GIFT CATALOG. It is filled with great ideas including conservation-related T-shirts, sweatshirts, hats, backpacks, lunch sacks, belt buckles, note cards, books and maps. The 1993 habitat stamp print, featuring a white-tailed deer, also is available. All orders are processed the same day they are received if stock is available. Proceeds from sales benefit the Wildlife and Fish Fund. For a catalog, or to place an order, contact the Office of Resource Marketing at 5224 S. Second Street, Room 510, Springfield, IL 62701-1787 or phone (217) 785-8607.

TEACHERS, PAY ATTENTION - Earlier this month the Cook County Forest Preserve District launched its new "Getting in Touch With Nature" program to all schools in Cook County. This FREE PROGRAM brings a hands-on approach to the study of natural history and wildlife into county classrooms. Forest Preserve naturalists will visit the classrooms and through the use of slides, videos and exhibits develop and expand the students' understanding of the natural environment.

For additional information concerning the "GETTING IN TOUCH WITH NATURE PROGRAM," contact the nature center at (708) 771-1332. Special accommodations can be arranged.

Rita Hosts McGovern Classic

Hey, high school basketball fans! "St. Rita High School, 7740 S. Western Ave., is tipping off the season in grand fashion as they play host to the 6th annual Tom McGovern Classic from Nov. 22nd to 27th at the school gymnasium," announced Jim Prunty, head basketball coach. The tournament will have eight teams competing in two separate divisions. Teams participating in group one are Brother Rice, Latin School, St. Ignatius and Shepard. Group two teams include Curie, Eisenhower, Nazareth Academy and St. Rita.

Each team in the tournament is guaranteed to play four games by first playing a three-game round-robin format against each team in their group. The teams will then play on the last day against an opposite group team with the same of similar record. Last year, St. Rita won the tournament going 4-0, defeating Shepard in the title game.

"This tournament is a great start for all teams competing because they get to play four very intense games before entering their conference races," said Prunty.

The tournament was renamed the McGovern Classic in 1991 in memory of former St. Rita basketball assistant coach Tom McGovern, who coached at the school from 1984-1988, and whose untimely death two years ago was a great loss to all who knew him. He was known for his great rapport with kids of all ages, especially those he coached.

For more information about the schedule of games or to receive information about St. Rita basketball, contact the school at (312) 925-6600.

Named Varsity Football Coach

Michael Ryan, athletic director at Brother Rice High School, named Bill Gleeson the school's head varsity football coach. Gleeson takes over for Tom Mitchell, who announced his resignation last week after 27 years as coach. Gleeson was Brother Rice's assistant athletic director, assistant football coach and head track coach at the time of the announcement. In addition to his athletic department duties, Gleeson is also a history teacher at Rice. A 1976 graduate of St. Laurence High School, Gleeson graduated from Illinois

Benedictine College. From 1982-85 Gleeson taught at Rice and was head track coach, assistant football coach and assistant basketball coach. He stayed at the school as head track coach until 1986 before leaving for post-graduate work at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana. There, he was a graduate assistant for the Illini football team during the 1986-88 seasons.

Gleeson, from Chicago's South Side, lettered in four sports at St. Laurence and is a member of their hall of fame. His athletic career carried into college, where he lettered in two sports and participated in four at IBC. This spring he received the Tony Lawless Award for coaching Rice's 1993 Catholic League track champions. The award is given by Catholic League coaches recognizing the outstanding coach of the year.

In addition to Brother Rice, Gleeson also was head track coach and assistant football coach at De LaSalle Institute from 1981-82 and head track coach and the sophomore-varsity football coach at Leo High from 1988-89.

Coach Mitchell is confident in Gleeson's abilities. "Bill took over as defensive coordinator this past year and did an outstanding job handling the additional responsibilities. He is well prepared for the job as head coach," he said.

Gleeson is optimistic about the Brother Rice football program stating, "I'm replacing a legend in Coach Mitchell but I am looking forward to continued success for a strong program."

Coach Gleeson is single and his parents, John and Joan are lifelong South Side residents.

Snowmobile Trail Grants Awarded

Conservation Director Brent Manning recently said snowmobile trail grants totaling $78,900 are being awarded to five private snowmobile clubs for developing and grooming trails and purchasing patrolling equipment.

The Snowmobile Trail Establishment Fund program provides up to 100 percent funding to not-for-profit snowmobile clubs in Illinois. The grants can be used to purchase necessary materials and equipment to construct and maintain public snowmobile trails on private lands. Grants are financed by a portion of snowmobile registration fees.

Applications were reviewed and evaluated by the Illinois Association of Snowmobile Clubs with oversight by the Department of Conservation's grants staff.

Application forms for grants for the next fiscal year are available by contacting the Department of Conservation, Division of Grant Administration, Room 320, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, IL 62701-1787, or by phoning (217) 782-7481, TDD (217) 782-9175.

Applications are accepted from Jan. 1st to March 1st, with grant recipients usually announced in the fall.

Following is a list of grant recipients for fiscal year 1994:

* Illinois Association of Snowmobile Clubs, $45,000 for reimbursing incurred operation and management costs over a 5-year period for nine STEF-assisted trail groomers operated by IASC member clubs.

* Northwest Illinois Snowmobile Alliance, $6,500 for installing trail signs and bridges on 25 miles of new trail in the Freeport and Hanover area and replacing signs and bridges along 100 miles of existing trail.

* McHenry County Sheriff's Snowmobile Patrol, $2,900 for purchasing 50 emergency strobe lights for use by the volunteer snowmobile patrol while patrolling county snowmobile trails.

* Oak Ridge Riders, $12,000 for providing necessary bridging, railing, clearing and signs for snowmobile trail use on the Stone Bridge Nature Trail, a 7-mile abandoned right-of-way in Roscoe Township in Winnebago County. The trail will link with the Boone County Long Prairie Trail and Wisconsin snowmobile trails.

* Tri-County Snowmobile Alliance, $12,500 for repairing and replacing trail signs, bridges and fence traversing structures lost or vandalized on more than 200 miles of snowmobile trails in Winnebago, Stephenson and Ogle counties.

Free Booklet Explains Deer Management

Regulated hunting, the fundamental basis of successful deer management, is supported by over 50 years of research and management experience. Whitetails Unlimited, Inc. (WTU), a national, non-profit conservation organization teamed with Winchester Ammunition to publish and distribute free of charge a copy of the educational booklet "An Evaluation of Deer Management - Options" to nearly 55,000 hunter education instructors across the nation.

Winchester Ammunition provided WTU with the added financial assistance to publish and make available this outstanding publication explaining the rationale behind regulated hunting versus the utilization of other management options. Highly emotional animal rights media campaigns typically focus on inaccurate portrayals of regulated hunting seasons and method of harvest. This publication gives the sportsmen and women the accurate information they need to combat the anti-hunting sentiment. The booklet also serves as a great refresher for the seasoned instructor that understands the important role regulated hunting plays in today's management of the white-tailed deer. Whitetails Unlimited is confident that instructors will find this booklet to be a great reference for hunter education programs.

To receive your free copy of "An Evaluation of Deer Management Options" send a legal size, stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Whitetails Unlimited, Inc., Attn: Options Brochure, PO Box 422, Sturgeon Bay, WI 54235.

All-Tournament Honors

James Madison University, Harrisburg, Va., volleyball players Debbie Prince (Wilmington, Del./ Ursuline Academy) and Valerie Kaput (Oak Lawn/ Mother McAuley) earned all-tournament honors at the recent Temple Invitational Tournament.

The Dukes dropped matches to Villanova, Temple and Seton Hall in the tournament.

Brother Rice High School senior Billy Savarino of Orland Park, the state's all-time leading goal scorer, holds the ball used in the game to break the eight year old record of 142, as head soccer coach Nick Markulin and the game's referee look on. Savarino led the Crusaders to fourth place in the state tournament, the furthest Brother Rice had advanced since 1978. A two-time All-American, Savarino scored 25 goals as a freshman, then 40, 50 and 44 in subsequent years, for a total of 159, despite being a marked man every game. This month, Savarino will try out for the national team for players under 20 years old.

"He's been a great player at the high school level and should continue to improve the more he plays," said Markulin. Savarino is featured in the "Faces in the Crowd" section of the Nov. 22nd issue of "Sports Illustrated."

The way things are shaping up under the proposed Clinton Health Security Act, if you are going to get sick make sure you end up with a high profile illness that has fund-raising telethons, not substance abuse or mental illness.

The Clinton administration has bowed to insurance company lobbyists who convinced them it would cost far more than $241 per person to provide coverage for individuals who suffer from alcohol and drug abuse and mental illness.

The revised plan would require individuals needing substance abuse or mental illness treatment to trade off hospital days and make stiff co-payments to get intensive outpatient services.

Using simple math, the Clinton plan would cover 30 days a year of hospitalization for substance abuse or mental illness, and would allow people up to 60 days of intensive non-residential treatment, including day treatment at a hospital, psychiatric or home-based service, by trading off up to 30 inpatient days in the hospital.

An individual suffering from substance abuse or mental illness could get a second 60 days of non-residential treatment, but they would have to pay up to 50 percent of the cost themselves.

The revisions are further complicated by the fact that if a person were enrolled in a low-cost health care plan, such as health maintenance organizations, they would have to pay $25 a day.

All of these proposed changes arrive on the heels of President Clinton's campaign pledge to provide equal health insurance coverage for all Americans no matter what is the illness.

The American Psychiatric Association and its 38,000 members are labeling the revisions just another indication of how substance abuse patients and the mentally ill are treated as second-class citizens by the government.

Figures indicate one in every five families in the U.S. are affected by alcohol or drug abuse. The average alcohol or drug abuser also affects a minimum of five people around the individual who become as sick if not sicker emotionally than the individual requiring treatment.

The National Alliance for the Mentally Ill (NAMI), a grass roots, self-help, support and advocacy organization made up of families and friends of people with mental illnesses, estimated that one out of four families in the U.S. will have a loved one with mental illness.

In fact, mental illnesses are far more common than cancer, diabetes, heart disease or arthritis or any of the scores of other illnesses which are given high priority through telethons and other fund-raising techniques.

The Clinton administration and its proposal to cut health care coverage for individuals who are substance abusers or mentally ill appears to have fallen into the 'stigma' trap.

'Stigma' is the subtle, and not-so-subtle, shame and ridicule our society places on substance abuse and mental illness. In short, 'stigma' closes minds and fuels discrimination.

'Stigma' is harder to deal with than the disease itself. 'Stigma' is the very reason that substance abuse and mental illness will not be equitably covered under the revised Clinton Health Security Act.

'Stigma' is why persons with substance abuse problems or mental illness will find themselves homeless, in financial ruin or in jail, if the proposed cuts are made in the new Health Security Act.

'Stigma' is now keeping families isolated from the rest of society and the shaving of benefits for substance abusers and mentally ill people will only exacerbate the problem.

The proposed changes, which would place a 'stigma' on those who are substance abusers or mentally ill, is already being criticized by six senators who fired off a letter of protest to IRA Magaziner, the chief White House advisor on health care.

The senators' main concern is that the revised benefit package amounts to "less than people have now."

The letter was signed by Paul Simon (D-IL), Paul D. Wellstone (D-MN), Edward M. Kennedy (D-MA), Daniel K. Inouye (D-HI), Pete V. Domenici (R-NM), and Alan K. Simpson (R-WY).

A source close to Tipper Gore, wife of Vice-President Al Gore, and a longtime advocate of equal health coverage for alcohol and drug abusers and people suffering from mental illnesses, indicated the vice-president's wife was not at all pleased with the proposed changes.

The poet Emily Dickinson was not a substance abuser nor did she suffer from mental illness, but her intuitive understanding of the illnesses coupled with the Clinton administration's newest revisions to the Health Security Act are summed up in a poem she wrote many years ago:

"And Something's odd - within -"

"That person that I was -"

"And this one - do not feel the same -"

Promoted To Supervisor

Leonard J. Dembkowski Jr. has been promoted by Superior Coffee and Foods to supervisor, coffee logistics. Dembkowski, who has been with Superior for seven years, is responsible for overseeing the delivery of coffee to Superior's different roasting plants around the country.

He is completing his undergraduate degree in business at DePaul University and resides in Oak Lawn.

Reforming Of Federal Fraud Act

Congressman Harris W. Fawell (R-IL) recently introduced the FECA (Federal Employees' Compensation Act) Fraud Deterrence Act. The legislation is designed to deter fraud and abuse in FECA, by enabling the Department of Labor to eliminate benefits to individuals who have been convicted of defrauding the FECA program. This reform would save the federal government $22.6 million over five years.

"There is no reason why individuals who are in jail should continue to receive benefits from the very program they were convicted of defrauding," commented Fawell. "In one instance, an individual failed to report that he was working while receiving FECA benefits. It was later discovered that the individual had, in fact, made false statements and fraudulently received almost $200,000 in FECA benefits. Although he was convicted in federal court on these charges, the government was unable to terminate his compensation benefits because the available criminal and administrative sanctions are very limited."

FECA, a workers' compensation law applicable to more than 3 million civilian employees of the federal government, pays tax-free, inflation-adjusted benefits to injured workers. The program pays compensation directly to injured employees, provides for the payment of medical expenses, and pays benefits to dependents of covered workers in case of a work-related death. Currently, former federal employees who have been convicted of defrauding the workers' compensation program continue to receive benefits simply because the federal government lacks the statutory authority to terminate compensation benefits.

"Vice-President Gore and the Clinton Administration agree that this situation should be corrected," stated Fawell. "In fact, eliminating fraud in the FECA program was included in the Vice-President's National Performance Review report on 'reinventing government.' I look forward to working with my colleagues in the House to enact this bill which would eliminate fraud and abuse in the FECA program, allow the government to punish those who abuse the program, and most importantly, save the taxpayers the cost of supporting those who defraud the program."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Editor:

Thanks to all who put the 'Kids First.' On behalf of the Oak Lawn-Hometown School District 123 Board of Education, please accept my deep appreciation to all those who supported and worked so hard to win passage of our district's education fund tax rate increase. Special thanks to the members of the "Kids First" committee, especially co-chairs Mary Ellen Archer and Sue Phelan, and all of the staff members and parents who volunteered their time, effort and talent to help win community support for a better educational future for the children in District 123.

Gratitude also goes to all of the people in the communities of Hometown and Oak Lawn who cast a 'yes' vote and friends who may not be residents of the district but who helped influence the outcome. I also want to assure those who did not support the referendum that we will continue to work hard to convince you that the quality of life you want requires the quality of education these new resources will make possible. We have tried to be good stewards of the money you have shared before and we reaffirm that commitment for the future.

Most importantly, the children thank you. The children now in school and those to come. Through your efforts the district has the resources to provide the kind of programs and services they need and deserve. You have given them a priceless gift and one that will last a lifetime, the gift of a quality education.

Sincerely,
s/s Dirk Manson Superintendent

Suspect Wanted

Chicago Police are conducting a manhunt for an individual who assaulted two teenage girls earlier this month in the Mt. Greenwood area. The assailant is described as a white male, 30 to 40 years old, 5'10" to 6' tall, with brown eyes and black hair. He has a fair complexion and bushy eyebrows. The man was last seen wearing a red flannel shirt, dark knit cap, light-blue jeans and white gym shoes. The incidents took place in the vicinity of 110th and Spaulding. If anyone has any information on the criminal assaults or on the suspect, call Area 2 Detective HQ, violent crimes unit, at (312) 747-8272.

Posthumous Medal

Edward A. Peckwas, Chicago businessman, was awarded posthumously the Wigilia Medal by the Polish Genealogical Society of America (PGSA). The presentation was made during the PGSA annual conference in October. The medal is given annually to an individual who has significantly contributed to the field of Polish-American genealogical research.

Grant To College

Moraine Valley Community College in Palos Hills recently received more than $100,000 as part of a $15 million telecommunications grant awarded by the Higher Education Cooperation Act. MVCC will receive $101,500 through a $1.9 million grant awarded to the South Metropolitan Regional Higher Education Consortium. The grant will provide funds for Moraine Valley to create a compressed video technology classroom. In addition, the college will be able to provide regional and statewide connections to offer courses, workshops and seminars from two-way interactive classroom sites.

"This network will enable the college to share our programs within our region and throughout the state. We will have the facilities to provide alternative learning to our students, faculty and staff, and businesses," said Dr. Vernon O. Crawley, president of the college.

Cooking Classes For Holidays

"Kitchen Kapers Plus," a program at Lexington Institute, 10840 S. Western Ave., announces holiday classes for young girls ages 8 to 15 and their mothers. Classes, to be held on Saturday, Dec. 11th, include a culinary demonstration on "Gingerbread Houses" as well as a helpful etiquette lesson on "The Spirit of Christmas." Choose from a morning session, 10 a.m. to 12 noon, or an afternoon session, 2 to 4 p.m. The fee for the class is $15 per each mother-daughter team. For more information, call Lexington at (312) 779-3800.

Craft Fair The Beverly Art Center, 2153 W. 111th St., is hosting a holiday gift and craft fair in conjunction with three holiday performances on Saturday, Dec. 4th from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. The fair will feature artists and crafters from past BAC art fairs and craft fairs, and is a great opportunity to find unique holiday gifts. In conjunction with the fair will be a 2 p.m. performance by the Child's Play Touring Theatre of "A Christmas That Almost Wasn't." Tickets are $4 a person. Two performances of "Imagine That" by the Beverly Art Center's Children's Repertory Theatre Group, otherwise known as the Put Players, are also scheduled for Dec. 4th. The matinee is set for 4:30 p.m. and the evening performance for 8 p.m. Tickets are $5 in advance.

Food Drive

With holidays rapidly approaching, Worth Township Democratic Committeeman John J. McNamara urges residents to participate in the organization's annual food drive, providing food and gifts to those less fortunate.

"There are many people who cannot afford the basic necessities - food, clothes, shelter - that so many people take for granted because they have no job or are in poor health," McNamara told Democrats who were gathered at their monthly meeting in November. It is especially difficult for them to cope during the holidays, he added.

To instill some holiday cheer among Democrats, McNamara said the food drive allows residents and businesses throughout the township to provide holiday relief by collecting baskets for the poor. "There is so much gratification from watching the expressions on people's faces when they receive their food baskets," said McNamara, who believes the food drive offers something for those who have nothing.

If anyone is interested in donating food or helping distribute the baskets, please contact Worth Township Democratic Committeeman John McNamara, 5253 W. 95th St., Oak Lawn, (708) 424-3335.

Marist Scholars Listed

Sixteen graduates of Marist High School have been named AP scholars by the college board in recognition of their exceptional achievement on the college-level Advanced Placement (AP) examinations. Only about 11 percent of the 424,000 students who took AP exams in May 1993 performed at a sufficiently high level to merit such recognition.

The college board recognizes three levels of achievement - the AP scholar with distinction, the AP scholar with honor, and the AP scholar.

At Marist, five students qualified for the AP scholar with distinction award by earning grades of 3 or better on five or more AP exams. These students are Gerard Carandang (Orland Park), Kenneth Choi (Orland Park), Michael Lazzara (Palos Heights), Eric Olson (Orland Park), and Dennis Twomey (Scottsdale).

Three students qualified for the AP scholar with honor award by earning 3 or better on four or more exams. These students are Neal Barshes (Palos Heights), Phil Cuculich (Lockport), and Brian Nichols (Beverly).

Eight students qualified for the AP scholar award by completing three or more examinations with grades of 3 or higher. The AP scholars are Jason DeJonker (Hickory Hills), Kevin Keller (Palos Heights), Jason Khile (Oak Lawn), Terry McGuffage (Beverly), Thomas Moran (Hickory Hills), Michael Rawson (Oak Lawn), Sunil Sekhri (Lockport), and James Stankiewicz (Lemont).

AP examinations, which students take in May after completing challenging college-level courses, are graded on a 5 point scale, with 5 being the highest. Most of the nation's colleges and universities award credit and/or placement for grades of 3 or higher.

Holidays And Stress

Brady-Gill Funeral Home, 16600 Harlem Ave., Tinley Park is conducting a special program on Sunday, Dec. 5th, at 2 p.m. for people who don't feel like it is a Merry Christmas.

This program is open to the public with no cost or obligation.

The holidays are especially difficult after a death in the family. Usually a joyous time full of memories, the recently bereaved often feel the season makes their loss more painful.

That's why Brady-Gill is sponsoring this special program with practical ways to "get through the holidays" while coping with mixed emotions.

An expert speaker from Centre for Living with Dying, a local grief counseling service, will present valuable insight on how others have coped with the stress of the holidays. Different ways to commemorate a loved one will be shown as well.

Quilters Meet

The Chicago Quilters Guild meets on the 1st Wednesday of each month at 7 p.m. in the church basement of St. Bede the Venerable, 8200 S. Kostner. The Dec. 3rd meeting is a 'members only' gettogether

Prospect Federal Celebration

Prospect Federal Savings Bank completed its two-week 'Homecoming' celebration recently with a grand prize drawing for an RCA Home Theatre TV. The celebration was at the bank's new home office, 11139 S. Harlem Ave. Formerly a Prospect Federal branch office, this facility became the home office in August when the bank relocated its headquarters from west suburban Lombard.

According to Bank President, Carl L. Rosenbaum, "Thanks to our loyal customers and many other Worth area residents who stopped by, our homecoming celebration was a big success." Rosenbaum added that over 400 people visited the bank during the Nov. 6th open house which kicked off the celebration. During the two weeks of festivities many more people came to register for the grand prize drawing and to discuss the financial services available at Prospect Federal.

The winner of the Home Theatre TV was Mrs. Mary Vargas; Joseph Bures was the winner of 'The Money House' cash by most accurately guessing the amount of money it contained. Other prizes awarded were an RCA camcorder, won by Pauline Wagner and an RCA VCR, won by Jean Schnelle. In addition, 20 Kiddle home fire extinguisher prizes were awarded to contestants.

Rosenbaum said, "We have a strong commitment to the people of Chicago's southwest metropolitan area and wanted to demonstrate that commitment through our homecoming celebration. We'll continue this commitment through community related activities by providing top financial service to area residents.

Prospect Federal Savings Bank provides a variety of financial services from its Worth and southwest Chicago offices. Please inquire for special bonus offer coupons available for a limited time. These special offers include CD bonus, loan discounts and safe deposit box discounts.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING.....

Dick Capri, Louise DuArt, Freddie Roman and Mal Z. Lawrence (inset) will star in the hilarious comedy, "Catskills on Broadway," which runs for seven performances only from Dec. 27 through Jan. 1 at the Shubert Theatre.....Due to extraordinary ticket demand, "The Notebooks of Leonardi Da Vinci" has been extended for three weeks beyond its original closing date and will now appear through Dec. 19....The Theater Department at Moraine Valley Community College will hold auditions for a Spring production of "Romeo and Juliet" on Nov. 30; Dec. 1 and 2. Twenty-four actors and actresses are needed for major roles and minor roles. Actors should be familiar with the plot and auditions will consist of cold readings and improvisations.

BREAK A TURKEY LEG.....A special performance of "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" will be held on December 5 at the Chicago Theatre with all proceeds going to the Actors' Fund of America. Donny Osmond and fellow cast members will host the evening which will include both the performance of "Joseph" and a private cast party at Cairo, 720 N. Wells, immediately following the show...."The Pirates Who Love Christmas," a musical comedy show, will open Dec. 2 at Chicago's newest dinner theatre, Captain Dick's Voyage, 8557 S. Cicero....John Darago's "Charisma," the story of a couple's attempts to "reclaim" their son from a religious cult, will have its Midwest premiere tomorrow and run through Dec. 19 at the Next Theatre Company in Evanston. Terry Green, Kathy Randels and Nathan Anderson (inset) appear in the production.

PASS THE GRAVY....."Josh and S.A.M." opened yesterday at movie theatres all around the Chicago area. The movie is about two young brothers who make a daring escape from their unhappy home and embark on a cross-country odyssey of adventure and self discovery...."Schindler's List" is a movie about Otto Schindler, a proud member of the Nazi party who sacrificed fortune and risked his life to protect the lives of more than 1,300 Jews. Schindler was a consummate salesman, a carefree bon vivant who lived only for powerful friends, fine wines and beautiful women. The true story of this amazing man will open in Chicago on Dec. 15...."Wild West" is the story of a Pakistani Garth Brooks wannabe living in London's West End, who dreams of the day that his country western band becomes the latest rage in Nashville. The movie opened an exclusive engagement yesterday at Loews Pipers Alley Theatre at 1608 N. Wells.

THE TAMING OF THE DESSERT....Scott Wentworth and Kristine Thatcher (inset) star in Shakespeare Repertory's "The Taming of the Shrew" which opens Dec. 2 and runs through Jan. 2 at the Ruth Page Theatre, 1016 N. Dearborn....The Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago (RIC) has been awarded a $3 million grant designated for a rehabilitation research and training center by the National Institute on Disability and Rehabilitation Research (NIDRR), U.S. Department of Education. RIC researchers and clinicians will evaluate and develop methods to enhance the quality of life for stroke survivors....Surgeons at the UCLA Medical Center are using micro-instruments to safely treat ruptured spinal disks by operating through an incision about the size of a quarter as close as one millimeter from the spinal cord. The procedure allows for a much faster recovery—about two weeks rather than the two to three months previously required....This Sunday nature will provide a spectacular cap to the Thanksgiving holiday weekend when earth casts its shadow on the full moon, creating a total lunar eclipse. The Adler Planetarium will stay open late Saturday night so skywatchers can begin to see the earth's shadow creep over the moon's face starting at 10:40 p.m. It will be the last good lunar eclipse of the century. All the moon will be covered in shadow from 12:02 to 12:50 a.m. Outdoor telescope observings will be available from the Chicago Astronomical Society. The program is free and will run from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

SECOND HELPINGS.....This Sunday marks the birthday of our twin sons Brian and Kevin. My wife Lois and myself are very proud of 'the guys' and we join other family members and their many friends in wishing both of them a "Happy Birthday."

HAPPY THANKSGIVING to all our readers.

Celebrating Swedish Yule

The Swedish American Museum, 5211 N. Clark St., announces a traditional Swedish Christmas celebration, the Julmarknad. Traditional ethnic fare abounds at this holiday fest to be held on Saturday, Dec. 4th and Sunday, Dec. 5th.

In Sweden, the holiday season traditionally begins with the Christmas market, a "julmarknad." People come from all regions to pick and choose among the hundreds of items available. Created by local artisans, these handicrafts are today world-renowned for craftsmanship and simple beauty. Though the market was traditionally held outside in bitter cold, the Julmarknad will (thankfully) be held inside the beautiful gallery of the museum center.

This year's market features over 25 vendors of all ethnic backgrounds selling handmade wares. There will also be musical entertainment, folkdancing and a "Kaffestuga" (cafe with food and coffee) hosted by SWEA, a Swedish women's organization. A Lucia celebration with a beautiful young Swedish girl wearing a long white robe and crown of lighted candles is also to be featured. The museum's lower gallery will be transformed into a children's area with Santa's workshop, a 'fishing pond,' storytelling, hot dogs and popcorn.

According to Kerstin Lane, executive director of the Swedish American Museum Center, "This annual celebration is not only a wonderful tradition, it has also become a neighborhood tradition, bringing many ethnic groups of Andersonville together." A major museum and cultural center for Swedish and Swedish-American history, the Swedish American Museum Center is located in the heart of the Edgewater neighborhood of Andersonville. The hours of Julmarknad are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both days. Suggested admission is $2 for adults, with children under 12 admitted free. The museum is wheelchair accessible. The museum can be reached by CTA buses 96 and 22.

For further information, call (312) 728-8111.

Holiday Sky Show

Can astronomers explain the famous "Star of Bethlehem" supposedly seen by the Wise Men 2,000 years ago? Several possibilities are explored in "Star of Wonder," the annual holiday sky show playing Nov. 26th through Jan. 2nd at The Adler Planetarium. "Star of Wonder" uses computer technology to "rewind" the solar system back to the time of 2 and 3 B.C. to find out what things were happening in the sky. Could the traveling astronomer-priests (or Magi as they were called) have observed an exploding star, a comet, or an unusual meeting of the planets?

According to Senior Astronomer Eric Carlson, "Star of Wonder" helps us see how these ancient peoples studied and interpreted what they saw in the sky. "The show gives modern explanations for what the 'star' could have been, but we also try to discover how these things might have been experienced by the Magi as they made their journey," said Carlson.

"Back then," said Carlson, "people paid close attention to the movements of planets because they believed they could get valuable information about things that were happening or going to happen on Earth," he said. Carlson explained that although today we know there is no scientific basis for believing that events in space influence life on Earth, the Wise Men were actually the leading astronomers of their day and served as astronomical advisers to their emperors.

The younger set can experience Christmas in the constellations with "Winter Star," playing Nov. 26th through Dec. 24th. In this holiday sky show created especially for pre-school age children, Santa takes a break from his North Pole activities to team up with "Winter Star" on a tour of outer space.

"Star of Wonder" and "Winter Star" will be shown daily, along with Adler's current sky show, "Orion Rendezvous: a Star Trek Voyage of Discovery." One admission at the door gives access to sky shows and exhibits. Admission to the Adler is $4 for adults and $2 for children ages 4 to 17 and for senior citizens. Children ages three and under are free. Admission is free for everyone on Tuesdays. Building hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. everyday, and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Fridays. The Planetarium is closed Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day. It is at 1300 S. Lake Shore Dr., with ample parking available.

Pictured are shepherds Glenn Williamson of Evergreen Park, Curt Stender of Oak Lawn, Joshua Schellhammer of Evergreen Park and angel Jason Gray of Oak Lawn. The children and adults of Maranatha Chapel cordially invite you to attend their annual Christmas musical. This year's production is entitled "Three Wise Men and A Baby." It will be at Maranatha Chapel, 9755 S. Pulaski Rd., on Sunday, Dec. 5th. There will be two performances, at 5 p.m. and at 7 p.m. Sit back and relax and enjoy a contemporary Christmas musical that will appeal to all ages. There is ample parking and the general public is welcome. Tickets are free of charge and can be obtained by calling the church office, (708) 422-4340, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Parent Council Holds First Meeting

On Tuesday, Nov. 16th, the District 126 Parent Education Council held its first meeting. This council of seven parents with the assistance of Elaine English, curriculum coordinator for the district, worked through the needs survey information to design programs for parents:

Council members are Mrs. Feda Alaneh and Mrs. LeeAnne Gens with children at Prairie Junior High; Ms. Holly Holmberg, Mrs. Ann Roser and Mrs. Susan Bain-Williams with children at Stony Creek School; Mrs. Kathy Davis from Lane School and Mrs. Kathryn Yacoumakis from Hazel-green School.

District 126 has always prided itself in providing total education for the students. This includes reaching the parents and the community. In 1989, the district developed a strategic plan which included a goal for establishing parent education programs. When the plan was presented last year, that goal held fast and became a priority. It reads, "Establish a district parent education group to address common educational/developmental concerns."

The first step toward this goal was to conduct a needs assessment survey, done in the early fall of this year. A part of the needs assessment was a question asking parents if they were willing to serve on a parent education council to oversee development of district-wide programs. Ten parents showed an interest in being a part of that council. Seven were able to meet with Ms. English for the initial planning. A few others may join the council later in the year.

The council hopes to bridge school and home in a way that makes learning fun for the whole family. Any parents or community members who wish to be part of this challenge, or can give us suggestions, should contact any of the council members or call Elaine English at 389-1900.

Judge Is Speaker

Judge Loretta Douglas of the Circuit Court of Cook County will be the guest speaker for the Oak Lawn Rotary on Monday, Nov. 29th.

George Valsis, program coordinator, announced that the meeting will be held at the Oak Lawn Holiday Inn, 4140 W. 95th St. Judge Douglas will address the group at 1 p.m. on the topic "Sexual Harassment in the Workplace."

Judge Loretta Douglas has served as a Judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County since 1984. She currently presides in a Felony Trial Court of the Criminal Division. She received her J.D. in 1968 from Loyola University and her Master of Laws in 1976 from George Washington University National Law Center. She is a past president of the Women's Bar Association, and currently teaches litigation and criminal law at South Suburban College.

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were reported by the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

On Nov. 11th, Walter Petty, 27, and Dionesia Petty, 27, both of Markham, were charged with retail theft after the security agent at K-Mart, 4104 W. 95th St., allegedly saw them take three pairs of overalls and a pair of boots and leave without paying. They were picked up outside and the merchandise valued at $187.96 was returned.

Police responded to a call about a retail theft at the 7-11 store at 10638 S. Cicero. The offenders had left by the time police arrived but a description of the vehicle was broadcast. The clerk said the offenders were standing over the counter in the medicine aisle and when they left, shelves of Tylenol and Aspirin products were missing. The vehicle left going north on Cicero and an officer found the car at 106th where the offenders were brought back to the store and identified by the clerk: Karen David and Shwanandra Williams, both of Chicago, were transported to the station where they heard a report of another retail theft from Walgreen's at 106th and Cicero. There were two juveniles in the car and they were turned over to the juvenile officer. A search of the car revealed two backpacks packed with $95.91 worth of merchandise from 7-11 and the other was filled with sinus medication and other pain relievers valued at $322.40.

On the 13th, Joe Gerson, used car manager at Mancari's Chrysler-Plymouth dealership, 4623 W. 95th St., reported the theft of a 1993 Geo-Tracker valued at $11,000.

On the 13th, Ronald Wood of Oak Lawn reported someone punctured the left-side tires on his Dodge Ram with a knife or similar tool while the car was parked in the street at 9720 S. Nashville. Estimated cost to replace is $400.

Lela Wiley of Chicago came to the station to report someone had stolen four hubcaps from her Ford van.

Kenneth Krug of Burbank reported that between 10:10 and 11:44 p.m., someone broke the rear window of his 1989 Jeep Cherokee which will cost $150 to replace.

James Buschbach reported six windows on the north side of the building at 5615 W. 95th St. were struck with what appeared to be a BB or pellet. Employees heard the noise but didn't relate to it. Six 6x6 ft. glass panes were damaged and estimated cost to replace is $1,500.

Dalal Hamdan, 21, of Oak Lawn was charged with domestic battery and fleeing to elude police. Palal Z. Hamdan reported she and her husband got into an argument when he grabbed her by the hair, choked her and then pushed her over the crib in the baby's room. When she got up, he pushed her into the kitchen and choked her again and left.

On the 12th, Albert Foens Downsell of Chicago reported his 1984 Oldsmobile was stolen from the Deluxe Budget Motel, 4811 W. Columbus Drive.

On the 13th, while on patrol, an officer noticed an Oldsmobile driving south on Cicero Ave. with no visible registration. He made a traffic stop at 111th and Cicero. The officer asked Bryon Branch of Chicago for his driver's license which he did not have. He was arrested and charged with suspended license, no valid registration and when he looked in the car, saw a small blue plastic bag lying on the front seat which contained a green plant-like substance and he was also charged with possession of cannabis.

On the 15th, Robert Kakos of Oak Lawn reported that at 10:40 p.m. he discovered his gas grill had been removed from the shed in the back and was found in the alley behind the home. He went to the shed and found his Craftsman lawnmower, Craftsman snowblower, a Huffy 24-inch boys bike, a 28-inch Schwinn bike and a Huffy two-wheel scooter were gone. Estimated loss is $720. There were no signs of forced entry.

The manager of Arby's Restaurant, 11017 S. Cicero, reported someone removed a bag containing $1,049 from the safe. There were no signs of forced entry and he gave police the names of the five employees who had keys to the safe.

Gertrude Eul of Oak Lawn reported her 1989 Oldsmobile Cutlass valued at $10,000 was stolen from in front of her house.

Assault Weapons Ban In Effect In Cook County

Cook County Board President Richard Phelan announced that the assault weapons ban of the Cook County Gun Ordinance went into effect on Thursday, Nov. 18th. The ordinance makes it illegal to sell or possess over 60 types of assault weapons in Cook County. Gun owners have 14 days to either turn in their weapon to the Sheriff, alter the firearm inoperable or remove the gun from Cook County.

Homicides committed to Chicago with semiautomatic assault weapons increased fourfold, from 70 in 1983 to 297 in 1992. One-quarter of all trauma cases treated at Cook County Hospital in 1992 were from multiple gunshot wounds, up 20 percent from 1982. The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms claims that most assault weapons used in crime are originally bought over-the-counter and twenty times more likely to be used in a crime than a conventional firearm.

"The numbers are staggering," Phelan said. "There is no reason why people need to use these guns of destruction. They are not designed for hunting or sport, they are used to outgun law enforcement and kill police officers and people. We need to get them off the street."

"I applaud this ordinance. It is a good first step in getting violent guns off the streets," said Burnham Police Chief

J.D. Crull. "If we get even just one Uzi off the street, it means there is one less gun to shoot an innocent senior citizen, child or police officer. It is one less gun in the hands of the bad guys."

The ordinance bans over 60 specific types of assault weapons which can be easily converted to automatic firearms. Persons in violation of the ordinance may be subject to up to six months in jail and/or be fined up to $1,000.

This ordinance will not hinder legitimate hunters and sportsmen or hamper law enforcement officials. "Hunting rifles are shoulder-held and require precision," Phelan said. "Assault weapons are hip-held and can be spray-fired inflicting damage without regard to aim or precision." In addition, the ordinance does not restrict law enforcement officials from possessing any weapon for use in the line of duty.

"We need to take steps to get these deadly weapons off the streets. As long as they remain legal, law enforcement officials have no means to confiscate them. We are trying to close the door through which these weapons of destruction are passed."

The ordinance also bans gun shops from operating within a half-mile of the grounds of a school or park and requires they be licensed by the County. The licensing portion of the ordinance takes effect on Jan. 1st, 1994. "This ordinance is intended to limit easy access to guns around our schools and parks. This ordinance is about creating a safe environment for our children."

"This ordinance is not going to make gun violence in Cook County disappear, but it is a first step. If we can ease the minds of parents or if it prevents even one more senseless assault weapon killing, it's worth it," Phelan concluded.

Democratic Candidate For Representative

Democratic slatemakers have selected Kevin McCue of Hickory Hills as the Democratic candidate for State Representative from the 48th Legislative District.

McCue, 3rd Ward Alderman from the City of Hickory Hills, and a sales representative, will seek his first term as State Representative in the November general election. The 48th Legislative District is comprised of parts of Bridgeview, Worth, Palos Hills, Justice, Oak Lawn, Willow Springs, Countryside, Indian Head Park, all of Burr Ridge, Hickory Hills and unincorporated Lyons Township.

"I am grateful for the confidence and support of the local Democratic organizations," McCue said, and I seek the support of all the residents of the District."

McCue, chairman of the City of Hickory Hills Police Protection Committee, sees crime prevention as a major issue in the campaign. "The communities that make up the 48th Legislative District are healthy and vibrant communities," McCue said. It's only through strong and effective crime prevention and prosecution that the social and commercial well-being of our communities can be safeguarded. I'll work tirelessly toward that end."

PARK DISTRICT NOTES

The Oak Lawn Park District will present their annual Christmas Choral Concert entitled "Celebrate the Season," at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 4 at the Community Pavilion, 9401 S. Oak Park Ave.

The concert will feature the Oak Lawn Chorale, the Entertainers and various childrens groups including the Quarter Notes, the Connection and Special Edition. Soloists and small groups will also perform.

Tickets cost $5; $3 for seniors and children and can be purchased at the Community Pavilion and Oakview Center, 4625 W. 110th St. For more information, call 857-2200.

The park district is seeking volunteer Santas and Santa's helpers for the park sponsored "Santa Visits." Applicants must be at least 18 years old and have a valid drivers license. Also needed are volunteer day camp counselors for Special Recreation Mini Camp in December. For more information, contact Lori Chesna at 857-2200.

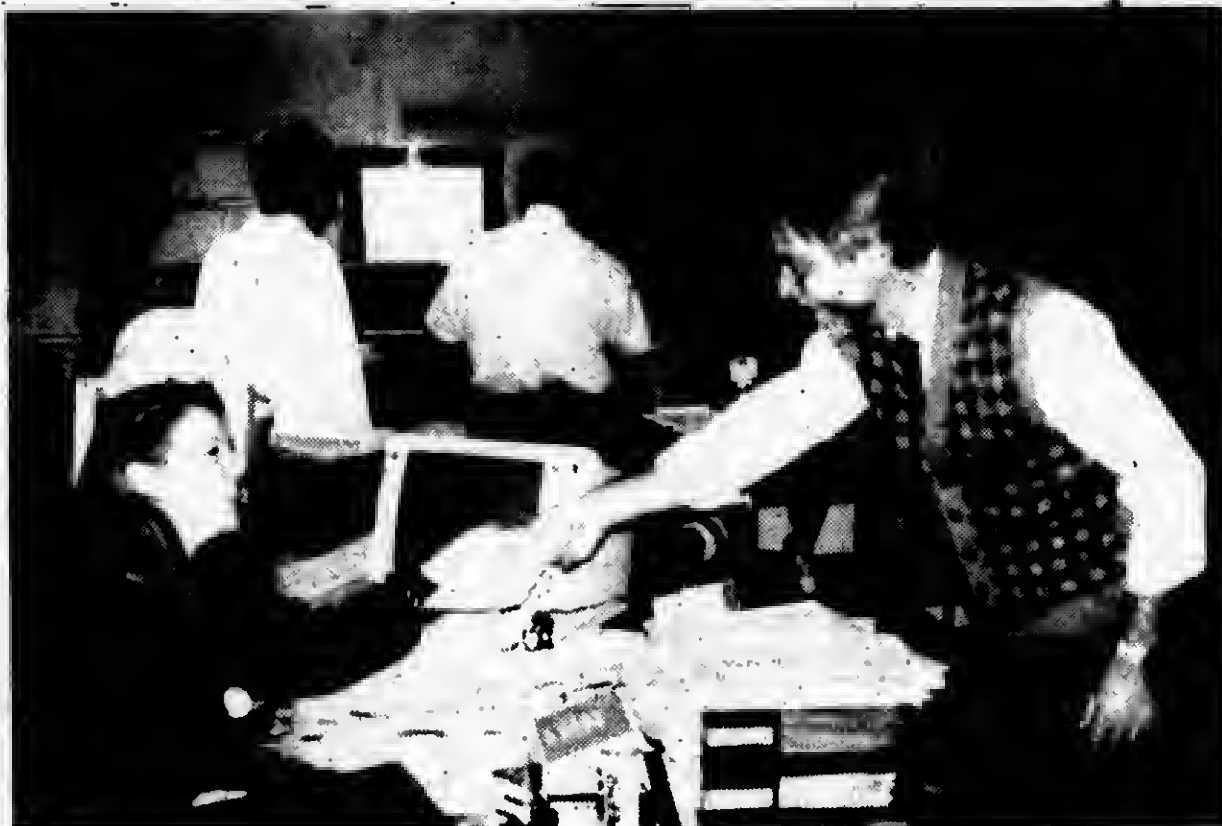

Accident Victim

After being hit by a truck, 75 year old Ann Ohlendorf, of Oak Lawn, died of the injuries she received in the Nov. 14th accident.

Ohlendorf, of the 10300 block of Keating Ave., died at 8:40 p.m., Nov. 17th at Christ Hospital, from multiple injuries. Officials claim that Ohlendorf was crossing the street at 82nd and Cicero in the early afternoon hours when she was hit. No other information was available.

Honored

Saint Xavier University has announced the 1993 winner of the McGuire Award is Richards High School Associate Principal Kevin Burns. The award, named in honor of the late professor of education, Dr. George McGuire, is given annually and recognizes professional excellence by alumni of the school of education. Burns was honored in a special ceremony held at Saint Xavier on Nov. 21st.

Phonathon Is Success

Park Lawn recently held its annual phonathon fundraiser. This three day event was a huge success and is expected to raise over $50,000. All phonathon proceeds go directly to the children and adults of Park Lawn. More than 100 volunteers including parents, Oak Lawn High School students, friends, and staff of Park Lawn contributed to the success of this event. Park Lawn would also like to thank those people who responded to the phonathon by making a donation. Park Lawn is a full service agency providing services for individuals with developmental disabilities. Maintenance and growth of Park Lawn's services are made possible primarily through fund raisers and individual contributions.

If you would like to make a holiday contribution or would like more information about Park Lawn, call (708) 425-3344, or write 10833 S. LaPorte, Oak Lawn, IL 60453.

Traffic Safety Essay Contest

State Rep. Maureen Murphy (R-36) reported she is sponsoring an essay contest in her district. She stated the essay topic is "What don't we teach new drivers that they really need to know?" The 28th annual Illinois Editors' Traffic Safety Seminar Essay Contest will enable five male and five female high school seniors to receive scholarship checks.

Murphy stated two top winners will receive $2,000 and $1,000 awards. Eight remaining winners each will receive $500.

Murphy also stated that entries must be typed, double-spaced, no longer than 500 words and postmarked no later than Monday, Dec. 20th. All essays should be sent to the attention of State Rep. Maureen Murphy, 4931 W. 95th St., Oak Lawn, IL 60453.

For further information and contest entry blanks, see your high school principal or guidance counselor or contact Murphy at 424-3636.

Murphy also stated she will review the essays, make recommendations, and forward them to AAA Chicago Motor Club,

Completes ROTC Training

Army Cadet Constantine E. Tsoukatos has completed training in fundamental military skills at the Army ROTC Camp Challenge, Fort Knox, Kentucky. Camp Challenge is designed to give college juniors and sophomores who have not taken ROTC courses the chance to enter the program. Cadets received training in basic rifle marksmanship, drill and ceremonies, small arms tactics and communications.

Constantine is the son of Emmanuel K. and Helen Tsoukatos of Oak Lawn. He is a 1991 graduate of Harold L. Richards High School and is currently a student at the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana.

Top Registrar

County Clerk David Orr congratulates John Carson on his 25,000th voter registration. Carson registers voters in the Niles driver license facility as part of a pilot 'Motor/Voter' program Orr's office runs. Voters who have not registered or who have moved or changed their name need to register for the March primary by Feb. 15th. They can do so at all city and suburban driver license facilities.

Elmhurst College freshman Wayne Druktenis, an Oak Lawn resident, is a recipient of a 1993-94 Elmhurst College academic achievement award, a renewable $2,500 scholarship awarded to freshmen in the top 20 percent of their high school class with a minimum ACT score of 25 composite or SAT score of 1000.

Wayne, a 1993 graduate of St. Laurence High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Druktenis. He is majoring in business administration at Elmhurst. He also plans to play on the Bluejay men's baseball team in the spring.

Drug Conference

State Representative Maureen Murphy (R-36) sponsored three high school students from her district to attend a conference. The IDEA (Illinois Drug Education Alliance) annual prevention conference and workshop information session was held in Chicago, on Nov. 21st. Each student was chaperoned by a member of the high school staff which she attends.

Amy Lavery of Evergreen Park High School was accompanied by Laura Congialdi; Shannon Stockdale of Richards High School, by Sue Funchy and Marianne Metz of Eisenhower, by Terry Gifford.

Representative Murphy stated the IDEA Conference strives to provide an interesting, up-to-date, valuable, training experience for drug-free youth.

DESK WORK DISCOMFORT

If you sit at a desk most of the day, are you sometimes bothered by pains in your back and other muscular discomfort?

Working in a sitting position for long periods of time can cause postural stress. This problem is compounded unless your chair is designed to give you support where it's needed, and unless you sit with the proper posture.

No one likes to go through life with nagging back pains. After a full day's work you want to be able to come home and relax comfortably with family and friends. And when you get up in the morning, you want to be able to feel refreshed and up to the challenge of another day's work.

If you have a posture problem, if your spinal column is out of alignment and causing painful pressure on nerve centers, you may be able to benefit from treatment that brings welcome relief from pain and other discomfort.

Don't let nagging back pain get you down. Do something about it.

If you have any health questions please feel free to call our office.

White Streamlining Operations

In a move to consolidate and streamline office procedures, Cook County Recorder of Deeds Jesse White eliminated the long-standing practice of allowing document recordings to take place at the office of Chicago Title and Trust (CT&T).

The recording functions that were performed from the company's Loop location will be moved to the Office of the Recorder of Deeds, 118 N. Clark St. in Chicago. According to White, document recordings have been performed at Chicago Title and Trust for over 40 years.

"Although CT&T does have a large number of recordings, I believe that all official county business should be performed on county property to prevent any perceived favoritism," White said. "This move is part of my plan to improve this office's operating procedures. I commend Chicago Title for their cooperation during this transition period."

The Cook County Recorder's office first set up an operation at the company's facility in 1949 to help accommodate Chicago Title with the enormous number of documents that needed to be recorded. Since then it has been a mutual beneficial relationship between the Recorder's office and Chicago Title. "By reorganizing my office, I can now allocate additional staff in our facility to handle the workload generated by Chicago Title," White said.

"I want to stress that this move should not signify any wrong-doing by previous administrations or by Chicago Title and Trust," White said. "Rather, it's a move to consolidate and streamline the day-to-day operation of my office."

Upon taking office in December 1992, White initiated the first phase of a reorganization plan that consolidated several sections. He implemented the office's first mission statement and set a management structure with a clear chain of command that minimizes duplication of effort and utilizes staff resources effectively. This announcement is another initiative on White's agenda to improve office policy and procedures.

The Office of Cook County Recorder of Deeds is one of the county's largest revenue generating offices with expected earnings of $30 million in 1993.

Panel Discussion

Last year's "Dateline" broadcast on NBC-TV of a fiery test crash involving a General Motors pickup truck ignited not only the vehicle but also a storm of controversy. It was later discovered that the truck was rigged with remote control devices to ensure a spectacular result. After GM protested, NBC eventually issued a retraction of the report.

To examine the facts and ethical issues surrounding this incident, Loyola University Chicago's department of communication will co-sponsor and host a conference on Thursday, Dec. 2nd in the Georgetown room of Loyola's Marquette Center building, 47 E. Pearson St., Chicago, on the university's Water Tower Campus.

Admission is free, and the doors open at 3 p.m. for an inspection of the exhibits. A background presentation begins at 6 p.m. with a discussion at 7:30. A buffet dinner ($10 in advance, $15 at the door) begins at 5:30.

The panel discussion, "Aftermath of An Error," is co-sponsored by the Better Government Association, the Chicago Bar Association, the Chicago Headline Club and the Public Relations Society of America, Chicago chapter. The discussion will be moderated by W. Barnett Pearce, Ph.D., chairperson of Loyola's department of communication.

Available for examination are tapes of the broadcast, transcripts from witnesses and copies of NBC's internal investigation. Included among the topics that the panel will discuss are what went wrong with the crash, how it could have been avoided and if the damage to the reputations of NBC (and GM) could have been minimized. Issues of ethics, quality control, technical integrity and public representation will be examined.

For reservations or for further information, call (312) 915-6551.

Pace 1994 Budget Plan

The RTA recently unveiled information which indicates they expect an additional $8.9 million will be available for the 1994 budget. Although they have not communicated their plans for this extra cash, nor have they included it in their proposed 1994 budget plan, Pace will be seeking part of this money to help offset service cuts and fare increases planned for 1994. This extra $8.9 million 'windfall' comes from a $4.9 million increase in federal operating assistance and a $4 million reduction in RTA debt service expenses.

Despite public outcry and strong public support for suburban services, the RTA has refused to budge from its initial proposal which would trim Pace's budget by nearly $6 million in 1994. Pace submitted a $68 million budget that called for status quo services, stable fares and expansion for the federally mandated American with Disabilities Act (ADA) paratransit services. The RTA indicated it will only fund $61 million, keeping the remaining $6 million in its cash reserves. This increases the reserves from $25 million to more than $30 million. The RTA had argued against drawing down their reserves to the planned $25 million level. Now it appears, with the increased funding, that would not be necessary.

Pace officials are not optimistic that RTA's 'windfall' will find its way into Pace service. "Our fear is that the RTA's 'windfall' will find its way into Pace service. "Our fear is that the RTA will still want us to cut services and raise fares even if they can well afford to avoid it," said Florence Boone, Pace chairman.

She believes the RTA has put themselves in direct competition with Pace for sales tax funds; a battle which Pace can only lose.

The RTA has used creative accounting techniques to bypass the legislation which limits their expense budget. As a result, RTA's budget will rise by 36 percent for 1994 to approximately $23.7 million. This far exceeds what is allowed by the RTA Act. Most of the increase is to fund former Chairman Franzen's dream for the costly and unproven Personal Rapid Transit (PRT).

"We find ourselves in a situation where the needs of the existing passengers, many of whom are seniors, minorities and people with disabilities, are being denied so that local sales tax dollars can be delivered to the PRT," stated Boone.

Pace urges the public to continue providing support for suburban transportation by demanding that the RTA fully fund suburban needs. The RTA is holding its regularly scheduled board meeting on Thursday, Dec. 2nd, and a special board meeting on Friday, Dec. 17th to pass the final budget. In addition to the RTA's scheduled public hearings on the budget the Pace board recently passed a resolution requesting that the RTA hold three suburban Cook County meetings, not just the one scheduled in Forest Park. It's not too late to make sure the RTA answers to suburban residents by scheduling a meeting in the south or southwest area.

Polish Museum Elects New Board

On Oct. 6th, elections were held to select the executive board and directors of the Polish Museum of America in Chicago, the oldest ethnic museum in America which features a huge collection of historical, cultural and artistic memorabilia from Poland and the Polish American community. The elections were held in the social hall, in the same building which houses the museum. Dr. Edward C. Rozanski served as nominating chairman and acting curator Joanna Janowski reported on the short-term activities scheduled at the museum.

The following were elected: Chairman Edward G. Dykla, Barrington; Vice-Chair Dolores Spejewski, Munster, Ind.; President Joan Kosinski, Chicago; Secretary Sabina Logisz, Chicago; Treasurer William J. Janik, Oak Lawn; General Counsel William Marutzyk, Chicago; Vice-President Edward J. Moskal, Chicago; Vice-President Helen Wojcik, Park Ridge; and Vice-President Mark Chudzinski, Chicago.

Directors of the museum are Rev. Edwin F. Karlowicz, C.R., Chicago; Wallace Ozog, Warren, Mich.; Josephine Szarowicz, Mt. Prospect; Joseph P. Boruta, Mt. Prospect; Eugene Mroz, Chicago; Stanley Schmidt, Roselle; Dr. Edward C. Rozanski, Chicago; Clara Winicki, Chicago; Estelle Sprengel, Chicago; Arlene Prugar, Chicago; Alice Robaczewski, Chicago; Jo Kania Piegzik, Chicago; Hubert Cioromski, Park Ridge; Andrew Dachman, Chicago; Luci Bucki, Chicago; Maria Ciesla, Chicago; Dennis Kolinski, Chicago; Mira Puacz, Chicago; Hon. Robert Bugielski, Chicago; Hon. Carole Bialczak, Chicago; and Mary Gorny, Chicago. The above-mentioned officers and directors have been elected for a one-year term of office.

Interest Review

Over the next few months, people who may have failed to report various kinds of income or properly claim mortgage interest deductions on the 1991 federal income tax returns will be receiving letters from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

The letters are part of a computer program that matches financial information sent to the IRS by banks and other businesses with amounts reported on 1991 tax returns. For example, the IRS says, when your bank sends you a form or statement showing interest earned on a savings account or interest paid on a home mortgage, it sends the same information, usually on computer tape or diskette, to the IRS. If the information reported to the tax agency by the bank doesn't match the figures on your return, you will receive one of these letters.

You must reply within 30 days, the IRS emphasizes. The letter lists the items the IRS believes were omitted or improperly reported. In most cases, the letter will also propose an increase in your 1991 tax, plus interest and, in some cases, a penalty.

The IRS urges you to check your return and see if you agree with the changes listed. If you do, sign the statement included with the letter and return it to the IRS. To avoid further interest charges, also send a check for any amount due. If you disagree, the IRS says, send a letter within 30 days explaining which items are wrong and giving the correct information.

For more information on replying to these letters, call Tele-Tax toll-free at 1(800) 829-4477 and request tape number 502.

Census Survey To Be Taken

Employees of the U.S. Census Bureau will visit a sample of area residents during the week of Dec. 12th to 18th to collect data on employment and veterans for the current population survey, according to Stanley D. Moore, director of the bureau's Chicago regional office. The local labor force data contributes to the national employment and unemployment picture to be released on Jan. 7th by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Information supplied by individuals to the Census Bureau is kept confidential by law. Only statistical totals are published.

"It's All Talk"

By Congressman Harris W. Fawell, 13th District

I am writing this column just a few hours after the House of Representatives narrowly defeated the most important deficit reduction proposal in more than a decade. The vote -- on the $90 billion "Penny-Kasich" deficit reduction package -- was a litmus test of whether Congress truly wants to control the flow of red ink, or just talk about it.

For nine years I have watched Congress make promises of literally trillions of dollars of "deficit reduction" -- in four five-year deficit reduction plans and nine annual budgets. But, what did the people get? About $3 trillion of new debt!

How can this be? Because most of what was heralded as "deficit reductions" were: (1) only "decreases of increases of spending;" and, (2) were re-routed to alternative spending. End result? Not many real cuts in spending but a whole lot of new debt.

President Clinton's deficit reduction plan of last summer basically followed this charade. In fact, most of the plans' "decreases of increases" were in years four and five, the so-called "out years" seldom reached before the five-year plan self-destructs and is replaced with yet another five-year plan.

To help get the votes to put his $275 billion tax-and-spend deficit reduction plan over the top (with a one vote majority), a specific promise was made by the President and Speaker Foley last summer. The promise was made to Congressman Tim Penny (D-Minn) that his support of the plan would assure Penny the opportunity to get a vote on a package of additional spending cuts on the floor of the House in the fall. Relying on that promise, Penny supported the President's plan and then joined with John Kasich, Ranking Republican on the House Budget committee, to fashion a real deficit reduction plan. Their plan, unlike the president's, ensured that all of the $90 billion in savings could not be re-routed to new spending. Bottom-line: The Penny-Kasich savings would have to be used to reduce the deficit!

The Penny-Kasich plan affected nearly every part of the federal budget and included over 80 specific proposals. It cut the legislative branch budget by 7.5% and the franked mail account by 20%. It reduced the White House budget by 5% and the federal workforce by 252,000 (12%). Their plan made over $6 billion in cuts in the military (on top of $120 billion already cut) and achieved more than $45 billion in savings in the most serious budget problem; entitlements.

Was it perfect? No, of course not. But it was a modest beginning in lifting a terrible debt we are putting on our children and grandchildren. The Penny-Kasich plan called for cutting less than one cent from each dollar the federal government spends over the next five years! Put another way, the federal government plans to spend $8 trillion over the next five years, from which Penny-Kasich will slice $90 billion.

That's not much to ask of a government drowning in $4.3 trillion of debt with at least another $2 trillion of added debt anticipated during the next five years of the Clinton budget plan. It all adds up to a national debt of at least $6 trillion by 1998 (probably more) and nothing but $200 billion in annual deficits. Plans for a balanced budget some day? Perish the thought! Happy new century, children of America!

Based on the reaction of the White House and the cries from special interest groups, you would think that Penny and Kasich were trying to end Western civilization as we know it. The President put his "war room" into service to defeat the proposal! Why? Because he did not want any spending cuts to be enacted which he could not re-route to, you guessed it, new federal programs.

I'm afraid an old adage must be rewritten, given this important vote; it's now "A penny saved, is a penny...spent."

Urges 'No' Vote On Health Care Reform

W. Thomas Kelly, president of the Savers & Investors League, has urged Congress to "Just Say No." His comments are:

Congress should not be pressured, led or seduced into thinking that any kind of government-sponsored health care plan is, in reality, needed.

Any government-directed or mandated plan will be far more costly than private enterprise, and thus voter/taxpayers' income and saving will be reduced more and more as time goes by.

The 37 million uninsured figure that's used is a phony number.

The proposed plan reflects a governmental lack of faith in free market enterprise. What we need is less government in health care, not more. What we need is more free market competition, not less.

The proposed 1300 pages (2 inches thick) of government micro-management legislation can only grow exponentially at the federal and 50-state level, into another giant, bungling snarl of costly red tape and unfathomable complexities.

Any government-sponsored plan will only be for "openers." Clearly, the Administration will negotiate for anything solely to get the "camel's nose under the tent." Then there will be no turning back. As so clearly evident in the recent elections, voter/taxpayers want resolute legislators who have the guts to stand up and say NO. They're sick and tired of "me too-ers, but ours is better."

Administration health care reform cost estimates must be recognized as "low ball" guesses. The plan's ultimate cost will be enormous. It will drag our economy down. The federal, state and provider health care bureaucracy will grow uncontrollably. What a mess!

How can 500 closeted, elitist bureaucrats dream up a better health care system than what we have? Why does Congress think that there's a need to play the Administration's game? Admittedly, Congress has capable legislators, but when they're revising and devising our nation's ultra-complex health care system, it's like the blind leading the blind into a disaster.

The Administration's plan has been designed by bureaucrats, for bureaucrats and to expand bureaucracy at the federal, state and corporate level. These bureaucracies are deemed to be omnipotent, thereby disenfranchising individual citizens and those providers "not-in-the-loop," be they large or small entrepreneurial underwriters, or providers of sales and service. This is not free enterprise; this is America. This is launching one-seventh of our nation's economy down the slippery slope to failed socialism.

The "drugs" admonition fits this matter from a medical, economic and political perspective: JUST SAY NO!

The Savers & Investors League is an aggressive, nonpartisan, non-profit 501(c)(4) grassroots lobbying organization. Its mission is to educate and motivate the American public to understand and demand proper, rational taxation of saving and investment. The League's Washington headquarters is in Centreville, VA.

Hospital Grant

Ronald McDonald Children's Charities (RMCC) is dedicated to improving the quality of children's lives worldwide. In the spirit of this dedication, RMCC awarded a $5,000 grant to Little Company of Mary Hospital to purchase equipment and renovate its pediatric department playroom. The hospital plans on naming the play area "The Ronald McDonald Playroom."

Ronald McDonald Children's Charities is committed to improving the lives of children all over the world," said Ken Barun, president of RMCC.

Holograms On Licenses

Beginning next year, Illinois driver's licenses will be extremely difficult to counterfeit, according to Secretary of State George Ryan. The licenses are to contain a hologram of the Illinois state seal and a Lincoln penny and officials believe that the holograms should be difficult, if not impossible for counterfeiters to reproduce.

The new licenses, to be formally unveiled by Ryan later this week, are to be similar to the current ones but will feature nickel-sized holograms, similar to those now in use on many credit cards. Holograms are three-dimensional images which appear when held to the light and those on the new drivers' licenses change from state seal to penny when shifted.

Jack Pecoraro, head of the Secretary of State's Police, believes that about 90 percent of counterfeit licenses are sold to persons under 21 years of age who use them to obtain liquor illegally. The fraudulent licenses are said to cost between $50 and $250, depending on the quality.

Concert For Christmas

The Beverly Art Center is presenting a stellar holiday concert featuring the internationally-known Chicago Children's Choir and the acclaimed Chicago Chamber Brass at the Beverly Art Center, 2153 W. 111th St., on Friday, Dec. 17th at 8 p.m. The children's choir is a multi-racial, multi-cultural group made up of children from around the city. The choir most recently toured Mexico and Japan and now will join the Chicago Chamber Brass, one of the finest brass quintets in the world, for this concert.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

Thanks for the kind mention in Nov. 25's "All Points Southwest."

I am certain that Dad had a chuckle from high above when he saw "John" rather than his son "Dennis" as being the judge, although he thought of himself as a lawyer. No doubt Dad and Elmer are having words now.

For the record, Walt, I am a circuit judge by appointment of the Illinois Supreme Court and I am seeking election to that position. Supreme court appointees serve only to the next general election.

Cordially,
Judge Dennis Dohm

'Responsible' Vote On Chicago School Plan

"The majority of the members of the Illinois General Assembly acted responsibly when they voted to pass the Chicago school plan," Illinois Senate Democratic Leader Emil Jones, Jr. said.

Jones, who negotiated the agreement with the three other legislative leaders and the governor, said the agreement "was not perfect, but it kept the schools open and the children in the classrooms."

"I felt that it was important that these funds remain at the local level," Jones said, "but when it became apparent that this was the only way to keep schools open on Monday, I begrudgingly agreed to divert part of the increase to balance the budget."

"Senate districts targeted to receive the Chapter One funds will still receive $18 million in additional funds. That includes increases of 3.2 percent to 16.4 percent in additional funding for the fiscal 1994 year," Jones, who wrote the legislation creating Chapter One funding for needy schools, said.

In the last school year, Jones said, Chicago schools

All Points Southwest

BY
WALTER H. LYSEN

"To the victors belong the spoils" and that is what Mayor Ernie Kolb and his Mayor's Coalition Party found when they regained control of the Oak Lawn Village board last spring. It was a landslide victory over a mismanaged administration that left the village at its knees. The voters knew it as they returned the Kolb-Powers-Stancik administration to control.

Trustee Bob Streit (3), the only survivor of his cabal, looks as if he is running for re-election in 1995 as a naysayer. Streit has opposed almost every effort Mayor Kolb has made to return the village to solvency. Streit is in the second year of his term and apparently is caught up in 'the terrible twos,' saying "no" to almost everything.

Now at budget time, Village Manager Joe Faber finds his predecessor Mike Feeley had left the village with a budget deficit of approximately $2.7 million. The village then reduced the deficit through a hiring freeze and cutting of other costs to pare the shortfall. Majority trustees Bill Keane, Marjorie Joy, Cyril Holesha, Ron Stancik and Mike Walsh were able to then cut the deficit from some $1.64 million down to approximately $1.27 million.

This was accomplished through cutting costs of capital improvement projects and finding alternative sources of revenue. Last week, the majority trustees proposed a property tax hike to balance next year's projected deficit. This proposed levy would raise the village's property tax rate from $6,001,050 to $6,541,145, a 9 percent hike. Faber said this would mean $400,000 in revenue for the general fund and $140,000 to reduce other obligations.

The tax increase, in addition to some $200,000 in cuts would further reduce the deficit to $800,000. Faber added that officials expect to discuss impact fees for property development at the Dec. 8th legal, license and ordinance committee meeting.

Trustee Bill Keane (6th) suggested that Faber submit a four-year budget plan to insure that the village can avoid a fiscal crisis next year.

The board is expected to vote on the proposed tax levy, following a 'truth in taxation' public hearing, at the Dec. 14th meeting.

WHOOPS...last week we called circuit judge Dennis Dohm by the name of his late father John Dohm who was a friend of ours for many years during his political career in the Oak Lawn area. Dennis, who was feted at a cocktail reception last night was appointed to the bench by the Illinois Supreme Court last year and now seeks that position in the general election. Supreme Court appointments are only good until the next general election. Dennis has named former Cook County Judge Brian Crowe, as chairman, and Chicago Ridge

Mayor Gene Siegel as vice-chairman of his election committee. The rest of the committee includes Dolores Dohm, treasurer; Paul Dohm, secretary; and Mark Dohm, legal counsel.

James E. Gierach, Oak Lawn attorney, made his pitch this week to the Cook County Democratic Central Committee in his bid for party endorsement for governor. Gierach is running on a drug policy reform platform that emphasizes "take the profit out of the gang drug sales." He advocates making drugs available to admitted addicts at minimal costs.

Gierach, who said he will run without endorsement, joins Cook County Board President Richard Phelan, Illinois Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch and Attorney General Roland Burris in the race for governor.

Democratic Committeemen from eight west and south suburban townships have slated two Associate Circuit Court Judges and a former State and County Prosecutor as judicial candidates for Judge from the 4th Judicial sub-circuit.

The slatemakers endorsed Associate Judge Joseph Casciato, Associate Judge George Morrissey and Michael Ditore. Judge Casciato currently serves as Motion Judge in the Law Division, Judge Morrissey serves as a Criminal Court Judge in Branch 41 in Chicago. Michael Ditore, an attorney from La Grange, served for many years as a criminal prosecutor for both the Cook County States Attorney and the Illinois Attorney General.

Worth Township Democratic Committeeman John McNamara, who lost in his bid for 18th District State Senator, finds his former chief aide John Houlihan will oppose him in the primary March 15. Houlihan comes with a great background and from here it looks like McNamara will have a tough race to keep his position. At a recent regular Democratic meeting 7 of 10 executive officers resigned to support Houlihan.

received $230,321,000 in funds. For this year, they will receive $248,927,000 -- an $18.6 million increase.

Other components of the agreement are: honors negotiated contract between Chicago Board and Chicago Teachers Union; $378 million in borrowing over two years; additional financial oversight by the SFA including management audits and staff and expenditure control for 1993-94; SFA Inspector General to review the spending practices of the Chicago Board of Education; after the current contract expires (8/31/95) building level personnel can waive work rules by a 51 percent vote instead of a 63.5 percent vote; principal in charge effective immediately; authorizes the Local School Councils and principal to approve contracts up to $10,000; provides for supernumerary teachers with unsatisfactory rating to be let go immediately; annual school board budget must be approved by SFA by Aug. 15th rather than Aug. 31st; Chicago Board of Education is authorized to place property tax referendum on the ballot for period January-June 1995; and if CBOE fails to place referendum on ballot, City Council is authorized to initiate it.

Interview Week

Employers will have a low-cost method of interviewing a variety of students from five different graduate schools of business at the Midwest MBA Consortium's 1994 interview week. The recruiting event links companies with pre-selected graduate business students, providing a convenient and economical way of screening soon-to-graduate MBAs from Loyola University Chicago, the University of Illinois at Chicago, DePaul University, Northern Illinois University and Marquette University in Milwaukee. Each university's graduate management program is accredited by the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business.

The consortium's MBA interview week is set for Jan. 24th to 28th, 1994 at the Loop campus of DePaul University.

The cooperative effort by the universities make it simple for employers to talk with a large number of students with varied backgrounds and experience, at a fraction of the cost of conducting a series of interviews at the different universities.

Employers pre-screen students before the interview week and select the most promising candidates to meet at the forum. The week-long format allows for several separate interviews.

Participating students offer a variety of background and career interests in nearly every area of business including accounting, finance, marketing, management, management information systems, operations, manufacturing, banking, consulting, health services, human resources, high tech, transportation and international business.

"The consortium brings the students together in one location, helping employers cut recruiting costs," said Lawson Pride, director of MBA Career Services at Loyola. "The concentration of employers also makes it easier for students to conduct multiple interviews."

Employers interested in participating in the Midwest MBA Consortium's 1994 Interview Week should contact Fay Rosner at the Office of Career Services (M/C 099), University of Illinois at Chicago, 728 W. Roosevelt Road, Chicago, IL 60607-7006, or call (312) 996-2300.

Reading Selections

Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra has announced the fall quarter reading selections for "Read for a Lifetime," a statewide program for high school students now in its third year.

The fall quarter selections are The Great Gilly Hopkins by Katherine Paterson and Hard Times by Charles Dickens. The program encourages students to read at least four recommended selections each year in addition to their classroom reading assignments.

"Studies have indicated that students who read away from school encounter more success in the classroom," said Kustra. "Reading provides young people with educational opportunities that they otherwise might not experience."

There are 258 schools throughout Illinois currently participating in the program. More than 1,149 students successfully met the requirement of reading four or more book selections last year.

School officials interested in participating in the program should contact Barbara Hanner at the office of Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra, State Capitol, Room 214, Springfield, IL 62706.

Quarterly book selections are promoted at public and high school libraries.

"Read for a Lifetime" 1993-94 suggested reading titles are Abraham Lincoln: From Log Cabin to White House by Sterling North, April Morning by Howard Fast, The Assistant by Bernard Malamud, Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman by Ernest J. Gaines, A Canticle for Leibowitz by Walter Miller, Jr., Cheaper by Frank Gilbreath, Jr., Dandelion Wine by Ray Bradbury, The Death of Ivan Ilyich by Leo Tolstoy, The Endless Steppe: A Girl in Exile by Esther Hautzig and The Great Gilly Hopkins by Katherine Paterson.

Other titles are Hard Times by Charles Dickens, Little Women by Louisa May Alcott, Lord of the Flies by William Golding, The Remains of the Day by Kazuo Ishiguro, Rifles for Watie by Harold Keith, Road to Memphis by Mildred Taylor, Something Wicked This Way Comes by Ray Bradbury, A Study in Scarlet by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, Typhoon by Joseph Conrad and The Woman Warrior by Maxine Hong Kingston.

The Women's MBA Association of St. Xavier University recently hosted an expo in the formal reception room of the school. This event, "Minding Her Own Business '93," featured exhibits and displays on services and products. Many of the participating businesses were owned by women, managed by women or focused on services for females, such as the Business and Professional Women's Club. Others provided information of general interest to students, school staff members and the community. Booths concentrated on such fields as health care, accounting, banking, financial, insurance and secretarial services.

The Women's MBA Association is a relatively new organization at St. Xavier University, having been created for female alumni or those currently enrolled in the graduate program. Dr. Faisal Rahman, acting dean of the Graham School of Management, assisted in its establishment. Expo participants included Marquette National Bank, represented by Vice-President Laura Shallow, who also is a part-time instructor, and a member of the Women's MBA Association. President Kirstin Kull, who was instrumental in initiating plans for the group, welcomed special guests who, in addition to sponsoring tables, made presentations on a variety of topics. State Representative Maureen Murphy (R-36) provided a legislative update, and presented information on state programs, with highlights on those designed for women. Along with an associate, Howard Johnson of Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE), spoke about preparing women to go into business. Sally Field-Mullan addressed her remarks to computerizing a small business.

Mary Beth Prosapio, a hypnotherapist, presented "self-esteem - you are a miracle."

introducing the Evergreen HOME Savings Account

A new way to save for a home.

What is the Evergreen HOME Savings Account?
Evergreen Bank is a participant in the Home Ownership Made Easy (HOME) savings program, sponsored by the State of Illinois. If you are a potential home buyer saving for your downpayment, the HOME Savings Account is for you.

How does the program work?

Any prospective home buyer who does not currently own real estate can join the program by depositing $100 in this special Evergreen Bank savings account. The Evergreen HOME Savings Account earns the same interest rate as a regular savings account. After two years, the HOME participant becomes certified and is eligible for a range of benefits.

What are the benefits of the Evergreen HOME Savings Account?

In addition to accruing interest, HOME participants receive exemption from the State Real Estate Transfer Tax, waiver of municipal transfer tax (in those communities which have approved this waiver) and exemption from paying State income tax on the interest earned when all the Evergreen HOME funds are used to make the downpayment on a home. By opening and maintaining your HOME account at Evergreen Bank, you receive even more benefits: the application fee on your Evergreen Bank mortgage will be refunded to you if you keep at least $5,000 in your HOME Account during the last six months that it is open. You will also receive a complimentary Evergreen Mortgage Simply Checking account, with all its benefits, provided you arrange for monthly automatic transfers from your Evergreen checking account to your HOME Savings Account.

For complete information on the Evergreen HOME Savings Account concerning fees and terms applicable, stop in or call your Evergreen Banker at (708) 422-6700.

High Technology Business Impact Study Results

Both good news and bad news came out of the recent meeting of the Citizen's Assembly. The bipartisan legislative research arm of the Illinois General Assembly was looking into the future of the workplace in Illinois and the impact of high technology. State Sen. Judy Baar Topinka (R-22) is co-chair. State Sen. Patrick O'Malley (R-18) serves on the panel.

The good news is that Illinois has a ready workforce in place that is and will be adaptable to change and retraining. So said the Illinois Department of Employment Security. The bad news is that Chicago and Illinois have been slow to move in attracting and retaining the new high-tech industries that flourish in the northeast and on the west coast.

The panel was told of space-age research taking place in Illinois at major universities, plants that virtually grow themselves, bugs that consume and neutralize pollutants, small pumps too small to be seen that can pump blood within the human body and computer-designed pharmaceuticals.

Tom Hughes, Illinois Department of Employment Security, presented a positive assessment of the long-term prospects for high tech. He cited the auto industry, telecommunications and pharmaceuticals as industries long-established in Illinois, adapting to global competition.

Representatives of the university community told of their research prompting Sen. Topinka to describe the meeting as "our version of 'Star Trek'."

"I'm concerned that there is a lot of great research being done here by a lot of brilliant scientists at a lot of separate universities and research centers, but they aren't talking to each other," Topinka said. "My fear is that they are operating in a vacuum and I believe some simple communication could speed their efforts and save us money."

Sen. O'Malley asked Sanford Morganstein, Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA), if Illinois is providing the structure to encourage business expansion. Morganstein replied that businesses frequently see no difference between one governmental agency and another. And, thus, do not trust any of them. He said that plans are underway at DCCA to provide businesses with one central office to deal with in obtaining their many permits.

"It was good to hear that some progress is being made along those lines," O'Malley said. "Business people are telling me every day they are succeeding despite government, not because of it. Some tell me they are rooted here, but if they were to expand, they would not do it in Illinois. We need to take those warnings seriously. I'm thankful that we have some exceptions."

O'Malley cited Motorola, Inc., one of the companies represented at the meeting: "Here is an Illinois-based company competing with the Japanese and other foreign manufacturers and they are enormously successful. But their success is in spite of government!"

"This was a very good meeting," Topinka concluded. "Illinois is not at the top in technology and retooling for the future, but we're not at the bottom and have great potential. We have outstanding research institutions, long-established industries adapting to the 'Brave New World.' If we in government can pull back and be supportive of our industries, we can have a very good future."

Sen. O'Malley also pronounced the meeting a success. Looking into the future of high tech, he added, "Dr. Miller of the University of Illinois advised us best when he said we should foster the development of emerging technologies we cannot see. He said those are the technologies that will become obvious to us in five years. He was talking about the amazing advances that today sound like science fiction. I believe we need to listen to him and other scientists like him. There is no doubt in my mind that is our future."

During the meeting both senators urged their witnesses to furnish the panel with specific recommendations on how the state might create a more business-friendly climate.

"We talked in general terms," O'Malley explained. "If those who testified follow up with specific ideas, Sen. Topinka and I can take those ideas back to our communities and to the Senate as a whole. We want to cut away some of the red tape and other stumbling blocks that hamper the growth and success of business here."

Search For Marines

A concerted search is on for former Marines, who have served with or been attached to, the Second Marine Division, famous for its participation in historically significant engagements such as Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Saipan, Tinian, Okinawa, Cuban Crisis, Dominican Republic, Lebanon, Grenada, Panama, Desert Shield and more recently, Somalia. The Second Marine Division Association is conducting a search for participants in the above, plus those who served with the division or were attached to the division, at any time, or are currently in the Corps.

We again invite you to be one of the 'select few.'

Fawell Supports Troop Withdrawal From Somalia

By Congressman Harris W. Fawell
13th District

I believe it is long past time that we bring our troops home from Somalia. In May of this year, I voted against a Resolution in the House which authorized U.S. troops to remain deployed in Somalia for one year. On Nov. 8th, I opposed a Resolution which would allow our troops to remain in Somalia until March 31st, 1994.

In December of 1992, a force of 25,000 U.S. soldiers were deployed in Somalia as part of a U.S.-led humanitarian relief operation. By the spring of 1993, the operation was generally viewed as having succeeded in its mission to allow for the safe transportation of food. On May 4th, 1993, the U.S.-led mission in Somalia ended and a U.N.-led operation, commanded by a Turkish General, began. For the first time in U.S. history, our combat troops were under the command of a foreign military commander.

With the U.S.-led humanitarian operation successfully accomplished last spring, one has to ask how the mission became twisted into a bloody U.N.-led effort to neutralize a clan leader in the Somalia capital of Mogadishu. The answer lies in the revised United Nations mission.

On June 5th, 1993, forces loyal to the Somalia warlord Mohammed Farah Aidede ambushed a group of Pakistani peacekeeping soldiers. The attack left 23 Pakistani soldiers dead and nearly 60 wounded. The following day the U.N. Security Council adopted a resolution condemning the attack and calling for the "arrest and detention for prosecution, trial and punishment" of the perpetrators. President Clinton was quoted as saying, "Aidede's forces were responsible...we could not let it go unpunished." This resolution resulted in an ill-defined and ill-equipped manhunt for Mr. Aidede.

As we all know, the search for Aidede ended on Oct. 3rd in the tragic loss of American lives and many injuries. On that Sunday, a group of Army Rangers were trapped by Aidede forces after a raid on a suspected Aidede compound. In that raid, 18 American soldiers were killed and nearly 80 were wounded. It appears now that these casualties could have been avoided.

First, once the mission was completed last spring, the U.S. shouldn't have expanded its role beyond its original humanitarian objective. Second, having decided to expand the U.S. mission, certainly the Administration should have provided our troops with the equipment they requested to allow them to fulfill the new objective. I am disturbed that Secretary Aspin turned down repeated requests of his commanders in Somalia, and General Powell, to provide armored vehicles and tanks to protect our troops. These requests were made beginning in early September. The lack of these vehicles caused heavy loss of life because our troops were pinned down for 16 hours.

There is no longer a justification for the enormous costs, both in terms of money ($56 million a month) and human lives, associated with military involvement in Somalia.

U.S. forces should be used sparingly, on a case-by-case basis when vital national interests are threatened. Former Defense Secretaries Cheney and Weinberger required that the following questions be answered before committing U.S. troops: (1) Is there a real threat to international peace and the security of the United States? (2) If U.S. troops are deployed, does the mission have clear objectives and goals? (3) Can an end point be identified? I do not believe the current Administration answered these questions when they expanded our mission in Somalia.

The United States should not take a broad new peacekeeping role that is dangerously open-ended and without definition.

Olympic Day Winners At St. Rita

"St. Rita High School recently sponsored an Academic Olympic Day for local eighth grade boys on Saturday, Oct. 30th," announced John Bourgeois, director of admissions. The event featured Individual academic competition in four subject areas: English, computer science, math and social studies. Participants were able to compete in all four areas by taking a 30-minute exam in each subject area. The new St. Rita computer center was utilized for this event as students took the exam sections at the personal computer terminals. Awards were given to the top three individual scores and the top five overall average scores of all four test areas. All competitors received a T-shirt and lunch was served to all contestants and their parents at the conclusion of the event at which time awards were distributed.

Individual winners were: Carl Gilbertson, Morgan Park School, 1st place in current events, math, spelling and English; 2nd place history and overall champion; Steve Koziol, St. Catherine of Alexandria, 1st place in current events, vocabulary, history; 2nd place in spelling, English; 3rd place in math; 2nd place overall; Chris Jackson, Queen of the Universe, 2nd place in math, spelling; 3rd place in vocabulary, English; Steve Lickus, Queen of Martyrs, 1st place in vocabulary, and 3rd place in current events and overall; Matt Smith, Byrne School, 3rd place in history; 4th place overall; Nicholas Zalabal, Byrne School, 2nd place in vocabulary; 5th overall; Kevin McKittrick, Incarnation, 2nd place in current events, math; Mark Szarek, Byrne School, 2nd place in current events; 3rd place in spelling; Joe Naegle, St. Cajetan, 3rd place in vocabulary; William Buhrfriend, Byrne School, 2nd place in math; 3rd place in English; Brad Witowski, Byrne School, 3rd place in math.

"We enjoy sponsoring academic events because students get to meet the faculty members and they get to challenge their minds in spirited competition," said Bourgeois.

For more information about St. Rita High School, contact the admissions office at (312) 925-6600, ext. 27.

Abuse Support Meeting

The December meeting of Christians United Against Child Sexual Abuse (CUACSA) is scheduled on Tuesday, Dec. 7th from 8 to 9:30 p.m. at Oak Brook Christian Center, 3100 Midwest Road. John 'Jack' Cotner, a therapist from the Summerhill Group, who works primarily with adult survivors of sexual abuse, will speak on the topic "Boundaries." Short, optional reaction groups will follow. Afterwards there will be opportunity for conversation with other survivors and the speaker over coffee and refreshments.

From 7:15 to 8 p.m., before the regular meeting, a male support group, as well as significant others in support (S.O.S.), a support group for spouses or significant others of survivors, will meet.

CUACSA is a support and education group for survivors of child sexual abuse, their friends and others interested in learning how to support survivors through their recovery process. It meets monthly on the first Tuesday of the month, September through June. Names are not required and anonymity is a keynote in order to provide an atmosphere of caring which will aid in the healing of the wounds of child sexual abuse. There are no fees, although donations are accepted. For more information, call Phyl at (708) 257-8755 or Gloria at (708) 484-4158.

"THE PEOPLE HERE DON'T JUST WORK FOR BLUE CROSS. THEY STAND FOR BLUE CROSS."

JOHN F. NUTTING, SENIOR VP, GOVERNMENT PROGRAMS

Whether it's an executive who's been with us twenty years or a service representative answering her first phone call, we all have a great reputation to live up to.

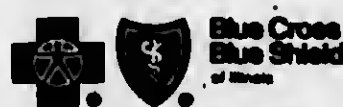

A reputation as the most well informed, responsive and courteous people in the health insurance business today.

I believe that's why we do so well. Because, not only do we know how to attract clients, we also know how to keep them.

We can make promises about affordability, quality and service because we have people here who'll keep them."

WHEN YOU HAVE BLUE CROSS, YOU HAVE IT ALL.

- ☐ More of the most experienced service representatives in the business.
- ☐ Advanced systems and education programs to provide better answers, faster than ever before.
- ☐ A better understanding of physician and hospital networks than any other carrier.
- ☐ The most trusted health insurance plans in Illinois.

WE HAVE IT ALL.

Winter Golf Program To Be Expanded

Cook County Board President Richard Phelan announced that the Forest Preserve District of Cook County is expanding its upcoming winter golf program by opening up two more golf courses. Phelan also announced that the 10 county golf courses are honoring the daily twilight discount rate at 2 p.m., instead of 4 p.m., for the remainder of the 1993 season.

"These program changes are consistent with the forest preserve district's commitment to providing new and creative ways to meet the recreational needs of county residents," Phelan said.

Last winter the district played host to 2,300 rounds of golf in Chicago, at the 18-hole Indian Boundary Golf Course and the Burnham Woods Golf Course. The district also operated the Harry H. Semrow Driving Range during the winter season. This winter the 9-hole Billy Caldwell Golf Course, Chicago, and the Meadowlark Golf Course, Hinsdale, will be open in addition to the facilities that were open last year.

The winter golf season and program begins, weather permitting, around the beginning of December. These four courses will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily when there is no snow cover. The fees to golf the 18-hole courses are $5 for players with a resident identification card and $7 for non-residents or players without a resident identification card. Golfers can play the 9-hole courses for a fee of $3 with a resident identification card and $5 without one. The Semrow Driving Range will have the same hours as the golf courses and the fee will be $3.50 for a bucket of golf balls.

County residents can obtain resident identification cards from the district for $10, valid now until the end of the winter golf season. Golfers should contact the forest preserve district at (708) 771-1067 for information concerning the start of the winter golf season and obtaining a resident identification card.

Hickory Willow Swim Association (HWSA) finished first at the eighth annual Munster Pepsi New Generation Swim Your Own Age Invitational sanctioned by United States Swimming on Nov. 13th and 14th. The meet was attended by over 15 teams from the South Suburban, Chicago and Northwest Indiana areas. Mike Stefanski (15-18 year old boys) and Philip Patian (9-10 year old boys) won high point trophies, given to the swimmer who scores the most points in his/her age group. Mike and Philip are pictured with Coach Mark Hoffer.

In addition to this first place finish, this season HWSA has won dual meets against Downers Grove, Mannheim, Riverside-Brookfield, and a tri-meet against Shepard and Richards. Coach Mark Hoffer is proud of his team's performance, crediting it to the large number of returning swimmers, as well as a good turnout of new swimmers, increasing the size of the team to its largest in years.

Ron Babcock, a 20-year resident of Midlothian, went on a hunting trip to Arb Flats, Arkansas for a holiday outing. He bagged this 185-pound field-dressed, seven point buck. This was the largest buck taken by the Illinois members of the hunting party.

Tourney Results

At the St. Rita Tournament, Brother Rice upended the host team 62-49 after trailing at the half by six points. The Crusaders were led by Tournament MVP Jim Sexton who scored 21. Charles Smith led the Mustangs with 13. The Crusaders were 4-0 after the victory. Rita dropped to 3-1. St. Ignatius earned third place with a 63-40 win over Nazareth and Shepard downed Curie by a 67-53 margin to take fourth place.

At Mount Carmel, the host Caravan which led by 21 points midway through the third period hung on for the victory, downing Morgan Park 70-65. Morgan Park cut the Caravan lead to three points with 13 seconds remaining but two free throws iced the game for Carmel.

Marist remained undefeated as they coasted to a 59-44 victory over Bloom Trail to keep the title in Mount Greenwood. Bremen won third place with a 47-40 edge over Crete-Monee.

In the Oak Lawn holiday event Montini downed the hosts 57-38 for the title and Reavis took care of Luther South 59-40 in the contest for third place.

The Evergreen Park Mustangs outpaced Wheaton Christian, winning their third against no losses and taking first place in their holiday tourney. Bill Roman scored 16 for the victors and Jim Czerwinski added 11. Both were all-tournament choices.

Deer-Vehicle Warning

Drivers throughout Cook County are asked to be extra cautious during the next three months as the potential for deer and automobile collisions increases, according to the Office of Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan. Deer mating season runs from October through December and motorists are warned to take extra precautions when traveling through wooded areas during these times, Sheahan said.

To report a deer/vehicle accident, contact the sheriff's police at (708) 458-1000.

SXU Men's Soccer

The St. Xavier University's men's soccer team season came to an end after making it to the second round of the playoffs. After having a 6-11-1 overall record last season, the Cougars improved to 8-8 overall this season and the record was just good enough to get a bid in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics playoffs. In the first round, the Cougars defeated Rosary College by a score of 4-1 while in the second round, they fell to Judson College by a score of 6-1.

Although the Cougars fell short in the playoffs, they did not fall short on the number of players elected to the All District 20 team with three players named: freshman mid fielder Gytis Kavaliauskas of Kaunas, Lithuania; freshman forward Virgis Zuromskas of Kaunas, Lithuania; and senior mid fielder Henry Barsh of Chicago. Zuromskas was also named 'Rookie of the Year' for NAIA District 20.

Cougar Head Soccer Coach Tim Donohue said, "I am very excited for the whole team, but am very proud of the guys that made the all district team. I look forward to an even better season next year."

In addition, Donohue was named 'Soccer Coach of the Year' for District 20.

Record Set

The 8th grade girls basketball team set a new single game scoring record (61 points). That broke the old record of 59 points set in 1981. They did it by defeating Arbor Park 61-6.

The Rams showed great team work in accomplishing the record. The second and third string players scored the points that broke the old record.

This win brings their record to 9-0 in the South Suburban Junior High School Conference.

LOCAL STATE LAWMAKERS SERVE ON SPORTSMEN'S CAUCUS - One year ago, about 100 state lawmakers formed a special caucus to promote hunting, fishing and conservation issues.

A year later, the caucus is full of enthusiasm about its first year in existence and about the year ahead.

The ILLINOIS LEGISLATIVE SPORTSMEN'S CAUCUS was the brainchild of REP. JOEL BRUNSVOLD (D-MILAN) and SEN. HARRY "BABE" WOODYARD (R-CHRISMAN), who moved the idea from the drawing board to reality.

The caucus, which quickly caught on, now boasts a membership of nearly 100 Illinois state lawmakers.

Sen. Woodyard attributes the early caucus success to the issues involved in the caucus. "I think the majority of Illinois citizens enjoy the outdoors, and want to see conservation activities expanded, and we are here to speak on their behalf," Sen. Woodyard said.

"The sportsmen and women in Illinois have needed a voice in the Illinois General Assembly for a long time," Woodyard said. "As time goes on, I think we'll see a significant change for the better in how the General Assembly approaches conservation issues."

Local members of the State Legislature serving on the caucus include ANNE ZICKUS, Palos Hills; PATRICK O'MALLEY, Palos Park; BILL MAHER, Orland Park and HAROLD MURPHY, Markham.

ILLEGAL WEAPONS - As of Nov. 18, residents of Cook County who own military type assault rifles and semi-automatic assault pistols have several options available - move the weapons out of the country; modify the guns to conform, or turn the guns into a local police department.

The ruling is ambiguous and clarification should be forthcoming. Owners have until today, Dec. 2, to comply with the ordinance. Non-compliance could include a fine of up to $1,000 and six months in jail.

ANOTHER FINE TRADITION GOES THE WAY OF THE DINOSAURS - First published in 1907, a major Chicago newspaper, each October, printed a full page cartoon titled "INJUN SUMMER." The original cartoon by JOHN T. MCCUTCHEON depicted a young boy and his grandfather burning leaves with shocks of corn in the background. A lower panel transforms the shocks of corn into tepees and the wisps of smoke into Indians (now called Native Americans) doing a tribal dance.

As long as I can remember, the appearance of the cartoons in the newspaper officially announced that autumn in all its glory had arrived. These graphics were discussed with my children and grandchildren, pointing out the way stalks of corn were tied into shocks for drying prior to modern picker-sheller farm equipment. The rich heritage and traditions of Native Americans were discussed. The BAD NEWS is "INJUN SUMMER" did not appear in the publication this year. Rumor has it that a segment of our society was offended by it. The GOOD NEWS is I saved the Oct. 25, 1992 copy that I will frame and hopefully pass on to future generations as a reminder of how things were in the good old days.

THE WILD LIFE LEGISLATIVE FUND REPORTS - "While PEOPLE FOR THE ETHICAL TREATMENT OF ANIMALS may portray itself as a law abiding organization, it's urging supporters to paint a different picture. The fall issue of PETA News, PETA's official magazine, includes a special section on anti-fur activism complete with a pull-out template reading, "Stop wearing fur." The instructions include the reminder: "Be sure to use a non-latex, quick drying paint..." The same issue also highlights the activities of the "paint panthers," radicals who paint furriers and their customers."

BUY A DUCK STAMP - Revenue from the Federal Duck Stamp Program reaches nearly $14 million annually.

Hall Of Fame Inductee

Bro. Hank Hammer, FMS, principal at Marist High School, announces that Daniel J. Garvey of West Beverly, physical education instructor and alumni moderator, has been inducted into the Sports Hall of Fame at De La Salle High School.

Garvey graduated from De La Salle in 1951. While a student he lettered four years in basketball. His senior year Garvey was captain of the basketball team which finished third in the South Section Tournament. He was also selected to the South Side All-Star Team. After graduation, Garvey studied physical education at St. Ambrose University. During this time, he joined the military and served in Korea from 1954 to 1956. After the military, Garvey graduated from St. Ambrose and joined the De La Salle staff as a physical education instructor, history teacher and frosh/soph basketball coach.

In 1965 Garvey left De La Salle to become the first varsity basketball coach at the new boys Catholic high school on the south side, Marist. He has been a dedicated instructor, coach and alumni moderator at Marist for the past 28 years.

Area Swimmer Called 'Dedicated'

Christine Code of Midlothian, a Bremen High School junior, was the only area swimmer to qualify for the second day's competition at the Illinois High School State Swimming Championships Nov. 19th and 20th. She swam the 100 yd. breaststroke in a personal best time of 1:08.82. This put her in 12th place out of 40 swimmers who qualified for that event. "Swimming is dominated by the north side, so it was nice to have a swimmer from the south side be there on Saturday too," her coach Terry Stephens said.

Chris has had numerous setbacks since she started high school. During her freshman year she was in an auto accident right before conference and missed her chance to qualify for state. Last year the start of her high school swimming was delayed due to a shoulder injury that required two months of physical therapy. She did manage to qualify for state but did not make the top 12. Next year she hopes to move into the top six.

"Chris is a dedicated swimmer who sets high goals for herself in the pool and in the classroom," Stephens said. "She would like to attend Notre Dame and swim for the Irish. She has been preparing herself both academically and athletically since she was eight years old and attended her first swim meet there. With her determination I'm sure she will achieve her goals."

Camp Sagawau For Cross-Country Skiing

Camp Sagawau, 12545 W. 111th St., Lemont, will 'officially' be open daily for cross-country skiing from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. from Dec. 11th to March 6th, snow conditions permitting. This season Camp Sagawau will feature group lessons conducted by PSIA instructors for beginners, advanced beginners, and intermediates. The program is highlighted with a ski instructors clinic, kids ski too and ski-la-thon. A guided nature ski tour is also featured with a forest preserve naturalist on Sunday afternoons. Ski equipment rental is also available daily from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. for a small fee and security deposit.

"This exciting program of events and seven kilometers of groomed and tracked trails at Camp Sagawau is a reminder to county residents that they do not have far to go to enjoy the benefits of cross-country skiing," said Cook County Board President Richard Phelan.

Camp Sagawau is on the north side of Route 83, 100 yards east of Archer Ave. For additional information contact the Department of Conservation at (708) 771-1335.

Special accommodations can be arranged.

Named Scholar Athletes

Three St. Xavier University women athletes were recently named scholar athletes by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) District 20. Amy McBride, Lori Rohan and Jackie Russell have been selected. McBride is a junior volleyball player for St. Xavier and a graduate of Thornton Fractional North High School. "Amy is the leader of our team, she leads by example on the floor and in the classroom," said Head Volleyball Coach Bob Heersema. Rohan is a senior softball player for the Cougars and a graduate of Andrew High School. Jackie Russell is also a senior softball player and a graduate of Shepard High School. "Lori and Jackie are great examples of our younger athletes, they have both demonstrated excellence on the field and in academics," said Cougar Head Softball Coach Lynn O'Linski.

Oak Lawn Reviews

by Ann Bennett
422-0486

I am beginning to believe the one weather forecaster on radio that predicted a long cold winter. What we have had since Thanksgiving is long and cold enough for me!!

The Oak Lawn Rotary Club is sponsoring a 'Grand Music Weekend' to open the new Fine and Performing Arts Center Dorothy Menker Theater Feb. 12th and 13th. The center is at 111th St. and 88th Ave., on the Moraine Valley Community College campus, both of which the Rotary was instrumental in establishing and supporting. On Saturday, Feb. 12th at 8 p.m., jazz violinist Johnny Frigo with Joe Vito on the piano will present a lively program which will include pop and country music from the fiddler from the Old Town School of Music. Also appearing will be Jason Nyberg, organist, composer of the theme for the Miss America Pageant. On the 13th the matinee at 2 p.m. and the evening performances at 6:30 p.m. will feature premier organist Frank Pellico with his band showcasing all types of music. Mona Marie Knock, at age 17, a veteran of the concert stage and international violin competitions and the Chicago Children's Choir, will round out the festive program. Tickets to each performance are $15 and are available through the Rotary committee: Brian Andersen 887-4600; Terry Bartolini 425-7474; Linda Kirby 499-7625; Sander Marcus 1-(312)-641-4050; Paul Matijevic 1-(312)-332-8355; and Ben Ortigara 423-7910. Proceeds from the three concerts will support Rotary Club projects in the community, including the international student exchange program, scholarships, Park Lawn, Garden and St. Coletta schools, and the Moraine Valley Community College Foundation.

Oak Lawn Community High School will sponsor a Holiday Christmas Music Festival on Sunday, Dec. 12th at 2 p.m. Admission is free and the choirs, bands and orchestra will be featured. Refreshments will be served.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Oak Lawn Athletic Club, at their November meeting brought food for a needy family to have a Thanksgiving dinner and enjoy the holiday season. The ladies are now making preparations, for their December meeting, to supply this family with clothing, games and essentials. In the past the club has provided baskets for Oak Forest Hospital patients. The club's goal is to help others. Sis Freislinger is president.

The '1994 Entertainment Book' ($35) and the 'Gold "C" Saving Spree' ($10) are being offered by the Sunshine Circle of the Southwest Chicago Christian School. They make nice gifts for those who enjoy eating out since most of the eateries are offering meals on a two-for-one basis and there are many other bargains. The books may be obtained by calling Vi at 422-6064 or Wilma at 429-3201. Make checks payable to the Sunshine Circle.

The Country Thrift Shoppe, sponsored by the Auxiliary of Christ Hospital & Medical Center, 1800 W. 95th St., is still looking for volunteers for Wednesdays and Fridays at the store. Call 1-(312)-238-6985. The shoppe is open from Tuesday through Saturday from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

A "Candlelight Christmas Dinner" is being sponsored by the Trinity Lutheran League on Saturday, Dec. 11th. There will be two seatings at 6 p.m. or 8 p.m. and there will be special musical entertainment. The donation for tickets is $9 for adults and $4.50 for children under 12 years. Call 422-0193 for information and reservations.

Sorry to report that Dorothy L. Fox, a lifelong resident of Oak Lawn, died Nov. 25th, following a long illness. The services were held Monday at Trinity Lutheran Church and burial was in Evergreen Cemetery. Mrs. Fox was 67, and she and her husband, Paul had been married for 46 years. In addition to her husband she leaves three children: Jerry Fox, Karen Gandurski, and Colleen Fox and six grandchildren. She was a member of the Johnson-Phelps VFW Ladies Auxiliary; Trinity Lutheran Church and had served as a crossing guard for the OL Police Department for 14 years. She will be missed.

Loretta Edwards of Phoenix, Arizona arrived here on the 23rd to visit with friends and family. She is currently staying with Nick "Bill" and Pat Hewitt.

A bazaar and craft sale is being sponsored at the Oak Lawn Nursing Home, 9525 S. Mayfield this Sunday, Dec. 5th from 1 to 4 p.m. There will also be a bake sale of homemade goodies and a 'White Elephant' table. Everyone is invited.

Concert Band Drummer

Daniel Fitzgerald of Oak Lawn is a member of the concert band for 1993-94 at DePauw University. He plays percussion. He is one of 47 members of the concert band, which consists of students from DePauw's School of Music and College of Liberal Arts. The ensemble is directed by Craig Pere, DePauw's director of bands.

A 1992 graduate of Marist High School, Fitzgerald is a sophomore at DePauw. He is the son of Patrick T. and Genevieve Fitzgerald.

State Telecommunications Grant

Gov. Jim Edgar has announced $15 million in state grants to link classrooms throughout Illinois by taking advantage of advances in telecommunications technology.

"I am delighted to deliver on a commitment I made in my 'State of the State' address this year. These grants will fund the development of a long-distance learning network that will put our state on the leading edge of expanding educational opportunities through high technology," the governor said. "As we move to assure that our businesses and our people can meet the challenges of this decade and the next century, the potential of this network is virtually unlimited."

"A very talented and inspiring professor can work his educational magic in classrooms throughout Illinois. Exceptional high school students in Southern Illinois can tap into the expertise of instructors at the Math and Science Academy in Aurora. Businesses and their employees can become more competitive as workers learn new skills while on the job," the governor added. The system is expected to be operational on a regional basis within a year and on a statewide basis within three years.

"I commend the Illinois Community College Board and the Illinois Board of Higher Education for developing this initiative and the Illinois General Assembly for supporting my commitment to fund it," Edgar said. "This visionary venture is becoming a reality because of the outstanding cooperation of public and private institutions of higher learning, the executive and legislative branches of state government and businesses throughout Illinois. It is the kind of cooperation that will assure that our citizens master the remarkable change that is occurring every day instead of becoming its victims."

Harry Crisp, chairman of the Illinois Community College Board, added, "Through this telecommunications network, a new future will be accessible to citizens from every corner of Illinois. This is a momentous step toward achieving our community college system's goal of a seamless education throughout the state, interconnecting quality teaching and training mechanisms with colleges, universities, businesses, industries and classrooms K through 12."

The $15 million in grants comes from bond funds that must be used for capital expenditures. The grants will be used to purchase equipment, including cameras, video monitors and audio systems, as well as to pay for modifications to facilities, such as sound-proofing and adjustable lighting.

The telecommunications network represents the most ambitious effort to utilize educational consortia that were established by the Board of Higher Education throughout Illinois to make more effective and imaginative use of resources.

Operational costs are to be paid by participants in the consortia. In each of the 11 consortia that will receive grants, one of the participating institutions is designated as the fiscal agent. Grant proposals from the consortia were reviewed and will be acted upon by the Board of Higher Education.

The South Metropolitan Regional Higher Education Consortium received $1,930,000 in grant money. The south consortium is comprised of Governors State University (fiscal agent), College of St. Francis, Joliet Junior College, Kankakee Community College, Lewis University, Moraine Valley Community College, Olivet Nazarene University, Prairie State College, St. Xavier University and South Suburban College.

Education Foundation Officers Elected

The new officers for the Oak Lawn-Hometown School District 123 Educational Foundation were elected at the Oct. 13th meeting held at the district science center. They are Mrs. Nancy DeLap, chairman; Thomas Sullivan, vice-chairman; Edward Kapelinski, secretary; and Dr. Floyd Woods, treasurer. The foundation was formed in the fall of 1991 to extend and enhance the quality of education and provide students with additional learning opportunities. Its goals are to promote student learning and development; to encourage excellence among employees; and to encourage school/community partnerships.

The volunteer board of trustees consists of education, business and community leaders who believe that achieving these goals will provide a more enriching educational experience for the children and help prepare them for the 21st century. The goals are being met through funds raised by individual & corporate donations and fundraisers such as golf outings, dinner-dances and through the time, talent and dedication of the trustees.

Major ongoing projects, such as teacher mini-grants, parent awareness programs and enhancing the resources of the science and environmental center, have been funded and promoted by the foundation.

Recently the foundation purchased a $10,000 Star Lab for the science and environmental center, sponsored a 'family night' at Comiskey Park, funded a trip to the Illinois Philharmonic Orchestra for 6th graders and a training program for some Covington staff members in building student self-esteem.

The foundation continues to set goals and raise funds for future programs for students in the district.

Contributions to the foundation can be sent to Oak Lawn-Hometown School District 123 Educational Foundation, 4201 W. 93rd St., Oak Lawn, IL 60453.

Madrigal Singers In Yule Medieval Pageant

The award-winning Evergreen Park Community High School Madrigal Singers is presenting the 11th annual "Feaste of Sound and Savour" in honor of the Christmas season on Saturday, Dec. 11th, at 7:30 p.m. The 'Medieval Great Hall' will be located in the high school cafeteria, 99th St. and Kedzie. This year's multi-course feaste will feature a Medieval pageant, complete with ancient Christmas customs, theater and songs from the Middle Ages.

Members of this select ensemble have earned hundreds of awards, as a group and as individual performers. The Madrigals include seniors Chris Beushausen (soprano); Penny Diepstra (alto);

Shannon Diepstra (soprano); Jeff Muraida (tenor); Patty Velttri (soprano); Cheri Woyner (soprano); juniors Jenny Anderson (alto); Roger Field (bass); Jessica Sluis (soprano); Angelo Vincelao (tenor); sophomores Melinda Evans (alto); Christa Knapp (alto); and freshman Stacy Cunningham (alto). The ensemble also features exchange students, sopranos Federica FestaCaputo (Italy) and Ryoko Hamada (Japan).

Tickets for the festive evening are $16 per person and must be acquired in advance. They can be obtained from the Madrigal Singers, or by calling director Melanie Michalak at (708) 424-7400, extensions 260 or 258.

The EPCHS Madrigal Singers have established a reputation for excellence. They present dozens of programs throughout the community each year, have performed throughout the Midwest, in Canada, and on live radio and television broadcasts. Community support for this unique program has ensured its continued success and development.

No Charge

Senior citizens who are residents of Community High School District 218 may attend any district-sponsored event at no charge. To qualify, seniors need to obtain an admission card from any of District 218's three campus high schools. Along with the card, seniors will receive a calendar of events for the 1993-94 school year.

With the card, seniors will be able to attend athletic events, concerts, plays and other school-sponsored activities at all district schools. Senior citizens may obtain a card from the main offices at Eisenhower High School, 12700 S. Sacramento; Richards High School, 10601 S. Central Ave.; or Shepard High School, 13049 S. Ridgeland.

After a two year absence, the Tri-M Music Honor Society has returned to the Alan B. Shepard music program. Tri-M is an international honor society for junior and senior students that recognizes musical achievement. Candidates from both the ABS band program and the choir program are selected for their scholarship and achievement in music and other academic subjects. They must maintain at least a "B" average in music and a "C" grade point average in other subjects. Candidates also demonstrate cooperation and service in their classes and school community. This year's Tri-M candidates presented their first concert on Nov. 3rd, where they performed solo and ensemble pieces. Induction ceremonies take place on Jan. 4th at 3:15 p.m.

Madji M. Abusbaiha of Chicago Ridge was the grand prize winner of Southwest Federal's "See Hawaii Your Way" grand opening sweepstakes. The grand prize drawing culminated four weeks of festivities, Sept. 1st to Sept. 30th, at Southwest Federal's second Oak Lawn office, 10270 S. Central Ave. "I still can't believe I won," said Abusbaiha, "there were hundreds of entries and I only put in one ticket. Mary and I have been married less than a year, so winning this trip will be our honeymoon!" Garrity Travel will help the Abusbaiha's customize their special seven-night, eight-day trip which they plan to take in December to celebrate their first wedding anniversary.

The sweepstakes was held in honor of the grand opening celebration of Southwest Federal's second Oak Lawn office. Richard E. Webber, president of Southwest Federal, presented the grand prize to Mr. and Mrs. Abusbaiha. Also presenting the tickets were Marie Garrity, owner of Garrity Travel, and Elaine P. Mankus, vice-president of Southwest Federal. The grand opening of the new office coincides with Southwest Federal's 110th anniversary celebration.

Weather And Schools

In the event of poor weather conditions, students in District 218 may check any of seven local radio stations or a television station to see if their school is open. Additionally, parents or students (with parental permission) may call the Emergency Closing Center hotline at 1(900)407-7669. The cost is 95 cents per minute.

After dialing the phone number listed above, the caller should enter the school's area code and phone number. A message will follow concerning the status of that school day. This service only works from touch-tone telephones.

District 218 schools and phone numbers are: Eisenhower High School, (708) 597-6300; Richards High School, (708) 499-2550; Shepard High School, (708) 371-1111; Polaris School for Individual Education, (708) 424-2000; and Aspen High School, (708) 371-1880.

Radio stations participating are WMAQ-AM (670), WBBM-AM (780), WGN-AM (720), WLS-AM (890), WBBM-FM (96.3), WLS-FM (94.7) and WUSN-FM (99.5). WFLD-TV (Channel 32) also will participate.

Library Programs Successful

The Oak Lawn Public Library held a total of 28 programs for adults during eight months of 1993 with a total attendance of 1,573 people. This averages out to 56-plus for each event. Adult programs are not scheduled during the summer months when the children's summer reading program is in progress. Program offerings included eight, one- and two-session travelogues, two musical offerings and a book review sponsored by the Friends of the Library, five sessions on various kinds of financial planning, two career and job seeking seminars, a three-part public relations workshop for non-profit groups, three old timers programs in celebration of the library's 50th anniversary celebration, three workshops for writers and a poetry reading.

In addition, a pilot program was developed for three sign language classes. Each class enrolled 20 students for the six-week course. The overwhelming response to the initial announcement convinced library staff that there is a definite need to continue this venture.

Other programs which will continue in 1994 include the writers group and the Great Books discussion group, both under library sponsorship.

Program planning for the 1994 adult program series is underway and should be in place by the end of November. Under consideration are poetry and short story readings, genealogy workshops, a science fiction fest, a program about World War II, several musical Sunday with Friends, travelogues, career planning and a workshop on scams and other crimes against local citizens.

For additional information or to offer program suggestions, contact Mary Nelson, public relations and development officer at (708) 422-4990.

Electric Costs Deemed High

In calculating 'typical' costs to Commonwealth Edison residential customers, CUB (Citizens Utility Board) makes some assumptions to drive the figure as high as possible, rather than truly reflect average costs. For example, CUB's figure is calculated as if all our customers resided in single family dwellings. This point is important because the monthly customer charge for single family customers is $9.06 compared with $3.80 for customers living in multiple unit dwellings. More than 1,000,000 Edison residential customers fall into the latter category.

CUB's figures further assume that no residential customer uses more than 400 kilowatt-hours per month during the eight-month non-summer period. This is significant because during this period, the charge per kilowatt-hour drops substantially - from 10.819 cents per kwh to 7.093 cents per kwh, after the first 400 kwh. During the four-month summer period, all kwh are billed at the higher rate. Thus CUB constructs a situation in which a customer is billed at the higher rate for all kwh, year-round, when in fact nearly 40 percent of single family residential usage exceeds 400 kwh per month in the non-summer months and falls into the lower block. And remember, it's the single family classification that CUB uses exclusively in its calculations, according to Com Ed.

POLICE CALLS

On Nov. 20th J. J. Peppers, a convenience store at 9304 S. Cicero Ave., was robbed at knifepoint at 2:20 a.m. According to police reports, two men entered the store and brought a bag of candy bars to the counter. One man produced a rusty 6-inch knife and demanded money from the cashier. He climbed over the counter and took the cash from the register and the safe, then climbed back over the counter and both left the store on foot going southbound on Cicero. One was described as a black male between 25 and 30 years old; 6 ft. 2 inches tall, weighing 240 pounds, with a bushy mustache wearing a dark knit cap and a dark leather jacket. His companion was 6 feet tall, 180 pounds and wearing a dark knit cap and tan jacket.

Joseph Crement of Oak Lawn, reported his Panasonic video camera was stolen from his garage storage room. There were no signs of forced entry and he, his wife and employee Robert Castillo have keys to the room. Estimated loss is $1,500.

On the 18th, Roderick Cave, Oak Lawn, reported he parked his unlocked vehicle at 95th St. & Kilbourn and while he was shopping at the White Hen Pantry someone took his OKI Mobile telephone valued at $350.

On the 19th, John McGugan of 91st and Parkside found his front yard pole light was damaged and also discovered his two outside garage lights had been broken with one being removed from the garage. Estimated cost to replace is $160.

At 12:31 a.m., Ryan P. Carmin of Portage, Indiana found someone had scratched the entire length of his truck and it appeared 3 or 4 keys had been used to do the damage while it was parked at 8810 S. Cicero. Estimated cost to repair is $1,000.

On the 20th, a young woman was attacked outside of her home and fended off a knife-wielding man with a blow to his chest, threw an open container of chocolate milk on him and began to scream. Police said the woman was attacked near her apartment house in the 9500 block of Mansfield at 1 a.m. The man grabbed her from behind and placed a knife to her throat and threatened her. "I'm going to cut you in the throat." A neighbor said the man fled south on Mansfield. The victim was treated by paramedics for two small lacerations on her neck. Police Chief Frank Gilbert expressed admiration for the woman's resourcefulness, but said it was impossible to say if it was the correct move since every situation is different.

Allen Davrik of Crete reported someone smashed his passenger side window and stole his realistic 200-channel scanner valued at $400. The next day he called to say he also realized that a tool box containing a 300-piece tool set and a Polaroid instamatic camera had been stolen from the front seat.

On the 21st, Michael C. Roche of Oak Lawn, reported his stereo cassette radio and two eight-inch speakers were missing from his vehicle. Estimated loss is $305.

Leonard J. Weidner of Oak Lawn, reported his company van of Brian Electric was burglarized. The wing window was opened to gain entry. Taken were assorted carpenter and electrical tools valued at $7,655.

At around 10 p.m., four residents on the 9500 block of Marion Ave., reported someone sprayed graffiti on their garage doors. Estimated cost to repaint the doors is $100 each.

On the 23rd, Stephen Sittle of Chicago reported while he was parked at Christ Hospital, 4400 W. 95th St., someone removed his portable cellular phone from the backseat of his car left unattended in the G.I. unit. Estimated loss is $200.

At 6:26 p.m., David Vollmer and Raymond Russell, both of Oak Lawn reported that the name and address plates were taken from their mail boxes. Estimated cost to replace is $12 each.

Cheryl David of Chicago reported while she was parked at 9522 S. Cicero, someone stole all four wheel covers of her Nissan van which will cost $430 to replace.

On the 24th at 4:42 a.m., a police officer met with James Hanicke of J. J. Peppers, 9304 S. Cicero, who reported a black male came into the store and asked about candy. He placed three pieces of candy along with a quarter on the counter. He then took a sandwich from the front cooler and placed in the microwave. The offender then came into the back of the counter and pointed a knife at Janicke. He then told him to open the register and safe and when opened he removed the money. He then leaped over the counter and fled south. Take was approximately $386.

Greeting Cards

You can share a bit of Chicago history with your holiday wishes by sending Christmas cards that feature original artwork of historic Holy Family Church. The landmark Victorian Gothic church, one of five public buildings to survive the Chicago Fire of 1871, is pictured on the front of the card in a wintry nighttime scene drawn by Chicago artist Jack Simmerling. Inside the card, a detail of an 1890 column decoration in the church's interior is highlighted.

The verse inside the card quotes the carol, "O, Holy Night," with the words "O holy night, the stars are brightly shining. It is the night of our dear Savior's birth!"

The historic church was saved from demolition, thanks to nationwide response to a Christmastime 1990 appeal to "say prayers and send money." The effort to save the church was known as "The Miracle on Roosevelt Road."

"So many people from Chicago and all over the country have a stake in Holy Family because they helped us save the church in 1990," said Rev. George Lane, S.J., of the Holy Family Preservation Society.

Proceeds from the sale of the cards, 25 cards for $25, go to support the completion of the $4 million restoration of the massive church on the city's near west side. The cards and envelopes were donated and are printed on recycled paper.

To order cards, send $28 ($3 shipping and handling) to Holy Family Preservation Society, 1019 S. May St., Chicago, IL 60607.

Outlet Mall Shopping Trip

Oak Forest Park District's last trip of the year is to Gurnee Mills Outlet Mall. We will leave Central Park at 9 a.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 14th. If you haven't completed your Christmas shopping, now is the time to get great bargains at Gurnee Mills. The fee for residents is $18, $23 for non-residents. Shopping and lunch will be on your own. The bus will return approximately 6 p.m. Register at Central Park, 15601 S. Central until Friday, Dec. 10th.

For more information, call Central Park at 687-7270.

Ice Spectacular

"Celebration On Ice" is currently playing to packed houses and standing ovations at the beautiful Drury Lane Dinner Theatre. The show will run through Jan. 9th. Executive Producer John R. Lazzara has taken his theatre in the round stage and transformed it into a real ice rink to accommodate the renowned Las Vegas styled presentation.

The ice spectacular features both American and International skating stars performing breath-taking feats on the limited sized rink.

Along with lavish costuming its no wonder there is almost continuous and thunderous applause during the performance.

The performance schedule for "Celebration On Ice" is Wednesdays 2 & 8 p.m.; Thursdays 2 p.m.; Fridays 8:30 p.m.; Saturdays 6 & 9 p.m.; and Sundays 3:30 & 7:30 p.m.

YMCA Christmas Tree Home Delivery

As a general fundraiser, Southwest YMCA is once again offering home-delivered natural American-grown Christmas trees and wreaths of scotch or white pine, as well as tree stands, from the Christmas Tree Farm in Wisconsin. Trees vary in size from 3 1/2 to 4 feet and 6 to 6 1/2 feet tall. Wreaths are available in two sizes: 24" and 36".

Trees and wreaths are home-delivered in perfect condition and are guaranteed for customer satisfaction. Only fragrant, healthy stock with perfect conical shapes are used. Along with the trees, the tree farm ships a free bag to use as a skirt while the tree is up, and as a container to avoid dropped needles as it is carried out and discarded. Wreaths are fuller and thicker than most, are made by hand from fresh boughs of balsam, and are decorated with a big red bow and frosted pine cones.

Tree stands handle any shape tree-bottom. There is no collar on the stand. Four simple clamps hold everything, and it holds over two gallons of water and trees up to eight feet tall.

"It's an intelligent way to buy a Christmas tree," commented Kathleen Clark, executive director of the Southwest YMCA. "I lead a busy life and have appreciated having a tree delivered to my home. Aside from the convenience, it was the most beautiful tree our family has ever had."

For a brochure/price list/order form, or any other information regarding the trees or wreaths, contact the Southwest Y's administrative offices at (708) 385-6700. Orders must be in by Monday, Nov. 15th.

Trinity Children's Chorus

Spend a delightful yuletide evening with the Trinity Community Chorale and the Community Choral Arts Club Children's Chorus at 8 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 11th, at Palos Heights Christian Reformed Church, 7509 127th St. A Christmas festival of lessons and carols will be presented, featuring anthems performed by the chorale including "Lift Up Your Heads, O Ye Gates" by William Mathias and "Let All Mortal Flesh Keep Silence" by Gustav Holst. Familiar carols will be heard in arrangements by David Willcocks, Katherine K. Davis, and Richard Zgodava.

The children's chorus will perform a carol setting by Gregg Smith, and will join the chorale in Carolyn Jennings' "Climb to the Top of the Highest Mountain" and other carols. The children's chorus is directed by David Baar, and the chorale is directed by Helen VanWyck. Beverly Decker will accompany both groups and serve as congregational organist. Admission is free. Contact (708) 597-3000 ext. 316 for more information.

Winter Concert

On Sunday, Dec. 12th, Reavis High School is holding its annual winter concert, which is free of charge, and a very special open house. The concert to be held at 2 p.m. in the Reavis Auditorium 77th and Austin Ave., will feature the Varsity Singers, Concert Choir, Ramblin' Rams, the Concert and Symphonic Bands and the Jazz Ensemble. Attending the concert is a great way to start your holidays.

Following the concert everyone is invited to tour Reavis' newly renovated technology center and home economics facilities. During the tour, which will be held from about 3:30 to 5 p.m., teachers will be on hand to answer questions and explain how the technology and the home economics facilities are meeting students' changing curricular needs. Students will also be available to answer questions and demonstrate how they are using the new equipment in these classrooms. Teacher Ken Barnard is pictured in an Auto I class.

For more information, call the department of school-community relations at 599-7200, ext. 298.

FREEZE!...A rash of automated teller machine (ATM) robberies in the Los Angeles area has prompted the Los Angeles City Council to pass legislation where ATMs will be installed at police stations. The idea is to provide banking customers with a secure site to complete after-hours transactions. Los Angeles Police Chief Willie Williams supports the program but recognizes that it is only a Band-Aid solution to the city's overall crime problem. Los Angeles council members concede installing ATMs in police stations isn't the complete answer to ATM robberies because it is not expected everyone will want to do their banking at a police station. The idea was hatched by Van Nuys Judge Michael S. Luros, who made the suggestion in letters to council members and police officials after a rash of stabbings and shootings at automated teller machines resulted in 499 ATM crimes in the past year.

WILL SMITH (inset) pretends to be actor Sidney Poller's son in the timely and evocative look at the vast differences—and surprising similarities—between society's 'haves' and 'have nots' in John Guare's award-winning play, "Six Degrees of Separation," being brought to the silver screen by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The movie, which stars Stockard Channing and Donald Sutherland as a well-to-do Fifth Avenue couple, is slated to open an exclusive engagement on Dec. 22 at the Loews Fine Arts Theatre in Chicago....Multi-millionaire Donald Trump is up in the air over jets that blast out of Palm Beach International Airport and fly directly over his 110-room mansion that he purchased for $7 million in 1985. Trump wants Palm Beach county officials to re-route the jets away from his home because he claims the noise bothers him....Perhaps Trump thought about the noise problem after hearing that a judge in Hermosa Beach, California has banned filming the popular television show "90210" at a beachfront home in the community because it violated laws prohibiting business activity in residential neighborhoods. The decision could complicate a story line in the hit Fox-TV series when three characters in the show rent a beach home during their freshman year at college.

AL PACINO (inset) takes on one of the richest roles of his career, an underworld legend trying to escape his past, in the riveting action drama "Carlito's Way," currently playing at movie theatres all over the Chicago area. Sean Penn, Penelope Ann Miller and newcomer John Leguizama also appear in the flick...."Geronimo: An American Legend," starring Jason Patric, Gene Hackman, Robert Duvall and Wes Studi as Geronimo, will open at movie theatres throughout the area on Dec. 10. On Sept. 5, 1886, Geronimo surrendered for the final time at The Canyon of the Skeletons in Arizona. Accompanying Geronimo at the time of his surrender were 34 men, women and children. The Army has deployed 5,000 regular troops, one-fourth of its entire force, to bring in Geronimo...."A Dangerous Woman," starring Debra Winger, Barbara Hershey and Gabriel Byrne is currently scheduled to open in selected theatres tomorrow.

WE'RE BACK! A DINOSAURS STORY (inset) has opened just in time for the holidays at movie theatres throughout the Chicagoland area. Based on the beloved children's book by Hudson Talbott, the movie follows the adventures of a group of amiable dinosaurs who respond to a magical summons, undertaking an extraordinary journey through time to modern-day New York City....The Court Theatre at the University of Chicago has extended, through Dec. 12, the critically-acclaimed productions of Pierre Marivaux's "The Triumph of Love" and Caryl Churchill's "Cloud Nine" which have been running in rotating repertory....WBBM Newsradio 78 has launched its silver anniversary of the WBBM Wreath of Hope campaign to help the needy of the metropolitan Chicago area and Northwest Indiana. The easiest way to donate to the WBBM Wreath of Hope is to call 1-(900)-288-WBBM and $10 will be added to your phone bill....Not to be outdone by the pizza home delivery folks, McDonald's, Kentucky Fried Chicken and Subway franchises in the Los Angeles area are testing a pilot program of home delivery. Most of the other fast-food chains are watching closely at the franchisee experiment with the home delivery idea. If it clicks, the fast-food home delivery idea will soon be test-marketed in the Chicago area in a select number of suburbs.

Free Chorale Yule Concert

Voices of the Valley, the Moraine Valley Community College choral group, will perform two free Christmas concerts to celebrate the traditional music of the holiday season.

One concert will be Wednesday, Dec. 8 at 8 p.m., at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, 94th and Oakley in Chicago. The second concert will be Sunday, Dec. 12 at 2 p.m. at Orland Park Library, 14760 Park Lane.

The choral group will perform selections from "Joy to the World" and "The Trumpet Shall Sound" from Handel's "Messiah." They will also do Bruckner's arrangement of "Ave Maria" and "Glory to God in the Highest" by Pergolesi.

Voices of the Valley has 55 members and is sponsored by Moraine Valley. Alice McGuire has been the director for 10 years.

For more information about Voices of the Valley or the Christmas concerts, contact the Center for Community and Continuing Education at (708) 974-5745.

'Giants Of Earth' At Field Museum

Field Museum celebrates the holidays with a week-long festival showcasing giants of the earth from Monday, Dec. 27th through Friday, Dec. 31st, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day. Visitors will explore the concepts of size and scale in the natural world through lots of enjoyable hands-on activities, giant-sized specimens, and a 'Big and Bad' film series. All Giants of the Earth activities are free with regular museum admission.

Museum scientists will be on hand to illustrate some of the scientific principles underlying the relationship in biology between form and function. Using specimens from the museum's vast research collections, visitors will discover some of the giant plants and animals of the living world, learn about their ecology and explore some of the advantages and disadvantages of being big. They will find out why both the biggest and most delicate animals live in the ocean, how size and body type affect an animals dexterity, jumping, or flying ability and why a gorilla the size of King Kong could not exist in the real world. Specimens on display will include enormous pine cones, giant fossil dinosaur bones, a giant octopus, mega-shark teeth, a three-foot clam shell, huge seeds, leaves and much more.

In addition, families can listen to stories of giants, paint a giant animal mural, measure a dinosaur's footprint or go on a self-guided 'Giants Journey.' Also not to be missed is the museum's Sizes exhibit, a hands-on family exhibit that explores the world of big and small.

A 'Big and Bad' film series highlights films about giants with each beginning at 1 p.m. with a brief introduction by a Field Museum scientist and a question and answer period following.

For more information, call (312) 922-9410, ext. 203.

Polish Yule

The Southwest Polish Society Christmas celebration will be held on Thursday, Dec. 16th at the Royalty West in Willow Springs beginning with social time at 6:30 p.m.; dinner at 7 p.m. Tickets are $15 a person. Singing of Christmas carols and a visit from St. Nicholas will lend to a festive evening. Call President Frances Drwal for reservations at 385-4364.

The society is dedicated to the preservation of Polish culture. Meetings are held monthly at the Palos Heights Recreation Center. Annual membership is $8, which includes a mailed monthly newsletter.

Entertainment books are now being sold by the society. The $35 book is a great buy.

Call 385-4364.

Santa To Visit

Santa's sleigh and reindeer will visit with the children of Worth Township, 11601 S. Pulaski Rd., to bring a toy to each child who comes to visit with him. If you wish, bring your camera to record Santa's visit with your child on Dec. 8th, 9th, 10th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, 20th and 21st. The time for visits is from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. and 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. For more information, call the Youth Commission at (708) 371-2900.

In just a few days, this Sunday to be exact, the post-season college football bowl bids will be made official. The hand-wringing and "we wuz robbed" pleas have already been played out ad infinitum by the mainstream sports media with just about everyone from sports writers, coaches, players, alumni and subway alumni getting into the act.

Lost in all the hoopla over which teams play for the mythical national championship, the runners-up and the also-rans, is the real purpose of attending an institution of higher learning.

It may come as a surprise to Generation X but the privilege of attending a university or college was once considered a way of obtaining an education.

Yes, an education.

It has been 64 years since Robert M. Hutchins was inaugurated as the fifth president of the University of Chicago.

Before Hutchins welcomed a class of newcomers in Mandel Hall, older students at the University of Chicago had passed out the "student handbook," a rather unpleasant little publication which, after setting forth various rules and practices, had warned freshmen about a list of "traditions and taboos." Such lofty warnings as "only lettermen may sit on the C-Bench in front of Cobb Hall, and high school insignia must not be worn on campus."

Hutchins, who was tall, slim and astonishingly handsome, would greet each new incoming class year-after-year in the same manner with a brief speech.

"Young ladies and gentlemen," Hutchins would say, "The University of Chicago is not a hotel, although you should be suitably housed and fed here. The University of Chicago is not a social club, although you are clearly at liberty to form congenial friendships here. The University of Chicago is not a gladiatorial arena, although it is reported that there are opportunities, for those so disposed, to engage in or to observe forms of competitive physical endeavor. The University of Chicago is not a Young Men's Christian Association, although I am told it offers various sources of spiritual nourishment for those inclined to invoke them."

"Young ladies and gentlemen," he would go on, "the University of Chicago is a 'community of scholars.' The characteristic activity of such a community is the pursuit of wisdom. It is this activity which characterizes the University of Chicago and which is your reason for being here."

Perhaps as the bowl bids are announced officially this Sunday, and bowls continue to mushroom to the point where just about every major university or college plays in everything from the Rose Bowl to the Toilet Bowl, it would be fun to reflect on a time when a downtrodden team from the University of Chicago, the Chicago Maroons, played the nation's top-ranked team Ohio State.

The year was 1935 and the Chicago Maroons, led by the legendary Jay Berwanger, the first Heisman Trophy winner, lost by the supremely honorable score of 19 to 13 to Ohio State after leading the Buckeyes by two touchdowns at half time.

The glory of the occasion had something to do with the gallantry and ability of a band of men who were without athletic scholarship, without any form of subvention or sinecure, without a single compromise of academic standards, without a chance to major in physical education or industrial arts—who were, in short, members of "a community of scholars."

After all the fuss is over about who deserves to be crowned "number one" in the NCAA football rankings after New Year's Day, it might be well to recall what Thomas Carlyle, British historian and essayist who wrote "The French Revolution," said in 1841 in "The Hero as Man of Letters: "The true university of these days is a collection of books."

Or maybe James Bryant Conant, who was president of Harvard University from 1933 to 1953, put it all in the proper perspective when in 1936 he said: "He who enters a university walks on hallowed ground."

As the Bowl Coalition announces its pairings and who each university or college will play in what bowl, it might be well to remember the simple definition of a "university: "

"An institution of higher learning with teaching and research facilities constituting a graduate school and professional schools that award master's degrees and doctorates and an undergraduate division that awards bachelor's degrees."

Strange as it may seem to many who place more emphasis on what goes on between the sidelines than what goes on in a classroom, nowhere in the definition of a "university" are the words: "We're number one!, we're number one!"; nor is there a detailed description of how to thrust one hand in the air with one finger extended toward the heavens.

No, the "community of scholars" will not be going to any post-season bowl and they couldn't care less.

Holiday At The Farm

The Children's Farm is celebrating Christmas in a new way this holiday season with visits from St. Nick. The farm is open to the public, without advance reservation, each Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 3 p.m.

Visitors to the Children's Farm pay $3 per person to help support the farm. Children need to be accompanied by their parents.

Information can be obtained by calling 361-3650.

Democrats And Republicans Face Primary Fights In March

Both Republicans and Democrats appear to have potentially self-destructive primary battles next spring. These intra-party fights could open wounds which might be aggravated in the general election when charges originally leveled by primary opponents are used by the opposing party.

On Tuesday, Democratic slatemakers heard candidates for state and county offices, then declined to endorse a ticket for the March Primary Election. State Treasurer Patrick Quinn, a maverick Democrat who did not appear before the 44-member slating committee, was busy traversing the state announcing his bid to unseat Republican Secretary of State George Ryan. Three Democrats are seeking the nomination for Secretary of State, in addition to Quinn, Kane County Coroner Mary Lou Kearns and State Senator Denny Jacobs are in the running.

Quinn's decision not to seek a second term as State Treasurer leaves Nancy Drew Sheehan as the only announced candidate for that position. Sheehan is presently a Metropolitan Water Reclamation District (MWRD) Commissioner.

For Comptroller, State Senator Earlean Collins is the only major Democrat to enter that race, to this point. Bill Sarto, an employee of the comptroller's office has filed to run and State Senator Vince Demuzio is said to be circulating petitions for the office.

Four Democrats are anxious to replace Governor Jim Edgar. Cook County Board President Richard Phelan, Attorney General Roland Burris, Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch and Oak Lawn Attorney James Gierach are expected to be candidates for the top executive post in the state: Two expressed interest in running for Lieutenant Governor; State Senator Penny Severns and businesswoman Sheila Smith.

Two Chicago lawyers, Al Hofeld and Marty Oberman, both want to succeed Burris as Attorney General.

According to Illinois Democratic Party Chairman Gary LaPaille, no one can recall when state slatemakers failed to endorse a full slate of candidates for Constitutional office.

In the GOP Primary, Governor Edgar has one announced challenger, Jack Roeser a Carpentersville businessman. Cook County State's Attorney Jack O'Malley has been said to be interested and is taking a poll to determine what his chances would be. In a three-way race, almost anything could happen but O'Malley would need to submit petitions with at least 5,000 signatures by the Monday, Dec. 13th filing deadline.

Two Republicans are interested in seeking the office of President of the Cook County Board, Palatine Mayor Rita Mullins and Chicago attorney Joe Morris. Slatemakers endorsed Mullins in the March 15th Primary Election. Despite the fact that he did not receive the endorsement, Morris said he plans to remain in the race. Mullins supporters argued that a woman would be a more viable candidate against the all-male county ticket on the Democratic side.

Percy V. Coleman, 9th Ward Republican Committeeman and a CHA police sergeant is the candidate for County Sheriff; Edward G. Howlett, son of former Democratic Secretary of State Michael Howlett, is the candidate for County Clerk; Sandra Wilson-Muriel, an accountant is the Assessor candidate, and Jean Reyes Pechette was endorsed for Treasurer.

The balance of the GOP ticket endorsed by the slatemaking committee includes attorneys James C. Dunlop and Johnnie M. Chen for the County Board of Tax Appeals and Joe Figueroa; Arlene Kasper and Alan H. Lynn for Metropolitan Water Reclamation District (MWRD) Commissioners.

John Horn Writes Second Civil War Book

Bremen Township Clerk John Horn's second book, The Petersburg Campaign, has just been published. It will be an alternate selection of the Military Book Club. The Petersburg Campaign is about the siege of Petersburg, Virginia, which lasted from June of 1864 to April of 1865. Noah A. Trudeau, the author of The Last Citadel, says Horn's book brings "a wonderful clarity and order to one of the most complex and untidy campaigns of the Civil War." Edwin C. Bearss, Chief Historian of the U.S. National Park Service, declares that The Petersburg Campaign provides "an excellent overview" of the siege. Bearss called Horn's first book, The Destruction of the Weldon Railroad, which is about the August, 1864 battles around Petersburg, "a superior piece of Civil War scholarship." Horn has had magazine articles published in "Civil War Times Illustrated" and "America's Civil War." He is currently engaged in launching a drive to mark and possibly preserve a Virginia battlefield where a soldier from Bremen Township won a Medal of Honor and an officer's commission in August of 1864.

Art Institute Publishes New Yule Book

The Art Institute of Chicago has published a new Christmas book, Glad Tidings of Great Joy! Christmas at The Art Institute of Chicago, illustrating the story of the Nativity with Renaissance and Baroque paintings from its permanent collection. The book coincides with an exhibition of the same title showing at the Art Institute until Jan. 16th. The text for the book is taken from the King James Version of The Bible, principally from the Gospels of Luke and Matthew. The familiarity of these extracts, which appeal to both young and old, makes this an ideal book to read aloud. The story begins with the account of the Annunciation to Zacharias of the birth of St. John the Baptist, and ends with the arrival of the Holy Family in Nazareth. Each event within the narrative is illustrated by one or more works by renowned artists.

A magnificent frontispiece of the "Virgin and Child with Angel" (c.1475/85) by Sandro Botticelli opens the volume, which concludes with Colyn de Coter's detailed "Virgin and Child Crowned by Angels" (c.1490/1510). Also featured are such masterpieces as Jean Hey's intimate oil painting of the Annunciation to the Virgin Mary (C.1500), Raffaello Botticini's spectacular depiction of the "Adoration of the Magi" (c.1495), and the Nativity stable scene (c.1510) by the Master of the Historia, a work influenced by Austrian folk art. Two colored illuminations from an anonymous French Book of Hours (c.1470) are also included.

The hardcover book is 40 pages long and features color plates of 15 paintings and illuminations, five of which are accompanied by enlargements of details from the works. Seven German Renaissance woodblock prints have also been reproduced in black and white to complement the paintings. Copies of Glad Tidings of Great Joy may be purchased from any of the four outlets of the museum shop for $19.95.

For more information, call (312) 443-3536.

Brother Rice High School Principal Brother Michael Segvich greets one of the 446 seventh and eighth grade students who visited the school with their parents during the Nov. 7th open house. Parents and students filled out a survey rating various sections of the tour on a 1-10 scale. The parents gave an overall average score of 9.3 and the students 9.1. Comments ranged from parents—"Very impressed!", "Tour was extremely organized," to students, "Awesome!", "I'm definitely coming here!"

Because of the numerous phone calls from parents whose sons were unable to attend for various reasons, the school has arranged to hold a second open house on Tuesday, Dec. 7th from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Small group tours will be given by faculty members and students so that all questions can be answered. Visitors will observe science and computer labs in session, view various student exhibits and listen to various presentations about the Brother Rice community. Visitors will also have an opportunity to see the many facilities recently added including this year's renovations on the main gymnasium. Faculty moderators and coaches will be on hand to answer all questions regarding student activities at all levels. Additional information regarding the open house or admission to Brother Rice may be obtained by calling Jim Casey at (312) 779-3410 any school day between 8 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Education Forum On Parkinson's

The Chicago-area chapter of the American Parkinson's Disease Association (APDA) recently hosted an educational forum for more than 100 patients entitled "Parkinson's Disease: Gaining Symptomatic Control -- Who is Responsible?" at the Chicago Marriott Oak Brook Hotel.

"Our members are eager for more knowledge on how best to manage their disease," said Maxine Dust, president, Chicago-area chapter APDA. "In some cases, caregivers and patients themselves can be their own best-informed advocates when speaking with their doctors."

Parkinson's disease, a chronic, degenerative, neurological disorder, affects more than 500,000 Americans. Although there is no cure, and the cause is yet unknown, medications are currently available that offer a degree of control over symptoms, including shaking, muscle rigidity and fatigue.

"Although advances are published regularly in medical journals, information only reaches patients by way of their primary care physician or consumer publications," said Michael Rezak, MD, director of neurology, Glenbrook Hospital. "That can take a long time. This forum allows us to update patients and caregivers in a direct and timely way."

Dr. Rezak and his colleague, Kim Leung-Stone, MD, Glenview Medical Center, gave the audience tips on how to control symptoms that prevent patients from staying active professionally and socially, empower caregivers to improve the quality of life for patients and themselves, and consider the role of new surgical techniques.

Parkinson's patients often experience unpredictable fluctuations between mobility and immobility known as "on-off" effect. They can occur rapidly and present major obstacles, limiting the patient's "on-time" periods when symptoms are controlled. Delaying or controlling symptoms is the major focus of today's medical care.

After many years during which there were almost no advances in Parkinson's therapy, the past three years have been marked by innovative new medications and theories. For example, the foundation of therapy, levodopa, is now available in a sustained-release formulation.

"We are sometimes frustrated by the limited knowledge we have," said Dr. Rezak, "but if patients who find their symptoms worsening tell their doctor, we can change to other medications and offer support programs. An informed and vocal patient makes a difference. In fact, this kind of patient may be the most effective tool we currently have to battle Parkinson's disease."

For more information about Parkinson's disease and support groups in the Chicago area, call APDA at (312) 664-3880.

OPEN YOUR DOOR TO THE WORLD

Experience a global exchange by inviting students from around the world into your home. The American Language Academy at Saint Xavier University is looking for families in Beverly Hills, Morgan Park, Evergreen Park, Mount Greenwood, Oak Lawn and surrounding communities who would enjoy hosting an international student (age 17 and up) for ten weeks. Democrats Back Judicial Slate

Democratic Committeemen from eight west and south suburban townships have slated two Associate Circuit Court Judges and a former State and County Prosecutor as judicial candidates for Judge from the 4th Judicial sub-circuit.

Committeemen from Lyons, Leyden, Palos, Proviso, Riverside, River Forest, Worth and Stickney townships held a slatemaking session on Monday evening and listened to presentations from 11 candidates for Circuit Court judge.

The slatemakers endorsed Associate Judge Joseph Casciato, Associate Judge George Morrissey and Michael Ditore. Judge Casciato currently serves as Motion Judge in the Law Division, Judge Morrissey serves as a Criminal Court Judge in Branch 41 in Chicago. Michael Ditore, an attorney from La Grange, served for many years as a criminal prosecutor for both the Cook County States Attorney and the Illinois Attorney General.

"Discussion of the candidates took a long while," Soldat said. "The selections were not unanimous. It is a difficult process to pick three from eleven fine applicants. Judicial and prosecutorial experience were the strongest factors in our deliberations. It was not an easy task."

The Fourth Judicial Sub-Circuit is comprised of west and south suburban communities. Voters will cast their ballots for the candidates at the March Primary election and the General election in November of 1994.

Annual Essay Contest

Seniors from all Illinois high schools will have the opportunity to present their opinions on "What don't we teach new drivers that they really need to know?" when they enter the 28th annual Illinois Editors' Traffic Safety Seminar Essay Contest. Scholarships totaling $7,000 will be awarded to the 10 young men and women whose essays best respond to the topic. First and second prizes will be $2,000 and $1,000 scholarship checks. Each of the eight remaining winners will receive $500. Since the contest's beginning, more than 25,000 students have won over $141,000 in scholarship money provided by the AAA-Chicago Motor Club.

Robert Leininger, state superintendent of education, has urged educators to support the contest and encourage high school seniors to participate.

Seminar directors make preliminary selections from among several hundred entries. These are sent to a panel of health and safety educators from the University of Illinois, which chooses the winners, five young men and five young women. Writing skills and original thinking are important criteria considered by the judges. They also look for fresh, feasible, constructive and well-supported ideas, along with spelling, thought organization, punctuation and grammar.

"The challenge for students entering this year's essay contest will be to think about their own driver instruction and experiences, as well as those of their peers, to determine if there are significant areas where additional or different type training is needed," said Lon Kramer, seminar secretary and executive vice-president of AAA-CMC. "Their recommendations could lead to changes in traditional new driver education training."

An official entry form must accompany each essay which should contain 500 words or less and be postmarked no later than Dec. 31st.

Contest rules and entry forms are available at most Illinois high schools; AAA-CMC branch offices; or from seminar headquarters, AAA-Chicago Motor Club, P.O. Box 5027, Des Plaines, IL 60017-5027.

Prestigious Honor

Suzanne Hammersberg, dean of health and human services at Moraine Valley Community College and a resident of Orland Park, recently received the "Technologist of the Year" award from the American Society of Clinical Pathologists (ASCP), the leading organization in laboratory medicine.

"Receiving this award is really exciting," Hammersberg said. "It is quite an honor to be selected from the 45,000 non-physician members of this organization."

An active member of the ASCP associate member section, Hammersberg currently chairs the educators committee and is co-editor of the "Professional Perspectives" column in "Laboratory Medicine." She also serves on the task force on recruitment and retention and image.

Hammersberg also received the ASCP Board of Registry Distinguished Service Award in 1992.

In addition to her activities a Moraine Valley and membership in ASCP, Hammersberg is a member of the American Association of University Women, the American Society of Allied Health Professions and the American Medical Association's Ad Hoc Committee on Certification.

The ASCP Technologist of the Year Award, one of the society's most prestigious, honors an associate member who has demonstrated a commitment to the profession through work, attitude and society activities.

Clean Streak Gives Award To Youth Corps

Cook County Board President Richard Phelan announced that the Forest Preserve District of Cook County and its youth opportunity corps received an award from Chicago Clean Streak honoring their commitment to environmental education and beautification projects. At the Chicago Clean Streak luncheon on Oct. 28th, the YOC was presented a "Lester" award. The award honors the YOC as an organization which has demonstrated a commitment during the past year to environmental programs that have enhanced the quality of life and built community pride throughout Chicagoland.

"This award is important because it draws attention to the success and the benefits the YOC provided for everyone in the Chicagoland area," Phelan said. "The YOC was a benefit to youths because it provided desperately needed summer employment and job training opportunities in the forest preserves which they used to develop a greater awareness for the environment around them."

Phelan founded the YOC in 1992 and initially provided 50 economically disadvantaged youths with six weeks of summer employment. This past summer the YOC, with the assistance of a $50,000 grant from the Clinton administration, grew to 100 participants and strengthened the educational component of the program.

Besides collecting a paycheck, the youths also visited nature centers and other forest preserve facilities to learn about nature firsthand. The training alliance and the forest preserve district sponsored seminars on setting personal career goals for corps members.

"This recognition is important because it helps generate necessary support to ensure the continued and future success of the YOC," YOC Director Chuck Bizzell said.

Ask Public Input On Waste Care Permit

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) and the United States Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA) hereby give notice of intent to issue a joint resource conservation and recovery act (RCRA), and hazardous and solid waste amendments (HSWA) post-closure care permit to Gilbert and Bennett Manufacturing Company of Blue Island. The facility's mailing address is 3301 Wireton Road, P.O. Box 56, Blue Island, IL 60456. Gilbert and Bennett will be providing post-closure care including maintenance and groundwater monitoring for a hazardous waste surface impoundment closed (decommissioned) in 1987.

Interested citizens are invited to review copies of the permit application, draft permit decision and related sheets at the Blue Island Public Library, 2433 York St.

Interested citizens may submit written comments on the permit decision documents during the 45-day comment period. Send all comments to the public involvement coordinator listed at the end of this notice by Nov. 8th. In response to public requests or at the discretion of IEPA or USEPA, a public hearing can be held to clarify one or more issues concerning the draft permit decision. A request for a public hearing must be made in writing and must state the nature of the issue to be raised at the hearing. Written requests should be sent to the public involvement coordinator. Public notice will be issued 45 days before any hearing.

All comments submitted will become part of the administrative record and will be evaluated by IEPA and USEPA in making the final permit decisions. The agencies will respond to comments on the draft permit decision, and indicate whether additional documents have been included in the administrative record. Anyone who submits written comments will be notified of the final permit decision and the permit decision appeal process.

The IEPA division of land pollution control is authorized to administer the RCRA program and, as of April 30th, 1990, specific 1984 HSWA provisions (amending RCRA) that address corrective actions, waste minimization, mixed wastes and other regulatory functions. Corrective actions are responses required of facilities that have or have had releases of hazardous constituents. IEPA welcomes information from the public that describes any such releases. USEPA is authorized to address newer provisions of HSWA such as land disposal restrictions and some TCLP modifications. For further clarification of program authority, refer to the March 1st, 1990 Federal Register, Vol. 55, No. 41, pg. 7320.

The permit application, draft permit decision, related information and all data submitted by the applicant, as part of the administrative record, are now available for public inspection Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. at Illinois EPA, Government & Community Affairs, Attn: Mara McGinnis, public involvement coordinator, 2200 Churchill Road, P.O. Box 19276, Springfield, IL 62794-9276, (217) 782-5562.

Please telephone ahead for an appointment to view the documents.

UNICEF Yule Cards

UNICEF holiday greeting cards will be featured at a large number of local retail outlets during the holiday season. At Chicago Place, 700 N. Michigan, an extensive display of UNICEF greeting cards will be highlighted in a special UNICEF boutique. Numerous retail locations throughout the Chicago area will feature UNICEF holiday greeting cards. They include most United Airlines ticket offices, Pier One Imports, Arvey Office Products and many other locations.

In addition, a large number of church groups, clubs and organizations are selling UNICEF holiday greeting cards. Greeting cards are also sold by mail and may be ordered by calling (312) 670-2379.

"The need for international assistance is greater than ever," said Linda Robison, president of the U.S. Committee for UNICEF/Chicago and partner in the law firm of Shelsky & Froehlich. "Proceeds from the sale of UNICEF greeting cards will help save the lives of millions of children who otherwise might die from preventable causes."

This year's collection of UNICEF cards portrays a wide variety of themes, including religious and secular motifs and internationalism. Special features include gold-embossed designs, cut-outs and laser-cut cards with fine details.

Individuals may purchase UNICEF greeting cards at designated retail outlets or may call (312) 670-2379 to order cards by mail. Individuals who wish to make a cash donation are also encouraged to write to the U.S. Committee for UNICEF/Chicago, 540 N. Michigan, Suite 200, Chicago, IL 60611.

Income Credit

Low and moderate income workers who qualify for the federal earned income credit can have part of it included in their paychecks throughout the year, rather than as a refund at the end of the year, the Internal Revenue Service said. Working families making less than $23,050 during 1993 will usually qualify for this tax break. A unique feature of the credit, the IRS said, is that people can get it even if they owe no tax and even if no tax was taken out of their paychecks. For that reason, most eligible families get refunds. Though the exact credit varies according to income and other factors, the average eligible family pockets more than $900 extra each year.

Few workers choose to receive any part of the credit during the year. The IRS urges those eligible to consider the option of getting it in advance. To make this choice, fill out Form W-5, available from your employer or the IRS, and give it to your employer.

In addition, the IRS is looking for community volunteers who can spread the word about the credit and help eligible workers claim it. Beginning in 1994, more workers, including some childless couples and individuals, will qualify. The IRS encourages employers and community groups to set up volunteer outreach and assistance programs.

For more information about setting up a volunteer program or the earned income credit, call the IRS toll-free at 1-(800)-829-1040.

Arkush Elected To ISO Board Of Directors

Illinois Special Olympics (ISO) announced the election of Herbert B. "Hub" Arkush to the ISO Board of Directors. Arkush is editor and publisher of 'Pro Football Weekly' magazine, which chronicles the entire National Football League season on a week-to-week basis. He is also creator of Pro Football Weekly, a radio broadcast paralleling the publication. The TV version made its debut this fall, whereas the radio version premiered in 1987.

Arkush said he had never come into contact with the Special Olympics organization until four years ago when he was asked to be a part of the opening ceremonies for the State Summer Games. From observing those games, Arkush said he wanted to become further involved with ISO because "I've been so impressed with the benefit and enjoyment the athletes receive that it seemed like a wonderful project to be involved with."

Doug Synder, President and CEO of ISO, in recognizing Arkush's election to the board, said, "We are honored to have Hub as the newest member of our board. His dedication to and understanding of the worlds of sports and business will serve as both an asset to the board and inspiration to our athletes, their families, our volunteers and coaches."

Illinois Special Olympics is celebrating 25 years of achievement among the 20,000 individuals with mental retardation participating in the state program, which involves 17 Olympic-style sports offered on a year-round basis. Numerous individuals, organizations, and corporations contribute to the financial success.

ISO provides athletic training and competition to children and adults with mental retardation eight years of age and older in 17 sports, including: athletics, aquatics, bowling, basketball, gymnastics, floor hockey, Alpine skiing, poly hockey, speed skating, volleyball, football (soccer), softball, cross-country skiing, figure skating, tennis, powerlifting and equestrian sports.

More information on the organization may be obtained by contacting the Illinois Special Olympics Center, 605 East Willow, Normal, IL 61761, phone (309) 888-2551.

Musical Talent

Mother McAuley Liberal Arts High School was represented at the Illinois Music Educators Association District Music Festival by Faye Campagna of Oak Lawn, Mitzi Heniff of Crestwood, Donna Jauregui of Oak Lawn, Peggy Moran of Palos Heights, Kim Mottola of Alsip and Jill Zahara of Beverly. The festival was at Oswego High School on Nov. 20th. Placement is made through stringent auditions and selection for membership in one of the performing organizations is a reflection of high standards established for, and by, the student, director and school district.

About 10,000 junior and senior students participated in similar events, in eight geographic districts throughout the state.

Hawthorne Instant Winner

What Was Happening...

50 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE INDEPENDENT

On Wednesday the war department announced that T-Sgt. Clarence A. Jacobsen of Oak Lawn was missing in action in the European Theatre. His father last heard from him on Oct. 8th. At that time he was in England. Clarence had been awarded the Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters. He entered service about two years ago. Sgt. Jacobsen has two brothers in service: Earl, an air student at Lakeland, Fla., and Cpl. Fay, in South Africa.

Mrs. Frank Jaklich, president of Mothers of World War 2 Unit 1 of Oak Lawn, who was chosen by her unit to attend the national convention of Mothers of World War 2 at Gary on Nov. 2nd, 3rd and 4th, reports a very constructive and interesting program. "This great organization, which began less than two years ago, now numbers more than 9,000 members in many different states." It was founded by Greta Roush, who is the national president. She says there is an urgent need for the mothers of the boys and girls in service to become closely banded together so that they may have a voice at the peace table at the close of the war.

The membership drive of the Oak Lawn PTA ended last week with two rooms tying for first place, with 100 percent membership. Miss Harms, sixth grade, and Mrs. Tynan, fourth grade room, each received $3. Second prize was won by Miss Kobick's fifth grade room, with 82 percent membership. That room received $2.

Edward Martin of 53rd Ave. has been promoted to Staff Sgt. He received his promotion on his 20th birthday which was Nov. 1st. S-Sgt. Martin is stationed at Camp Davis, North Carolina. He is with the AAA. He is also an instructor of a radio class.

Cpl. Shirley Martin of 53rd Ave. was injured in an auto accident on Nov. 4th when six WACS and a soldier were on their way to a recruiting station where Shirley was asked to model some WAC garments. Six miles from Elgin Field they were sideswiped by a car with bright lights. They hit a post and rolled down an embankment. The car was wrecked but only two were injured. The others were bruised and cut. Shirley suffered head and knee injuries. She will be confined to the hospital for three weeks.

2nd Lt. Lois Watson McKenzie, 23, of Oak Lawn, an Army nurse, was reported missing on Monday. She was one of an air evacuation unit of 13 nurses and 12 soldiers aboard a transport plane flying from North Africa to Italy. It is presumed the plane overshot the field and was lost in the Adriatic.

The community Thanksgiving service held at the Covington School in Oak Lawn on Nov. 25th was a true expression of interest in community fellowship. A sizable group gathered to hear the Rev. L. Donald Bond, pastor of the Thomas Memorial Congregational Church in Chicago, speak on "The Sacrifices of Thanksgiving." A community choir under the direction of David Palmer, with Mrs. Carl Lambright at the piano, sang "Behold the Lamb of God" from Handel's Messiah.

Albert J. Smutney, village clerk of Oak Lawn for the past 10 years, tendered his resignation to the board Tuesday evening, effective Jan. 1. Mr. Smutney and family are leaving the village and will engage in the resort business in the famous Northern Wisconsin lakes region. Mayor Brandt and the village trustees wished all success to Mr. Smutney's new venture and expressed their appreciation of the past fine cooperation and untiring work of their clerk. Elmer Hannegan was appointed village clerk, as of Jan. 1, to fill the unexpired term which runs to the next general village election.

Snowball Weekend

Thirty-seven Oak Lawn Community High School students participated in the Oak Lawn Operation Snowball Weekend held at Camp Hoover the weekend of Nov. 5th to 8th. At the Snowball, students engaged in constructive discussion about many of the issues that affect their lives every day and to encourage participants to remain 'drug-free.' Through large group presentations, mini-workshops and small group discussions, the participants dealt with issues such as substance use and abuse, communication in the family, eating disorders, stereotypes, sexuality and many others.

The participants were led through these activities by an outstanding group of teens trained and prepared to facilitate these activities. These teen staff members included Mike Cizek, Michele Gallagher, Jeff Rossow, Kelly Melaniphy, Jenny Schroeder and Cheryl Starmach. OLCHS science teacher Mike Riordan served as adult co-director and physical education teacher Mary Kay Bahnman participated as an adult staff member.

The participants returned to the Oak Lawn Youth Commission on Sunday afternoon to their eagerly awaiting parents. The weekend came to a close with a final presentation to both the teens and their parents. A great time was had by all.

Students who participated were Terry Akins, Lisa Marie Bazian, Rita Brandt, Vicky Corbett, Marybeth Dreschler, Naomi Ellis, Christie Eviatt, Sarah Felt, Shelly Gebel, Mary Gronski, Scott Joseph, Erin Keating, Chris Margaron, Ron Mathis, Carri McGrail, Kristopher O'Brien, Lisa Perveneckis, Jennifer Pranskunas, Rachel Pratt, Becky Quinn, Jenny Scott, Sheri Sievertsen, Aaron Sink, Dawn Starmach, Jennifer Treonis, Jennifer Tyzenhaus, Randy Warning, Donna Wasik, Rebecca Wolf, Andrew Zaghlul and Mandy Zeien.

Director Appointed

Edward J. Springer, a resident of Oak Lawn, has been appointed to the Moraine Valley Community College Foundation Board of Directors. Springer, a senior vice-president at the LaSalle Talman Bank, has been with the bank since 1959. He graduated from DePaul University with a major in finance.

Springer has been involved in numerous community service activities including United Way, the March of Dimes, the Southwest Lions Club, the Elks, the Oak Lawn Business Development Commission and the Oak Lawn Planning and Development Commission.

"Springer and the LaSalle Talman Bank have been consistent supporters of the foundation's activities and special events. His experience and desire to be of service will be of benefit to our organization," said Matthew Walsh, president of the foundation.

Presenting a plaque to Tony Calderone, (center), owner of Palermo's Italian Cuisine, are members of the division champion Oak Lawn Outlaws Widget football team. "In Appreciation of Your Support 1993," are Mrs. Carpenter, team mother; quarterback John Perryman; corner back, Jason Carpenter and tight end and middle line backer, Vitas Ripakis.

"Park Smart" Program On Prevention Of Car Theft

With the holiday shopping season just around the corner, shoppers are being warned of the serious threat of vehicle theft, particularly during the holiday season. "Park Smart," a statewide program aimed at helping drivers reduce the crime of vehicle theft, kicked off its community outreach effort last week.

"We thought it fitting to shift the 'Park Smart' community outreach program into high gear at a major shopping mall just prior to the holiday shopping rush," said Charles Doerr, an investigator with the Cook County State's Attorney's Office and chairman of the Illinois Anti-Car Theft Committee (I-ACT). "Whenever you have a large volume of cars in a parking lot, you have an increased potential for car theft."

The statistics show that vehicle theft is a very serious problem in Illinois, which ranks fifth in the nation in reported vehicle thefts. More than 71,000 vehicles were reported stolen in Illinois in 1992.

Although these statistics declined slightly in the state since the previous year, with the number of reported vehicles stolen in Illinois in 1991 at more than 75,000, vehicle theft is still a multi-million dollar problem in Illinois, costing the state about $1 million a day. Cook County and the collar counties, DuPage, Kane, Will, McHenry and Lake, accounted for 87 percent of all car thefts in Illinois in 1992.

"Even with these huge costs, surveys show that a great majority of Illinois motorists still do not consider vehicle theft a serious problem," said Laurence Mulcrone, Lt. Col., Illinois State Police. "We strongly believe that as more Illinois motorists become aware of the seriousness of the vehicle theft problem and begin practicing simple defensive parking strategies, this problem can be significantly reduced."

By bringing the 'Park Smart' display and speakers bureau into various communities and distributing the 'Park Smart' brochure and quarterly newsletters, the program is taking steps to educate the public and correct misconceptions about vehicle theft. The goal is to motivate drivers to change their behavior.

"If the public would take some basic precautions, which become even more important during the holiday shopping season, the statistics will be significantly lowered," Doerr said.

These precautions include closing windows and locking doors, even when parking for just a brief time or in the driveway at home; keeping valuable items such as shopping bags, gifts, etc. within your car out of sight; parking in well-lighted areas; etching the vehicle identification number into removable parts such as windows; and using anti-theft devices.

The 'Park Smart' program emphasizes defensive parking strategies. A joint community and law enforcement effort is needed to help curb the problem of vehicle theft throughout Illinois. 'Park Smart' has been developed by the Illinois Anti-Car Theft Committee and is funded by the Illinois Motor Vehicle Theft Prevention Council.

Tree Lighting In Oak Lawn

The annual 'Love Lights a Tree' campaign sponsored by the American Cancer Society will climax in the lighting of the Village of Oak Lawn Christmas tree at 5 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 10th, at the village hall, Dumke Dr. and Cook Ave. The public is invited.

Community residents are invited to join in the campaign by making a contribution to the American Cancer Society in honor of or in memory of a special person in their lives. Each person is represented by a 'light,' string of lights or ornament on the village tree.

All donors will be recognized.

This program raises money for cancer research, education and patient services. The 1993 campaign goal for the Oak Lawn Unit is $5,000. This fund raiser provides an opportunity for individuals and businesses to support the work of the American Cancer Society by honoring someone in a meaningful and dignified way. The cost is $5 for one light, $25 for six, $50 for a half strand, and $100 for a full strand.

Additional information is available from Marianne Karson, committee chairperson at (708) 636-2112.

Senior Tax Relief

Circuit Court Clerk Aurelia Pucinski called on the Cook County Board to act on a three-month old state law allowing counties to provide property tax relief for long-time owner occupants in gentrifying neighborhoods.

"The County Board should stop dithering and provide long-term homeowners the meaningful property tax relief authorized by the new state law," said Pucinski. "The legislation will help seniors and low-income residents to remain in their homes."

The law, known as the Longtime Owner-Occupant Property Tax Relief Act, permits counties of 100,000 or more to grant property tax exemptions or deferrals to the County portion of the property tax bills which is due to an increase in the market value of the property stemming from gentrification.

The law, PA 88-451, which was approved by Gov. Jim Edgar on August 20, targets relief to homeowners who have continuously owned and occupied their homes for at least 10 years, or 5 years of ownership based on government housing subsidies.

"Redevelopment schemes should not penalize but reward long-time home-owners who provide neighborhood stability," said Pucinski. "But in reality, new high-rise developments impose unreasonable tax assessment increases on long-time residents."

Pucinski said the law, sponsored by State Rep. Ellis Levin (D-Chicago), permits counties to designate areas eligible for the special tax treatment.

Pucinski envisions the County ordinance to require long-time homeowners to apply for the deferral or exemption.

Estimated Tax Payment Reminder

The Internal Revenue Service reminds people who make estimated tax payments that the fourth installment for 1993 is due Tuesday, Jan. 18th. The payment should be sent to the IRS along with the fourth quarter voucher from Form 1040ES, 'Estimated Tax for Individuals.' To make sure that the payment is properly credited to your account, the IRS asks that you write your social security number and the words, "1993 Form 1040ES" on the check.

Usually, people who are self-employed or have income not covered by withholding, such as interest, dividends or rental income, are required to make estimated tax payments. If you had two jobs at the same time this year or were laid off and received unemployment benefits, you also may need to make these payments. A good rule of thumb, the IRS says, is to make an estimated tax payment by the January deadline if you expect to owe $500 or more in federal tax at the end of this year.

A worksheet on Form 1040ES can help you figure the correct amount due. A free booklet, Publication 505, has more information on estimated tax. To order, call the IRS toll-free at 1-(800)-TAX-FORM (829-3676).

Yule Music Fest

On Thursday, Dec. 16th at 7 p.m., the students of St. Paul Lutheran School, 4660 W. 94th St., will present their first annual Christmas Festival of Music and Praise. People of all sizes, shapes, colors, ages and ethnic backgrounds are invited to come join us as we worship Jesus, the Christ-Child. As a special treat, our 8th grade class will be sharing the most beautiful portions of the Bible, while all our students will be singing their praises to the Lord. As part of the evening, all who attend will be able to sing along with many of their most-loved Christmas songs.

Our Parent-Teacher League will be serving light refreshments afterward.

Enters Military Academy

Army Spec. Randy J. Laylo has entered the U.S. Military Academy Preparatory School, New Jersey. The school is designed to assist students in meeting the strict academic and physical requirements of the academy. Students receive extensive instruction in English, mathematics, physical education and military training.

Upon completion of this one-year school, the cadet is eligible for appointment to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Randy is the son of Peter R. and Renee B. Laylo of Oak Lawn and a 1991 graduate of Oak Lawn Community High School.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

We, the voters in State Rep. Maureen Murphy's district, are fortunate to have a hard-working, anti-tax, anti-spend representative in the General Assembly. CBS-TV gave Murphy a tremendous accolade when it showed her attending all sessions, while expending her own funds for the legislators' seminar.

It doesn't get any better for the voters/taxpayers than to have somebody like Maureen Murphy working for them.

From someone who knows because he labored on the last balanced federal budget of 1970 (by cutting, cutting, cutting).

Book For Kids

Myles Feltenberger of Oak Lawn, who earned bachelor's and master's degrees from DePaul University currently teaches music classes to kindergarten through eighth grade students at Burbank School. He has, in fact, been a music director of primary, middle grade, and junior high school students for over 30 years. Feltenberger's musical programs each year are outstanding and the junior high "Swing Chorus" he directs is terrific. His students have won numerous awards in annual contests sponsored by the Illinois Music Association (IMA), of which Feltenberger is a member.

Feltenberger teaches private piano lessons, is a talented musician and has a family of six children, all of whom are involved with music as professionals or as students. Moreover, he is a dedicated professional who continually gives so very much of himself.

Feltenberger's book "Mr. Everybody's Musical Apartment" was released to music educators and children's book stores this fall. The publication is the first in a series of music books for young children.

Personal Safety

Motorists are occasionally stopped by law enforcement officers in unmarked police vehicles. How does one determine that the officer, in plainclothes, and in an unmarked vehicle, is indeed an actual police officer? It is understandable that motorists, particularly women traveling alone, should be concerned.

Motorists who are stopped by officers in unmarked vehicles may wish to observe the following common sense guidelines to safeguard themselves: when motioned to pull to the curb, pull over, if in a dark area, drive the curb lane to a well-lit area, preferably an area with heavy pedestrian and vehicular traffic; car doors should always be locked when traveling. open the window slightly to converse with the officer; when in doubt about an officer's identity, ask to see the officer's police star and photo identification card. All law enforcement officers carry both.

If you are still in doubt that the person is an actual police officer, you may request that a marked police vehicle be dispatched to the scene. You may also offer to drive to the nearest police station with the officer following behind.

All legitimate peace officers: city, county, suburban, state, and federal, are trained to respond to citizens concerns for personal safety and will willingly comply with these requests.

Pace Schedule

Pace, the suburban transportation service, offers southwest residents convenient bus service with Route 384 Narragansett/Ridgeland. Route 384 operates between the Midway CTA Station and Orland Square Shopping Center. Along the way, the bus serves Ford City Shopping Center, Scottsdale Shopping Center, Chicago Ridge Mall, St. Laurence and Queen of Peace High Schools, Palos Community Hospital and the Chicago Ridge and Worth Metra Train Stations.

In addition, at the Midway CTA Station, passengers can connect to other Pace suburban routes, CTA Routes 54B, 55 or 59, or take the train downtown to the Loop. Route 384 is the perfect route for shoppers. It serves a number of shopping centers without the need for transfers or having to find parking.

Tuba Concert

Tuba and other euphonium musicians are needed to participate in the annual Merry Tuba Christmas concert at Orland Park Place Mall. The concert is on Saturday, Dec. 18th from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Musicians should arrive by 10 a.m. and be ready for rehearsal at 10:30. Music will be given at registration, there is a $5 fee. Merry Tuba Christmas is sponsored by Moraine Valley Community College and the Harvey Phillips Foundation.

For more information, call Rod Seaney at (708) 974-5710.

What Was Happening...

25 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE COMMUNITY

Congressman Edward Derwinski of the Fourth Congressional District won an easy victory on Tuesday over his Democratic rival, Robert E. Creighton. Unofficial returns from seven townships gave Derwinski 140,786 votes to Creighton's 64,233.

Harry "Bus" Yourcell, Oak Lawn businessman and Worth Township Democratic Committeeman, was re-elected.

Requiem Mass for William G. Bulow, for 30 years a member of the Oak Lawn volunteer fire department until his retirement in 1958, was offered at 10 a.m. yesterday at St. Gerald Church. Mr. Bulow, who was 63, died on Nov. 3rd in Christ Community Hospital following a long illness. He was a member of the fire department from 1928 to 1958, and had served as fire chief during the 1930s. He had been a resident of Oak Lawn for 46 years.

"The Glass Menagerie" by Tennessee Williams will be presented in the Oak Lawn Community High School's Little Theatre on Nov. 8th and 9th. The play is a tragedy presented in three acts under the direction of Mr. William Tucker. The principle characters are Amanda Wingfield, the mother, played by Kathy Stephens, a senior; Tom Wingfield, the son, played by Curt Stachle, a junior; Laura Wingfield, the daughter, played by Debbie Debelak, a senior; and Jim O'Connor, a gentleman caller, played by Dave Anderson, a senior.

A four-year effort of the Oak Lawn Park District and the Village of Oak Lawn in seeking the help of the Metropolitan Sanitary District board for beautification of the Oak Lawn lake was realized last Thursday when the trustees of the sanitary district classified the lake area as a water retention reservoir under its 1969 construction program and allocated $70,000 for work as a flood control project.

Robert D. Moyers, consulting engineer who for 20 years took an active role in helping build and plan for Oak Lawn's future, will be memorialized in one of the structures he helped design. Village President Fred Dumke, who upon the death of Moyers on Oct. 21st, eulogized him as "one of the great unsung heroes of Oak Lawn," on Tuesday night read a resolution which would name the modern above-ground water storage tank at 98th St., between Major and Massasoit Aves., as the "Robert D. Moyers Water Spheroid." Mr. Dumke said an appropriate nameplate will be made, and a public ceremony held at a later date.

Brian Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Anderson, was recently accepted into Phi Lambda Chi National Fraternity in formal initiation ceremonies held at Northeast Missouri State College in Kirksville. Anderson, who is a senior majoring in business education, was also elected corresponding secretary for the Missouri Alpha Colony of Phi Lambda Chi at Kirksville.

Elizabeth Ann Streich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Streich, has entered the I.J. Goldberg School of Nursing of Mount Sinai Hospital Medical Center, Chicago. The three-year diploma program of the school prepares its graduates for the State Board nurses' examination in Illinois, leading to the title of registered nurse for those who qualify.

A staggering across-the-board pay demand by the Oak Lawn firemen has sent village officials into a series of studies and conferences. The request for the pay hike, in addition to numerous other demands, was made at a public hearing of the budget last week. Observers said that the new demands amount to a $2,000 yearly increase for each of the 46 members of the department. Trustee James Dwyer, who is chairman of the finance committee, said he and the trustees were sympathetic to the firemen's request but there is no way at this time, that the added revenue can be raised to meet the demands, other than to raise taxes.

Among the more than 200 books purchased this month by the Oak Lawn Library, three stand out as particularly good in the fields of aviation, photography and exploration, according to head librarian Mrs. Kenneth Kopf. For the many flying buffs, there is a new and revised edition of the "Complete Book of Helicopters." An excellent gallery of black and white photographs make up "Photography in the Twentieth Century," edited by Nathan Lyons. "The Polar Passion" is by Farley Mowat and is a compilation of the journals of explorers and adventurers who endured great peril attempting to be first to conquer the North Pole.

A new bank for Oak Lawn, to be called the Crossroads Bank, and located at the northeast corner of Southwest Highway and Austin Ave., has been proposed by organizers Joseph A. Wentz, Lyle E. Brooks and Daniel J. Henry, all of Oak Lawn; Anthony DeSantis of Evergreen Park; and John B. Wheeler, Jr. of Hinsdale.

In the absence of Village President Fred Dumke of Oak Lawn, who is on a business trip to Greece, Trustee Glenn E. Frankland represented Oak Lawn as official host at Monday night's meeting of the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, held at the Holiday Inn Oak Lawn. Forty state officials, in addition to the staff and commission members of NIFC, attended the dinner-meeting. In addition to Frankland, Village Clerk Ernie Kolb and Trustees Jim Dwyer, Leonard J. Cole, Ralph Munch and Philip J. Special attended the dinner session.

President Anne B. Kay has announced that for the last six years, SSFC (Sig Sakowicz Fan Club) members have collected food for the needy during the month of November.

"This year was no different" according to Chalrady Grace Mrugacz noting over 50 boxes & bags of non-perishable food, new toys, new clothes, cleaning supplies and $105 was contributed by members at their Nov. 20th meeting. All collected items were turned over to The Polish National Alliance (PNA) which used a 48-foot truck from Progressive Trucking Co. to haul all donations to the flood-ravaged victims in Missouri, Iowa & Illinois, on Nov. 22nd. PNA Vice-President Teresa N. Abick, a SSFC member, was on hand and graciously thanked all the donors.

Toys For Tots Sites

Cook County Board President Richard Phelan announced that the Forest Preserve District of Cook County is collecting now through Dec. 15th 'Toys for Tots' at nine locations throughout the county.

"Every child deserves a little holiday spirit," Phelan said. "We encourage the residents of Cook County to consider the children whose happiness during the holiday season depends upon the success of this program."

Residents are being asked to donate a new unwrapped toy at the Forest Preserve District and Toys for Tots collection sites. The toys are collected daily and weekends from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the district nature centers: Little Red Schoolhouse, 9800 S. 104th Ave., Willow Springs; Sand Ridge, 15890 Paxton Ave., S. Holland; River Trail, 3120 Milwaukee Ave., Northbrook; Camp Sagawau, 12545 W. 111th St., Lemont; Trailside Museum, 738 Thatcher Ave., River Forest; Crabtree, Algonquin and Palatine Rd., Barrington.

Toys will also be collected at the district's general headquarters, 536 N. Harlem Ave., River Forest, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and at the County Building, 118 N. Clark St., Chicago, in front of the president's office, Room 537, and in the picnic permit office, Room 608, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Since its origin in 1947, the Marine Corps Reserve 'Toys for Tots' program has sponsored the gift collection and distribution to nearly 100 million economically disadvantaged youths. Each year approximately 8 million toys are distributed in nearly 200 communities throughout the United States.

Honored For Senior Support

State Sen. Patrick O'Malley (R-Palos Park) has been honored by the Suburban Area Agency on Aging for obtaining more than $880,000 in state funds that will help that agency meet the demand for community-based services for senior citizens in suburban Cook County.

During state budget negotiations, O'Malley worked to provide additional funding to compensate the Cook County Suburban Area Agency on Aging, which would otherwise be shortchanged because the new Department on Aging funding formula is being phased in over three years.

"The Illinois Department on Aging had been allocating state and federal funds to local agencies based on an outdated formula that did not reflect the tremendous population growth in suburban areas," O'Malley said. "The department has come up with a new formula based on population figures from the 1990 census, but will be phasing it in over three years, which means suburban agencies are still being denied their fair share of funding."

"State Sen. Beverly Fawell (R-Glen Ellyn) noted the discrepancy and asked that money be added to the department's budget to compensate local agencies in DuPage County for revenues they would otherwise not receive," O'Malley said. "I supported her initiative and recommended that it be expanded to include suburban Cook County as well. To me it was simply doing the right thing."

O'Malley says funding was subsequently added for the other collar counties. These additional revenues will help pay for important programs such as in-home care, information and referral, transportation and senior centers.

Jonathan Lavin, the executive director of the Suburban Area Agency on Aging, says the $880,000 will help meet a tremendous need for such services in suburban Cook County.

"For years, funding for senior programs in suburban areas of Illinois has been disproportionate because the Department on Aging has been using outdated data or using a hold-harmless approach to prevent areas with declining senior populations from losing dollars. This has denied valuable revenues to areas with high growth in senior populations," Lavin said.

"The number of senior citizens in suburban Cook County grew from 335,000 in 1980 to 413,000 in 1990. The collar counties saw a 24-percent increase, compared to a statewide increase of 8.8 percent," Lavin said. "Yet it is only now that we have seen a shift of funding to areas where more senior citizens reside. As a result, we have been unable to meet many of the needs of the senior citizens in our area because we haven't had the resources. We are pleased that we will be able to allocate all of this additional funding to the various community agencies we work with to provide services to older persons."

Safety Check

The Cook County Sheriff's Police issued 59 tickets to motorists during a weekend roadside safety check in Worth Township, according to the Office of Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan. The safety check was held at 127th and Ridgeland Ave. between 8 p.m. and 2 a.m., according to police. Of the 940 vehicles that passed through the checkpoint, 242 cars were stopped and checked, police said.

Sheriff's Police issued 33 tickets for Illinois Vehicle Code violations, 16 tickets to citizens not wearing seat belts, eight for registration and driver's license violations and two for equipment violations.

"These roadside safety checks show the Sheriff's Police are committed to keeping the streets of Cook County safe, especially during this holiday season," Sheahan said.

Roadside safety checks will be held by Sheriff's Police throughout Cook County on a random basis through next summer.

One-Day HOBY Workshop

On Monday, Dec. 13th, a member of the Hugh O'Brian Youth (HOBY) Foundation will conduct a one-day workshop for 75 Marist High School sophomores. The philosophy of HOBY is to seek out, reward and develop leadership potential in high school sophomores. The CLEW, or Community Leadership Workshop will consist of guest speakers and panel discussions, aimed at teaching students how to interact with peer and community leaders.

The panel discussions will address two topics, one on 'Leaders in Business,' the other on the 'Future of Education.'

Asks A Review Of Ethics Charge

Cook County Clerk David Orr has asked the State's Attorney to investigate news media reports that Chicago School Board President Sharon Grant may have violated the Illinois Government Ethics Act by misrepresenting facts in her financial disclosure statement which is filed with the clerk.

Orr's request came in the form of a letter written to Cook County State's Attorney Jack O'Malley. The Clerk's Office is the official agency which collects and maintains the ethics statements for more than 100,000 public officials and public employees.

"Just as allegations of election fraud are brought to our attention and are passed on to the State's Attorney, so are we asking for the matter of allegations that Sharon Grant may have misrepresented the facts on her ethics statement be investigated," Orr said.

"I have fought for ethics laws throughout my career because I believe public officials and public employees have a responsibility to the taxpayer to maintain the highest level of integrity," Orr added.

Orr pointed out that the county spends thousands of dollars to keep and maintain the "Statements of Economic Interests" and that the public has a right to know what constitutes a violation of the law.

Orr's letter concludes "if the absence of a judgment in this (or any similar) matter stems from confusion or weakness in our existing laws, I ask you to join me in working to make those laws more comprehensive, more comprehensible, and more enforceable."

Job Plan

County's '94 Budget Is Deemed A Fair Compromise

Editor:

Cook County Commissioners approved a $2 billion-plus budget for 1994 following a 15-hour meeting that included consideration of 250 proposed amendments. The final spending plan includes a 1993 property tax abatement of $58 million and an estimated $58 million cut in the 1994 property tax levy.

The tax breaks result from a reduction in the property tax levy from $746 million to $630 million; budget cuts of department heads, elected officials and departments reporting to the president and revenues received from the sales tax that was enacted last year. Owners of a $100,000 home would receive a $25 credit for second-installment taxes in 1994 and the same credit for 1994 taxes payable in 1995.

Politically, it's easy to give an abatement, but it can't be done unless sufficient funds are available at the end of the fiscal year. That is why the administration waited for the time that they could responsibly estimate what was available for a tax abatement and still be able to reduce the debt. The budget accomplishes this goal and reduces the county's debt by $200 million through the elimination of tax anticipation note borrowing.

I personally feel that it is more important to deal with the county's debt before giving any kind of abatement, but I also believe that the FY94 budget is a fair compromise. I concur with the Civic Federation's assertion that the FY94 budget includes several important fiscal and procedural reforms that will help move this county into the 21st century.

Joseph Nevius, general superintendent of the forest preserve district, presented the FY94 budget to the county board on Nov. 29th. The $100 million budget has a strong emphasis on land acquisition, with plans to buy 7,000 acres over the next few years. The land acquisition fund would be increased from $2 million to $7 million. Nevius explained that it is important to acquire as much land as possible to preserve that heritage in terms of natural land and to restore the land to the prairie.

The proposed budget is up about 6% from a year ago, but property taxes needed to pay for the budget are projected to increase less than 1%. Most of the increase can be attributed to improvements at Brookfield Zoo and for more spending for land acquisition.

This is a very sound budget and the cost increase to individual homeowners is minimal. Some fees will rise, while others will be reduced. Permits for picnic groves will go up $5 and rental of cross-country ski equipment, $2. Golf fees at selected times will decrease at River Oaks, Joe Louis, Chick Evans, Indian Boundary, Edgebrook and Burnham Woods.

Board President, Richard J. Phelan, recently opened the Sand Ridge Nature Center's new environmental educational facility which will make it possible to offer more activities and programs. There is a new classroom which can accommodate 80 people, making it one of the largest centers for group instruction in the district, a new state-of-the-art media center which enable more people to view the center's vast selection of wildlife and nature videos, several new and exciting exhibits including new fish and reptile displays.

The new facility will enable the community to better understand the region's history as well as the natural world around us. It is the district's hope that Sand Ridge will continue to inspire people to learn about, appreciate and protect nature. Special accommodations can be arranged for all programs and services by calling (708) 771-1190.

Finally, it is with mixed emotions that I have officially announced that I will not be a candidate for re-election to the county board. After much deliberation and consultation with my wife, Marion, we have decided to spend more time together with our family and take advantage of the opportunity to travel. Marion has been an understanding and loyal partner and without her support, I would not have been able to serve the people of Homewood and Cook County for as long as I have.

I thank you and all the citizens of Cook County who have supported me during these past seven years. As many of you know, I began my political career in 1959 as a member of the zoning board for the Village of Homewood and later served as a trustee and ultimately, will continue to reside in Homewood and remain active in supporting good governmental candidates. To that end, I wholeheartedly endorse Barclay (Bud) Fleming, the present Mayor of Lynwood, as a candidate for Cook County Commissioner from the newly created 6th District and he has assured me that this monthly report will continue, if he is elected.

I would also like to acknowledge my colleagues from both parties with whom I have worked to accomplish many goals for our constituents. Once again, this decision comes with mixed emotions since it has truly been my honor and joy to provide the many years of service to the citizens of Homewood and, more recently, Cook County. Thank you and God bless you.

Sincerely,
s/s Robert P. Gooley (Bob)
Cook County Commissioner

Cook County Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan (right) and U.S. Rep. Dan Rostenkowski recently announced approval of a $3.5 million appropriation for an urban boot camp in the county. The $3.5 million appropriation was included in the U.S. Department of Defense budget in an effort by Rostenkowski to secure federal monies for the first-ever boot camp program here.

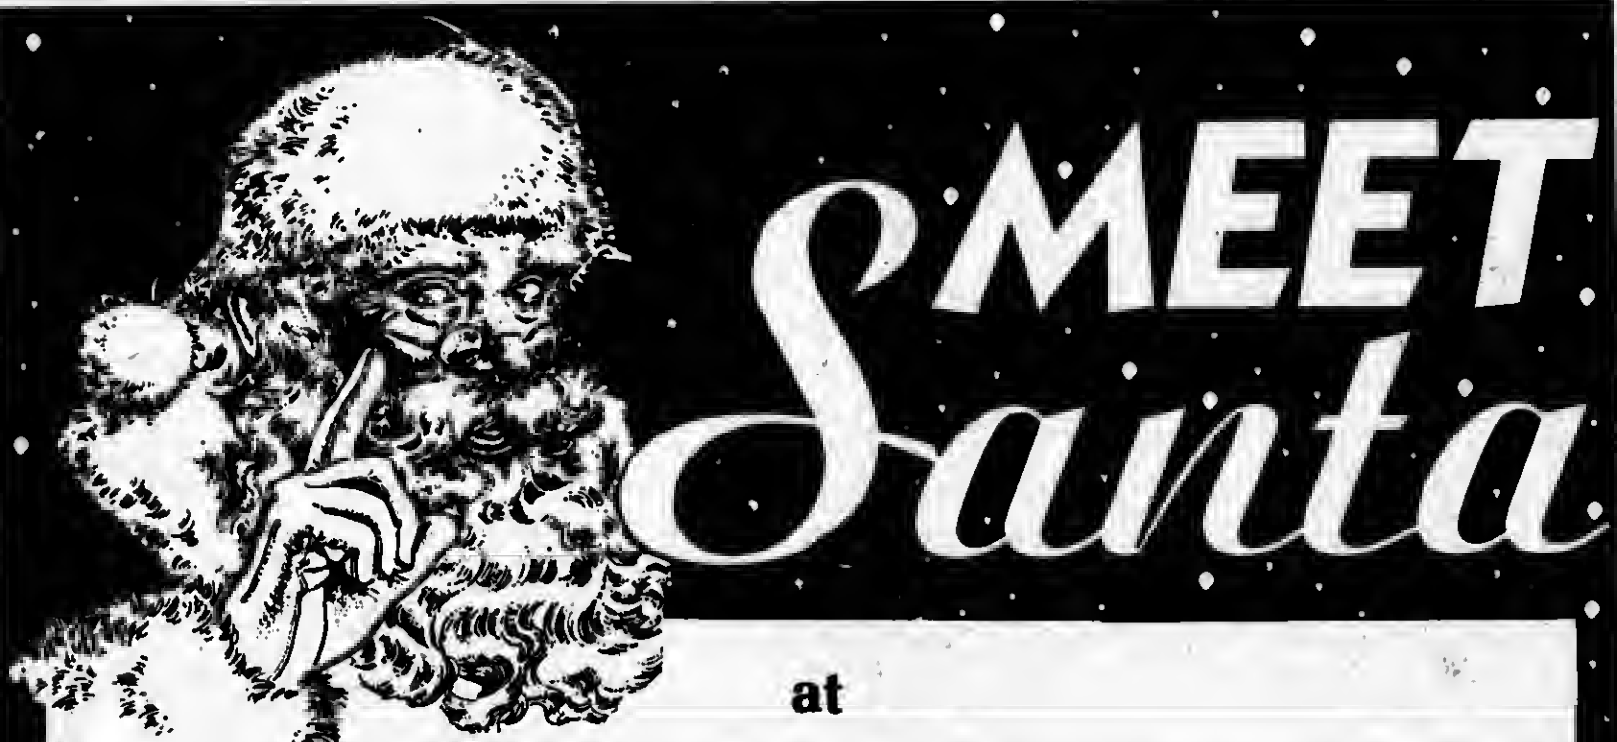

The Cook County Urban Boot Camp will be designed for up to 400 non-violent first-time offenders sentenced to prison terms of less than five years. Offenders will serve a 16-week sentence in the boot camp followed by an additional 12 to 14 weeks of intensive community supervision utilizing existing sheriff's programs such as electronic monitoring and day reporting.

"With this federal funding appropriation we have completed a funding package unique to Cook County that includes commitments at the federal, state and local levels. It represents a recognition by all levels of government that we must explore other options in corrections rather than just continuing to build jails," Sheahan said.

Fire Cautions During Holidays

Holidays are a joyous and festive time, but they could also be tragic if homeowners aren't attentive to the fire hazards inherent in winter holidays.

According to the Office of the Illinois State Fire Marshal, Christmas trees and decorations pose special fire risks. Twenty-four fires related to holiday decorations were reported in Illinois for the period of November 1992 to January 1993. For that same period the previous year, there were ninety-eight fires related to holiday decorations reported in the state.

The National Fire Protection Association reports that more than 500 fires per year have been started by ignition of Christmas trees, causing an average of 16 deaths, 81 injuries and more than $10 million in property damage throughout the nation. The United States Fire Administration reports that from 1987 to 1991, Christmas trees were involved in an average of 1,270 fires each of those years.

State Fire Marshal Thomas L. Armstead warns, "Although the holidays are a time of festive decorations and parties, Illinois citizens must pay attention to holiday fire hazards and take the proper safety precautions."

OSFM offers a number of suggestions to help make homes fire-safe for Hanukkah, Christmas and New Year's.

When using fresh trees, choose ones that have non-brittle, flexible needles. Fresh trees should be stored out-of-doors until it is time to decorate them. When brought in, the tree should have the bottom two inches cut off its trunk. Fresh trees should be placed in deep, non-tip stands and should be watered frequently. All trees should be placed away from heat sources and should never block exits. Artificial trees should carry the label of a recognized laboratory such as the UL safety-seal. Decorative lights should never be used on metallic trees. Candles should never be used on trees.

All holiday lighting should also carry a testing laboratory's label. Light strings should always be inspected for worn insulation, broken plugs or loose bulbs and sockets. All electrical decorations including lights should be turned off before leaving home or going to bed.

Other holiday fire safety tips include:

- Use only flame-retardant or non-combustible decorations.

- Use candles cautiously. Keep them away from other decorations or other combustible materials. Be sure all children know the dangers of candles. During Hanukkah, make sure candles are firmly set in the menorah and always have parents or other adults present during the lighting ceremony.

- Don't overload electrical outlets. Check the power capacity of your home and stay within the wattage limits. Use extension cords sparingly.

- Keep presents and gifts away from lighting. Be sure that the gifts themselves are fire-safe. Do not choose highly-flammable gifts and make sure electric toys are labeled for fire safety.

- Do not use indoor lights out-of-doors. All outdoor lights should be weather-proofed.

- Make sure all exits are clear during holiday celebrations. Provide large ashtrays and dispose of smoking materials in covered metal waste containers. After parties, always check upholstery and furniture for cigarette butts.

- Install and maintain smoke detectors - it is the law in Illinois. Test smoke detectors, and change their batteries at least once a year.

- Plan and practice an escape plan. Know what to do if a fire occurs.

"If everyone follows these fire safety rules, the holidays can remain fire-safe and festive," says Armstead. "Everyone should include increased fire safety in their New Year's resolutions."

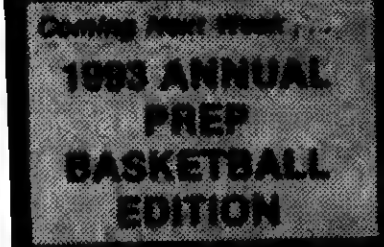

Senior Hearings

The Suburban Area Agency on Aging (SAAA) is holding community speak-outs (public hearings) on the needs of the elderly in early December at locations throughout suburban Cook County to find out how seniors in the suburban Cook County area feel about President Clinton's proposed health care plan; what gaps in transportation services exist for seniors in this area; and what other needs concern older persons and their caregivers.

The speak-outs are an important forum for targeting problems that face seniors and their caregivers, and reflect SAAA's commitment to serving the best interests of the elderly in suburban Cook County. This year, because of the changes proposed for the health care system under President Clinton's administration, the area agency advisory council selected health care needs of older persons as a primary focus.

Older persons, as well as others who care about the concerns of the elderly, are invited to attend the hearings and offer their opinions. The speak-outs will be held at two area handicapped-accessible locations: Southern Suburban Cook County, Friday, Dec. 10th at 9:30 a.m. in the Bloom Township Offices, 425 S. Halsted, Chicago Heights, (708) 754-6024; and Southwestern Suburban Cook County, Monday, Dec. 13th at 9:30 a.m. in the Lemont Township office, 16020 127th St., Lemont, (708) 257-2522.

The area agency will accept written comments on the hearings or statements from those unable to attend a hearing anytime before Wednesday, Dec. 15th. The agency's address is: 1146 Westgate, Suite LL112, Oak Park, IL 60301-1054. For more information, call Kimberly Blechschmidt at (708) 383-0258 (voice and TDD).

MWRD Honors Rostenkowski For The Help He Has Given

The Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago recently honored Congressman Dan Rostenkowski for the help he has given the district in securing more than one billion dollars of federal funds for the deep tunnel project.

President Thomas S. Fuller said, "Dan Rostenkowski has reduced the tax burden on all the property owners in Cook County by his tireless efforts to secure federal dollars for this important pollution and flood control project. Thousands of homes are spared the terrible inconvenience and expense of flooded basements because of the deep tunnel. Lake Michigan and the Chicago River are cleaner because we are putting the dirty water into the tunnel instead of into the waterways.

In addition, the deep tunnel has had a tremendous spill-over effect on the local economy. More than 100,000 jobs in the construction industry have been created since 1974 as a result of the tunnel and reservoir plan. Congressman Rostenkowski has worked to ensure that this project was eligible for

The Board of Commissioners presented Congressman Rostenkowski with a plaque which shows the inside of the deep tunnel, and a small model of the tunnel boring machine, used to carve out more than 64 miles of tunnels under Cook County.

Applying For Communications Award

Catholic high school seniors and Catholic students in Cook and Lake County public or private high schools interested in pursuing a communications-related college degree are invited to apply after Thursday, Dec. 20th for the 1994 Cardinal's Communications Scholarship. This award, a $3,000 tuition grant renewable for three additional years based upon maintenance of a "B" average at an approved college or university, has supported promising young students for 24 years. One scholarship is awarded each year on the basis of merit and a project submission.

To qualify, a candidate must be a projected 1994 graduate of a Catholic high school in Cook or Lake County or must be a Catholic senior in a Cook or Lake County high school who can demonstrate consistent participation in a Catholic religious education program. Applicants should rank in the scholastic upper-half of the senior class and should be able to demonstrate serious involvement in communications through extracurricular activities and/or coursework.

Application packets may be obtained after Dec. 20th from Catholic high school guidance offices or from the archdiocesan communications office at (312) 751-8227. Applications and projects are due on Friday, Feb. 25th, 1994.

'Call-A-Lawyer' Program

Attorneys will provide free legal information during The Chicago Bar Association's Call-A-Lawyer program on Saturday, Dec. 18th from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Chicago-area residents who call (312) 554-2001 will speak to volunteer attorneys with experience in various areas of the law.

Call-A-Lawyer is designed to assist the public with general legal advice. Attorneys will be available to discuss contracts, divorce, criminal matters, bankruptcy and more.

Monday kicked off the March 15, 1994 Primary Election campaigns with the first day filing of petitions in Springfield for state and federal offices and at the Cook County Building for county offices.

It's going to be a slugfest in the Democratic party in most races while the Republicans have laid back trying to make compromises in most cases so as not to provide political fodder for the Dems in the November general election. Deadline for filing is Monday, Dec. 13 so the GOP has time to minimize the number of candidates for each position.

The primary is purge time when candidates throw out all the dirty linen about their own party opposition. It's survival of the fittest as to who becomes number one for the November General Election.

Dan White of the Illinois Board of Elections reports that a record number of filers (980) were at his Springfield office waiting to get first spots on the ballot. Before the day ended he reports that 1,016 had filed petitions.

At the County Building Cook County Clerk David Orr reports what he thinks is a record 132 candidates who filed for various County offices.

Interest is running high in the Cook County Board races where, for the first time, candidates are not running suburban wide or city wide. Instead there are 17 single member district races. Locally the 6th District, currently held by Republican Bob Gooley of Homewood, who is not seeking reelection, sees three Republicans seeking that slot. They are Thomas A. Brown, Helen E. Kelley, and Barclay "Bud" Fleming. Democrats are Richard Kelly Jr. and Joan Patricia Murphy. Kelly is a former State Senator while Murphy is the current Worth Township Supervisor. Kelly won the endorsement of the 6th District Democratic Committeeman.

In the 17th District, which meanders from Orland Township to near O'Hare Airport, Palos Township Republican incumbent Herb Schumann is being challenged by northsider Teresa Nuccio. William Hurley is the lone Democrat to file.

All 118 House seats in Springfield are up for election in 1994. Here we find some interesting races in our area. In the 36th District incumbent Republican Maureen Murphy of Evergreen Park is being challenged by Dale Heilmann.

Democrats to file are Nancy Stack of Oak Lawn who was passed over by the Worth Township Dems in favor of Mike Keane of Hometown. Keane lost to Andy McGann in the '92 primary who in turn lost to Murphy in the General Election.

In the 35th District incumbent Democrat Terry Steczo is unopposed in his party. Two Republicans have filed to oppose him; Jack O'Connor, auto dealer, and Harry Teune.

In the 28th District incumbent Tom Dart, part of Committeeman Tom Hynes' 19th Ward organization, is being challenged by Jeff Burt. No Republicans have filed as yet.

Remember ...there are still four more days to file which could change every race.

Mayor Chester Stranczek reports that there are still some Village of Crestwood homeowners who haven't applied for their 26% refund on their 1992 real estate tax bills. Stranczek said that the village has mailed out over 2,500 refund checks, but there are still some homeowners who haven't filed. He reminds that the deadline to file is Dec. 31, 1993... with no exceptions.

The Worth Township Regular Republican Organization is holding its annual Christmas party on Thursday, Dec. 16th at Chateau BuSche, 116th and Cicero. Tickets are $19 a person and include dinner, cocktails and music by Gene Mikrut. Christmas party chairman Nick Ruggiero invites all Republicans to "attend an old-fashioned Worth Township Christmas party." Tickets are limited so call Nick at 423-4733 for reservations.

Jim Gierach's bid for governor received a big lift Tuesday when Surgeon General Joycelyn Elders said she believed the United States would "markedly reduce our crime rate" by legalizing drug use. Gierach, an Oak Lawn attorney, is running on the platform to "take the profit out of gang drug sales and make drugs available to admitted addicts at minimal costs."

County Property Owners Prepay Program Plan

Cook County property owners may prepay the first installment of next year's real estate tax bill in order to deduct the taxes on their 1993 income tax returns. Cook County Treasurer Edward J. Rosewell said that the prepayments will be accepted postmarked no later than Dec. 31st.

Under the prepayment program, Rosewell said that property owners may prepay one-half of last year's total real estate tax bill. If 1992 real estate taxes, collected in 1993, totaled $2,200.10, the property owner can prepay $1,100.05. Please send the correct amount. Overages will be returned.

Make checks payable to the Cook County Collector. Also put your property index number, prepayment 1993 on your check. This will insure proper payment posting. Your property index number appears on your previous tax bills. If you need assistance finding this number, contact or visit our downtown office or any of our five satellite offices: 165th and Kedzie Ave., Markham; 1500 Maybrook Drive, Maywood; 5600 Old Orchard Road, Skokie; 10200 S. 76th Ave., Bridgeview; and 2121 Euclid Ave., Rolling Meadows.

Prepayments can be paid in person at the downtown office. If paying by mail, send your checks to Cook County Collector, Prepayment Department, 118 N. Clark St., Room 112, Chicago, IL 60602.

Rosewell said that those who prepay will receive their regular first installment tax bill early next year showing the payment that was made, and the date received. If the taxpayer miscalculates and there is an amount due, it will be reflected on the first installment bill. The first installment real estate tax bills are mailed in late January for March 1st, 1994 payment.

"We have received numerous inquiries from property owners who wish to accelerate their payments so that they may utilize them as a current tax deduction," Rosewell said. "It is our understanding that the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) will allow the prepayment to be used as an offset against the current year's federal taxes. We have established this prepayment program as an accommodation to those taxpayers who wish to take advantage of this."

MVCC Registration

Registration for spring semester classes at Moraine Valley Community College is now being conducted. Spring semester classes begin on Monday, Jan. 10th. The college offers classes and programs for those interested in transferring to a four-year college or university, and a variety of career classes and programs for students interested in earning a two-year degree.

Students can register by telephone at (708) 974-2110 or in person at the college center on campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave. Tuition for in-district residents is $39 per credit hour. Fees are additional.

For more information, call the college at 974-2110.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

I would like to commend the Cook County Board of Commissioners on following the lead of the Cook County Women Elected Officials Caucus Against Gun Violence in passing the ban of the sale and possession of assault weapons in Cook County.

The Women Elected Officials rallied as a bi-partisan group against gun violence at a conference on July 29th, drafted and signed a resolution, containing federal, state and local legislative proposals as a means to limit firearms violence.

The resolution specifically called for a ban on the manufacture, sale and possession of assault weapons; passage of the Brady Bill; a tax on the sale of guns and ammunition, and the passage of strict liability legislation holding the manufacturers and dealers of guns traced to personal injury or wrongful death liable for civil damages.

The caucus resulted in a unified front among women to work for a change in current gun legislation. The goal of the conference was to build a consensus on what government can do to alleviate the ever-growing epidemic of handgun violence in both our city and suburban areas.

Since July, there have been great strides in the battle against gun violence. On the local level, Cook County has banned assault weapons and the county board has proposed an ordinance imposing a 1,000% tax on ammunition. On the federal level, the Brady Bill has passed both the House and the Senate and has been signed by the President.

Bringing awareness to the epidemic of gun violence is one way to combat the problem. Every group or government body which takes a stand against gun violence brings us that much closer to a safe society where families and senior citizens can walk through parks and streets of our cities and suburbs without the threat of gun violence.

We are reaching out and expanding our group to form a grass-roots effort of those — both men and women — in government, business, health care, education, legal, religious, labor and community organizations. The more people we organize against gun violence, the sooner this resolution goes from the paper stage to reality in our communities and in our state.

Together we can make a difference!

Sincerely,
s/s Aurelia Pucinski
Clerk of the Circuit Court of Cook County

CABLE, WISCONSIN - Conditions were perfect for the opening days of Wisconsin's nine-day deer hunting season. Temperatures ranged from mid-teens to mid-40s. A couple of inches of snow on the ground accompanied by light snow during the night made for excellent tracking. My hunting companions were TOM and MEG NOONE, Palos Heights and JIM and EILEEN GRADY, Orland Park. We were hunting a BUCKS ONLY area in Bayfield County. If DOES had been legal we could easily have taken our five deer.

I had the only shot at a buck, and missed. While pouring a cup of bouillon, the buck ran across a 100 foot opening. I dropped the cup and thermos, got off a quick shot and had a clean miss. There's always next year. The Wisconsin DNR publicly apologized for over-estimating the size of the deer herd last year and issuing a large number of bonus deer tags for does, fawns and bucks with horns less than 3" long. The deer harvest last year was over 350,000. This year's estimate is 250,000. If Northern Wisconsin has a mild winter with average snow fall allowing access to a bumper crop of acorns the deer herd should recover.

VALUABLE FISH STOLEN FROM INDIANA HATCHERY - Suspecting fish poaching on hatchery property, officials at the Driftwood State Fish Hatchery in Vallonia inventoried a brood stock pond and revealed a loss of 64 valuable largemouth bass. The loss far exceeded the normal six percent natural mortality of fish at the hatchery.

The apparently stolen fish were part of the domestic largemouth bass broodstock program, which the Division of Fish and Wildlife has developed over the past 10 years. The fish were used to produce bass fry for release in Indiana's public waters. The stolen brood fish had a minimum replacement value of $69 each, bringing the loss of 64 fish to a cost of at least $4,416.

"Each of these fish produce roughly 5,000 bass fry each year, so you can see how the loss of each brood fish reduces fishing opportunities for everyone," said Jim Luttrell, hatchery manager.

To prevent future theft, conservation officers will regularly patrol the Driftwood hatchery area. DNR officials warn that if thefts continue, use of hatchery roads for access to Starve Hollow Lake tailwater fishing areas may be restricted. The Division of Fish and Wildlife asks anyone who hears about illegal fishing and hunting activity to call the toll free Turn-in-a-Poacher (TIP) hotline at 1-(800)-TIP-IDNR. TIP offers substantial rewards for information leading to the arrest of fish and wildlife law violators. Callers are not required to give their names or testify in court.

FISCAL YEAR 1993 FISHERIES RESOURCES OVERVIEW - about 1.5 million anglers fish more than 41 million days in Illinois each year, making fishing one of the most popular outdoor activities in the state. Sport fishermen contribute more than $1.7 billion annually to the state's economy by pursuing their sport in Illinois. There are 1.6 million acres of surface water in Illinois, but due to pollution and other physical degradations, the supply of quality fishing waters is limited.

Early fish management efforts consisted of little more than a mix of regulations and fish stocking programs. But such practices did not address the problems of declining fish habitat and increasing user demands. Consequently, since the 1950s, fisheries management has involved sampling fish populations, conducting creel censuses and angler surveys, analyzing water quality, controlling aquatic weeds, manipulating water levels, producing the proper sizes and species of fish for stocking purposes and, if necessary, eradicating undesirable fish populations.

The three soccer players were recently named to the 1993 Chicago Catholic League All-Star Team. In addition, Nedza was named all-section and missed qualifying for the all-state team by only two votes.

'Pack The Place' At Cougar-Ute Game

Chicago State University's men's basketball team is gearing up for an exciting home contest with the University of Utah, scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 11th at 7:30 p.m. The Cougars are looking to pack the physical education and athletics building for the first-ever meeting with perennial NCAA power Utah. The Utes are coming off a successful 24-7 season and a second trip to the NCAA Tournament in three years. Utah coach Rick Majerus is a popular figure throughout the country and still keeps close ties to the Midwest, having spent time as a head coach at Marquette and Ball State before heading to Utah.

This is just one game in a very attractive home schedule for the Cougars. Other contests include visits from Eastern Michigan (Dec. 22nd), Northern Illinois (Dec. 30th), Northeastern Illinois (Jan. 13th), Missouri-Kansas City (Jan. 22nd), Evansville (Jan. 31st), Central Connecticut (Feb. 17th), Central State (Feb. 19th) and Hofstra (Feb. 26th). All home games start at 7:30.

Ticket information can be obtained by calling (312) 995-2295.

Annual Boys Basketball Tournament

The field is set for the St. Francis de Sales High School annual Boys Grammar School Basketball Tournament, with the first round games in the double elimination tournament scheduled to tip off on Sunday, Dec. 12th at 12 noon in the De Sales Gymnasium. According to De Sales varsity boys basketball coach Larry Moore, this year's tournament should produce some excellent matchups.

"We're looking forward to a tough, highly competitive 1993-94 tournament, thanks to the talented roster of teams involved," Moore observed.

First round play opens with Holy Name of Mary versus Burnham. The remainder of Sunday's schedule is Black School versus St. Columba at 1 p.m.; Holy Ghost versus St. Florian at 2 p.m.; St. John Fisher versus Jane Addams School at 3 p.m.; Annunciata versus Wentworth School at 4 p.m.; Our Lady of Guadalupe versus Steger at 5 p.m.; the Warriors drew a bye for the 6 p.m. slot; St. John the Baptist versus Fuller School at 7 p.m.

For further tournament information, contact Larry Moore at (312) 731-7272, ext. 28.

PGA Competitor

John Dal Corobbo of Countryside, will join a field of 45 competing in the 17th annual Titleist/Foot-Joy PGA Assistant Professional Championship, Dec. 14-17, at PGA West's Jack Nicklaus Private Course in La Quinta, Calif.

Dal Corobbo, representing the Illinois PGA Section, earned his national championship berth by winning the Section qualifying tournament Aug. 9.

MVCC Marauders Are Undefeated

Moraine Valley Community College men's basketball team remains undefeated at 5-0 after downing two nationally-ranked teams.

The Marauders defeated Olive Harvey College 99-92 on Nov. 30th. Olive Harvey was ranked sixth nationally in a Division II, National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) pre-season poll.

Brian Pote (De LaSalle) was the leading scorer with 41 points and 9 rebounds, Corey Huddleston (Rich Central) had 27 points and 8 rebounds, and Eric Henney (Evergreen Park) had 12 points and 15 rebounds. Jaysen Orkowski (St. Laurence) and Marcus Poe (Nazareth Academy) each made two free throws that clinched the win for the Marauders.

"The defense did their job and held when we had to," said Bill Finn, head basketball coach. "We go into these non-conference games as the underdogs because those schools offer scholarships and we don't."

On Nov. 23rd, the Marauders defeated nationally-ranked Kankakee Community College 71-68. Kankakee was ranked 23rd in Division I of the NJCAA.

The team was behind at the half when the score was 39-23. Kankakee had a 19-point lead with 15 minutes left in the game. Moraine Valley took the lead with just 1:05 remaining on the clock.

"Corey Huddleston (Rich Central) had a phenomenal game. He scored 44 points; 36 of those were in the second half, and he scored 24 consecutive points," Finn said. "This was our first win at Kankakee in 13 years."

MVCC's women's basketball team is proving to be a tough competitor while gaining valuable playing experience. The Marauders lost to Malcolm X College 54-47 after staging a huge comeback. Their record is 0-2. The team was down 10 points at the half and 14 points during the second half of the game. With just one minute to go, the Marauders tied the game at 47.

"We're really happy about the strong comeback we had in the game with Malcolm X from our young team," said Patrick Keating, head women's basketball coach.

Kim Behland (Shepard High School) was high scorer with 12 points and two steals. Eileen DeLozier (Maria High School) had nine points.

Tournament MVP

Washington University in St. Louis guard Gene Nolan, a 1992 graduate of Marist High School in Chicago, earned Most Valuable Player honors recently at Washington U's 10th Annual Lopata Classic. Nolan led the Bears (4-3) to the Lopata title with a 70-45 victory over Carleton College in Saturday's championship game.

Nolan, a sophomore at Washington U, scored 40 points in the two tournament games - 25 versus Babson (Mass.) College in Friday's 97-80 first-round win, and 15 against Carleton. Both figures were game-high scoring totals.

The 6-foot-1 guard, who leads the Bears in scoring this season with an 18.8 ppg average, and 8 of 11 treys and 13 of 22 field goals overall for the tourney. He also hit six of seven free throws. In the championship game, Nolan ignited a 22-3 second-half run by scoring 10 of the Bears' 22 points. The scoring run extended a 29-24 lead to 51-27 with 10:20 left to play.

The Lopata championship was the first for the Bears after winning the first five titles from 1984 to 1988: The Lopata Classic, aka the "Brainball Classic," is an NCAA Division III tournament comprising top academic schools. Some of the all-time Lopata Classic participants have included

MIT, Caltech, Johns Hopkins, Swarthmore, Claremont-Mudd, Amherst and Pomona-Pitzer.

The Hickory Willow Swim Association "Dolphins" took second place at the 1993 Maple City Classic in LaPorte, IN, on Nov. 26th to 28th. Four hundred and twenty-four swimmers from 29 Indiana and Illinois teams competed. In the 7 & under age group, HWSA swimmers Trevor Garrett and Bryan Fazel tied for the high point trophy with 55 points each. Fourteen-year old Eric Von Zee won the high point trophy for his age group.

SICA Board "Realigns" Conference Schools

The superintendents of the high school districts that comprise the South Inter-Conference Association (SICA) unanimously approved a realignment plan for their organization last month. The SICA Principals Board of Control presented the following plan to the SICA Superintendents Board of Control, which subsequently passed it: Dwight D. Eisenhower High School will move from SICA East to SICA North and Carl Sandburg High School will move from SICA North to SICA West. These changes become effective with the 1995-96 school year. The approval completed 18 months of discussion among the SICA athletic directors, principals and superintendents.

"There are several overlapping issues that created the need to realign," said Dr. Ken Reczkiewicz, principal of Rich South High School and president of the SICA Principals Board of Control. "Enrollments have increased and decreased among the SICA schools. We've also had the two Joliet schools combine their programs. The bottom line is that we had to do something, at least in the short term, to address these issues."

The realignment resolves these issues, without disrupting the SICA geographical grouping or the vast majority of traditional rivalries.

"Basically, the principals said, 'Let's do something that will address the immediate need, but do it conservatively'," Reczkiewicz said.

Index For Ice Fishing

Ice fishermen no longer need to cut through a foot of ice to find six inches of water underneath. An index for the 2450 Wisconsin mapped lakes is now available. A lake map is actually a 'hydro-graphic chart,' a map showing the various depths of a lake along with other information so desirable to have for fishing, such as kind of lake bottom (mud, sand, gravel, etc.).

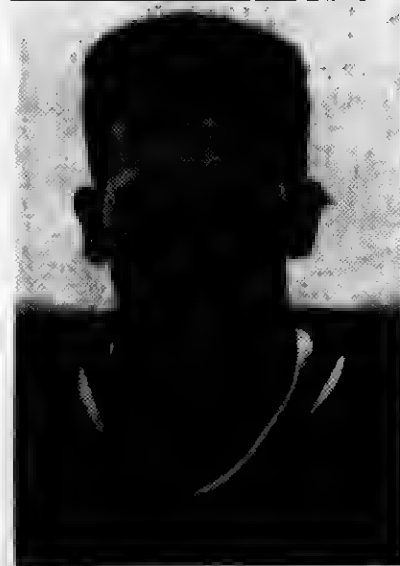

Suppose you want to fish for perch. You know his feeding habits and at what depths and over what kind of bottom he would be. With a Wisconsin lake map you can see at a glance the general contour of the lake bottom and the exact depth of any given place along with the kind and condition of the bottom.

The index is available at no charge by sending a self-addressed, stamped (52 cents) No. 10 business envelope to: Wisconsin Ice Fishing, Box 5096, Madison, WI 53705-0096.

A.A. Stagg High School graduate Mark Pohn is playing a key role this season for the Illinois College Football team. Pohn, a junior slotback, has seen most of his action on the junior varsity level. The 6-2, 205 pound junior is also on the varsity's special teams. He is a standout for the NCAA Division III Blueboys.

Mark, the son of Dale and Sandra Pohn of Alsip, is majoring in art.

Illinois College competes as a member of the South Division of the Midwest Conference against NCAA Division III colleges and universities in Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin. Illinois College was founded in 1829 and has a current enrollment of 938.

Oak Lawn Reviews

by Ann Bennett
422-0486

It is beginning to look like Christmas with the homes in the village being decorated. Very festive!

Just a reminder if you like choirs, bands and orchestras. The groups from the Oak Lawn Community High School will have their Holiday Christmas Music Festival this coming Sunday at 2 p.m. Admission is free and refreshments will be served.

On Sunday, Dec. 19th at 4 p.m., the Trinity Sunday School will present a program, "The Little Christmas Lamb." Admission is free and the whole family is invited.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Munch who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Dec. 5th. May you have many more happy years.

James W. and Joanna Buschbach became the parents of Steven Anthony, born on Nov. 18th. Jim and Joan Buschbach are the happy grandparents. Congratulations to all of you.

Jaqueline Marsh of London, England returned home last week after spending a 15-day visit with her parents, Al and Grace Finn, her brothers, sisters and friends. In order to get everyone to have a chance to see her, the family had a welcome home party attended by 38 people.

Alice Whinna was pleasantly surprised when her son Ryan, his wife Leann, and her grandson Nickolas jetted in from El Paso, Texas to help her celebrate her 80th birthday. Along with her husband Earl, they went to a local restaurant for dinner. May you have many more happy birthdays.

Thomas and Susan Shanklin of Crestwood are announcing the arrival of their first child, Justin Robert, born on Nov. 24th at the University of Chicago Hospital, weighing in at eight pounds, eight ounces. The happy grandmother is June Shanklin, one of the lovelies working in the Oak Lawn Police records department. Congratulations.

An "Enrichment Mission" will be hosted by St. Fabian Church, 83rd and Oketo, Bridgeview, from Jan. 16th through 20th from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to participate in this 'renewal of life for our community.' The mission has been put together with young people in mind but will be addressing issues faced by young and old alike. Those attending are asked to bring a Bible and, if possible, a friend. Refreshments and a gathering will follow each session.

The Oak Lawn Rotary Club is sponsoring a Grand Music Weekend, with two concerts which will inaugurate the new Fine and Performing Arts Center at Moraine Valley Community College and the Dorothy Menker Theater on the campus at 111th St. and 88th Ave. The donation for tickets is $15 for each performance. Johnny Frigo, fiddler, and his quartet will appear on Saturday, Feb. 12th at 8 p.m. and on Sunday, Feb. 13th, there will be Frank Pellico on organ; Mona Marie Knock on violin at 2 p.m. Proceeds support Oak Lawn Rotary projects in the community, including international and domestic scholarships, emergency relief, Park Lawn, St. Coletta and Garden Schools, student exchanges and Moraine Valley Community College Foundation. Call Brian Andersen at 887-4600, Terry Bartolini at 425-7474 or Linda Kirby at 499-7625.

A big thank-you is being sent to the Oak Lawn Athletic Club for their generous donation towards uniforms for the Oak Lawn Wildcats wrestling team. Chet Mirus, coach, said the team is growing and they really appreciate the help of the athletic club which will keep the boys off the street and into sports. Jim Zangara is president of the club.

The drawing for the 'Winner's Circle 6' sponsored by St. Gerald Parish will be held on Sunday, Dec. 19th at 1 p.m. in the parish hall. The first prize is $10,000; 2nd, $500; and from 3rd to 6th, $100 each.

The Christmas party for children and grandchildren of members of the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post and Ladies Auxiliary will be held on Sunday, Dec. 12th in the post hall from 1 to 4 p.m. A paid-up dues card for 1994 is the price of admission. Rich Luemen, jr. commander, is chairperson and is being assisted by Post Commander Russell Smukula and Aux. President Penny Hempen and members.

The dinner and Child Assistance drawing for members of the Johnson-Phelps VFW Aux. and their friends will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 21st. Dorothy Hejl and Florence Van are co-chairpersons for the dinner and Carole Brown is in charge of the drawing. Penny Hempen is auxiliary president. Post members are serving as waiters for the evening.

Showcase Theater, 12757 S. Western, presents "The Little Angel," at 8 p.m. on Friday & Saturday, Dec. 17th & 18th and on Sunday, Dec. 19th at 3 p.m. Stephanie Seale and Ron Buscemi of Evergreen Park, along with Colleen Hamilton of Oak Lawn star in the musical. The $9 reserved seat is only $7 for adults; $5 for students with an advance call to the box office, (708) 841-7396.

St. Laurence Golf Champion

Steve Milewski, a St. Laurence High School sophomore, finished eighth in the Illinois High School Association (I.H.S.A.) Individual State Golf Championships which were held on Oct. 15th at Crestwicke Golf Course, Bloomington. Milewski is the first golfer in St. Laurence history to place in the state championships, and thus, is the first to receive a championship medallion.

Milewski shot a 78 at the state championships in first round play before rain canceled the second day of action. All first-day scores were then used to determine the state qualifiers and champion. Milewski's 74 was just four strokes off the pace of the eventual state champion.

Milewski qualified for state by shooting a 76 in regional play at Glenwoodie Golf Course, Glenwood. Milewski won the regional and advanced to the sectional at Glenwoodie where he shot an 82 to place his 7th to earn the right to advance downstate.

"Steve had a tremendous year," commented St. Laurence golf coach Tom Gorman. "It was just a lot of fun riding on his coattails all the way to the championships. We've had some pretty fair golfers over the years, but none has ever advanced this far. Add to that, the fact that Steve is only a

Endangered Animals New Program

State Representative Maureen Murphy announced that in cooperation with Brookfield Zoo she is the sponsor of an endangered animal program implemented in our community schools on the fourth grade level.

"Brookfield Zoo has an extensive education department committed to helping out community appreciate nature and act wisely in its behalf. They have provided me with an opportunity to involve teachers and students on the fourth grade level in this exciting new program," Murphy said.

The program is very simple explained Murphy, each month a photograph and a detailed account of an animal in danger of extinction is distributed to the schools. The teachers in turn have the opportunity to incorporate it into science lesson plans or to create an 'environment library.'

sophomore, and you can only appreciate more what this young man has accomplished."

Milewski helped shoot the Vikings to a fourth place finish in the regionals, and Gorman feels that his success can improve St. Laurence's fortunes in the next two years.

"When you talk about building a team around someone, you rarely start with a sophomore. But, in this case, having Steve around for a couple more years, will help keep the team very competitive. That is not even to mention his future success as an individual," Gorman concluded.

Milewski is a graduate of Simmons Junior High, Oak Lawn.

District 218 Educators At Info Seminars

OAK LAWN

Dr. Jim McNamara School District 218's executive director for planning and research and John Adams, curriculum coordinator for mathematics, gave a presentation at the National Association of School Boards technology exposition. Their presentation gave a complete overview of the district's technological applications for curriculum, technical support, and staff development.

Eisenhower cooperative education teachers Lorraine Baxter and Jack Kenney recently spoke at a Blue Island Rotary Club lunch. They outlined the opportunities District 218 offers for local businesses to employ students who are enrolled in cooperative education.

Shepard Associate Principal Dr. Lois Stanciak and Assistant Principal Dr. Sally Zepeda will present informational seminars at the annual meeting of the Illinois Directors of Student Activities later this month. Stanciak will present a seminar on the district's new freshman guidance curriculum, and Zepeda will present a seminar on the use of computer technology in school publications.

Eisenhower chemistry teacher Nancy Zipprich co-presented a workshop on creative chromatography at the Illinois Science Teachers Association convention.

Richards LRC coordinator Bettye Campbell recently joined the faculty at St. Xavier University. Bettye teaches the course "School Libraries." She also recently was elected president of the High School Library Media Association, a regional organization of high school librarians from Chicagoland and northern Illinois.

'High School Hero'

Oak Lawn Community High School senior Tonia Perillo was recently recognized by Channel 5 as a 'High School Hero.' During a recent interview at the high school, program coordinator Brad Hokin indicated that a student selected has a minimum of 3.0 GPA, is a starter in a varsity sport and is someone school officials could feel proud to have represent their school.

Tonia, an all-conference setter, led the team in assists, and is the team co-captain. She has a 4.176 GPA and ranks 7th in a class of 308. In addition, Tonia is active in the National Honor Society, Key Club, was named an 'Outstanding Junior Girl,' is a Peer Helper, President of the Student Council, and a recipient of the Academic Letter Award for High Honors.

Tonia is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Terry Perillo.

Extra Care For Holiday Trees And Plants

Although it seems the holiday season zips by, the Forest Preserve District of Cook County has some helpful hints on how to actually make it last longer, announced Cook County Board President Richard Phelan.

"With a little extra care, people's Christmas trees and poinsettia plants will last long after the last gift is unwrapped on Christmas morning," Phelan said. "The advice we offer residents will extend the feeling of the holidays by extending the life of those things so closely associated with Christmas. It is also important to exercise special care to prevent fires caused by Christmas lights and electrical shortages."

The Forest Preserve District recommends the following for the care of Christmas trees and poinsettia plants: add a pint to a quart of water each day to the tree stand; always keep the water level above the bottom of the trunk, this will prevent needle drop and increase the tree's fire resistance; keep the tree away from heat sources and make sure lights on the tree are UL approved, lights should be checked for wear; do not leave lights on when the tree is unattended; Christmas trees should be removed from homes immediately when they become dry and brittle because of the risk of fire; keep the poinsettia plant from cold drafts and away from doors and cold windows; avoid placing it near sources of heat such as radiators, heating vents, TV or near fireplaces; run a humidifier for the poinsettias, which thrive in temperatures between 60 and 68 degrees Fahrenheit; keep the plant out of direct sunlight; keep the plant evenly moist and do not allow it to dry to the wilting point.

National Honor Society Inductees

The Oak Lawn Community High School Spartan Chapter of the National Honor Society inducted 42 members at its annual ceremony on Nov. 15th. Dr. Les Luka, principal, was the guest speaker. Membership requirements include: junior-senior status, 3.1 cumulative grade point average; college preparatory enrollment, involvement in service, leadership and extracurricular activities.

New inductees include: juniors Jennifer Bartosz, Robert Carey, Kimberly Chilvers, Brian Clifton, Kristy Clifton, Michael Colvin, Scott Cummings, Julie Deplaris, Jenny Devivo, Rahul Dhawan, Sherlyn Dorna, Amy Feltz, Christopher Franzen, Tracy Heinrich, Sandra Kaczmarek, James Kolar, Jennifer Kosik, Karen Laurinaitis, James Liao, Jeremy Marchetti, Adria Martig, Gina Martino, Christine Matuszewski, Brian Melvin, Anno Mollo, Tim Monahan, Angela Moustis, Wendy Musielak, Ira Palmer, Carolyn Parkhill, Matthew Robertson, Sarah Roberts, April Sherwood, Heather Uelman, Becky Viollet, Dan Wallace, Carrie Walsh, Julie Wenzel, Teresa Wojtylak and Rosario Yngson.

Liquid nitrogen vapor from a superconducting motor frames teachers learning to use sophisticated equipment that will be trucked daily to Chicago-area science classrooms. Practicing experiments are Andrew Walker of Alan B. Shepard High School, Palos Heights; Margaret Flynn of Aqsa School, Bridgeview; Jan Sulick of Oak Lawn Community High School; Eileen Hergenrother of Alan B. Shepard; and Daniel Maloney of Oak Lawn Community. The initiative is sponsored by Argonne National Laboratory, the U.S. Department of Energy and Navistar Corp., which will provide a new truck in place of the Argonne fleet unit used at the demonstration.

Yule Worship Program

Hometown Christian Church, 4340 W. 87th St., will celebrate the birth of our Lord, Jesus Christ, on Christmas Eve, Dec. 24th at 7:30 p.m. There will be joy, awe and reverence, similar to that of the shepherds on that night, within our church, including the sound of familiar carols and the warm glow of candles. The choir will present a Christmas musical, "The Light of the World," by Stan Pethel, with narration by Mark Cabaniss.

Make this Christmas Eve Candlelight Service an integral part of your Christmas celebration. God gave us music so we may pray without words. We welcome all to pray with us in this way by candlelight to remind us of the true meaning of Christmas.

Pre-Natal Class

EHS Christ Hospital and Medical Center, 4440 W. 95th St., Oak Lawn, has scheduled a new community education class for expectant parents called "My Baby and Me," which covers many of the topics new mothers and fathers will experience such as bath demonstration, sibling adjustment, baby safety, maternal care, breast feeding and emotional changes.

"My Baby and Me" is presented every Monday of the month at several different times and locations, including Oak Lawn and Tinley Park. Expectant parents need only attend one class and the cost is free. The class will be presented on the first and second Monday of every month from 7 to 9 p.m. at Christ Hospital, Red Room, first floor; third Monday from 1 to 3 p.m. at Christ Hospital, Red Room, first floor and fourth Monday from 7 to 9 p.m., at Women's Health Center of EHS Christ Hospital, 16325 S. Harlem (at Brentwood Drive), Tinley Park.

For more information or to register, call EHS Christ Hospital's health advisor at 346-5691.

PLOWS Receives Education Grant For Arthritis

PLOWS Council on Aging has received a federal grant under Title III-F of the Older Americans Act to bring Educize, an innovative aerobic exercise/problem-solving education program for people with arthritis, to seniors living in the southwestern suburbs. Prior to this, Educize has not been offered to individuals outside of a hospital or university setting. Educize has been developed and refined by Northwestern University's multipurpose arthritis center over a six-year period. Research has established that Educize positively affects both the physical and psychological well-being of people with various kinds of arthritis.

Program schedules and dates will be announced at a later date. PLOWS is accepting applications for volunteers to train as Educize program leaders. The following criteria will be used in the selection of volunteers: individuals should have flexible time and a flexible attitude; must be interested in self evaluation; should be interested in personal growth and willing to invest time and energy to advance that growth through independent study and reflection; should have some experience with aerobic exercise, and a level of fitness that allows them to participate; persons with arthritis are welcome, in aerobic activities; ideally will have a knowledge of seniors and their special needs and health problems, particularly arthritis and candidates with at least an associate degree are preferred.

People from the following professions are frequently trained as Educize leaders: nursing (RN's and LPN's), exercise physiologists, physical therapists, therapeutic recreation therapists, occupational therapists, health and fitness instructors and special workers.

Interested individuals will be asked to complete an application and undergo a detailed interview process. Selected volunteer trainers will be required to sign a memorandum of agreement, in which a commitment is made to participate in an intensive training period involving 10 to 12 hours a week for classes, seminars and independent study. Training will be done 2 to 3 times a week over a 2 to 3 month period. Total time commitment involves approximately 80 hours. Each trainer will receive a certificate of completion and will be eligible to conduct Educize sessions. Trainers will be conducting sessions during the training period under close supervision. A stipend will be paid to each individual who completes the program.

A trained Educize instructor will have a very marketable skill to offer to local park districts, health clubs, senior centers, etc. One of the goals is to have instructors continue promoting the Educize program on their own.

For more information, contact the PLOWS office at 422-6722.

CLUB HOURS: Mon.-Fri. 6:00 AM - 11:00 PM; Sat. 8:00 AM - 11:00 PM; Sun. 8:00 AM - 10:00 PM

Soccer is one of the most popular sports worldwide but is relatively unknown across the U.S. compared to other pro sports. The Power won the National Professional Soccer League Championship in 1991 and were NPSL National Division Champions in 1992. To most Chicagoans they still remain a silent power though their potent game is recognized and appreciated by soccer enthusiasts and opponents.

Hospitals are one of the strengths of any community and The Childrens Memorial Medical Center last year helped over 200,000 children both indigent and those in need of specialized care. To remain a potent force they rely heavily on donations and community support just as The Chicago Power relies on fan support and enthusiasm. IOF Foresters Bowling for Miracles Family Fun Days are run by forester volunteers so every penny you donate goes to Childrens Memorial. This year the Foresters in addition to absorbing all costs of administration are matching pledges dollar for dollar so that every dollar donated through Bowling for Miracles generates two to help kids in need. Where else will 200% of all your donation go directly to who you intended it for?

Just like the play of Bret, Ed, and Greg help make The Power a force to be reckoned with; your support can help maintain Childrens Memorial as a power player in our community for all children. To get a pledge sheet and register for the upcoming bowling call: Lois Opiela at (708) 422-3418 or (708) 857-7880 or Rich Barrett at (708) 403-2000 or (708) 803-3500 or (708) 515-1790.

Charge Murder Suspect

On Monday, Reggie Williams, 18, of Summit was charged with the murder of 50-year-old Susan Potempa, also of Summit. Williams was charged with first degree murder in an alleged murder-for-hire plot in which Potempa is said to have paid $2,100 to Williams for him to kill her. Potempa was found dead on the floor of her garage, the day after Thanksgiving.

Her husband Robert, 57, and son Jerry, 22, found the victim lying in a pool of blood, when they returned from the Bear-Lion game in Detroit. According to the report, Mrs. Potempa had been killed at approximately 11 p.m. on the 24th.

Mrs. Potempa, who had been suffering from breast cancer and had several operations, apparently had approached a number of individuals, both in Summit and at her workplace in Chicago, in her effort to end her life.

Williams, who moved from Chicago to Summit approximately a year ago, was spending considerable money shortly after Mrs. Potempa's death, although he was not employed. Police learned of the spending while canvassing the neighborhood where the killing took place.

A friend of Williams was persuaded to wear a 'wire' or listening device and during a conversation with the accused man, Williams allegedly said he had initially attempted to strangle Potempa and left her for dead. However, Potempa had merely passed out. She then searched for Williams, who returned to her home and killed her by bludgeoning her with a power tool.

Williams was being held on $300,000 bond in Cook County Jail for the murder and an additional $50,000 bond for violation of parole.

Pioneer Christmas

Enjoy the sights, sounds and smells of Christmas Past at the Forest Preserve District of Cook County's Sand Ridge Nature Center on Sunday, Dec. 12th. Sand Ridge's pioneer log cabins will be open from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. for holiday activities such as making tree decorations, popping corn over a fire, sampling Christmas treats and caroling.

"Sand Ridge Nature Center, and the district's other five nature centers, have activities all year round," said Cook County Board President Richard Phelan. "Celebrating the holiday season in the forest preserves can be a fun-filled, unique experience for the entire family."

During the Sand Ridge program, volunteers dressed in period costumes will lead the activities, talking and answering questions about Christmas in pioneer times. The program is free and open to families and individuals. Limited space prevents Sand Ridge from accommodating organized groups on Dec. 12th.

Donors Are Needed

During this holiday season, blood donors are needed every day to meet the needs of area patients. United Blood Services urges healthy individuals to donate blood. Donors are often in shorter supply this time of year for two reasons: people who normally might volunteer to donate blood become so busy with family activities, traveling and shopping, they forget to donate, and businesses are reluctant to sponsor blood drives at this time because their employees are busier than usual. For these reasons, donations of blood are very important to area hospital patients.

Those who would like to donate are invited to contact United Blood Services at (312) 751-0246.

"DON'T SETTLE FOR COST, QUALITY OR SERVICE. CALL THE PEOPLE WHO CAN GIVE YOU ALL THREE."

THEODORE L. DESCH, SENIOR VP, LAW & CORPORATE AFFAIRS

Health insurance is a balancing act. You don't want to realize cost savings at the expense of quality care. And you don't want to save money if it means losing out on the level of service you expect. So what's the answer?

Well, over the years, nobody has done more to manage cost and preserve quality than we have. Nobody is more responsive to the needs of your people. And no one has more doctors, hospitals and coverage plans to choose from. Cost. Quality. And service. If you don't have all three, you don't have Blue Cross."

WHEN YOU HAVE BLUE CROSS, YOU HAVE IT ALL.

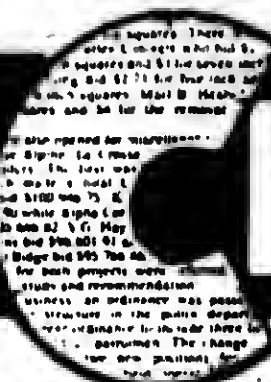

- ☐ You are working with the pioneer in effective cost containment strategies.
- ☐ The carrier that's doing more to monitor quality.
- ☐ The most professional claims and customer response systems in the business.
- ☐ The most trusted health plans in Illinois.

The holiest of all holidays are those Kept by ourselves in silence and apart;
The secret anniversaries of the heart.

by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

'Tis the season to be jolly---and drag out of the closet the
"Holiday Party Survival Kit."

It is that time of the year when we are once again face-to-face with what many of us consider the most terrifying of all experiences, the holiday season party treadmill.

Instead of sugarplums dancing in our heads, we have nightmares about how to survive a gathering of relatives or friends as the holiday party season swings into full gear.

Depression becomes a constant companion and hours are wasted attempting to manufacture excuses why attending a holiday party of relatives or friends could lead to an unwanted visit to the intensive care unit or worse yet a one-way ticket to the marble orchard.

But worry not my friends, because age brings more than sagging body parts, wrinkles and memory loss. Age has a way of producing wisdom.

Age makes it possible to survive the holiday season party circuit and live to talk about it.

What, you ask, is the secret to survival?

For the answer we once turned to a learned octogenarian friend of ours, who had survived half a century of holiday season merriment, and lived to talk about it and share with us his foolproof way of how to survive in a room full of 100 proof fools.

"I once dreaded the holiday season like yourself," our 80-year-old friend said, "that is until I discovered that everyone likes to talk about themselves."

"Look around or think back to who is the most liked person at a holiday party?," our wiseman inquired of us.

"Isn't it the person who wants to know all about your family, job, illnesses, trips you have been on, or the new car you bought?," he asked.

In short, the most popular person at the holiday party is the one who turns a chance meeting in a crowded basement into a "60 Minute" interview.

Try to get "Mr. or Mrs. Popular" to talk about their life and you run into a brick wall.

They won't have any part of it. They only want to know all about your kids, your last operation, your Mom or Dad, your LIFE.

Armed with our new found "Holiday Party Survival Kit," we ventured forth into the dangerous and murky waters of the holiday season party.

The basement was crowded and Christmas songs by Bing Crosby, Perry Como and Andy Williams filled the festive holiday air.

Protocol is the ever present watchword and so we tried out our new found "Holiday Party Survival Kit" system on the hostess.

A half hour later we had learned enough about hysterectomies to earn us a honorary fellowship at the Mayo Clinic.

As we politely excused ourselves and turned away, we heard the hostess comment to another person; "He is so nice. All he wanted to talk about was my operation."

Wow, it's working.

Flushed with excitement, we turned our attention to the host, who was also acting as bartender.

We remembered what our octogenarian friend told us;
"Men like to talk about their jobs."

Forty-five minutes later, we had learned enough about working on a production line in a candy plant to end up with a case of diabetes.

"What a great guy," we heard the host say to anyone within earshot as we turned our attention to another party animal.

Six hours later we had worked our way through most of the room and the "Holiday Party Survival Kit" was a roaring success.

Our head was filled with facts about hysterectomies, candy production, vacation trips on cruise ships, little Jane or John's 3.9 grade average at college, Mom's battle for life, and the trials and tribulations of buying a new car.

And then it happened.

We ran into "Mr. Popular." The guy everyone talks about. The guy who only wants to hear what is going on in your life. "Mr. Q and A" all rolled into one.

I'd ask him a question, and instead of answering, he would ask me a question. It was horrible. It was a stalemate.
What do I do now?

And then I remembered what my octogenarian friend had said was the most important item to remember from the
"Holiday Party Survival Kit."

When you are tired and have run out of people to interview about their lives, or who will not answer your probing questions, or who turn the tables and try to get you to talk about yourself, it is time to pack up your "Holiday Party Survival Kit" and head for home.

But first, let me tell you about my Chia pet.

HOW MANY FINGERS?....Now that all the hand-wringing is over as to what college football team is going to play another college football team in the cornucopia of post-season bowl games, it is time to get down to the much more serious, and little talked about, business of injuries that have occurred on football fields this season. Dr. James Kelly, who directs the brain injury program at the Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago, estimates that up to 250,000 concussions have already been recorded on gridirons around the nation since the start of the season in September. Most head injuries are seen as trivial by trainers, coaches and the athletes themselves. "People tend to dismiss concussions as minor unless the player becomes unconscious or has amnesia," says Dr. Kelly. "Yet repeated concussions, even minor ones, can be fatal." Dr. Kelly defines three types of football related concussions and the treatment for each: (1) Confusion without amnesia. Remove player from game and examine immediately and every five minutes afterward. Permit the player to return to the game if amnesia and other symptoms don't appear within 20 minutes. (2) Confusion and amnesia. Remove player from game and examine frequently. Examine him the next day and permit him to return to practice after one week without additional symptoms. (3) Loss of consciousness. Transport player by ambulance to nearest hospital. Perform neurological evaluation and admit to hospital if necessary. Permit him to return to practice after two weeks without symptoms. Unfortunately too many coaches place "winning is everything" as the number one priority and not the football player's future.

PENELOPE ANN MILLER (inset) portrays a hopeful young dancer who dreams of escaping to a better life in the runaway hit movie "Carillo's Way" which is a boffo box success. Al Pacino, Sean Penn and John Leguizamo also star in the Universal Pictures release...Other flicks worth seeing are "Ruby in Paradise," the story of a young girl determined to find a better place and time than her past closed world in the mountains of Tennessee, and "Addams Family Values" a Paramount Pictures movie starring Anjelica Huston, Raul Julia, Christopher Lloyd and John Cusack.

COFFEE, TEA OR POPCORN?...Experts estimate that moviegoers spend an average of $2 or more per film on snacks. In an effort to try and make snacking at movie theatres more of a treat than a treatment, many California movie theatres are experimenting with waiters delivering orders to movie-goers. But it doesn't just include such well known movie theatre staples as popcorn, candy bars and soft drinks. The new wave of munchy merchandising also includes yogurt, sandwiches, ice cream sodas, cappuccino and muffins. No longer do you have to get up in the middle of a movie and head for the refreshment stand, because some theatres offer rolling portable carts filled with all kinds of goodies that travel up and down the aisles. Some California movie houses now have self-serve stations called "power stands," where customers can pour themselves drinks, fill their own popcorn boxes and get their own nachos. If this idea ever catches on in Chicago movie houses, can a rolling cart of "sliders" be far behind?

"BABES IN TOYLAND" (inset) will run for seven performances only from Dec. 26 through Jan. 2 at the Cahn Auditorium in Evanston. Ray Rayner, former WGN-TV personality, will star in the Light Opera Works' holiday presentation....The cruise ship "Spirit of Chicago" will for the first time hold a combination dinner, show and moonlight cruise on New Year's Eve for $100 per person....The Sig Sakowicz Fan Club has collected over 50 boxes and bags of non-perishable goods which were donated to flood-ravages victims in Missouri, Illinois and Iowa.

DASHES TO DEADLINEREBECCA DEMORNAY (inset) stars as the cunning and seductive Milady de Winter in the Walt Disney Pictures release of "The Three Musketeers" now playing at movie theatres around the Chicago area..... The Beverly Art Center's Dance Studio will present an original children's Christmas ballet, "Visit to Toyland," on Dec. 18 at 4 pm and Dec. 19 at 2 p.m. at the Beverly Art Center, 2153 W. 111th St.

STAR Presents Holiday Treat

Digest that last piece of turkey, and join Southwest Theatre & Arts Resources, Inc. (STAR) as it presents the fourth-annual holiday production of "Reindeer on the Roof" written by Mildred Hark and Noel McQueen. Performances are scheduled for Saturdays and Sundays, Dec. 11th & 12th and 18th & 19th from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. at Clearing United Methodist Church, 5717 W. 63rd Pl.

Featured in the production are Chuck Weber of Bridgeview as George, Oak Lawn resident Suzanne Temple as Jackie, Michelle Pieroni of Oak Lawn as Jane and Mt. Greenwood resident Jimmy Fitzgerald as Jason. Also featured are Jeffrey Karst of the North Side as Stan, Clearing resident Christine Szafran as Stella, and Sarah Hannus of Palos Heights as Stephanie. Garfield Ridge resident Leo Rokicki is "the reporter" and Laurie Reyna of West Elsdon is director.

Tickets are $4 per person and group discounts are available. Call (312) 585-5852 for information.

A Polish Christmas

The Southwest Polish Society Christmas celebration will be held on Thursday, Dec. 16th at the Royalty West, Willow Springs, beginning with a social time at 6:30 p.m., dinner at 7 p.m. Tickets are $15 per person. Singing of Christmas Carols and a visit from St. Nicholas will lend to a festive evening. Call President Frances Drwal for reservations at 385-4364.

The society is dedicated to the preservation of Polish culture. Meetings are held monthly at the Palos Heights Recreation Center. Annual membership is $8, which includes a mailed monthly newsletter.

Entertainment books are now being sold by the society. The $35 book is a great buy, featuring hundreds of discount coupons on various restaurants and place of entertainment, adding up to savings of many dollars.

Young Performers

The Illinois Young Performers Competition gives young instrumentalists around the state a chance to perform with the world-renowned Chicago Symphony in a concert on Tuesday, April 26th, 1994 broadcast live from Orchestra Hall by WTTW-TV/Channel 11. The six finalists that night will share $18,000 in scholarships. Young Illinois musicians up to age 19 are encouraged to apply for the competition which has been sponsored for the last 10 years by Ameritech, WTTW-TV, and the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. Applicants will audition in the junior or senior divisions in piano, strings, and woodwinds, brass & percussion. Up to 18 musicians will be selected as contestants in the Sudler Foundation for Musical Arts Finals, during which the six finalists for the Illinois Young Performers Competition are chosen. Applications for The Illinois Young Performers Competition are now available and must be postmarked no later than Jan. 3rd, 1994.

For an application or further information, contact the Chicago Symphony Education Department at (312) 435-8143.

Gala Dinner-Dance

An elegant evening of dining and dancing is to be held on Friday, Dec. 31st with the added excitement of Monte Carlo. The evening will feature gourmet dining, dancing until 1994, a sweet table plus the opportunity to try your luck at roulette, blackjack and the wheel of fortune. Many other surprises are planned.

All proceeds from the evening's ball go directly to benefit the Polish American Congress Charitable Foundation's work for children's hospitals, orphanages and rehabilitation centers in Poland.

Tickets for this New Year's Eve Ball are $125 per person and include an open bar, favors, dinner and entertainment. Reservations will be limited, so call to make sure that you will be included in this gala evening of entertainment.

For reservations and more information, call (312) 763-9944.

Irish Art Exhibit

Mary McSweeney, Irish born artist, will present an exhibition of her paintings and limited edition prints in the Celtic Room of Chicago Gaelic Park, 6119 W. 147th St., on Saturday, Dec. 11th from 3 to 10 p.m. and on Sunday, Dec. 12th from 1 to 9 p.m. The show includes personalized artwork, greeting cards, note cards and Christmas cards.

McSweeney was born in Killarney, Ireland and has been illustrating the Irish landscape, its people and traditions since her childhood. She has studied art in Ireland and England and presently resides in the Chicagoland area.

McSweeney's art is readily recognized. Her unique realistic style is a combination of fine detail and her own individuality. She has exhibited in many group and solo exhibitions in Ireland, the United States and Canada. One of her major works is permanently on display in the lobby of Gaelic Park.

False Billing Scam Warning

This summer it was phony bills for ads in the yellow pages. More recently, customers who advertised in the classified section of their local newspaper not only received a bill for the ad they placed, but also received 'solicitations' for as much as $1,000 for other classified ads in mysterious publications in California.

Just recently, hundreds of restaurants began receiving letters from two separate individuals asking for reimbursement for dry cleaning expenses because, the writers claimed, a member of the restaurant staff spilled something on their clothing.

U.S. Postal Inspectors warn that companies and individuals should scrutinize bills as false billing schemes, and their not-so-distant cousins, solicitations disguised as invoices, increase.

"We've seen a number of these schemes pop up in the last couple of months," said U.S. Postal Inspector John Brugger. "We have begun investigations on these schemes and the Postal Service has initiated legal action against the companies and individuals involved."

Recently, Postal Inspectors issued a warning about the phony yellow pages scheme, which includes a $147 bill for a yellow pages ad, complete with the Yellow Pages logo and "Walking Fingers."

Then, Postal Inspectors began receiving complaints from newspaper publishers that their classified advertisers were receiving bills from various companies in California asking for hundreds of dollars to run the very same ad that had been run in the local paper.

Publishers said some customers are paying the exorbitant amount, thinking they have received a bill from the local newspaper in which they placed their ad. The fact that the bill comes with a tear sheet from the local newspaper only serves to confuse the advertiser even more.

The bills have a disclaimer stating "This is not a bill. This is a solicitation. You are under no obligation to pay the amount stated above unless you accept." However, the disclaimer does not comply with postal regulations because it is difficult to read.

If those scams weren't enough, Postal Inspectors' phones began ringing off the hook recently when restaurant owners nationwide were targeted by two scam artists. It appears that Michael Fitzpatrick of New York and John Walker of Florida are two of the most unfortunate restaurant patrons in the nation. Both have sent letters to hundreds of restaurateurs across the country, asking the restaurants to pay a phony cleaning bill because, supposedly, a restaurant staff member spilled something on their clothing.

Follow this advice from Postal Inspectors: "Make sure that what you're being billed for is something you've ordered or agreed to pay for. If you didn't order the merchandise or service, don't pay the bill. Forward it to a postal inspector, in care of your local postmaster."

Candidate

Worth Township Trustee Nancy Stack of Oak Lawn announced today that she will run for State Representative of the 36th District. "Today I am announcing my candidacy," said Stack. "As I went door-to-door during my trustee campaign I heard from many residents that they did not feel that their concerns were being adequately addressed in Springfield. I will change that."

Stack is a graduate of Illinois State University with a bachelor's degree in finance and business administration. She currently works as a trust officer at a major bank where she oversees the administration of over 20,000 accounts.

NANCY STACK

In April, she was elected in her first elective attempt. She was the top vote-getter of nine running for trustee.

"As the State Representative from the 36th District I will bring a sense of responsibility. I will work to improve education funding for suburban schools, work for economic development and fight to combat crime," she remarked.

"People of the 36th District demand respon-

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were reported by the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

At 4:15 p.m. on Nov. 24th, Jerry Lindskog of Oak Lawn reported he had been loading tools from a job site and left his unlocked truck to get the rest of them at 10941 S. Cicero. When he returned, he found someone had entered the van and $5,300 worth of tools had been taken.

Charles Evans of Chicago was arrested after police were called to investigate a suspicious black man who had just left Shirey Cadillac at 10125 S. Cicero. Police noticed a large bulge under the offender's coat pocket. A light pat-down by the officer revealed there were six cassette tapes and in between the tapes were several sets of Cadillac car keys with tags which had been taken from Shirey's. Evans was taken back to the dealer where he was identified as the person who had been in the service and customer service areas.

On the 25th, Kenneth E. Jones of Detroit, Michigan reported his 1993 Buick Regal was stolen from the Holiday Inn parking lot at 4200 W. 95th St. The car is valued at $14,000.

On the 26th at 9:32 a.m., Richard Menyes, owner of Pat's Hobby's at 5730 W. 95th St., reported that when he arrived at work, he found the window on the rear door was pushed out of the frame. Taken were a Webber model No. 12 gas engine; one gas engine for a 1/8 school model; a Tempo 4WD racing buggy model, for an estimated loss of $425. The wires of the alarm had been cut, but no cash was missing from the register.

At 7:45 p.m., Chilton R. Knudsen of Wheaton reported the theft of her purse while she was staying at the Holiday Inn, 4140 W. 95th St. She had been shopping and set a bag and her purse down outside the door and when she went out to pick them up found her purse was missing. The wallet with $200 cash; a $200 pair of prescription sunglasses; a small case with jewelry; a $200 gold wedding band; a $3,000 diamond engagement ring; silver earrings, $100; a Seiko watch, $3,100. A few hours later she received a call saying her purse had been found down the hall by a beverage machine with all contents except the $200 cash in it.

On the 28th at 1:39 a.m., David Trobe of Chicago was released from the lockup on bond. He was driving under the influence of alcohol. He became combative and refused to leave and then agreed to leave with two friends: While in the parking lot, he kicked the passenger side front fender putting a dent in it. He was re-arrested and charged with criminal damage to property.

William O'Brien, while on patrol, noticed a panel on the east bay door of Midas Muffler, 11009 S. Cicero, appeared to have been pried open. The owner of the shop was notified but declined to come out. The officer inspected the outside of the property and when he returned to the front of the building he found a car parked in front of the panel and four compressor attachable impact tools. The officer called for other squad cars who surrounded the business. A search of the premises found two black males lying on the floor facing each other. Lemon Price and Don Pollard, both of Chicago, were each cited with one count of burglary.

Laurence Allen, manager of Gliddens Paint Store at 9741 Southwest Highway, told police he noticed a refund receipt from John Riordan. He checked further and found there were nine separate receipts given to Riordan, okayed by William Cosgrove of Chicago and found three other receipts made out to Cosgrove's family members. Estimated loss is $520.79. Cosgrove was arrested and charged with 12 counts of theft.

Charles Vestuto of Oak Lawn reported he was involved in a traffic altercation which started at 95th and Cicero. Charles was driving a Ford and Tony Vestuto was driving a Chevrolet. They continued on Cicero with the offender driving a Buick following and drove them off the road several times. At Oak Center Drive, the offender, a male white, wearing a dark baseball cap, pointed an unknown handgun at the victim. The victims followed the offender to 103rd and Cicero, where they left their vehicles and approached the offender's car. The offender attempted to run down the victims with his car, then fled west on 103rd St. and south on Lavergne. The victims said they can identify the offender.

Bruce Paulsen of Oak Lawn reported someone pried open the cap that covers the bed of his pickup and removed $1,640 worth of tools and two 50-ft. heavy-duty extension cords.

Michael Martin of Lockport, owner of Berry Bearing, 5400 W. 111th St., reported someone entered the closed business and removed $171 from a locked storage closet. There were no signs of forced entry. An employee who has keys to the entry doors and storage closet did not report for work on the 29th and 30th. Martin alleged that the employee may be responsible for the theft. Complaints will be signed. William O'Donnell of Chicago Ridge of Performance Construction Co., 5435 W. 110th St., reported person(s) unknown removed a 1/2-horsepower electric twin tank air compressor and a 15-foot aluminum ladder from the private parking lot outside his business. Estimated loss is $740.

On the 26th, police answered a call for an armed robbery at the Jewel store at 9424 S. Pulaski. Kathy Flynn who was working behind the service desk said three offenders entered and offender 1 who was standing in the middle handed her a note which read "this is not a joke, put all your money in the bag; we have a gun, this is not a joke." The offender then lifted his shirt from the waistband to show a gun with a brown handle and black frame. Offender 1 told Flynn to put her hands on the counter where he could see them. She found a plastic Jewel bag and put $500 which was banded along with various loose bills of different denominations and handed the bag to offender 2 and the three walked out of the doors. Police went to Evergreen Park police station where they were holding a man that fit the description of one of the subjects.

On Dec. 1st, James Cosentino of Oak Lawn reported his 1988 Olds Ciera was stolen from the Shell station at 10601 S. Cicero. He had parked the car at the back door of the station leaving the key in the ignition and the motor running. The offender went north on Cicero. Cosentino had tools and camera in the car valued at $180.

Richard Salvino of Justice reported that during the night someone pried open the side panels of his truck which he had parked on McVicker south of 87th St. He said several heavy-duty tools were taken from the truck for an estimated loss of $1,265.

County Sheriff's Department To Be Reorganized

Cook County Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan recently announced a major reorganization of the Sheriff's Police as part of an ongoing effort to boost manpower in the department's patrol division and enhance the community policing plan implemented almost two years ago. The reorganization involves a total of 89 transfers of officers, sergeants and lieutenants to patrol duties, various investigative divisions and newly created specialized units. The transfers do not involve any demotion in rank.

The main component of the reorganization involves removal of 34 officers previously assigned to administrative duties in the Cook County State's Attorney's Office. This move completes a process initiated last year to return more than 100 officers assigned to the State's Attorney's Office to patrol and investigative duties. The transfers boost the size of the Sheriff's Police patrol division from 170 officers to 202 as of Dec. 10th. Since December of 1990, Sheahan has increased the size of the patrol division from 138 to 202 officers, a 46 percent increase.

"One of my primary goals as sheriff has been to increase the number of officers on patrol in the suburbs. That is where they are most effective in fighting crime and most accessible to citizens," Sheahan said.

In November of 1991, Sheahan moved to decentralize the Sheriff's Police Department and implement a comprehensive community policing plan, designed to build stronger ties and improve communication with the public. Under the program, officers are assigned to specific beats within the designated geographic locations, making them more visible to the public and more familiar with the problems and concerns of citizens in their districts.

Other key areas of the reorganization include: creation of a mobile task force comprised of 12 uniformed officers who will target high crime areas, follow criminal patterns and be available for special assistance for emergency and back up calls as well as performing specialized traffic enforcement duties such as overweight truck enforcement and road blocks; decentralization of the Sheriff's gang crimes narcotics unit which will now operate out of district stations in suburban Bridgeview and Rolling Meadows; assignment of two additional officers to the vice and gambling unit, four officers to the criminalistics division to work as evidence technicians, and four additional officers in the community relations unit to continue expansion of neighborhood watch organizations and community involvement; creation of a position for a canine officer to handle a specially trained bomb-sniffing dog and two additional officers for the drug enforcement agency (DEA) to work cooperatively with the federal agency.

"This series of transfers, along with other personnel moves, are major steps in our efforts to provide more effective and efficient police protection to the citizens of unincorporated Cook County," Sheahan said.

Chamber Concert

Mother McAuley Liberal Arts High School is holding its annual Christmas Chamber Concert on Tuesday, Dec. 14th at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium. Mrs. Phyllis Karge will direct the chamber and string ensembles as they play such Christmas favorites as "The Little Drummer Boy," themes from "The Nutcracker" and "Silver Bells." The a capella choir, under the direction of Sr. Ellen Marie Ryan, RSM, will further delight the audience with selections that include "Deck The Halls," "Do You Hear What I Hear?" and "We Wish You A Merry Christmas."

The school is at 3737 W. 99th St. Admission is free.

It'll never hold water.

Streit Decries Rezoning And Tax Levy

It was a long and noisy meeting of the Oak Lawn Village Board on Tuesday night with Trustee Robert Streit doing most of the shouting.

By a 5-1 vote the board approved the rezoning of property at 111th St. (part of the former Zayre property) from M-1, light manufacturing, to R-1, single-family and R-3, multi-family districts. The petitioner, Hartz Construction Co., presented a site plan which revealed 14 four-unit townhouse-like condominiums located along the railroad tracks and 111th St. The remaining property is to consist of 68 single-family homes. Hartz Construction Co. will soon begin construction of the Acorn Glen subdivision on 111th St. between Cicero Ave. and Central Ave. with 203 multi-family units (townhouses and condominiums).

Streit said he has a problem for a development of residences on the property when it was set aside for light industry which would generate more taxes and provide jobs. He pointed out that residential property has a negative revenue impact. Mayor Ernest Kolb pointed out that this parcel has been fallow for 50 years and no offers for light manufacturing have been received during that time.

The ordinance for the levy and assessment of taxes for the fiscal year beginning Jan. 1st, 1993 and ending Dec. 31st, 1993 was approved by a 4-1 vote with Trustees Marjorie Joy and Streit casting the nay votes.

This is an increase of 9 percent, but with an anticipated increase in the EAV as a result of the reassessment, the 1993 tax rate should remain the same as 1992. The total village levy is $6,744,709.

Streit made a suggestion that they do away with the Social Services which would result in savings of $35,000, and pointed out that there are state and other agencies which could handle this for two years; recommended eliminating the youth services and turning it over to the park district; reconsolidate the public works and quality control offices which would save in salaries; eliminate six of the new positions for the communications service which would save $195,000. It was pointed out by Kolb that Evergreen Park and Burbank are paying the salaries of these employees.

Streit had a number of other recommendations on ways to eliminate or consolidate duties of the village manager; eliminate the vacancy of a police department captain position which has not been filled for some time.

Trustee William Keane pointed out to Streit that he had attended budget meetings, five of them; trustees and staff that were present at these asked a lot of questions and he (Streit) never asked one question or many any of the suggestions he was making at the meeting. Keane also mentioned that Streit keeps bringing up raising the water fee to communities we sell to and said at the time his group was sitting there were 10 that were due to have their rates renegotiated and Orland Park, the only one who asked, was never sent a reply. He said this is a political ploy.

Trustee Michael Walsh said the remarks made by Streit were ludicrous and Joy said his innuendos and suggestions were not realistic. She was objecting because she felt 9 percent was too steep and suggested a raise of 4 percent with the balance from the contingency fund.

Tax Prepayments

The Cook County Treasurer's Office will allow property owners to prepay the first installment of their next year's real estate tax bill, even though the Internal Revenue Service has issued a preliminary opinion that these taxes cannot be deducted on 1993 federal tax returns.

Cook County Treasurer Edward J. Rosewell said that individual taxpayers will have to work it out with their tax accountants and the Internal Revenue Service as to when they will be able to deduct the real estate tax payments. He said that in conversations with the Internal Revenue Service several years ago it had been his understanding that the prepayments could be deducted during the current year. He said he plans to meet with the Internal Revenue Service to further discuss the issue.

Aside from the deductibility issue, Rosewell said that many property owners prefer to prepay their first installment because they have a winter home elsewhere or will be out of town during next year's collection period. Prepayments on the first installment real estate tax bill will be accepted through Dec. 31, 1993.

Under the prepayment program, Rosewell said that property owners may prepay one half of last year's total real estate tax bill. If 1992 real estate taxes collected in 1993 totalled $2,200.10, the property owner can prepay $1,100.05. Please send the correct amount: OVERAGES WILL BE RETURNED.

Rosewell said, make checks payable to the Cook County Collector. Also put your property index number -prepayment 1992 on your check. This will insure proper payment posting. Your property index number appears on your previous tax bills. If you need assistance finding this number, contact or visit our downtown office or any of the five satellite offices located at 165th and Kedzie Ave., Markham; 1500 Maybrook Drive, Maywood; 5600 Old Orchard Road, Skokie; 10200 S. 76th Ave., Bridgeview; and 2121 Euclid Ave., Rolling Meadows.

Prepayments can be paid in person, at the downtown office. If paying by mail, send your checks to: Cook County Collector, Prepayment Department, 118 N. Clark St., Room 112, Chicago, Illinois 60602.

Rosewell said that those who prepay will receive their regular first installment tax bill early next year showing the payment that was made, and the date received. If the taxpayer miscalculates and there is an amount due, it will be reflected on the first installment bill. The first installment real estate tax bills are mailed in late January for March 1, 1994 payment.

Blood Drive Set

Responding to the critical shortage of blood in the Chicago area, the Oak Lawn Holiday Inn, 4140 95th St., is sponsoring a community-wide blood drive on Thursday, Dec. 16th. According to General Manager Davis Boyd, "We are very concerned about insufficient blood supplies for hospitals and hope this program helps to ease some of the crisis. The enthusiasm of our staff is running high for this project and it is our hope that the community residents and businesses will come to the Holiday Inn and join in giving the gift of blood this holiday season." Boyd said there is a critical need right now for types O and B, both positive and negative.

As a "thank you" to donors, the inn is giving them a coupon to receive two lunch or dinner entrees for the purchase of one in the hotel's Greenery Restaurant.

The Holiday Inn has set aside the Maple meeting room for LifeSource to utilize on Dec. 16th. A team of nurses and specialists will be working with donors from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Anyone wishing to donate blood should call (708) 425-7900.

229 School Board

The Oak Lawn Community High School District 229 Board of Education recently reorganized. Re-elected to four year terms were Oak Lawn residents, Denise Pesek and Nancy Wallace. Newly elected members for four year terms include Marilyn Giglio and Richard Maguire, also of Oak Lawn. Current members continuing to serve the remainder of their four year terms ending in 1995 include Bridgeview resident, Donald Musielak; Oak Lawn resident, Lyle Lake Sr., and Hometown resident, Ronald Ketchum. The board elected its new officers: President Lyle Lake Sr., Vice-President Nancy Wallace and Secretary Denise Pesek. The board meets on the third Wednesday of each month, at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

It was a lovely program presented by the choirs, band and orchestra for their holiday Christmas music festival at Oak Lawn High School Sunday afternoon. It played to a packed house too.

A "Benefits Night" is being sponsored by McGugan Junior High School on Dec. 22nd at the Burger King Restaurant, 4848 W. 87th St. from 4 to 8 p.m., to raise funds for a French Club trip to New Orleans. Students will be on hand to collect sales receipts and the club will receive 20 percent of total sales transacted during the four-hour period.

Baptized at St. Gerald Church on Nov. 20th, was Francis Martin, son of Frank and Monica Nielsen. Baptized on Nov. 21st, were Eric Michael, son of Robert and Donna Walsh; Jake Robert, son of Alan and Gale Hayward Koslowski; Kevin Barry, son of Barry and Maureen Boyle; Danielle Carolyn, daughter of Thaddeus and Roxanne Zdanek; Jessica Paige, daughter of Donna and Alan Cerniuk, and Nora Marie, daughter of Raymond and Karen Schultz.

Baptized at St. Gerald Church on Dec. 5th were Nicholas Michael, son of Donald and Patricia DeVito; Michael Thomas Arthur, son of Thomas and Karen Izydorski; Lexus Antonio, son of Nathan and Lisa Opez, and Ashley Patricia, daughter of Alex and Theresa Polino. Congratulations to all of you.

Oops!!! It was Raymond Whinna, not Ryan, and his family that arrived from El Paso, Texas to help his mother, Alice Whinna, celebrate her 80th birthday.

A number of students from St. Gerald School have made the honor roll at their respective high schools. Marist High School, David Fedor and Keith O'Neill.

Queen of Peace High School has announced the following who made the honor roll for the first quarter: Jennifer Connolly, Renee Farnaus, Dawn Sebek, Katherin Czarneck, Jennifer Sebek, Karyn Horn, Erica Mega, Danielle Zehner, Angela Pappa, Andrea Ward, Jennifer White and Kristin Gildea, all who made the "A" role.

On the "B" roll were Rebecca McCoy, Barbara Prosapio, Diane Schiffman, Shannon O'Rourke, Mary Scropo, Michelle Elworthy, Dawn Blaha, Janice Swanson, Jennifer Hamilton, and Jill Maddrell.

On the honor roll from St. Laurence High School: "A" David Pfeiffer and Edward Rybka; on the "B" roll are Christopher Breit, Matthew Caplis, Charles Czachor, David Daly, Rondal Farnaus, Brian Fedor, Bryan Garner, Norbert Gorecki, Daniel Keiner, Shawn Kowalski, Michael Mucha, Josh Patterson and Michael Witte.

From Mother McAuley High School: Colleen Breier, Gabriele Howatt, Amanda Mrugala, Katie McKeon, Patricia Killen, Barb Grzeda, Catherine Lindsog, Colleen O'Malley and Eileen Callaghan, all on the "A" list. On the "B" roll are Karie Adkins, Audrey Latura, Christine Cesaio, Deidre Griffin, Stephanie Stahl, Eileen Egan, Tracy Kennedy, Tiffany Kania, Megan Hickey, Jamie Meck, Hamie Riberto, Katherine Meck, and at Mount Carmel High School on the "H" list are Patrick Skertick and John Dallio. Congratulations to all of you and keep up the good work.

It is always my pleasure to let you know about our bright residents or former residents. Don Walker is proudly announcing that his son, Bill, a graduate of Oak Lawn Community High School and the University of California, has passed the Bar in California and resides with his wife, Mary Pat, and daughters Sara and Kelly in Fair Oaks. He has joined a law firm in Sacramento. Congratulations.

St. Fabian Church, 83rd and Oketo, Bridgeview, will host an enrichment mission from Jan. 16th through 20th from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to participate in this 'renewal of life for our community.' The mission has been put together with young people in mind but will be addressing issues which are faced by young and old alike.

Village President Ernest F. Kolb, has proclaimed Dec. 12th to 18th as 'Voice of Democracy Week' in the village. VOD is sponsored by the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post and Ladies Auxiliary in three local high schools. Claudia Gonzales was the winner at Oak Lawn Community High School; Matthew John Springer at Marist, and Susan Marie Lash was the winner at Richards High. They will find out which are the winners in the 3rd District on Jan. 9th at Rhine Post where each will be presented with a $50 U.S. Savings Bond and hopefully one of them will be selected as the winner from the state.

Mail From The North Pole

Santa Claus' mailbox in Oak Lawn is ready to receive letters for direct express to the North Pole. The Chamber of Commerce is cooperating with Santa by installing a special box under the Christmas tree on the corner of Cook Ave. and 95th St. All children are invited to bring their letters to this special mailbox. Letters should be addressed to Santa at the North Pole. Stamps are not required for this direct express.

Additional information is available from the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce, (708) 424-8300.

Winter 'Eye Opener' Program

Cook County Board President Richard Phelan announced that the Forest Preserve District of Cook County is presenting a free winter 'eye opener' program for youths 7 to 12 years of age on Dec. 28th, 29th and 30th at the Sand Ridge Nature Center, 15890 Paxton Ave., South Holland. "The 'eye opener' program is another example of the forest preserve district's commitment to developing creative educational programs designed to provide a personal experience of the beauty and fascination of nature," Phelan said. "Education and exposure to natural areas, especially among the youth, fosters greater awareness and appreciation of the environment. It is my hope that this learning experience will inspire young people to preserve the ecosystem."

District naturalists will lead the youths in a series of indoor activities and outside exploration designed to expose them to the beauty and life of nature in winter. Featured activities include a nature walk where the youths will be taught to trace and read animal tracks and identify those plants and marine life that flourish during the winter months.

The program for youths 9 to 12 years of age is from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and for 7 and 8 year olds the program is from 1 to 2:30 p.m. Enrollment is limited and pre-registration in person is required at the Sand Ridge Nature Center, daily and weekends, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

For additional information on the 'eye opener' program, contact the Sand Ridge Nature Center at (708) 868-0606. For information about the district's nature center winter events, contact the Department of Conservation at (708) 771-1335. Special accommodations can be arranged.

Scholarship Resource Information Lists

Most parents and students think scholarships are only for those students with good grades, low-income families or the athletically inclined. A small example of the numerous scholarships available to students include: left-handed student scholarships, handicapped student scholarships, members of a church scholarships, David E. Letterman's scholarships for 'C' students, veteran children's scholarships, scholarships for minorities and much more.

The general public is not aware that over $10 billion is available to students from private sector scholarships. Over $20.4 billion is available from the federal government. In a U.S. Congressional study, it was reported that "Over $6.6 billion of private sector financial aid went unused because the parents and students did not know where to apply." A conservative college tuition for a full-time student runs from $10,000 to $30,000; high cost colleges run from $40,000 to $100,000, and this tuition is per year.

There are organizations that have spent hundreds of hours in research locating scholarship sources. These organizations are American Educational Excellence (AEE) members and have their list of over 400 different scholarships available. The lists include the scholarship names, addresses, telephone numbers, application deadlines, summaries about the scholarships and the amount the scholarship will pay your child.

Many scholarships pay the entire tuition; otherwise, students combine applicable scholarships together to form one large tuition payment.

Most scholarships include junior colleges, career and vocational schools, four-year colleges, graduate schools and medical and law schools.

For information on obtaining these scholarship lists, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to: The U.S. Channel of Commerce for Higher Education, College Bound, P.O. Box 773, O'Fallon, IL 62269.

Loretto New Year's Eve Party

Our Lady of Loretto Athletic Association is sponsoring a New Year's Eve party on Friday, Dec. 31st at 8 p.m. in the parish hall, 8925 S. Kostner. Admission is $20 per person which includes a hot buffet dinner, champagne toast, favors and DJ. A cash bar will be available or guests may BYOB. To reserve, phone (708) 636-6579 or (708) 423-4206 by Monday, Dec. 27th.

Sixteen young men from the Marist High School senior service program will be honored by Senator Patrick O'Malley who will be the guest at the Little Company of Mary Hospital volunteer Christmas party and recognition dinner, on Thursday, Dec. 16th. Senator O'Malley was very impressed with the daily dedication of these young men and felt that a special honor was deserving.

Receiving the award are Shane Davis of Beverly, Eric LeCompte of Oak Lawn, Chuck Staniszewski of Palos Hills, Robert Vahl of Orland Park, David Fedor of Oak Lawn, Terry O'Brien of Ashburn, Bob Rafferty of Mt. Greenwood, Jay Ryan of Alsip, Luke Antonson of Beverly, Robert D'Souza of Alsip, Jim Franko of Orland Park, Brian Harmon of Palos Heights, Martin Graham of Oak Lawn, Tim Hamelen of Crestwood, Brian Mehan of Alsip and Owen Quinn of Orland Park.

During an American Red Cross first aid course, Susan Robinson watches as Kirsten Lundeen prepares a splint for her 'broken' arm. This procedure immobilizes the arm and prevents further injury. Splinting is just one of the procedures highlighted in the Red Cross 'Till Help Arrives' program which promotes a three-step emergency response plan called Check, Call, Care. The plan encourages people to check the scene for safety and the victim's vital signs, call 9-1-1 or a local emergency number for immediate professional help, and care for the victim using first aid skills until medical help arrives.

Last year, more than 300,000 people learned safety and health skills from Red Cross instructors at 12 service centers in the Chicago area. For more information about 'Till Help Arrives' or Red Cross safety and health courses, contact your local Red Cross Chapter or call (312) 440-2000.

Decline In Teen Births

The number of children born in Illinois to teenage mothers declined in 1992 to the lowest level in four years, the Illinois Department of Public Health reported recently.

Teenagers gave birth to 24,601 babies in 1992 or 12.9 percent out of a total of 194,066 births in Illinois, down from 13.0 percent in 1991. More than 80 percent were to single teen moms.

"Becoming a parent threatens the future of these young people," said Dr. John R. Lumpkin, state health director. "These babies need not only love, but food, clothing, a home, medical care and financial support that the majority of teens are not equipped to provide. Teenage parenthood leaves little room for school and the other joys of childhood."

Although the decline in teen births is encouraging, Dr. Lumpkin said that parents, teachers, preachers and others who impact on a young person's life need to continue to teach that postponing sexual activity is all right.

"There are no simple solutions, but there is little disagreement that premature initiation of sexual activity is unhealthy and unwise," Dr. Lumpkin said. "There are not only concerns of AIDS and HIV infection, sexually transmitted diseases and teenage pregnancies, but after the birth of a child teens are faced with questions of continuing education, welfare, poverty and future productivity."

In 1992, the number of births to 10 to 17 year olds was 9,781 or 40 percent of all teen births, up from the 9,678 or 38 percent reported in 1991. Births to 18 and 19 year olds totaled 14,820 or 60 percent of all teen births, down from 15,613 or 62 percent in 1991. The total number of births in 1991 (25,291) was 690 higher than 1992.

Among racial groups, births to Hispanic teens increased 6 percent (241), while births to African-American teens decreased 2 percent (278) and white teen births dropped 6 percent (610).

In total numbers, African-American teenagers accounted for 45 percent of all teen births, or 11,129; 97 percent who were unmarried. There were 8,865 births to white teens, 71 percent unmarried; and 4,473 births to Hispanic teens, 67 percent unmarried.

The number of births to teen mothers and the percentage of the state's total births for the last decade were: 1982, 25,566, 13.9 percent; 1983, 24,348, 13.6; 1984, 23,289, 13.0; 1985, 22,630, 12.5; 1986, 22,080, 12.5; 1987, 22,393, 12.5; 1988, 23,169, 12.5; 1989, 24,923, 13.1; 1990, 25,545, 13.1; 1991, 25,291, 13.0.

Board Election

On Dec. 1st, the SCOPE Governing Board elected a new chairperson, vice-chairperson and a new executive committee. Terry Horvath, board of education member in Palos Park District 118, will be the new chairperson and Beverly Atkins, board of education member from Homewood-Flossmoor High School District 233, will serve as vice-chairperson. Mrs. Horvath and Mrs. Atkins fill the positions formerly held by Hugh Rankin from Atwood Heights School District 125 and Thys Vandervelde from Matteson School District 162. Rankin served as chairperson for two years while Vandervelde held the position of vice-chairperson for two years. Both Rankin and Vandervelde have retired from school board service.

The following persons will serve as the executive committee with the officers listed above: Dr. Donald Johnson, Superintendent of Ridgeland District 122; Therese Lahart, board member in Palos Heights District 128; Allen Marshall, board member in Midlothian District 143; Sharen Melby, board member in Sunnybrook District 171; Don Musielak, board member in Oak Lawn High School District 229; Dr. Thomas Pauley, Superintendent of Orland Park District 135; Debbie Sellers, board member in Calumet City District 155; and Sam Walker, board member in Park Forest District 163. Dr. Barbara Mackey, interim superintendent of Blue Island District 130; Ann M. Dickett, legislative director of SCOPE; and Chris Slowik, organizational director of SCOPE, serve as ex-officio members of the executive committee. All positions are for a term of two years.

SCOPE is a coalition of public school districts in south suburban Cook County. The main purpose of the organization is to provide a link between schools and the Illinois General Assembly. The major goal is to provide school districts with legislative information and to provide educational information and research to legislators and the governor. The organization was formed in 1987 and currently represents 33 public school districts with a combined enrollment of approximately 80,000 students.

Greeting Cards

Young patients from Wyler Children's Hospital at the University of Chicago have designed a series of holiday greeting cards which are on sale through December. The greeting card sale will benefit the playroom at Wyler to help purchase toys and educational materials for patients and their families. Each card symbolizes the patient's rendition of the holiday season. The artists range from toddlers to teenagers and many suffer from cancer, liver disease, burns and other serious medical problems. There are 12 designs to choose from, including a reindeer, manger scene, snowman and Santa Claus. The printing of the cards was donated by the makers of Wyler's Drink Mix.

"Buying these cards directly benefits the young patients at Wyler Children's Hospital," said Karen Bennett, child life specialist, "and it's a wonderful way to celebrate the season of giving."

The cards are printed on glossy paper and contain a printed message of "Happy Holidays" inside. Each packet of 20 cards costs $10. Groups or companies wishing to purchase more than five packets have the option of printing a personalized message inside for a nominal fee.

Cards may be purchased from the Child Life and Family Education Department located in the lower level of Wyler Children's Hospital, Room C-10, 5841 S. Maryland Ave., MC1057, Chicago, IL 60637, or by calling the playroom at (312) 702-6481.

Fines Cherry Communications For 'Slamming'

Cherry Communications has agreed to pay a $100,000 fine for "slamming" Illinois telephone customers, Attorney General Roland W. Burris announced. Slamming is an industry term that refers to changing a consumer's long distance telephone carrier without the consumer's knowledge or authorization.

Cherry Communications, a Downers Grove company previously known as Cherry Payment Services, Inc., has been under investigation for several months in Illinois and in at least ten other states.

"I am pleased to announce that Cherry Communications has agreed to comply with state consumer laws and stop the use of misleading sales tactics, including slamming," Burris said. "The company employed telemarketers who used outrageously deceptive tactics to slam telephone users here in Illinois and across the country."

"Cherry Communications has agreed to reimburse every consumer who was charged with switching fees by their local telephone company," Burris added. "Cherry has also agreed to pay the difference between the costs of long distance calls billed by Cherry and those billed by the consumer's previous long distance carrier."

Consumers who wish to be reimbursed for these charges must file a complaint within 120 days of the Dec. 8th action by calling the Attorney General's Office at (312) 814-3580.

A lawsuit and consent decree were filed in the Circuit Court of Cook County. The lawsuit charged Cherry Communications with violations of the Illinois Consumer Fraud Act and the Illinois Uniform and Deceptive Practices Act.

Tactics used by telemarketers employed by Cherry include offering discounts on long distance telephone service without telling consumers that they must change their long distance carrier in order to receive the discount, telling consumers that their current long distance carrier will no longer be available in their area, and falsifying letters of authorization to change long distance service.

All totaled, more than 2,000 complaints were received by the Attorney General's Office, the Illinois Commerce Commission and two long distance telephone carriers, both of which sold long distance access time to Cherry Communications. The ICC, which regulates utility companies in Illinois, had also made inquiries into the telemarketing practices of Cherry Communications.

Cherry Communications operates as one of several smaller telecommunication companies, known as resellers of long distance telephone service, which buy access to fiber optic telecommunication lines from larger telecommunication companies. These companies generally employ telemarketers, who often work on a commission basis to sell long distance service to consumers.

Although deregulation of telephone companies can be beneficial to consumers by creating numerous companies that offer a wide variety of competitively priced services, the sharp increase in the number of companies makes it more difficult for regulatory agencies to ensure that these companies are operating within the boundaries of consumer protection laws. In Illinois, many telephone users have been solicited by aggressive salespeople and confused by a myriad of long distance service companies, some of whom are alleged to have used deceptive sales practices.

Although company officials have denied any wrongdoing, they have agreed to comply with the Illinois Consumer Fraud Act and to refrain from committing any of the following acts:

- Misrepresenting to consumers that their current long distance telephone service carrier is no longer available in a given geographic area;
- Misrepresenting its corporate identity to consumers by telling them that it represents large, well-known telecommunications corporations when it does not;
- Representing to consumers that their long distance service has already been changed and payment should now be made to Cherry Communications;

- Offering 10 percent discounts on long distance service without disclosing that, in order to receive the discount, consumers must change their long distance carrier;
- Falsifying consumer authorizations by placing consumer's signatures on letters of authorization to change their long distance service;
- Billing consumers for unauthorized long distance service changes; and
- Facilitating switches in long distance carriers without authority from consumers.

Other states investigating and/or settling with Cherry Communications include Arkansas, Florida, Idaho, Indiana, Louisiana, Ohio, Oregon, Tennessee, Texas and Wisconsin.

Review 'Fringe' Candidate Petitions

The Democratic Party of Illinois will take measures to prevent fringe extremist candidates from infiltrating the Democratic ballot during the March 1994 Primary Election, according to State Party Chairman Sen. Gary J. LaPaille.

"After the problems Illinois Democrats faced in 1986, we have been vigilant in 1990 and 1992 to challenge petitions and educate our voters," LaPaille said. "Democratic Party staff have already begun reviewing petitions and paperwork for discrepancies and I have already called a meeting on Tuesday morning with campaign managers of every statewide Democratic candidate to coordinate our petition review and challenge efforts."

LaPaille said the slate of candidates who support the jailed extremist Lyndon LaRouche have expressed ideas that run contrary to the basic philosophy and values of Democrats and Americans in general. He also explained that while Gubernatorial Candidate Michael Schumacher is not affiliated with LaRouche, his views are equally disturbing.

While LaPaille believes state party efforts to remove these candidates from the ballot will be successful, if any of them remain, the party will do as it did in 1990 and 1992 - it will mount a campaign to educate Democratic voters on LaRouche to ensure they are defeated in March.

Toys And Safety

Dr. John R. Lumpkin, state health director, reminded holiday shoppers to take caution in selecting toys for youngsters and asked parents and others to examine toys to ensure safety.

"Too often, adults select toys that appeal to themselves, rather than choosing an appropriate toy for the child," said Dr. Lumpkin. "The most important rules for safe toy giving are to pay attention to age guidelines and select toys suited for the child."

Each year, children die or are injured while playing with toys that are unsafe, broken or improperly selected -- tragedies that could be prevented if adults would follow safety guidelines when buying toys and supervising children at play. Last year nationwide, 177,200 toy-associated injuries were reported.

Keep a child's age, interest and physical and mental abilities in mind when buying toys. Some toy packaging may specify what age group the toys are targeted for, but this criteria varies among manufacturers.

When selecting new toys or inspecting older toys, make sure they:

- * do not have rough or sharp edges or points that could injure children.
 - * do not have small parts that could be swallowed or become lodged in a child's throat, ears or nose. Toys for children over three years of age often contain small parts that younger children may choke on.
 - * do not make noises loud enough to damage hearing. Noisemaking toys should not be used near the ear. Toy cap guns, for example, should be fired one foot or more from the ear and should be used outdoors.
 - * do not have sharp objects, such as darts or arrows, that may be thrown or shot at another person.
- Additional guidelines should be followed when buying or examining toys for infants or toddlers:
- * Make sure toys do not have long strings or cords that could become wrapped around a child's neck;
 - * Never hang toys or decorations with long strings, cords, ribbons or loops in cribs or playpens, because children could become entangled in them.
 - * Be certain that infant toys such as rattles, squeeze toys and teethingers are large enough not to become lodged in a child's mouth or throat.

Toys that use electricity should be used only under close adult supervision and only by children 8 years of age and older. Electric toys can shock or burn if they are damaged, poorly constructed or wired, or used improperly.

Plastic wrap and other toy packaging should be thrown away immediately or stored out of children's reach to prevent choking and suffocation. Broken balloons also pose choking and suffocation hazards and should be discarded immediately.

Teach children to put toys away to prevent falls. Keep older children's toys out of the reach of infants and toddlers.

Check toy storage areas for safety. Use only toy chests with lids that are removable or will stay open when raised in any position so they will not fall on a child.

For more information, contact the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, the local health department or the Illinois Department of Public Health.

Illinois Traffic Fatalities Show Decrease

Illinois traffic fatalities for November totaled 92 as a result of 84 crashes, a decrease of 14 percent from the 107 deaths in November 1992, according to provisional figures released by the Illinois Departments of Transportation and State

Police. Included in the November totals were 12 pedestrians killed in 12 crashes, two persons killed in two crashes involving motorcycles, one person killed in one railroad crossing crash, and two bicyclists killed in two

Senior Health

The Illinois Department on Aging and the Illinois Department of Public Health recently launched "Senior Health Watch," a five-minute weekly radio program covering issues related to aging and health. The program is hosted by Illinois Department on Aging Communications Manager Jan Costello. Guests include experts in the fields of aging and health, as well as seniors who have firsthand experience with health-related issues. Topics cover everything from hearing aids and arthritis to in-home care and breast cancer.

The suburban Cook County area senior population is growing rapidly, and the market for information about benefits and services for older persons is expanding just as quickly. Programs like "Senior Health Watch" can make an important difference in the lives of older persons and their loved ones. To promote the health of its senior population, the Suburban Area Agency on Aging is asking local businesses in the suburban Cook County area to show their concern for and commitment to the growing suburban senior population by supporting these informative and beneficial radio spots. For information on sponsoring "Senior Health Watch" in your area, contact Martha Jacob at (708) 383-0258.

Youth Program

Qualifying Chicago and suburban Cook County schools can receive financial assistance to participate in the Forest Preserve District of Cook County's Youth Opportunity Corps (YOC) field trip program aimed at exposing young students to the exciting world of nature, announced Cook County Board President Richard Phelan. This special program is designed to enhance students' classroom study of nature and the environment with visits to the Brookfield Zoo, forest preserve district nature centers and the Chicago Botanic Garden.

"This is a unique learning experience for students -- and teachers," Phelan said. "The YOC's goal is to help foster in students a better understanding of nature. There is no better way to do that than to actually spend time experiencing nature up-close and in person."

Interested teachers and schools are urged to contact the YOC office at (708) 771-1057 (speech/hearing impaired TCC (708) 771-1190) as soon as possible. Space is limited and special assistance and accommodations can be arranged.

Phelan launched the YOC in 1992 to expose city and suburban youths to the forest preserve and its facilities.

The provisional total of 1,238 deaths for 1993 is a decrease of 1.9 percent from the 1,262 deaths in 1992. The Department's latest provisional figures indicate travel increased by 2.3 percent for the same time period.

All Points Southwest

BY
WALTER H. LYSEN

Filing of petitions for the March 15th Primary Election ended Monday and 80 individuals filed nominating petitions for Cook County offices, bringing the total number seeking county office to 234. Of the 234, 90 are candidates for the county board of commissioners which, for the first time, is to be elected by districts. The distinction of the office attracting the most contenders is the 11th Congressional District where 14, seven Republicans and seven Democrats, hope to succeed Democrat George Sangmeister.

Republicans, Democrats, two groups of Harold Washington Party hopefuls and followers of imprisoned extremist Lyndon LaRouche, filing as Democrats, are vying to represent their respective parties in the November General Election.

Regular Democrats, hoping to avoid a debacle such as occurred in 1986 when LaRouchies upset regulars in the primary, are certain to scrutinize each and every petition filed by LaRouchies for errors, technicalities or questionable signatures in order to remove the fringe candidates from the official ballot. Five LaRouchies filed for office as Democrats.

1992 was hailed as 'The Year of the Woman' in politics but that seems to be a moot point in area ballot positions in 1993. At Tuesday's lottery for ballot position, two women won the 'luck of the draw' with Maria Pappas getting the nod over John Stroger; however, Aurelia Pucinski drew third position. The three are running for Cook County Board President in the Democratic Primary.

Also in the Democratic Primary, Worth Township Supervisor drew the number one position over former State Senator Richard Kelly, Jr. in the 6th District for County Commissioner.

In the GOP Primary for the 6th District, Lynwood Mayor Barclay 'Bud' Fleming drew top position over Oak Forest attorney Helen Elizabeth Kelly. East Hazel Crest Mayor Thomas Brown is in the third position.

In other lottery picks, incumbent County Clerk David Orr drew the top position ahead of Patricia Young and in the primary race for Sheriff, incumbent Michael Sheahan drew the second position as challenger Tommy Brewer drew the top spot.

The top spot is, of course, the coveted position and analysts claim it is worth up to five percent of the vote. In a multi-candidate race, the bottom position is considered next important.

The Citizens Committee to Elect Richard F. Kelly Jr. to the Cook County Board of Commissioners will conduct a campaign "Kick-Off" party Wednesday, Jan. 19 at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 178th and Burnham, Lansing. Festivities are from 7 to 10 p.m. with a cost of $20 per person with complimentary beer, wine, pop and hot and cold hors d'oeuvres.

Kelly, a 20 year veteran of the General Assembly, will face Joan Patricia Murphy, Worth Township Supervisor, in the 6th District Democratic Primary next March.

The 6th District contains all or part of 30 cities and villages and has a citizen population of over 300,000.

Governor Jim Edgar and State Senator Aldo DeAngelis will join Governors State President Paula Wolff at the groundbreaking ceremony for the Regional Center for Technology and the Performing Arts at Governors State University today (Thursday, Dec. 16) at 2 p.m. A holiday reception will be held from 2:30 to 5 p.m. in the Hall of Governors at the University, Governors Highway in University Park. Those in attendance are urged to bring a coat and or canned goods to be donated to the Ford Heights Community Service Center.

ALL POINTS expresses condolences to the families of Sean Lynch and Jeff Alm on the recent tragic death of both in Houston, Texas on Tuesday morning. Both Sean and Jeff were close friends of ours and we along with their families will miss them deeply. Both were graduates of Carl Sandburg High School and leave many friends in their hometown of Orland Park as well as the whole southwest area.

Sean was well known as the manager of the family-owned Jack Gibbons Gardens in Oak Forest while Jeff was a member of the Houston Oilers football team. They were inseparable friends all through school and while Alm was away playing football at Notre Dame.

Sean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lynch of Orland Park, had planned to return home Tuesday evening after a week-long visit with Alm.

Funeral services for Lynch will be held from Sheehy Funeral Home in Palos Heights. Visitation is Thursday from 3 p.m. to 9 p.m. with Mass at 10 a.m. Friday at St. Michael's Church in Orland Park. Interment will be at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Services for Alm are to be held at Schmaedeke Funeral Home, 10701 Harlem Ave., Worth. Visitation is from 2 until 9 p.m. on Thursday and a service at 11 a.m. on Friday. Interment is to be at Fairmont Willow Hills Cemetery.

Cook County Board President and Democratic Gubernatorial Candidate Richard Phelan and his running mate, Lt. Governor Candidate State Senator Penny Severns, spoke about health care reform in Illinois at the Illinois Public Action Council convention in Bloomington on Saturday, Dec. 11th at Jumer's Chateau in Bloomington.

Lieutenant Governor Bob Kustra, who coordinates the state's efforts against substance abuse, released the following statement regarding comments made by U.S. Surgeon General Joycelyn Elders at the National Press Club:

"Dr. Elders' off-the-cuff statement regarding legalization of drugs concerns me and others who are working to rid our communities of drugs and the crime it causes. Legalizing drugs is not the answer to either combating crime or winning the war on drugs. We must continue efforts to communicate, that drug use is wrong, drug use is deadly and that drug use in the United States is still illegal."

Worth Township's Regular Republican Organization is holding its annual Christmas Party tonight, Thursday, Dec. 16th. The gala event is at Chateau BuSche, 116th and Cicero, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Tickets are $19 a person and this includes dinner, cocktails and music by Gene Mikrut. Call Nick at 423-4733 for more information.

Luminaria kits are available on Sunday, Dec. 19th at St. Christopher Church parking lot, 147th and Keeler, and at St. Stephen Lutheran Church, 147th and Kildare. Kits are $5 each which includes eight candles, eight large bags, and sand for ballast. The sale is from 8:30 a.m. until 1:15 p.m.

One In Five Inner-City Kids Carries A Gun

In response to a report issued by the Justice Department which says one in five inner-city boys carries a gun, Cook County Board President and Democratic Gubernatorial Candidate Richard Phelan again called upon Governor Edgar to step up measures for a statewide ban on assault weapons.

"More and more we see evidence that gun violence in our society has reached a crisis level. We must start taking steps to get deadly weapons off the streets," Phelan said. "Governor Edgar continues to say he is not prepared to support any specific measures. He says he's giving 'serious consideration' to the issue. Governor, we don't need serious consideration -- we need action!"

The Justice Department survey found that one in five boys attending inner-city high schools own at least one gun and 12 percent carry them routinely. The study, which was conducted in schools and juvenile detention centers in four states including Illinois, found that 75 percent of students and 89 percent of juvenile inmates, who participate in a drug trade, carry guns. The study also found that youths in the inner-city neighborhoods have ready access to guns -- semi-automatic being their weapon of choice.

"Governor Edgar, you must step up and take action and reverse your opposition to a statewide ban on assault weapons. How many more senseless acts of violence will it take before you step up and take action to end this madness? The citizens of Illinois have a right to know where you stand on this vital crime issue. We have suffered from your indecision long enough," Phelan said.

"Now, we must understand that there is a major difference here. I am not talking about legitimate hunters and sportsmen," Phelan said. "These guns I propose to ban statewide have been identified by law enforcement officials as the weapons criminals use most. These are guns that are manufactured for the sole purpose of killing people. These are guns that should not be available to anyone."

"A statewide ban on assault weapons will not solve all our problems -- but it's an important first step. Governor Edgar and the General Assembly need to take this issue seriously and stop the endless gun violence that threatens us all," Phelan concluded.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

I have been watching the news articles about municipalities choosing to enter into a contract to use the Robbins recycling and trash-to-energy incinerator. It is surprising that some communities in the southern suburbs are not taking advantage of the recycling plant and incinerator being built in Robbins. I have read comments from some people that say the south suburbs are becoming a dumping ground. Well, the south suburban towns that don't sign up for long-term use of this modern plant are allowing that thought to become a self-fulfilling prophecy: If neighboring towns don't use the plant, other Cook County suburbs with progressive leadership will be happy to have a nearby solution to their garbage problems.

Our region will have the best of technology for handling garbage right here, where we won't have to pay the extra cost to transport it (an environmentally foolish move) hundreds of miles away. Some communities with short-sighted leaders who haven't done their homework on this issue will lose out on an opportunity to stabilize costs for their homeowners.

I am relieved that I live in a town with municipal officials who have the business sense and foresight to ensure that residents of Country Club Hills will have a long-term, cost-effective solution to services we cannot do without: recycling and garbage disposal. I am pleased that the mayor and trustees took a long, hard look at the Robbins plant and have committed to using its services.

Even with the most aggressive recycling programs, other towns throughout the country have discovered that they still need to have a place to dispose of their unrecyclable trash. It will be a shame that taxpayers in some southern suburbs will be paying higher and higher taxes for a service that their neighbors in Country Club Hills and other forward-thinking towns will be enjoying at a much lower cost. I urge residents to make their elected officials accountable for keeping the cost of these necessary services as low as possible.

Sincerely,
Lisa I. Trammell

SPECIAL ASSESSMENT

Advertisement and Notice of County Collector of Cook County of application for judgment and order of sale of delinquent lands and lots on account of unpaid special assessments or installments thereof, as provided by law.

COUNTY OF COOK,
STATE OF ILLINOIS

December 13 to 17, 1993

NOTICE is hereby given that the County Collector of Cook County, Illinois, will apply to the County Division of the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois on Monday, January 10th, 1994 for judgment against all lands and lots described as being delinquent upon which special assessments remain due and unpaid for said special assessments, or unpaid installments thereof, with interest and costs, as provided by law, and for an order for sale of said lands and lots for satisfaction thereof (excepting from said judgment and order of sale all lands and lots, if any, as noted in this advertisement and publication, ordered sold by unexecuted judgments and orders of sale, previously entered for sale delinquent special assessments, interests and costs, as provided by law, such lands and lots being included in this advertisement for sale only under such previous judgments and orders of sale).

NOTICE is further given that on the third Monday next succeeding the date of said application, namely on Monday, January 31, 1994 A.D., at the hour of eight o'clock A.M., all of said lands and lots hereafter described, for sale of which an order shall be made or has heretofore been made but not executed, will be exposed to public sale at the County Building of Cook County, where the seat of the County government is located in said County, for the amount of special assessments or installments thereof, interest and costs due thereon, respectively.

The following is a list of delinquent lands and lots in the County of Cook and State of Illinois, upon which remain due and unpaid special assessments or installments thereof, levied and assessed by the authority of the municipalities as indicated therein, special assessments levied by the authority of each municipality being set forth under the name of such municipality.

COOK COUNTY COLLECTOR
December 13 to 17, 1993

EXPLANATORY NOTE-In this list in all places where no notation is made the figures in the column headed "AMOUNT" represents the assessment or installment thereof due and unpaid. In lieu of legal description used heretofore each parcel of land or lot is designated by a permanent real estate index number. In the permanent real estate index number system, area is indicated by the number appearing in the column headed "A", the subarea by the number in the column headed "SA", the block by the number in the column headed "PCL". Comparison of the permanent real estate index number with the legal description of any parcel may be made by referring to the cross indices maintained in County offices. Tax buyers should verify all common street addresses and their classifications by personal inspection of properties before purchasing the delinquent taxes at the sale.

NO TAX BUYER WILL BE ALLOWED TO GO TO TAX DEED AGAINST ANY GOVERNMENT AGENCY. WHEN A PETITION TO VACATE SUCH A SALE IS FILED, THE FINAL RESULT MAY BE THAT NO INTEREST ON THESE PARTICULAR BUYS IS PAID TO THE TAX BUYER.

Tea Extract Reduces Cavities

Japanese scientists have reported that a purified extract of oolong tea successfully reduces dental cavities and plaque. The compound, a polymeric polyphenol developed by researchers at Osaka University and Suntory Ltd. is one of the few natural compounds known that can block the action of the oral bacteria linked to the formation of cavities and plaque. Mouthrinses containing the extract have been tested only in rats, but Suntory has developed a food additive that it says will help reduce dental plaque in humans.

MARIST REDSKINS

Head Coach Ken Styler, Jason Mikuzis, Jim Franko, Pat McGann, Dave Hyland, Dan Michalak, Dan Reldy, and Asst. Coach Bryan Tucker.

'Little Bit Of Luck' Needed To Unseat St. Joseph

Conference: East Suburban Catholic School Colors: red/white/gold Nickname: Redskins

Ken Styler hopes to end St. Joseph's 14-year reign as ESCC (East Suburban Catholic Conference) champion but the job is not expected to be an easy one.

Styler is in his 12th year as head coach of the Redskins and looks forward to an improvement over last season since he has a number of returning standouts.

There is little question that Marist will challenge for the league crown this year and if that intangible known as luck is on the side of Styler and his charges, St. Joseph may be looking at a detour in their quest for another championship season.

Returnees include Pete Cosme, a 6' guard; Dave Cahill, a 6'6" forward/center; Jim Franko, a 5'11" guard; Dave Hyland, a 5'10" guard, and Dan Michalak, a 5'10" guard. The formidable 6'7" Ed Saidat, team center, anchors the forward wall and is expected to be a dominating factor on the boards at both ends of the court.

Franko is fully recovered from a broken elbow that kept him on the sidelines for much of the 1992-93 season. Michalak is an exceptional outside shooter who established a season record 54 three-pointers last year.

The offensive strengths of the Redskins may far outweigh the team's defensive abilities and Styler is working on the defense to add its share of what is necessary to unseat the incumbent champion.

Two seasons ago, the Redskins compiled an impressive 22-5 overall mark, 11-2 in ESCC competition. This year's team is aiming at bettering that mark and as the season progresses the Redskins are certain to improve. Size, experience, confidence... all of the factors seem to be in place and as Styler pointed out, "a tight defense is absolutely necessary."

Marist's quest for the conference title was chilled when St. Joseph won the first of two encounters. The second, at Marist on Feb. 11th, may well decide the issue.

BROTHER RICE CRUSADERS

Pat Richardson, head coach of the Crusaders would like nothing more than a conference crown and a trip downstate in search of a state title. The team includes: Dan Loftio, Nick Kakos, Dan Maloney, Mark

Crusaders Aim At Catholic South Championship

Conference: Catholic South
School Colors: maroon/burnt orange Nickname: Crusaders

Jimmy Sexton has picked up where he left off at the close of the 1992-93 season and is averaging better than 22 points a game. Sexton is one of the most accurate perimeter shooters in the southwest area if not the state. The 6'4" senior forward led the Catholic League in scoring last year and is probably the key to a big season for the Crusaders.

The 14-man roster includes 10 juniors and Pat Richardson is counting heavily on three of those: Dan Loftio (5'10" guard), Britt Booker (6' guard) and Ricardo Hill (6'6" center/forward) to complement Sexton's presence and bring a league title to Rice. Dan Maloney, a 5'8" senior guard is the other Crusader with considerable experience and is expected to contribute considerably to the drive for a superior season.

Richardson is regarded as one of the up-and-coming coaches in the Chicagoland area and with the talent he has, a winning tradition at Rice, and his coaching acumen, a dynasty may be in the making. The Crusaders got off to a running start and as the season progresses, improvement is the expectation. Rice has the talent and, in addition, has those elusive intangible qualities that mark a winning team; attitude, confidence and tradition.

Head Coach: Pat Richardson
1982-93 Record: 15-11

Richardson commented, "We have experience and still this is a young team. We are confident we will improve as the season progresses and a league title is certainly not out of reach."

The Crusaders are definitely in the hunt for a Catholic League South crown but the potential stumbling blocks are Mt. Carmel, picked by most to be number one; St. Ignatius and St. Francis de Sales are also considered contenders. Watch for the Jan. 14th matchup between the Crusaders and Mt. Carmel's Caravan. This might be the game that determines the Catholic South's champions.

ST. LAURENCE VIKINGS

Coach Tom Pallardy's Vikings should be in the hunt for the Catholic League crown and he is counting on this roster to accomplish that end: Matt Daley, Brian Pielko, Pete Lotus, Jim Rochon, Steve Westin, Ed

Escamilla, Ken Warzynski, Head Coach Tom Pallardy, Statistician Dave Daley, Thom Herbeck, Chris Hansen, Keith Webster, Sean McQuillan, Jerry Gonzalez, and Mike Turney.

Pallardy Sees Vikings In League's 'Top Three'

Conference: Catholic League South
School Colors: black/gold
Nickname: Vikings

This season is Head Coach Tom Pallardy's first as varsity mentor but many of the members of this year's team played under Pallardy as sophomores. With the experience of several players as real pluses and Pallardy's knowledge of the strengths of many, 1992-93 can be expected to show considerable improvement over last season's 4-20 overall mark.

"There is no reason we can't be in the top three in Catholic League action," Pallardy said, "I feel we can compete for the title."

Mount Carmel, Brother Rice and St. Francis de Sales are expected to be the leading choices for the conference title, however the Vikings may just be a contender, certainly they will be an important factor in determining the outcome of the race.

Matt Daley, a 6' guard; Chris Hansen, a 6'5" forward; Thom Herbeck, a 6'3" forward; Keith Webster, a 6'6" center; Pete Lotus, a 5'10" guard, and Ken Warzynski, a 6'2" guard are the nucleus of Pallardy's team.

Board control in the hands of Webster, Hansen and Herbeck, and Daley's shooting ability from the perimeter are factors that give credence to Pallardy's assessment of the Viking chances. Webster, Hansen and Herbeck have proven inside scoring ability to go along with Daley's outside skills and their 600-plus pounds of beef are certain to control the boards on most occasions.

The ability to work together and familiarity with the strengths of one another count for a great deal. The league season is just getting underway and the talents of this Viking squad should peak at the right time.

The Vikings are certain to improve greatly over last season, whether or not they can contend for top honors is still a question. If everything jells, they may be in the fight for second or third but Mt. Carmel appears to be the eventual conference champ.

EVERGREEN PARK MUSTANGS

Coach Tom O'Malley's Mustangs should rank as the favorite in the Southwest Conference with a roster composed of: Todd Mallo, Don Jacobson, Jim DeMatteo, Scott Fredricks, Nathan Kuhics, Matt

Terrance, Joe Prisco, Mike O'Reilly, Phil Chopske, Brad Manderfeld, Tim Waddick, Jim Czerwinski, Bill Roman, Mike Czerwinski, Tony Santiago, and Neal Vandertee.

Mustangs Appear To Be Tops In Southwest Conference

Conference: Southwest Suburban
School Colors: green/gray
Nickname: Mustangs

Following two uncharacteristic losing seasons, Coach Tom O'Malley's Mustangs returned to their winning ways last season. That has carried over into the 1993-94 season and from here it looks as if the Mustangs are the class of the Southwest Suburban Conference. Experience and confidence should be the deciding factors and Evergreen has both. Bill Roman, at 6' 5 1/2" is the tallest Mustang indicating that size could be a question.

With Roman at center and Jim Czerwinski (6' 3") a prolific scorer at forward, the Evergreen Park front line is a formidable aggregation. Guard Jim DeMatteo (5' 6") is a team leader who can score from the perimeter and it may be perimeter scoring that keeps the opponents honest.

Two returning seniors who are expected to make their presence felt are Brad Manderfeld, a 5' 6" guard and Neal Vandertee, a 6' 4" forward. Mike O'Reilly and Todd Mallo, also seniors are expected to contribute to a successful effort.

Head Coach: Tom O'Malley
1992-93 Record: 18-9

The expected competition for conference honors appears to be from Lemont with Riverside-Brookfield possibly a factor. If not actually contending for the top, one of these teams could be a 'spoiler.'

O'Malley took over a moribund program a few years ago and has turned basketball into a winning tradition at Evergreen. He is one of the 'winningest' coaches in the state and has the ability to get the most out of his players. However, he would like a little more size, the only factor that could hurt the Mustangs.

"I've heard again and again that this team is loaded," O'Malley commented, however I don't buy that."

O'Malley should reconsider as it appears that the pluses abound on this team and a title banner should be hoisted at the end of this season.

STAGG CHARGERS

Veteran Head Coach John McBride is convinced that a team effort is the most important thing in coming through with a good season. The team members include: Tony Laburic, Peter Berchos, Bob Carley, Doug Barnes, Jim Alvarez, Adriano Udani, John Vonperbandt, Brian Booth, Lucas Katsenis, Manager Tom Krollk, Rich Ryzewski, Jeremy Mason, Randy Koss, Walter Neimantas, John McGuinness, Edward Tremmel, John McAllister, and Michael Carnes.

Chargers Plan To Reverse Last Season's Performance

Conference: SICA North
School Colors: navy blue/
Nickname: Chargers

Following a 16-8 season in '91-'92, the Chargers fell to 8-16 in '92-'93. The logical explanation was rebuilding, as last season's team had lost eight to graduation. Head Coach John McBride faces a similar situation this year as seven of the '92-'93 roster are gone. Two seniors are the key to improvement; Mike Carnes, a 6' senior guard and 6'7" senior center John McGuinness.

Seniors Ed Tremmell, a forward; Walter Neimantas, center/forward, guards Jim Alvarez and Pete Berchos will get plenty of playing time as will John Vonnerbrandt and Bob Curley.

The Chargers opened SICA North action last weekend with a win over Argo's Argonauts, the first defeat for the Argonauts after five wins.

McBride stresses fundamentals in his approach to the game and claims that this team still needs polishing in the basics. "Once we get the knack of playing together, we should be all right," he commented.

Head Coach: John McBride
1992-93 Record: 8-16

Carnes and Berchos have been the scoring threats and both are effective from the outside but McBride is looking for inside scoring to complement the perimeter shooting of the two guards.

McBride feels that effective work in the paint is a necessity and is concerned that McGuinness and Neimantas have not been involved to any great extent. "We must get post play if we are going to make things happen," he said.

The defense, although spotty at times, seems to be coming around and if the offensive unit and the defensive unit can work toward a 'complete' game, the Chargers are going to win their share as they attempt to reverse last year's record.

Stagg may not be right up there with the challengers but this team is capable of some surprises and if things go as planned should end-somewhere in the middle of the conference standings.

OAK LAWN SPARTANS

Spartans Count On Four Returnees To Spark Team

Conference: SICA North
School Colors: kelly green/white
Nickname: Spartans

Head coach Jim Martin and the Spartan fans have had little to cheer about during the past two years. Things may be a little easier this time around as the Spartans have four returning starters. These four seniors are Brian Fuss, a 6'1" guard; Rick Arnold, a 5'11" guard; Jeff Cowart, a 6'1" forward/guard and D. J. Smith, a 6'3" forward.

The tallest Spartan is junior center Adam Osmanski, at 6' 4" indicating that board control could present a problem.

Although the Spartans won only twice in 25 outings last season, a number of games were decided by three points or less and the team played competitively during most of the conference portion of the schedule.

The Spartans are evenly split among seniors and juniors on the 14-man roster. The other seniors Martin is counting on to add experience and to settle the juniors are 6' guard Alan Buttner, 6'1" forward Kevin Hense and 6'3" center Dan Ellis.

Over a two-year span Oak Lawn has won just two games, both last season, while dropping 48. One thing the Spartans could use is an injection of confidence which would go a long way toward improvement in the standings. SICA North is one of the most competitive of conferences with Argo which won just one game last season winning its first six matchups this year.

Shepard, Richards, Sandburg, should top the conference, with Shepard the odds on choice to take the crown.

Reavis, Oak Lawn, Stagg and Argo all hope to better their 1992-93 marks and if these four improve as expected, an unexpected finish might develop. The Spartans may not win it all but can act as a spoiler, as could some of the other competitors.

Martin looks to considerable improvement, "Our expectations are high, higher than they've been and we hope to fulfill them."

Mustangs Are Competitive But May Be A Year Away

Conference: Catholic League North School Colors: red/blue
Nickname: Mustangs

Head Coach Jim Prunty sees a dog fight for top honors in the Catholic League North. The one drawback for St. Rita is the lack of height as no Mustang is taller than 6'5" and rebounding may suffer because of it.

The Mustangs finished third in 1992-93 and Prunty sees St. Martin de Porres as the "team to beat" this season.

Charles Smith, a 6'4" forward/guard; Marques Buford, a 6'3" forward/guard; Pierre Shuttlesworth, a 6'5" center; Tom Browne, a 6'3" guard, and Jim Elwood, a 5'10" guard, are the main strength of the '93-'94 Mustangs. Shuttlesworth and Buford are juniors, the others seniors. Buford and Smith are returning starters.

Prunty in his 12th year as head coach at St. Rita, expects to improve on last year's mark and hopes the improvement is as dramatic as that between 1991-92 and 1992-93 (13-14 in '91-'92; 18-10 in '92-'93).

Head Coach: Jim Prunty
1992-93 Record: 18-10

Because of the height differential, Prunty must see scoring from the outside if the goal of a better season is to be accomplished.

With eight juniors on the 14-man roster, Rita has a young team and has to rely on superior ball handling and accuracy from the perimeter if the team has any chance of snatching the gold ring this year.

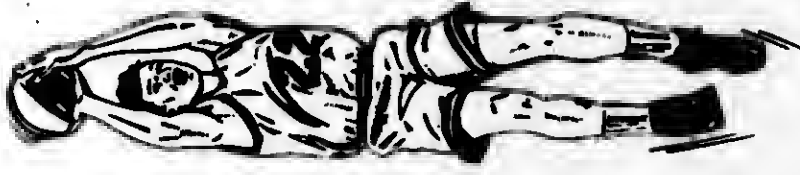

As has been observed, St. Martin is the consensus for the Catholic North bragging rights. If the season develops as expected the Mustangs can be expected to be breathing down their necks.

"We will definitely compete this season," Prunty said, "certainly we should finish in the top three."

H.L. RICHARDS BULLDOGS

Mike Ritchie's Bulldogs may start slowly but are expected to give a good account of themselves as the season progresses. Team members are: Damien Abrams, Terrance Howard, Brian Begely, Oliver Walker, Alphonso Johnson, Adam Metz, Willie Vaughan, Head Coach Mike Ritchie, Bobby Reed, Kenny Carrington, Devon Warmack, Patrick Williams, Levant Williams, Dion Parker, Roy Bardwell. Asst. Coach Ed Joy.

Bulldogs To Challenge In SICA North Conference

Conference: SICA North

School Colors: old gold/black/white
Nickname: Bulldogs

The Bulldogs generally begin slowly but Head Coach Mike Ritchie has seen them off to one of their five best starts in years. The team won four of its first five, including an opening conference win over cross-town rival Oak Lawn. The setback was at the hands of Hillcrest, picked by most to be the top team in SICA Central.

Richards is in SICA North and is a probable challenger to favorite Shepard. If early success is any harbinger, the Bulldogs might surprise.

The heart of the 1992-93 Richards squad includes 6'4" junior forward Levant Williams, 6'7" senior center Pat Williams and Damion Abrams, a 6'2" senior guard.

Ritchie has both experience and depth this season and it should be interesting to see how quickly the team progresses as it moves into the competitive SICA North action. Most teams appear stronger and if the conference is as tough as it always seems to be, almost anything can happen.

Head Coach: Mike Ritchle

Others Ritchie counts on to give positive contributions are Kenny Carrington and Bobby Reed, both rounding into shape after the end of the football season.

Dion Parker, a 6'4" forward; Oliver Walker, a 6'3" forward; and Alphonso Johnson, a 6' guard are others who should add to the depth Ritchie enjoys.

Although Shepard is the pick of most observers, Argos is off to a fast start, Richards is also out of the gate quickly and other teams are rounding into shape, it should be quite interesting to see which squad ends in the runner-up slot. If Shepard should stumble, Richards can be expected to lead the charge toward a SICA North title. The Bulldogs are a senior dominated squad and if they are in the hunt all season, the juniors probably will see limited action. Ritchie sees the key to success as "season long intensity; a steady drive to a good year."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Editor:

On behalf of Evergreen Park School District 124, I want to express our appreciation to Jerry Gibbons, editor of the Courier, for the time and effort he put forth in assisting with the organization and planning of the 'Celebrity Reader' program. He was an exemplary reader to the students at Northwest and Southwest Schools. The students were captivated with his stories and his enthusiasm served to ignite their reading interest.

As I begin preparing for next year's American Education Week, I look forward to working with the expertise of Jerry Gibbons.

Sincerely,

Jeri Orth, Principal

Open House

An open house for prospective St. Francis de Sales High School students will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 5th from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Seventh and eighth grade students, along with their parents, are invited to visit the De Sales campus, 10155 S. Ewing Ave., where they will have the opportunity to tour the school, as well as meet with De Sales faculty and staff members, alumni and current De Sales students.

Funding

State officials must recognize additional resources for Illinois' public schools are essential Judi Sloan, '1993 Illinois Teacher of the Year,' told members of the Illinois Association of Teacher Educators (IATE) at its annual convention. With her call for more financial support, Sloan also called on legislators to develop a formula that will more evenly distribute state resources.

Sloan told IATE members as 'Teacher of the Year' she has visited hundreds of public schools, an experience that has "opened my eyes to inequalities."

She recalled one school that had no money to replace lightbulbs. Children there were using darkened stairwells. At other schools, teachers are spending their own money to purchase supplies and in some cases clothing for their pupils. And, she points out, although the legislature mandates minimum prison space per inmate, it does not set guidelines for schools. In some schools, children are crowded 35 into a classroom and learning disabled children are meeting in closets.

By contrast, the Ameritech Superschool has every piece of technology school officials could want. Sloan says that kind of equipment, if provided to every Illinois school, could help equalize resources for children.

Even if the Illinois Legislature was to adjust the funding formula to equalize distribution, Sloan believes schools still would not have enough money to do the job because Illinois has fallen so far behind in funding education. Today Illinois

The Evergreen Park Chamber of Commerce, under the leadership of this year's president, Gerald Gibbons, editor of the Southwest Messenger Press, continued the holiday traditions of the past by hosting the annual children's Christmas party. Evergreen Park High School students, Snow Queen Krys Milewski, and her court, Cathy Tracy and Kelly Christopher, assisted Santa Claus. Chamber members Dr. Michael Johnson principal of Evergreen Park High School, Diane Allen of Sunnyside, event chairman Ellen Thiele of Plaza Flowers, and Laura Shallow of Marquette National Bank, greeted guests.

In addition to a visit and gifts from Santa Claus, attendees enjoyed a special private showing of a movie, entitled "The Secret Garden," at Loews Theatre. Tickets to the event were distributed through the schools, the village hall and community center, businesses and the chamber office.

Businesses, in turn, made them available to their customers as a service of the chamber. In the welcome address, guests were encouraged to shop locally and support the merchants who sponsor or underwrite the cost of programs such as this party and the Christmas decorations throughout the community.

Pet Identification

Adopters who take home Anti-Cruelty Society animals can now opt for another low-cost benefit for their animal. For $10, The Anti-Cruelty Society will implant a permanent identification microchip in an adopted animal, thus making it easier to recover the animal in case it is ever lost.

The AVID microchip system is currently used by many veterinarians and animal shelters. A numbered microchip is implanted in the animal between the shoulder blades by injection, and the number is recorded on a national registry. The Anti-Cruelty Society, other shelters and veterinarians' offices who offer the implant services also own scanners which can read the information and locate a pet's owner.

The microchip itself is about the size of a grain of rice, and hurts the animal no more than a vaccination. The Anti-Cruelty Society recognizes the impact that microchip implementation could have on the lost pet problem. Last fiscal year the society received 6,299 stray animals. Without identification tags and a collar it is nearly impossible to find an animal's owner unless the owner actively searches for his animal. The microchip option offers an efficient way to find a lost pet's owner.

The injection must be given at the time of adoption of the animal. Other animals owned by the adopter must go elsewhere for microchip injection into other previously owned animals. In order to keep costs down, The Anti-Cruelty Society can offer this service only to animals adopted from The Anti-Cruelty Society.

For more information about AVID microchips for Anti-Cruelty Society adopted animals, call (312) 644-8338.

Safe Driving

In an effort to make highways a safer road to travel, the Illinois State Police conduct a campaign called "Operation Care" which takes place during all holiday weekends. The campaign focuses on drunk drivers, speeding violations and occupant restraint violations. The Illinois State Police hope that "Operation Care" makes more people aware of how important it is to obey the laws governing the focuses of this campaign.

We have just concluded an "Operation Care" weekend for the Thanksgiving holiday and Captain Ronald Janota, District Four Commander, is pleased to report that over the holiday weekend there were no fatalities in District Four.

However, the troopers did issue 13 citations for driving under the influence, 69 citations for speeding, 46 citations for occupant restraint offenses and 78 written warnings for occupant restraint offenses.

Fire & Driving Warnings

During the Christmas holidays the Alsip Fire Department will again display a wreath in front of their two fire stations. These decorations known as "Red Lights for Safe Nights" will serve a two-fold purpose.

The bright-red lights will not only show a joyous holiday glow, but will also tell us how safe we are in our homes during the holiday season. For every fire originating from holiday decorations, a white light will replace a red one. Residents are especially urged to observe fire safety rules during this hectic and joyous holiday season.

A wrecked car will also be on display at the stations to serve as a reminder to motorists not to "Drink and Drive." Every time residents look at the displays they should be reminded to take a little extra time for safety, and they can be assured a safe and cheerful holiday. Chief Ron Fraider extends Holiday Greetings to one and all, and needs everyone's help to "Keep Our Wreath Red."

Dem Appointments

Five area Democrats, President Diana McCoy, Executive Secretary Joyce Conti, Treasurer Chuck Tokar, and Sergeants-at-Arms Rick Butkus and Robert O'Loughlin, accepted official positions in the Worth Township Democratic Organization led by Committeeman John J. McNamara.

The newly-appointed Democrats, young and old, bring a vast amount of loyalty, leadership, organizational skills, energy and knowledge of municipal government to the organization, which has increased its weighted vote in Cook County from 16,452 to 21,596, said McNamara. They also represent a cross-section of Worth Township, including Oak Lawn, Hometown, Alsip and Chicago Ridge.

"Each of the officers has contributed significantly to the organization on a continual basis and the precinct captains, who are the core of the organization, are being recognized for their tireless work," McNamara said.

During the last three years, with McNamara committeeman, the organization has earned the respect and admiration of numerous county and state officials as being a premier organization. "We are now taken seriously and thus have become a strong voice in making government work for people and not themselves," McNamara added.

Honor Roll Students

Thomas Ondria, acting principal of St. Laurence High School, has announced the first quarter honor roll for the 1993-94 school year. Students achieving the "A" honor roll include seniors Brian Berzanski and Mark Wojdelski of Burbank; Kenneth Warzynski of Palos Heights; John Collins and John Nemeth of Oak Lawn; Terrence Davey, Eric Firli, Patrick McKinney of Ashburn; Dean Estrada of Bridgeview and Jason Le Compte of Worth.

Juniors include Christopher Bedalow of Hickory Hills; Robert Karp of Worth; Jason Kopinski and James Lopez of Ashburn; Kevin Nemeth of Justice; Edward O'Brien and Carlos Ruvalcaba of Burbank and Jesus Vasquez of Bridgeview.

Sophomores include Kevin Kribs of Oak Lawn and Sean Nugent of Ashburn.

Freshmen include Michael Bedalow of Hickory Hills; Lee Beedie, Keith Berchman, Erin Dulce and Michael O'Sullivan of Burbank; John Paul Dydo, David Pfeiffer and Edward Rybka of Oak Lawn; Thomas Kleban of Ashburn and Josh Schoot of Bridgeview.

Taxpayers Save Dollars

The Forest Preserve District of Cook County's successful efforts to collect seeds from native trees in its preserves this fall will save taxpayers nearly $47,000, announced Cook County Board President Richard Phelan. The seeds will be planted at the district's nursery and once the seedlings sprout, they will be planted throughout the district as part of its ongoing reforestation efforts.

"An efficiently and resourcefully run forest preserve district benefits everyone," Phelan said. "This type of cost-saving measures allows the district to continue to expand other programs and services it offers to the public."

This fall, district foresters collected six tons of seeds from American Linden, Black Cherry and Black Walnut trees as well as seeds from three different types of oak trees. According to district estimates, the seeds will yield around 59,000 new trees.

All's Well In Dist. 130

Peace has been declared between School District 130, residents, teachers, parents and the mayors of three communities as they met on Thursday, Dec. 9th. By the end of the night, the board agreed to the suggestion of Mayor Chester Stranczek of Crestwood to review the district's budget. The school district was in contention with Stranczek, Blue Island Mayor Donald Peloquin and Alsip Mayor Arnold Andrews over the recently defeated 90 cent tax increase for the district.

Without the tax increase, school board members say that they will have to cut more than 50 people from the payroll; shorten the school day, and eliminate transportation, art, music and other programs.

However, the mayors agreed that if the need for a tax increase can be justified, they would support another, though smaller, hike. When District Business Manager Dan Aggen suggested hiring an independent accounting firm to do an outside audit, Stranczek said that the board and the district mayors should meet in the next few weeks to review the district budget line by line, and come up with a solution to the district's growing financial problems.

COOK COUNTY DELINQUENT SPECIAL ASSESSMENT LIST FOR THE YEAR 1993

NOTICE OF APPLICATION OF COUNTY COLLECTOR OF COOK COUNTY FOR JUDGMENT AND FOR AN ORDER OF SALE ON ACCOUNT OF DELINQUENT
SPECIAL ASSESSMENT

Advertisement and Notice of County Collector of Cook County of application for judgment and order of sale of delinquent lands and lots on account of unpaid special assessments or installments thereof, as provided by law.

COUNTY OF COOK,
STATE OF ILLINOIS

December 13 to 17, 1993

NOTICE is hereby given that the County Collector of Cook County, Illinois, will apply to the County Division of the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois on Monday, January 10th, 1994 for judgment against all lands and lots described as being delinquent upon which special assessments remain due and unpaid for said special assessments, or unpaid installments thereof, with interest and costs, as provided by law, and for an order for sale of said lands and lots for satisfaction thereof (excepting from said judgment and order of sale all lands and lots, if any, as noted in this advertisement and publication, ordered sold by unexecuted judgments and orders of sale, previously entered for sale delinquent special assessments, interests and costs, as provided by law, such lands and lots being included in this advertisement for sale only under such previous judgments and orders of sale).

NOTICE is further given that on the third Monday next succeeding the date of said application, namely on Monday, January 31, 1994 A.D., at the hour of eight o'clock A.M., all of said lands and lots hereafter described, for sale of which an order shall be made or has heretofore been made but not executed, will be exposed to public sale at the County Building of Cook County, where the seat of the County government is located in said County, for the amount of special assessments or installments thereof, interest and costs due thereon, respectively.

The following is a list of delinquent lands and lots in the County of Cook and State of Illinois, upon which remain due and unpaid special assessments or installments thereof, levied and assessed by the authority of the municipalities as indicated therein, special assessments levied by the authority of each municipality being set forth under the name of such municipality.

COOK COUNTY COLLECTOR

December 13 to 17, 1993

EXPLANATORY NOTE-In this list in all places where no notation is made the figures in the column headed "AMOUNT" represents the assessment or installment thereof due and unpaid. In lieu of legal description used heretofore each parcel of land or lot is designated by a permanent real estate index number. In the permanent real estate index number system, area is indicated by the number appearing in the column headed "A", the subarea by the number in the column headed "SA", the block by the number in the column headed "PCL". Comparison of the permanent real estate index number with the legal description of any parcel may be made by referring to the cross indices maintained in County offices. Tax buyers should verify all common street addresses and their classifications by personal inspection of properties before purchasing the delinquent taxes at the sale.

NO TAX BUYER WILL BE ALLOWED TO GO TO TAX DEED AGAINST ANY GOVERNMENT AGENCY. WHEN A PETITION TO VACATE SUCH A SALE IS FILED, THE FINAL RESULT MAY BE THAT NO INTEREST ON THESE PARTICULAR BUYS IS PAID TO THE TAX BUYER.

Task Force On Welfare Reform

State Rep. Tom Dart has been named by House Speaker Michael Madigan to serve on a task force to study reform of the state's welfare system. The panel was created in order to review the policies and practices of the beleaguered welfare system in the state of Illinois. The panel of House members will be looking both at program that work and programs that virtually invite abuse.

"There seems to be general public agreement that the welfare system has failed with increasing numbers, especially children, living in poverty," Dart said. "We must do better for our future generation and the task force is committed to finding workable solutions toward making the system better."

The panel met recently in Chicago to discuss how to build safeguards into existing programs that have proven effectiveness and to curb the abuses that go undetected.

"We must develop opportunities and incentives for these people, especially young adults, to become independent," Dart added. "We must develop more effective linkages between education, vocational training, job creation and business opportunities. At the present time, we have lots of partial answers but no comprehensive system."

The task force had held meetings in Chicago and is scheduling other hearings statewide. The emphasis of the task force is to study the problems of the entire state, the problems are not isolated to Cook County. Once hearings and meetings are concluded, they will submit the findings of their study to the General Assembly and introduce legislation that will help remedy the system.

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were reported by the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

On Dec. 3rd, Margaret Buckley of Romeoville reported her 1991 BMW was stolen from the east side of the 9400 block of Melvina Ave. It is valued at $15,000.

Also on the 3rd, Maritza Mallios of Oak Lawn reported her 1984 Mercury was stolen from the street in front of her home.

John George of Oak Lawn reported that during the night someone gained entry to his wife's car by smashing the passenger side window and removed the in-dash AM/FM cassette radio valued at $180 and a radar detector, $160, for a total loss of $340.

Lynda Fletcher, 32, of Calumet City and Olive Hart, 34, of Chicago, were allegedly seen by the security agent taking two comforters from the display shelf and proceeding to the clothing department at Venture, 4058 W. 95th St., where they assisted each other in covering articles taken from the ladies and men's department. They went to the cashier and paid for the comforters, but were stopped outside. $134.94 worth of merchandise was recovered from Fletcher and $241.77 from Hart. They were charged with retail theft.

Anton Hanania of Oak Lawn reported that during the night persons unknown took two three-foot-tall display women, one painted 'oil' and the other 'Frankincense,' weighed down with bricks, from the Nativity scene on display. Estimated loss is $39.

Gregory Richardson of Richton Park reported that while he was at the Chicago Health Club, 6700 W. 95th St., his wallet with $45 cash, driver's license, five credit cards, shop ID card and insurance card was taken. Complaints will be signed.

Novik Tadras of Oak Lawn reported that during the night someone removed the Christmas decorations. One large Santa with a face approximately 5 ft. wide, one plastic Santa, one snowman, two large plastic candles, 1 manger (Nativity set) and various strings of Christmas lights were taken. Approximate loss is $1,300.

At 4:04 a.m. an employee of the Amoco Station, 5928 W. 97th St., reported a man about 27 years old walked into the station. He asked for a pack of Winston cigarettes and when she turned around to give them to him, he stuck a trench knife into the money slot and said, "give me the money and I won't hurt you." The victim said she only had $40 and the offender turned and ran out of the store, heading south on Southwest Highway. Police searched for the offender with negative results.

On the 7th, Marilyn Marciano of Christ Hospital reported two witnesses had informed security that a hospital employee, Linda McKenith, was carrying a weapon in her purse. The gun was turned over to the police. Linda said she had gotten it from her brother for her protection. She did not have a current FOID card. She was charged with unlawful use of a weapon and no FOID card.

DeVonda Brooks and Simeon D. Russell, both of Chicago, walked into Sportmart, 9633 S. Cicero, and went to the shoe department where the security agent saw Brooks remove a box of shoes and take them to the seasonal department. At that time Brooks removed a pair of Nike Flyers valued at $102.46, handed them to Russell who concealed them inside of his coat while she put the box in back of something on the shelf. They bypassed the cashier and were stopped when they tried to exit the store. They were charged with retail theft.

On the 8th at 9 p.m. Joseph Musolino of Chicago reported someone broke into his car while parked at 4660 W. 99th St. Entry was made by punching a small hole below the passenger door lock. Taken was the in-dash AM/FM stereo cassette system valued at $400. Damage to the lock and door is estimated at $200.

Laura Earner of Oak Lawn reported someone broke the driver's side window and removed her AM/FM cassette radio. Estimated loss is $300.

The security agent at Venture allegedly saw Shani A. Bush of Chicago conceal three silk ties, two pair of leather gloves, a cap, one bra and two pair of panties. Total recovered merchandise came to $245.29. She was charged with retail theft.

On the 10th, Theodore Mendoza of Oak Lawn was charged with negligent driving and driving with an expired driver's license. Mendoza, 77, was ticketed after he drove his car into the living room of the house at 5930 W. 91st. According to police, Mendoza backed his 1983 Plymouth out on his driveway onto 91st St. and then lost control of the car and hit the house. No one was injured.

Christopher Gullidge, 22, of Harvey was charged on Dec. 6th with criminal sexual assault after he exposed himself to one of his employees while driving her home from McDonald's at 9128 Cicero Ave. Gullidge, a supervisor at the restaurant, offered the 16 year old girl a ride home after work, according to police. Once in the car, he exposed himself to her, then stopped back at the restaurant and drove her home. She reported the incident to police on the 6th.

St. Laurence Founders Scholars

St. Laurence High School has announced its Founders Scholars for the 1993-94 academic year. Each year St. Laurence awards freshmen who score at or above the 90th percentile on their entrance exam this prestigious award. Freshmen who score between a 90-92 on the exam receive a $400 tuition reduction on each year's tuition. Freshmen who score a 93-95 receive a $600 reduction. Those students who score a 96 or a 97 receive $800 and those who score a 98-100 receive a $1,000 reduction.

This year's freshman class boasts 26 Founders Scholars. These students and their grammar schools are listed below.

They are: Chris Albano, Hamlin Upper Grade Center; Lee Beedie, Luther Burbank School; Keith Berchman, Fry School; David Blake, Morgan Park Academy; Brian Blaszk, St. Turibius; Jonathan Chuchla, St. Albert the Great; Michael Ciurej, Queen of the Universe; David Delaney, Queen of the Universe; Aaron Droba, St. Mary Star of the Sea; Erin Dulce, Luther Burbank; John Paul Dydo, St. Linus; David Franchi, St. Turibius; Adam Gondek, St. Simon the Apostle; Mike Gregus, St. Symphorosa; Tim Hawkins, St. Gerald; Jason Kaluzny, St. Albert the Great; Michael Kazecki, St. Linus; James Macak, John F. Byrne School.

"I congratulate these fine students on their achievements and wish them good luck in the months and years ahead," commented Mr. Thomas Ondra, acting principal of St. Laurence High School. "Founders Scholars have served St. Laurence very well over the years, and we at St. Laurence are very honored to educate these fine young men."

Leadership Course Preview

The Christopher Leadership course is coming in January to Chicago's southwest side. A no-obligation, free preview of the course will be held at St. Bede School on Tuesday, Jan. 4th at 7:30 p.m. The session provides an overview of the 10-week course. Public speaking is used as a tool to develop leadership skills. Among the goals of the course are to boost self-confidence, communicate more effectively, be more dynamic and put more meaning into life.

The program is presented by the Gabriel Richard Institute, a non-profit, educational organization. The program is non-sectarian and open to all.

For more information, call Mary Billish at (312) 239-0306.

'It's Academic' Championship

St. Rita High School held its 9th annual "It's Academic" competition on Nov. 18th. Over 100 students from 23 different grammar schools participated in the event which this year consisted of an individual examination along with the team competition, said John Bourgeois, director of admissions at St. Rita.

The individual champions were Chris Jackson, Queen of the Universe, and Jason Washington, Ted Lenart Gifted Center, in the math competition; Tim Wilson, St. Michael of Orland Park, in the social studies competition; Carmelo Barbaro, Healy School, in English; and Derek Smith, Burbank School, in science.

The team competition came down to the final question of the championship games as Healy School defeated St. Gerald of Oak Lawn 10-9 in the championship game. St. Catherine of Alexandria, also of Oak Lawn, was this year's third place finisher as they defeated Burbank.

"Each round saw spirited and competitive action as each team served as excellent representatives for their respective schools," said Joseph Bamberger, principal of St. Rita.

The team competition, which saw the most participants in history, included a variety of questions in the following categories: math, science, social studies, English, current events, geography and spelling. Participants received "It's Academic" T-shirts and folders of school information while enjoying dinner with their coaches, families and members of the St. Rita faculty.

"Each team was made up of some incredible young men," concluded Bamberger. "Their academic preparation is a real credit to their hard work, their families and their schools." For information in regards to upcoming grammar school events at St. Rita, contact Bourgeois at (312) 925-6600, ext. 27.

In recognition of John Wheeler's generous financial support of the health care mission of Little Company of Mary Hospital and Health Care Center, the hospital has announced that one of its new V.I.P. suites has been named for Catherine Wheeler, John's mother.

Francis X. Gallagher, vice-president of development at LCM said, "It is only through the generous support of people such as Mr. Wheeler, a distinguished attorney, that the hospital is able to upgrade its facilities and purchase the newest medical equipment. This enables us to meet the health care needs of our community residents."

Wheeler, pictured with LCM President Sister Kathleen McIntyre, said, "It is an honor and a privilege to be associated with Little Company of Mary Hospital. I would like to extend my personal congratulations to the Sisters of the Little Company of Mary who are celebrating their 100th anniversary this year for providing quality health care to the people of the Southwest Chicagoland area."

Menger Hotel at the Alamo for the past 134 years

By Connie Sherley

MESSIAH PRESS

SAN ANTONIO, TX - There's not a living soul who remembers Alamo Plaza without the Menger Hotel.

Since its grand opening in 1859, the Menger has grown from 50 to 350 rooms and spread over and above the block across the street from the Alamo.

Despite 134 years of expansion and refinement, the Menger's charm and historic atmosphere endure. Brass trimmed beveled glass doors open into the spacious "new" lobby added in 1949 when the original Alamo Plaza entrance area became part of the coffee shop. During an extensive 1989 renovation, the old lobby area was restored and redecorated with antiques and paintings the first owner, William A. Menger, bought for the public rooms more than a century ago.

With the opening of a new ballroom, dining was relocated to the Colonial Room, a cheerful garden restaurant boasting a reasonably priced breakfast buffet, as well as an extensive children's menu offering a variety of small-fry favorites for only $1.99.

The paneled Menger Bar where Teddy Roosevelt rallied his Rough Riders is a favorite gathering spot for guests and locals, who drop in before events at the nearby Alamodome.

Now the large heated pool in the tropical courtyard is complemented by a complete spa program featuring Kneipp herbal hydrotherapy and aromatherapy adapted from methods and programs so popular in Baden Baden.

An array of fine lobby shops is augmented by Rivercenter Mall, only steps away from the ballroom entrance. The multi-storied mall boasts an Imax theater, a food court, restaurants and access to the upper reaches of the River Walk.

All this, plus the mango ice cream that's one of President Clinton's favorite treats and the Alamo, across the street. The Menger seems to get better and better with age.

Rates for doubles range from $118 to $138. For reservations call 1-800-345-9285.

The Menger is a member of Historic Hotels of America and the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

Savings Tips Told

Travelers headed for London this winter to take advantage of low transatlantic air fares and savings on hotel room rates will also want to go shopping in the British capital, where the spending power of the US dollar is the best it's been in several years. To help American visitors explore the city's main shopping districts, a new free map folder entitled "The London Shopping Guide 1993/4" is available from the British Tourist Authority. The guide has an unusual three-dimensional map of central London, as well as more detailed maps of a dozen shopping areas.

About 200 individual stores and shops are located on the map and conveniently organized in 30 categories, ranging from chocolates to china; sheet music to stamp collecting.

For a free copy of "The London Shopping Guide 1993/4," send a self-addressed business-size envelope with 52 cents postage to 625 N. Michigan Ave., Suite 1510, Chicago, IL 60611-1977.

Holiday Themed Week-ends

Marriott's Lincolnshire Resort in north suburban Lincolnshire is introducing a new holiday-themed weekend package featuring a variety of family and children's activities, games, contests and surprises. The $59 package, "Winter Wonderland," includes a deluxe guest room for the evening, a bonfire party, a family hayride and extensive supervised children's programs.

"Winter Wonderland" refers to a designated children's play area adjacent to the resort's golf shop where children will be entertained throughout the weekend in a festive indoor setting. Supervised children's sessions will begin on Friday evenings at 6 p.m. with crafts, cookie decorating, relays and games, a popcorn and juice break followed by a children's movie. The Friday night session ends at 10 p.m.

Saturday morning sessions will begin at 9 a.m. with crafts, a mini-olympics, hula hoop contests and lots of fun prizes. Children also have a choice of watching a favorite children's movie, followed by lunch, bingo, storytime and "Wonderland" decorating. The session will end at 4 p.m. after more games and a snack. Saturday evening's activities will begin at 6 p.m. and will include crafts, games, storytime, movie and a snack. A hayride for the entire family around the resort's picturesque grounds is available from 6 to 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday nights.

On Sunday mornings from 8 to 11 a.m., while parents indulge in the resort's elaborate brunch in the Kings Wharf restaurant, children will feast on fresh fruit, juices, cereals and more in the "Winter Wonderland." After breakfast, children will show off in mini-olympics contests, a lively game of bingo and more crafts and cookie decorating.

Children are supervised by a skilled, trained staff headed by Natalie Wiersma, the resort's recreation supervisor, who is degreed in fitness instruction, and Sheri Eck, activities coordinator, a former daycare assistant who is degreed in recreation administration.

The "Winter Wonderland" sessions for two children are included in the $59 (plus tax) cost of the overnight package. Additional children participating in the program will be charged $10 for each session. Children can attend any or all of the sessions. The package is available on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays now through Jan. 9th, excluding Christmas weekend. New Year's Eve hours will be extended to 12:30 a.m.

Marriott's Lincolnshire Resort is located at Ten Marriott Drive in Lincolnshire. Other holiday packages are available. For information and reservations, call (708) 634-0100.

Tallahassee "The Other Florida"

Near, but far from the glaring strips of neon amusement, and the castles and crowds of Disney, lies another magical place in the Sunshine State -- one of pow-wows, plantations, politics and great pride. Often described as "The Other Florida" with its deep-rooted history, rolling hills, canopy roads of moss-draped oaks, cool climate and Southern-style hospitality; it is a Florida few have seen. It is Tallahassee -- Florida with a Southern accent.

Best known as Florida's capital, Tallahassee is an intimate neo-metropolitan city where the power of state government, the academic and the artistic are complemented by subtle, old-fashioned charm. It is the perfect two or three-day diversion for the more than 38 million annual visitors to Florida and 13 million residents.

Tallahassee touts a menagerie of sights including one of the world's deepest freshwater springs, site of America's first Christmas, a wildlife habitat, Capitol buildings, fascinating museums of history, sprawling plantations, highly-acclaimed fishing and hunting adventures and nearby beaches. Spirited area festivals range from celebrations of Tallahassee's spectacular spring and swamp stomps to genuine rattlesnake roundups and seafood festivals.

With the Gulf of Mexico just 20 miles south and the Georgia border only 14 miles north, Tallahassee rests between the foothills of the Appalachian Mountains and the juncture of Florida's panhandle and peninsula. Nearer in miles to Atlanta than to Miami, Tallahassee more closely resembles its Southern neighbors than Florida in topography, climate and lifestyle.

Like the city itself, the story of how Tallahassee was chosen as the state capital is rich in history. In 1823, two explorers set out -- one on horseback from St. Augustine and the other by boat from Pensacola -- to find a permanent, central location for the Legislature to convene. The two met at a beautiful site that the Creek and Seminole Indians called "tallahassee" -- derived from the words "talwa" meaning town and "ahassee" meaning old. The rendezvous point remains Florida's capital.

The "old town" has undergone many changes, but one thing remains the same -- it is still a government town fiercely proud and dedicated to preserving its heritage. The Capitol buildings, both old and new, epitomize Tallahassee's perseverance.

Minutes from downtown lies the Governor's Mansion, which resembles the home of Florida's military hero, Andrew Jackson; and the 55-acre natural animal habitat and 1880s farm of the Tallahassee Museum of History and Natural Sciences, which provide the rare chance to walk and talk with native Florida animals.

Outdoor enthusiasts enjoy adventures including boating and fishing on area lakes, rivers, ponds and the Gulf -- just 30 minutes away. Lakes Jackson and Talquin are renowned in the bass fishing world for yielding the "big ones," and dense forests offer an abundance of prize-winning game. Local wildlife areas such as the Florida National Scenic Trail, St. Marks National Wildlife Refuge and Apalachicola National Forest are spots for camping, picnicking, swimming, biking and exploring.

From luxury to economy, accommodations are plentiful and include a quaint inn of governors, a restored plantation bed and breakfast, rustic "gentlemen" lodges, beachside escapes and familiar chain hotels. For those who choose to follow in the footsteps of early travelers -- Tallahassee also boasts 15 beautiful campsites. With continuous air service and four major highways -- Interstate 10 and U.S. 90 east and west, and U.S. 27 and U.S. 319 north and south -- getting to Tallahassee is easy.

Tallahassee is a collaboration of power-play politics and classical character splashed with a twist of Southern beauty and charm. Visitor information is available by calling the Tallahassee Area Convention and Visitors Bureau at (800) 628-2866.

Sublime spa treatment offered

BY CONNIE SHERLEY
World News Features

Imagine being submerged in champagne that blankets your body with thousands of tiny bubbles as delicate as duckling down.

That's the sublime sensation you enjoy in a warm mineral water bath at the St. Moritz health spa center.

Tension and stress seem to float away as you relax in your private spa room. A window framing the peaceful alpine scenery provides a picture postcard view that enhances the restful atmosphere. No wonder you emerge from the bath with such a feeling of well being.

The modern, municipally owned spa opened in 1976, but St. Moritz has been famous as a health resort for centuries. Celtic construction dating to the Bronze Age was discovered during restoration of the Maurtius spring in 1907.

Drinking and bathing in the curative waters are only part of the total spa plan available. Mud therapy introduced in the 1920s utilizes peat from a bog at the foot of Piz Rosatsch. Underwater jet massages, as well as conventional massage, and Kneipp physiotherapy are supervised by the trained professional staff that includes doctors and specialists.

What makes these mineral waters different? The rich apricot color is produced by the high iron content. Valuable trace elements also are present.

During the summer months the spa orchestra schedules concerts in the gardens of the health resort.

Fondue treat in St. Moritz

The St. Moritz visitor who seeks typical Swiss cuisine, including fondue and raclette, finds varied fare in both restaurants and hotel dining rooms.

Where a cheese platter is offered, the diner can expect at least five different Swiss cheeses; restaurants recommending fondue are obliged to prepare the dish fresh for every guest and to use cheeses of Swiss origin only.

The waters of St. Moritz have been noted for therapeutic values since Roman Days. A modern health center now serves thousands who come each year for treatment and therapy.

St. Moritz Beauty Farm

BY CONNIE SHERLEY
World News Features

"Beauty is more than creams," Marianne Vogel says, emphasizing that the St. Moritz Beauty Farm is concerned with inner, as well as outer, care.

"Our beauty week is designed to help each individual find bodily and spiritual harmony, which is why we begin with personal interviews," the Beauty Farm director says.

Facilities for men as well as women are in the spa center.

Outer care includes treatment of the face, neck and décolleté with biological products, manicure, pedicure, massage, make-up instruction, baths and body packs.

For the inner person yoga, water and floor gymnastics provide intellectual and spiritual relaxation.

A separate slimming program emphasizing a well-balanced diet and exercise also is tailored to the client's needs.

Information about special packages and rates is available from Beauty Farm, Heilbadzen-trum, 7500 St. Moritz, Switzerland.

As for weight problems, one can take a slimming cure independent of the beauty weeks. A plan will be drawn up during a personal interview, with special attention to individual wishes, personal aims and state of the visitor's health.

If it is necessary, a thorough medical checkup will be arranged prior to starting the cure.

The cure is based on a well-balanced diet, massages, floor and water gymnastics and proper health rules.

A typical problem spot, such as hips, stomach and upper thighs receive special treatment.

The slimming programs leave enough time for guests to take part in favorite sports and other activities, or to enjoy the scenic surroundings.

The helpful St. Moritz Tourist Office can be reached at CH-7500 St. Moritz, Switzerland.

Further information on St. Moritz is available from the Swiss National Tourist Offices and Swissair in New York, Chicago and San Francisco.

'1993 Senior Alert'

New tax, Medicare, Medicaid and Social Security changes just enacted in the omnibus budget reconciliation act have many senior citizens concerned, notes tax and business law publisher Commerce Clearing House. As a result, CCH has published "1993 Senior Alert: What Every Senior Citizen Ought To Know -- New Developments - Taxes - Benefits - Health Care - Estate Planning Basics."

How will the new law affect seniors? What has changed, and what will stay the same (for now)? The booklet answers the most commonly asked questions about the new law while providing an overview of the major programs and choices currently available to older Americans in the areas of taxes, housing, social security, pensions and IRAs, medical care and estate planning.

"1992 Senior Alert: What Every Senior Citizen Ought To Know" combines plain language discussion of the new changes that seniors must address with all the authoritative guidance offered in the 1992 first edition of this timely booklet.

Among the topics covered in this 72-page booklet are increased tax on Social Security benefits; 36 percent and 39 percent tax brackets added; installment plan for paying increases due to higher rates; health insurance for the self-employed; receipts for monetary contributions; estimated tax payment rules simplified; medicare part B coverage broadened; Medicare transfer-of-resources rules; Medicaid-qualifying trusts, and Medicaid liens and recoveries.

"1993 Senior Alert: What Every Senior Citizen Ought To Know" (Item 5320) is available at $5 a copy by calling 1-800-248-3248, Department 3376. Or, by writing: Cash Item Department 3376, 4025 W. Peterson Ave., Chicago, IL 60646. Special discounts are available for quantity purchases.

Blood Donor Month

The President of the United States has declared January to be "National Volunteer Blood Donor Month." In our community, there is a need for 400,000 units of blood per year for the protection of patients and there is a need for additional healthy, regular volunteer donors to join the ranks of those who already give of themselves so generously.

United Blood Services urges all citizens in good health to donate regularly. All civic and service organizations and businesses are urged to form blood donor groups to provide blood for others.

People interested in becoming blood donors should call United Blood Services at (312) 751-1704 to find out more.

"TAKE IT FROM A GUY WHO WAS A CONSULTANT. THE DAYS WHEN BLUE CROSS COULD BE CALLED INFLEXIBLE ARE ANCIENT HISTORY."

SHERMAN M. WOLFE, SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT, FINANCE

There was a time that Blue Cross and Blue Shield seldom made my recommended carrier list. I didn't think they were willing to design plans specifically for individual clients.

Well, I was wrong. And if you believe it's that way around here, you're not as well informed about us as you could be.

One of the big reasons we're thriving is that we build every plan exactly the way a client wants it. And our range of products, plus the power of our networks, helps us do that better than anybody else."

WHEN YOU HAVE BLUE CROSS, YOU HAVE IT ALL.

- ☐ Balanced Benefit Planning to meet financial as well as human resource objectives.
- ☐ Comprehensive plans that are tailor made for specific client objectives.
- ☐ A greater ability to negotiate more favorable terms than any other carrier.
- ☐ The most trusted health insurance company in Illinois.

WE HAVE IT ALL.

Police Seek Rapist

The Oak Lawn Police Department has issued a composite sketch of a suspect wanted for aggravated criminal assault. The suspect raped a 16-year-old girl late in the evening on Nov. 27th. The assault took place on the 9100 block of Meade Ave. The same individual is believed to be responsible for two other attacks: one a 19-year-old girl on the afternoon of Nov. 25th and the second a woman attacked on Oct. 27th. One attack took place on the 9500 block of Mansfield, the other on the 9200 block of Parkside.

The girl who was raped on the 27th was continually threatened with a razor blade while the suspect raped her, according to police.

The suspect is described as a white male, approximately 35 years old, 5'9" tall and weighing about 180 pounds. He is said to have brown hair, brown eyes and a light complexion.

At the time of the rape, he was wearing a brown waist-length bomber jacket, tan slacks and dress shoes.

Oak Lawn Police Chief Frank Gilbert said that a "number of leads have been called in, but as of yet (Tuesday morning) none has panned out."

Gilbert added, "In a case like this it takes time to check everything out."

A vehicle seen in the area at approximately the time of the rape was described as a sky blue Ford LTD, a late 70's 'beater,' four-door. The license plate is unknown. The car was said to be "large and rusty."

Anyone with any information on this suspect is asked to contact the Oak Lawn Police Department at (708) 422-8292.

JULIE Records 5,000,000th Call

A phone call by a Kendall County contractor in late October was recognized as the 5-millionth utility locate request processed by JULIE, Inc., the Illinois One-Call System. The milestone call was made by Ann McNelis of H.D. Backhoe Service, Yorkville, on Oct. 23rd for a driveway project in Kendall Township. JULIE is a not-for-profit organization that notifies member utility facility owners/operators of planned digging activities in areas where their facilities are present. Each utility sends locators to the dig site to mark the location of buried utility lines. JULIE serves the entire state of Illinois outside of the City of Chicago.

"JULIE is a great service for Illinois contractors and others who are planning to dig. Having one phone number to reach all utilities sure beats contacting each utility individually," stated Mrs. Cindy Davidson, owner of H.D. Backhoe Service, during a ceremony at the JULIE offices on Nov. 17th.

JULIE provides contractors, excavators, homeowners and others who plan to dig with a toll-free telephone number to call for the locating and marking of underground facilities. By calling JULIE at 1(800)892-0123 at least two working days before you dig, you can avoid damaging vital underground utility services. When damaged, these services can endanger property and public safety; they can also be expensive and time-consuming to repair. Since July of 1991, Illinois law requires all persons digging to call JULIE two working days prior to excavation.

In addition, JULIE set another industry record in May 1993 when 74,095 locate requests were handled during that month.

Funeral Services For Jeff Alm And Sean Lynch

Jeff Alm, defensive tackle for the Houston Oilers, apparently despondent over the death of his best friend, took his own life Tuesday morning. Sean Lynch was thrown from Alm's car when the vehicle crashed on a Houston expressway at approximately 2:45 a.m. after Alm apparently lost control of his Cadillac El Dorado.

Both men were 25 and graduates of Sandburg High School in 1985, after which Alm went to Notre Dame University where he was named to the AP second team All-American squad in 1989.

Lynch was manager of his family's restaurant, Jack Gibbons Gardens, Oak Forest. He started with the family business after graduation from Sandburg.

According to Houston police, Alm must have been aware that his friend had died as a result of the accident when he saw Lynch's body on a service road some 25 feet below the accident site. Alm, uninjured in the crash, according to police, used a shotgun to end his life.

Both men were Orland Park residents and neither was married.

Services for Alm are at Schmaedeke Funeral Home, 10701 Harlem Ave., Worth, with visitation from 2 until 9 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 16th and a funeral service at 11 a.m. on Friday, Dec. 17th.

Services for Lynch are at the Sheehy Funeral Home, 7020 127th St., Palos Heights, with visitation on Thursday, Dec. 16th from 3 to 9 p.m. A funeral mass is at 10 a.m. on Friday, Dec. 17th at St. Michael's Church, 14327 Highland Ave., Orland Park, with interment at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Jeff is survived by his parents, Betty (Bill) Robson and Larry (Lila) Alm. He was the brother of Debra O'Connor, Lance Alm, Ingrid and Andy Alm; step-brother of William, Roberta and Charles Robson.

Sean, in addition to his parents, Roger and Marilyn Lynch, is survived by a brother David and two sisters, Julie Leonard and Lori Fischer.

Judge Dennis Dohm Announces Candidacy

Judge Dennis Michael Dohm announced his candidacy for election to the office of Judge of the Circuit Court of Cook County and named former Cook County Judge, Brian Crowe, as chairman, and the Mayor of Chicago Ridge, Gene Siegel, as vice-chairman of his election committee. Other officers of Dohm's election committee include: Dolores Dohm, treasurer; Paul Dohm, secretary, and Mark Dohm, legal counsel. Judge Dohm is endorsed by the Cook County Democratic Party.

Dohm, 51, is presently a circuit judge (county-wide), serving by appointment of the Illinois Supreme Court. He is assigned to the Sixth Municipal District in Markham.

The Chicago Bar Association has found Judge Dohm "QUALIFIED" and the Cook County Court Watchers has praised how Judge Dohm presides in cases, saying that he hands out "stiff sentences when deserved" and is "very much in control" of his courtroom. Dohm disposes of 70% of the cases he hears each month. He was the judge initially assigned to the first suburban courtroom devoted exclusively to hearing domestic violence cases.

Dohm attended parochial and public schools and graduated from Quigley Preparatory Seminary in Chicago. He earned his undergraduate and law degrees from DePaul University and has been a lawyer for 25 years.

Dohm was the chief legal officer of the Illinois Supreme Court's administrative office before becoming a judge. He has served on numerous legal committees, including the Supreme Court's Planning & Oversight Committee for a Judicial Performance Evaluation Program and the Advisory Committee for the Future & the Courts Conference.

Dohm has lectured on legal topics at DePaul University and has written extensively about the law. He is a long-time editor of the Bench & Bar Newsletter, published by the Illinois State Bar Association.

On announcing his candidacy, Judge Dohm said: "I am committed, as I have been all of my professional life, to giving the best quality of justice that I possibly can. All persons who appear in my courtroom are treated fairly and with patience." Dohm observed that he understands the problems of people, and stated: "I worked full time while I attended college and law school. I could not have done that without my parents' encouragement and the support of my wife, Peggy."

Dohm is a former school board member (District 122-Oak Lawn) and a life-long resident of Cook County. He and his wife, Peggy Murray Dohm, live in Oak Lawn, and have five children, ranging in age from 14 to 27 years old.

Sheriff's Youth Service Medal Honorees

The Annual Cook County Sheriff Youth Service Medal of Honor ceremony was held on Saturday, Dec. 4th. Awardees were young people from across Cook County who received the medal of honor from Sheriff Michael Sheahan's office for performing at least 100 hours of volunteer work. The ceremony was at the Daley Center. In all, 227 people were singled out for more than 40,000 hours of volunteer projects ranging from work at nursing homes and hospitals to soup kitchens and homeless shelters.

Area winners of the medal include Jennifer Clement and Victoria Cruz of Alsip; Maria Alvarado, Jennifer Erfft, Olimpia Esparza, Melissa Gaddini, Marivel Gome, Anna Loiacono and Wayne Talaski of Blue Island; Michele Gallagher of Bridgeview; Carly Andersen, Greg Hart, Hubert Neary and Shelia Treacy of Evergreen Park; Sara Moscato of Hickory Hills; Denise Bousk and Courtney Strand of Midlothian; Catherine Crowe, Tracy Frangella, Julianne Hertko, Heather Humphries, Jennifer Lexow, Kelly McCarthy, Dave Van Duch and Jessica Wilson of Oak Forest.

Others receiving medals were Robert Galassi, Tracy

Kennedy, Allison Krucek, Cheryl Starmach, Michael Sullivan and Matthew Thrun of Oak Lawn; Kelly Bober, Barbara Bronersky and Peter Dolce of Orland Park; Julie Conwell of Palos Heights; Taruna Madhav and Rebecca Reitz of Palos Hills; and Kristin Pycz of Posen.

Women's Meeting

The Southwest Evening Chapter of Concerned Women for America (CWA) is holding its monthly meeting on Thursday, Jan. 6th from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Bremen Township Administrative Building, 15350 S. Oak Park Ave. A video presentation from CWA National Convention featuring Gary Kah, formerly a Europe and Middle East trade specialist, representing state government and business in the area of export promotion, will be given. He is author of "En Route to Global Occupation," a book documenting the secret movement towards one-world government.

For additional information, please call Dianne at (708) 614-0366.

OUTDOORS

By Jim Kirby

DEAR SANTA - I've been a reasonably good boy this past year. All the game I took was in fair chase and I harvested only for my family's consumption. About 99% of the fish I caught were promptly released.

The following Christmas wish list contains items that are probably impossible to grant, may not be practical and like the Daisy BB Gun I asked for and didn't get when I was 6 years old represent "wishful thinking."

1. At least one more year of hunting with my older dog NIP IV who has developed hearing problems and inoperable eye cataracts.

2. Don't tamper with the COOK COUNTY FOREST PRESERVE DISTRICT that is doing a super job of providing "multiple use" outdoor recreational opportunities for the entire Chicagoland area.

3. Find some way for the F.C.C. to control the higher volume during commercials and music background on T.V.

4. Get the fishing community to agree on the "proper way" to CATCH AND RELEASE FISH.

5. Make "English" the official language of the United States. One visit to Canada, particularly Quebec Province, will quickly demonstrate the problems of a bi-lingual society.

6. Educate the general public and lawmakers as to the difference between SEMI-AUTOMATIC (used by some target shooters and hunters) and ASSAULT-TYPE firearms.

7. Continue and possibly expand the YOUTH FISHING DAYS sponsored by various organizations. "Get a kid HOOKED on fishing, not drugs."

8. An ideal growing season with a dry October/November so farmers can get their bean and corn crops out of the field before opening day of pheasant hunting (the first Saturday in November).

9. With the "BRADY BILL" now the law of the land, drive-by shootings and homicides are expected to decrease. This is a tough one since Chicago, New York and Washington, D.C. have more stringent laws than the Brady Bill and have the highest gun-related crime rate.

10. An early summer installation of a small boat launch ramp at Saganashkee Slough. The funds have been allocated and engineering plans have been approved.

11. A break-through on a way to control or eradicate the zebra mussel, a European shell fish accidentally introduced into the Great Lakes in 1988. The zebra mussel is an environmental disaster threatening the entire Great Lakes ecosystem.

12. Santa, my list goes on and on but most importantly I wish for "PEACE ON EARTH AND GOOD WILL TO ALL MANKIND."

FIRST MEETING OF HABITAT COMMITTEE SET - The Illinois Habitat Fund Advisory Committee will hold its first meeting on Jan. 25 to develop criteria to select habitat projects for funding.

The 12-member committee was created by law to advise the director about how to best spend funds collected from the sale of the state habitat stamp.

Beginning last April, most hunters and trappers were required to purchase a $5 habitat stamp to hunt or trap all species of wildlife except for ducks, geese, coots and hand-reared birds on licensed game breeding and hunting preserves. Money from the stamps goes into a special fund used to preserve, acquire and manage land to improve the habitat for all wildlife species in Illinois.

The habitat stamp replaced both the pheasant and furbearer stamps that sportsmen had been required to purchase from 1989 to 1992, however, a percentage of funds raised from the new stamp sales will continue to support pheasant (30 percent) and furbearer (6 percent) programs.

March Of Dimes Softball Sign-Up

Softball teams can sign up for the 13th annual March of Dimes Sno-Ball Softball Tournaments, which take place at five sites in the area, on the weekend of Feb. 5th and 6th. The 16-inch men's, women's and co-ed's, and 12-inch men's tournaments will be played at Lincoln Park and Oriole Park in Chicago; John Humphrey Complex in Orland Park; Softball Complex in Elgin; and Dowling Park in Hammond. The basic entry fee per team is $150 before Jan. 21st, $200 after that

St. Rita Indoor Soccer Winners

"St. Rita High School recently held its third annual indoor soccer invitational at the school gym and after three rounds of intense competition the Sutherland team walked away as champions," announced Tim McCarthy, head coach of the St. Rita soccer team. Nine teams participated in the tournament. Each young man in the tournament received a T-shirt and the first and second place teams each earned plaques for their accomplishments.

En route to the championship, Sutherland knocked off some tough competition. In the first and second rounds they defeated Our Lady of Snows and St. Linus. In the semi-finals they defeated St. Cajetan in a hard-fought battle. In the championship round they defeated Ashburn Lutheran of Wrightwood.

Mike Ramirez from Morgan Park/Sutherland team was the tournament's leading scorer. Mike scored 10 goals in four games on his way to being named the tournament's "golden foot."

"Besides being a great time for the players involved in the tournament, is an opportunity for me to see the very talented soccer players we have in the area," said McCarthy. "It also gives the players an opportunity to see St. Rita."

Cobras Bring Home A Pair Of Trophies

In a busy vacation over the Thanksgiving Holiday break, the Queen of the Universe Cobras 8th Grade Boys Basketball Team broughthome two team trophies along with award shirts for the team and an All-Tournament player award for Chris Jackson. Ironically, the Cobras were eliminated from further awards in both tournaments due to scheduling changes and conflicting games. The Cobras had to miss their final scheduled games in both tournaments.

At Valentine Boys Club on Nov. 24th the Cobras faced St. Richards and defeated them by the score of 28-11. The Cobras were to meet St. Gabriel on Saturday in the semi-final game of the Valentine Tourney but had to miss the game and settle for 3rd place so they could play the 10am semi-final game against St. Rita in the Agnes Touney. In that game, the Cobras were victorious against St. Rita at Agnes by the score of 21-15. The Cobras were to then meet the tourney host, Agnes, in the championship game but due to a scheduling change, the game conflicted with Cobra CCPL Conference action on Sunday. The Universe team settled for the 2nd Place trophy by missing the game.

On Sunday, Chris Jackson was selected to the All-Tournament team at Agnes by the Tournament Directors. Jackson led the Cobras to the 2nd place finish in the tournament.

In Thanksgiving Tourney action, the Cobras had the 2nd place finish at Agnes, 3rd place finish at Valentine, and advanced to the final Elite Eight of the Laurence HS Tourney before bowing out.

Vessel Fee Ends

This fiscal year will be the last time that owners of recreational vessels will be required to purchase Recreational Vessel Fee (RVF) decals for certain boats, U.S. Coast Guard officials in Washington said recently. The RVF program is being phased out over two fiscal years that began on Oct. 1st, 1992 and ends on Sept. 30th, 1994.

Since Oct. 1st, 1993, vessels that are less than 37 feet do not require decals. Presently, only two kinds of vessels are required to have decals. Vessels that are at least 37 feet long but less than 40 feet in length must display "C" decals that cost $50 and vessels that are 40 feet and over require "D" decals that cost $100.

Decals may be ordered by calling toll-free 1(800)848-2100. The status of some vessels (public, commercial, foreign, passenger, etc.) previously exempt from RVF requirements remains the same.

For additional information on the modifications to the RVF law, call the Coast Guard hotline, 1(800)368-5647.

Proceeds benefit the March of Dimes Campaign for Healthier Babies, a nationwide focus to prevent birth defects and infant mortality.

To register or for more info call (312) 435-4007.

Michael Ryan, athletic director at Brother Rice High School, named Bill Gleeson the school's head varsity football coach. Gleeson will take over for Tom Mitchell, who announced his resignation after 27 years as coach. Gleeson was Rice's assistant athletic director, assistant football coach and head track coach at time of the announcement. In addition to his athletic department duties, Gleeson is also a history teacher at the school. A 1976 graduate of St. Laurence High School, Gleeson graduated from Illinois Benedictine College. He is optimistic about the Brother Rice football program stating, "I'm replacing a legend in Coach Mitchell but I am looking forward to continued success for a strong program."

Girls Softball Clinic

Trinity Christian College will be conducting a girls fastpitch softball clinic at the college on Tuesday, Dec. 28th from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for girls 7th grade through high school. The camp's object is to teach and develop skills in fastpitch softball pitching. Dan Bantin, head softball coach, with the assistance of Keri Larson, pitching coach, will be the instructors. The cost is $25 per person. Participants must bring a bag lunch. For a registration form, call Bev Boeringa at (708) 597-3000, ext. 425.

TCC's 6th annual youth soccer league begins on Saturday, March 5th and continues through April 23rd. No games will be scheduled on Saturday, April 2nd (due to spring break). Registration forms will be made available at Southwest Chicago Christian Schools, 12001 S. Oak Park Ave., or by calling David Ribbens at (708) 597-3000, ext. 426. The cost per player is $35.

All questions should be directed to Ribbens, league director, at (708) 597-3000, ext. 426.

Skate On State!

The Mayor's Office of Special Events invites you to celebrate at Skate on State! Now through mid-March, private parties may be booked at the 100 ft. by 176 ft. outdoor rink located in the heart of downtown at State and Randolph.

"This year will be better than ever to host a party at Skate on State!" said James Sheahan, executive director of the Mayor's Office of Special Events. "Skate on State is the perfect place to hold a fun, unique type of event. We expect many people to take advantage of Skate on State's central location, festive atmosphere and low rates."

Sunday through Wednesday, the rink is available for private rental from 8 p.m. to 9:45 p.m. An additional session is open Thursday through Saturday from 10 p.m. to 11:45 p.m.

The cost is $225 per party and insures the exclusive use of the rink for two hours. Skate on State also boasts newly constructed heated observation decks, warming trailers, wonderful murals and a wide array of skating music. Skate on State is open even in the warm weather, due to cooling coils installed under the ice courtesy of McDonald's Corporation.

"Skate on State is a wonderful place to host corporate parties, as well as birthday and anniversary celebrations, office gatherings and reunions," added Sheahan.

Regular hours of operation for Skate on State are 9 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Admission is free and skate rental is available, $3 for adults and $2 for children.

For more information on rink rentals, contact the Mayor's Office of Special Events at (312) 744-2893.

Youth Swim Camp

St. Rita High School, 7740 S. Western Ave., is holding a swim camp for youngsters ages 6 to 13 starting Dec. 26th and ending Dec. 31st. The cost of the camp is only $15 for the entire week of instruction by St. Rita Head Swimming Coach Chuck Knibbs and members of the school's varsity swim team.

The camp will have two separate sessions, to be held at the St. Rita swimming center with the first from 9 a.m. until 10 a.m. and the second from 10 a.m. until 11 a.m. Youngsters of all skill levels, from beginner to advanced, will be able to benefit from the individualized instruction. The camp includes an hour of instruction and an hour of recreational swimming. "Family Swim Day" where parents join their children in the pool is held on the last day of camp.

"Our swimming camp is a great way for kids to learn how to swim, improve upon their basic skills or even greatly increase the skills of the already advanced swimmer. Most importantly it is a fun-filled week for all who participate because they see the type of people who make up St. Rita High School," said Knibbs.

For more information about the swim camp, call the school at (312) 925-6600 or Coach Knibbs at (312) 779-6184.

Superintendent Leininger Announces Resignation

State Superintendent of Education Robert Leininger has informed the State Board of Education that he is resigning at the end of February to accept a position in the private sector. Leininger will become senior vice-president of Magna Group, Inc., a multi-bank holding company with 103 community banking locations in Illinois and Missouri.

"This was not an easy decision, leaving public service after almost 34 years," Leininger said. "But, in the final analysis, it is an offer too good to pass up. This is a new challenge in a new arena. I will have more time for my family, to be a husband, father and grandfather. One of my top priorities as state superintendent has been to build stronger ties between education and the business community. I will now be able to pursue that goal as a member of the private sector. I will continue to be an outspoken advocate for kids."

"I am proud of the accomplishments we have achieved in working with the citizens of Illinois to improve our schools. We have put in place an accountability process for schools that will tell communities what their students are getting for their investment."

"We have transformed tech prep from a catchy buzzword to the reality of a rigorous workforce preparation program for Illinois students. We have helped schools change to better meet the evolving needs of their students. We have built strong partnerships with businesses throughout the state. We have created alliances with social service agencies so the many needs of students can be met in a joint effort."

"With community involvement and business support from across Illinois, we have developed eight state goals that will guide us to a world-class education system. And through our efforts with the school finance task force, we have created an adequacy formula that should lead us to the kind of school funding system we so desperately need."

While Leininger expressed pride in many accomplishments during his tenure, he said he faced one large frustration. "I had hoped we would be further along in getting the finances that schools must have," he said. "We have a lot of good things in our schools, but for them to be successful in meeting the needs of students, we have to provide an adequate, stable and predictable funding system. The future of our state depends on it, and I will continue to do what I can to move toward that goal."

Leininger said much of the credit for accomplishments during his superintendency can be attributed to the "leadership and support of a State Board that is dedicated to helping kids."

"The members of the state board of education truly put kids first, and I can't compliment them enough for the many hours they put in to help students face tomorrow's challenges."

State Board Chairperson Mike Skarr said that Leininger leaves a legacy of accomplishments for students that will be difficult to match.

"He had the courage and vision to bring out the issues affecting schools and to take the lead in addressing those issues. He kept student needs high on the state agenda,"

Receive Charter

De La Salle Institute recently received its charter into Mu Alpha Theta, the national high school and junior college mathematics club.

"Your community has every reason to be proud of your fine mathematics department and of the students who receive national recognition for their superior accomplishments," said Stanley B. Eliason, secretary-treasurer of Mu Alpha Theta. "There is every reason to believe that the great scientists of tomorrow will come from the membership of our club."

De La Salle now joins the list of seven schools in Chicago with membership in the nationally recognized organization.

"This is the beginning of a new era of math education at De La Salle," said Mark Jackowiak, math club coordinator.

Students who maintain a 3.0 or higher grade point average and compete in the math competition league are eligible to join for a life membership. De La Salle's first Mu Alpha Theta "charter" members are seniors Clifford Arroyo, Ryon Engle, Chris Gunnell, Jamarr Johnson, Bakari Lewis, Anthony Miller, Mark Perillo and Wayne Todd.

Juniors include John Garcia, Joseph Lehman, James Hoffman, Odalo Ohiku and Chris Reyes.

Commissioner Nancy Drew Sheehan of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District, the only declared Democratic candidate for Illinois Treasurer, welcomes Louis Viverito, Democratic Committeeman of Stickney Township and a candidate for Cook County Commissioner, and Alderman Edward Burke (14th) to her Dec. 8 fundraiser. Sheehan was the top vote-getter on her slate in the last Cook County Democratic primary; now she is campaigning statewide to comment on the problems of managing the State of Illinois' budget.

Skarr said. "This state faces a brighter future due to Bob's leadership for improving student learning. The next superintendent will find an education system headed in the right direction, but Bob's shoes will be difficult to fill."

The 1970 Illinois Constitution directs that "The state board of education shall appoint a chief state educational officer." Skarr said the state board will begin discussing the search for the state's fifth appointed superintendent of education at its Dec. 15th-16th meeting.

Leininger started his career in 1960 as chief administrative officer for the Centerville Grade School District in Prophetstown, where he served as teacher, principal and superintendent. He later served as Superintendent of Schools for Lyndon Grade School District and Lyndon High School District in Lyndon from 1964-1966 and Superintendent of River Bend Unit School District in Fulton from 1966-1976. While Superintendent of River Bend School District, Leininger was the youngest district superintendent ever chosen as president of the Illinois Association of Schools Administrators in 1974.

In 1976, Leininger joined the State Board of Education as Assistant Superintendent for Governmental and Community Relations. He was promoted to executive assistant to the state superintendent in 1979 and became chief of staff for the agency in March of 1987. He was named state superintendent in August of 1989.

During his career in education, Leininger gained a national reputation as a hard-hitting advocate for students.

His numerous honors include an honorary doctorate in humane letters from McKendree College in Lebanon, IL; the outstanding service award from the National Rural Education Association, and education leadership awards from the University of Illinois, Western Illinois University and Illinois State University.

If your property is listed please contact us before the sale beginning January 31, 1994, so that we can assist you. Call 443-6234.

LEGAL NOTICE

Cook County Preamble COOK COUNTY DELINQUENT TAX LIST

OFFICE OF COUNTY TREASURER OF COOK COUNTY AND EX-OFFICIO COUNTY COLLECTOR OF COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS

Advertisement and Notice of Collector of Cook County of Application for Judgment against Delinquent Lands and Lots for General Taxes for the years indicated, for Order of Sales Thereof.

December 13 to 17, 1993 NOTICE is hereby given that the said Collector Cook County will apply to the County Division of the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois on Monday, January 10, 1994 for judgment against lands and lots hereinafter described as being delinquent upon which taxes remain due and unpaid, along with interest and costs and for an order to sell said lands and lots for satisfaction thereof according to law. NOTICE is also given that on application will be made for judgment fixing the correct amount of any tax paid under protest. NOTICE is further herein and hereby given that on the third Monday next succeeding the 10th day of January, A.D., 1994, to wit, the 31st day of January, A.D., 1994, at the hour of eight o'clock A.M., all said lands and lots hereinafter described for sale for which an order shall be made, on has been made and not executed as noted, will be exposed to public sale at the County Building of Cook County where the seal of County government is located in said County, for the amount of taxes, interest and costs due thereon respectively.

The following is a list of delinquent lands and lots upon which the taxes remain due and unpaid, the name of the owners of tax designees where known, the total amount due thereon, (excluding delinquent special assessments separately advertised) and the year or years for which the same is due.

Payment of taxes made after copies are sent to publishers for listing, and appearing as delinquent in this advertisement, will be satisfied in judgment records before sale.

In lieu of legal description used heretofore each parcel of land or lot is designated by a permanent real estate index number. In the permanent real estate index number system, area is indicated by the number appearing in the column headed "A", the subarea by the number in the column headed "SA", the block by the number appearing in the column headed "BLK", and the particular parcel by the number in the column headed "PCL". Comparison of the permanent real estate index number with the legal description of any parcel may be made by referring to the cross indices maintained in County offices.

Tax buyers should verify all common street addresses and their classifications by personal inspection of properties before purchasing the delinquent taxes at the sale.

New Record

Cook County Recorder Jesse White on Dec. 7th, recorded the one millionth document for 1993. This marks the first time in history that over one million documents will be recorded in one year.

Since taking office last year, White has reorganized and streamlined the day-to-day operation of the office, allowing for greater productivity with a leaner workforce. "Through my reorganization plan, I was able to improve customer satisfaction, services and productivity while reducing the number of positions to 271 from 301 in 1992," White said. "Reaching this milestone is one that makes me proud. Upon taking office last year, I was faced with a nearly $3 million budget gap and a workforce with low morale. Through sound fiscal management, I was able to close that gap without increasing fees and set a management structure with a clear chain of command that minimizes duplication of effort and utilizes staff resources effectively."

White, who personally recorded the millionth document, said in an inter-office celebration that he commends his employees for being committed to quality service, while performing to new standards.

The Office of the Recorder of Deeds is one of the county's largest revenue generating offices with expected earnings of over $30 million in 1993. Jesse White was elected recorder in November 1992, after serving 16 years in the Illinois General Assembly.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

Despite credit attributed to the Animal Liberation Front (ALF) for the nine incendiary devices planted among Chicago department stores, one must ask who could benefit from such acts of terrorism. Certainly no animals were saved from suffering and public opinion is hardly swayed by calls for greater compassion towards animals by such acts of violence. As a proponent of animal advocacy, I publicly decry such tactics. Acts of violence and terrorism are condemned by major animal advocacy organizations, including the National Anti-Vivisection Society (NAVS) headquartered in Chicago.</

A special holiday promotion is being conducted by Marquette National Bank, a full-service financial institution with seven locations in the Chicago Metropolitan area. As a way to extend seasons greetings to families in the community, Santa Claus has been invited to spend each Saturday at a different bank location. In addition to enjoying the opportunity to see this Christmas friend, visitors can receive a complimentary instant photograph and a candy cane. Children also take home a holiday fun book, complete with games and activities.

Jeffrey Niemiec (standing), operations officer at Marquette National Bank and his daughter Bridget were among the employees and customers who enjoyed a recent visit with Santa Claus. He, his wife Mary, and Bridget, are residents of Oak Lawn. Further information on Santa's schedule can be obtained by calling the bank's main office at (312) 476-5100.

A new branch of Marquette National Bank will open next year at 93rd and Kedzie Ave. To show their interest in supporting and working with the community, the bank made scheduling arrangements with Santa Claus through the village's recreation department, managed by Dennis Duffy, CLP, commissioner and director.

Bank Acquisition Final

The Board of Directors of Bridgeview Bank and Trust Company announces the acquisition of Family Bank, finalized on Friday, Dec. 10th, which adds a third branch to Bridgeview Bank. The main bank is at 7940 S. Harlem Ave., a branch location at 7300 W. 87th St. and now a branch location at 800 University Parkway, University Park.

Bridgeview Bank & Trust is a full-service community bank with total assets of over $120 million. The bank offers a wide variety of services including club checking, senior checking and student loans. Like the main bank location, the University Park branch will offer a full range of trust services and estate planning. To further service bank customers and area residents, an ATM will be installed at the new branch in February.

To celebrate this event, customers and area residents are invited to a Christmas open house on Saturday, Dec. 18th from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at our University Park branch. There will be free food and drinks. Santa is also scheduled to be in attendance for free photos with children.

"SCHINDLER'S LIST"

...LIAM NEESON (inset) portrays Oskar Schindler, a German industrialist who, at great personal risk, protected the lives of more than 1,100 Jewish workers in Nazi-occupied Poland during World War II. The black-and-white University Pictures movie is directed by Steven Spielberg and opened yesterday at movie theatres all around the Chicago area. The picture is already being hailed by the critics and public alike as one of the most compelling movies to come out of Hollywood in many years and a sure-fire winner of numerous Academy Award nominations.

FOR YEARS the world took little note of Oskar Schindler. Although film documentaries were made of his life, Schindler's story was mainly kept alive in the memories of the "Schindlerjuden," who took turns supporting the post-war bankrupt businessman in his declining years until he died in 1974. Schindler had been dead for six years when a broken briefcase and an Australian credit card lifted him from the shadows of history. In 1980, Australian novelist Thomas Keneally brought the briefcase into a Beverly Hills, California luggage shop owned by a man named Leopold Page. Page had been one of the workers on Schindler's list, and he had recited many times to various writers the deeds of Oskar Schindler, but in Keneally he finally found a kindred spirit.

IN 1939, when Germany overran Poland, Schindler set out for Krakow to find fortune in the very profitable business of war. Through local Nazi connections he took charge of a confiscated enamelware factory that made mess kits and field kitchenware for the German army. Soon his affinity with the Nazi party waned and when the Nazis' "Final Solution" took another step, Schindler used his wealth to buy over 1,100 workers, moving them to the relative safety of a small town where he and his workers waited out the war. Everything Schindler possessed at the end of the war he lost, he was penniless, and he never prospered again. After the war he and his wife Emilie immigrated to Argentina where he took up farming. After 10 years, he abandoned his wife and returned to Germany, and for the remainder of his life he was cared for by his "family," the "Schindlerjuden."

ANNA MARIE-GODDARD (inset) has been selected as Playboy Magazine's 40th Anniversary Playmate and will appear in the January edition of the magazine. Goddard, who was born and raised in the tiny village (population: 300) of Ysbrechtum, Holland, is 23 years old and has received a $40,000 modeling fee for her centerfold appearance in the January 40th anniversary issue. In addition to Goddard, the anniversary issue features articles by the top names in American journalism, including William F. Buckley Jr., Gary Wills, David Halberstam and Shana Alexander. The special issue also contains social commentaries by playwright David Mamet, novelist Bruce Jay Friedman and monologist Eric Bogosian, Hugh M. Hefner, Chairman Emeritus, founded the magazine in Chicago in 1953 and his daughter Christie Hefner is now chairman (or should that be 'chairperson') and chief executive officer. The special 40th anniversary issue also contains an in-depth interview with David Letterman as well as a portfolio of pictures of centerfold Playmates from the past 40 years and pictures of Marilyn Monroe, Bridget Bardot, Jayne Mansfield and many other stars who have been featured through the years in the publication.

WHOPPIE GOLDBERG (inset) stars in the hilarious new comedy flick "Sister Act 2: Back in the Habit" which is now playing at theatres all around the Chicago area. The movie is about the good Sisters of St. Catherine's Convent who take their community outreach program to an inner-city school full of rowdy teenagers.

The nuns cannot cope with the delinquents and so they reach out to a second-rate Las Vegas lounge singer, who graduated from the school, and they convince her to return to her alma mater disguised as the school's new music teacher. Using a lesson plan the students will never forget, "Sister" Mary Clarence (Goldberg) sets out to convert her "class from hell" into a hip-hop gospel choir from heaven. Kathy Najimy and Maggie Smith also co-star in the movie. Touchstone Pictures produced the movie which is directed by Bill Duke from a screenplay written by James Orr and Jim Cruickshank.

Marching Band

Kenneth Vondrak's parents are Carmen B. and James C. Vondrak.

Holiday Train On Display

The Drake, Chicago, will have on display in the lobby a Holiday Train chugging its course through tunnels and bridges of Royal Icing, Gingerbread, marzipan and candies.

From Dec. 1st through New Year's Day, the Holiday Train will weave its way through a Winter Wonderland Village of tiny people, churches and houses decked in sweets.

The Drake's Executive Pastry Chef Raul Cuevas created this village with over 200 lbs. of Royal Icing, 300 lbs. of gingerbread and 50 lbs. of candy, with more than two weeks of labor.

The village, covered in snowy white Royal Icing, measures 14' long by 8' wide. This delightful sight is open to the public.

company at Saint Xavier University. Micotto has directed more than a dozen productions including "Amadeus" and "Death of a Salesman."

"A Flea in Her Ear" was written by George Feydeau and is an adaptation of a classic French farce that combines a series of mistaken identities, clandestine assignments and misplaced but explosive jealousies.

Performances of "A Flea in Her Ear" are Dec. 9th through 11th at 8 p.m., and Dec. 12th at 2 p.m.

Tickets are $8 for adults; $6 for senior citizens. For more information, contact the theater department at (708) 974-5500.

Holiday Music

Enjoy the sounds of holiday music with the Chicago Chamber Brass at a Christmas concert at Moraine Valley Community College.

The concert will be on Saturday, Dec. 18th at 8 p.m. in the College Center, Moraine Rooms, on the campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave., Palos Hills.

The holiday program will include selections by Handel, Bach and Brahms. In addition, traditional holiday music including "Jingle Bells" and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas" will be played.

The Chicago Chamber Brass is widely recognized as one of the finest brass groups in the world. Their style and spirit add warmth and wit to their performances.

Tickets are $10. To purchase tickets or for more information, contact the College Activities Office at (708) 974-5717.

Action Taken

Nikki M. Zollar, director of the Illinois Department of Professional Regulation, announced the following disciplinary action taken by the department for the month of November 1993. Thomas W. Marks of Evergreen Park had his permanent detective, alarm and security employee registration card placed in a 'refuse to renew' status due to criminal offenses. Michael J. Piskorek of Chicago Ridge had his registered nurse license revoked due to a felony conviction in the Circuit Court of Cook County. John J. Coyne of Oak Lawn had his real estate broker license placed in a refuse to renew status for defaulting on the Illinois Student Assistance Loan.

Cook County Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan (second from right) and Circuit Court Judge Daniel Lynch answer questions from south and southwest suburban residents following a recent meeting at the Bridgeview courthouse called "Your Day in Court." The meeting, designed by the sheriff's office for interested senior citizens, included a tour of the courthouse and a discussion on crime and the court system with Sheriff Sheahan and representatives from various areas of the criminal justice system.

Reading For Pleasure

by
Jerry Gibbons

Only 9 more shopping days remain until Christmas and one of the best presents, looking at it from a cost factor, is a book. If the shopper knows the reading habits of the persons he or she is buying for, it is up to the shopper to decide. Here are a few hints as to some of the 'best' of the year for Christmas giving.

Hitter by Ed Linn; Harcourt Brace, is cast as "the life and turmoils of Ted Williams," arguably the finest hitter in the history of baseball. Williams was, without question, the greatest pure hitter I have ever seen.

Williams won the Most Valuable Player Award twice and was runner-up four times, including 1941 when he hit .406 and in 1942 when he won the triple crown (batting average, home runs and RBI). Joe DiMaggio was MVP in 1941 and Joe Gordon in 1942, both New York Yankees. In 1947, DiMaggio edged Williams for MVP, 202 votes to 201. In all, Williams won six batting titles and was runner-up three times. In 1949 he missed leading the league in hitting, edged by George Kell, .3429 to .3427 thus being denied a third triple crown. These facts are all recorded by Linn.

Linn's 50 pages of appendices are support for those who say Williams was the 'hitter of the century.' WWII, the Korean Conflict and a season in which he played in just 89 games because of a shoulder injury were part of the man's career at its zenith, potentially productive years that might have forever settled the question of Ted's ranking as to the place he should have in baseball history.

Linn's book complements Williams' autobiography My Turn at Bat, published in 1969, and you couldn't make a better choice for a sports fan than Hitter.

Rebel Sons of Erin by Ed Gleeson; Guild Press of Indiana, is for the history buff on your shopping list. Gleeson, a resident of Oak Lawn, has written a definitive account of the 'Tenth Tennessee,' a predominately Irish-Catholic regiment in the Confederate Army. The book draws from Army record, contemporary accounts, diaries and journals of the men who made up the Tenth Regiment and its contributions to the War in the West against Ulysses Grant and the overwhelming superiority of the manpower fielded by the Union. The Tennessee Irish built Fort Donelson and Fort Henry and fought with distinction and courage, as well as a little trickery, against the odds.

Gleeson reconstructs a little-known tale of men who defended their state, fought with honor, spent months of captivity in Camp Douglas, a U.S. Prison Camp in Chicago and were exchanged to fight again. The Irish regiment distinguished itself as a cadre of sharpshooters whose deadly accuracy with rifles went a great distance in demonstrating that superior manpower is not necessarily synonymous with military victory.

The book is well documented with pages of references to the sources used by Gleeson in writing this dramatic account of American History. It is illustrated with many of the leaders of the Western campaigns, both Confederate and Union. Maps abound throughout the volume and are an asset in orienting the reader as to just where the action took place. Anyone fascinated with history, Civil War history in particular, is certain to enjoy Rebel Sons of Erin, $29.95 in hardcover; $19.95 in paperback. Buy two, one for the Civil War buff on your Christmas shopping list and one for yourself.

The Invisible Worm by Jennifer Johnston; Carroll & Graf, is one of the more underrated novels of the year, a book which has much in common with Jane Smiley's Pulitzer Prize winning A Thousand Acres. The Invisible Worm is every bit as good as Smiley's novel, but as with all of Johnston's writing, is more focused on the central theme.

Johnston, a native of Ireland who still lives in Dublin, is the author of nine novels, seven of them published in the U.S. This most recent example of her art is a taut, beautifully written novel that alternates between a first-person and third-person point of view. This is an effective way of presenting the repressed aspect of the narrator's personality and, in the first-person, the 'whole' woman.

The appeal of the book is universal and the setting could have been anywhere in the world. It is worth reading and is certainly a book to be appreciated by any lover of good writing.

Brother Rice High School freshman Robert Galassi of Oak Lawn received a community service award from Cook County Sheriff Michael Sheahan at a recently held ceremony. Galassi received the award as a result of his efforts in helping out with community service projects at the Oak Lawn Community Church and for his work in the Boy Scouts of America.

"I was surprised to hear about the award, but I am happy to be recognized. I enjoy doing things for the church, and the Scouts are a lot of fun," Galassi said.

At the Illinois Firefighters Association Conference in October, the Oak Lawn Fire Department Club donated $2,000 to "Burn Camp." "Burn Camp" is run every year by the Illinois Fire Safety Alliance, a group of fire safety oriented organizations. The purpose of the camp is to allow children who have been disfigured by burn injuries a chance to interact with other children who have suffered from burns. The donation reflects a $1,000 gift from the Dix family of Oak Lawn, which was matched by a $1,000 grant from the Oak Lawn Fire Department Club. The Fire Department Club wishes to thank the Dix family and the citizens of Oak Lawn for their continued generosity. Pictured are G. Krauss, president of Oak Lawn Fire Department Club; T. Allenspach, president of Illinois Fire Safety Alliance and W. Adamovicz, recording secretary of Oak Lawn Fire Department Club.

Dr. Luka Is Appointed

The Oak Lawn Community High School District 229 Board of Education appointed Dr. Les Luka, principal, as acting superintendent effective on April 4th, 1994. He will assume the superintendent's job beginning July 1st, 1994. Dr. Luka will replace Superintendent Dom Frigo, who will retire this spring after 21 years of service at OLCCHS, eight years as superintendent. Dr. Luka attended a parochial elementary and high school, received his bachelor's degree in philosophy from St. Mary of the Lake Seminary, Mundelein. His graduate work includes a master's degree in English at Loyola University; a second master's degree in the teaching of reading from the University of Chicago and a Ph.D. in curriculum also from the University of Chicago.

He has been a speaker at various regional and state conferences and has provided in-service to various faculties at the elementary, junior high and high school levels in the areas of reading, cooperative learning and test construction. His research into teaching methods has been cited in a national study, and he has taught various classes at St. Xavier University in the area of reading.

Dr. Luka has been in education since 1968 having taught grades five through 12. Since coming to OLCCHS, Dr. Luka has served as an English teacher, a reading specialist, English and foreign language department chairman, director of curriculum, and principal. He has been responsible for guiding the school's development of its new mission statement and in implementing the state mandated school improvement plan. He is completing his 21st year at OLCCHS.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING #94-2 VILLAGE OF OAK LAWN

Notice is hereby given to all interested parties that a public hearing will be held by the Oak Lawn Planning, Zoning & Development Commission on January 3, 1994 at 8:00 P.M. at the Oak Lawn Village Hall, Village Board Room, 5252 Dumke Drive, Oak Lawn, Illinois, relative to the property commonly known as 10232 South Central Avenue, Oak Lawn, Illinois, for a variation of ordinance for the purpose of parking. Said property is legally described as follows:

Lot 1 in Central Park Resubdivision Number 1 of part of the Southwest 1/4 of Section 8, Township 37 North, Range 13 East of the Third Principal Meridian, in Cook County, Illinois.

Further information may be obtained from the Village's Quality Control Department.

What Was Happening...

50 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE INDEPENDENT

T-Sgt. George B. Farrell, Oak Lawn, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross overseas. The award read, in part: "For distinguished and meritorious performance of duty, while participating in aerial flight against the enemy in operations against the Ploesti oil refineries of Roumania on Aug. 1st, 1943. In this mission of extraordinary importance and danger, these officers and men performed their duties with such brilliance and skill as to bring lasting honor to their organization."

The Oak Lawn unit of the Red Cross is urging the women of the community to give a few hours a week to sew, knit or make surgical dressings. The quota for dressings has been greatly increased and many more workers are needed to do this very essential work. Yarn for Army and Navy gloves, helmets and sweaters is available for expert knitters.

Pfc. Alfred Aulwurm, who is stationed at New Haven, Conn., at Yale University and is under Capt. Glenn Miller, had the opportunity of coming to Chicago last week with the rest of the band, taking part in the Four Freedom's Army Air Force Band Show at Medinah Temple. This band broadcasts every Saturday night over WMAQ at 10:30 in "I Sustain the Wings." Alfred also spent some time at home in Oak Lawn before leaving on Wednesday afternoon.

The recent request of the village employees for a 15 percent raise was turned down by the village board. Trustee Reed, as a member of the finance committee, advised the employees that it was financially impossible for the village to pay out more funds, regardless of the merit of the demands. In fact, Tuesday evening, there was not sufficient money to pay the bi-monthly police payroll and they remained payless. "The village, like any business or family, has to live within its income," continued Trustee Reed, "and with lowered income, Oak Lawn has to cut its expenditures."

The Oak Lawn Lions Club announces a smoker and stag party for the evening of Tuesday, Dec. 7. It will be held at Schalk's Evergreen Towers. Space for the gala affair being donated through the courtesy of proprietor Ray Schalk. No less a sports authority than Rocky Wolf, editor, reporter and sports announcer will act as master of ceremonies, while "Red" Ormsby and other well known sports figures will relate experiences in the world of sports.

Rev. Oscar R. Smith was installed as the pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, 97th street and Brandt av., last Sunday morning at the 10 o'clock service. That service was a very solemn and impressive one and was well attended by the membership and friends.

The following new books have been added to the rental list at the Oak Lawn Public Library: "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo," Ted Lawson; "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," Betty Smith; "None But the Lonely Heart," Marquand; "Journey Among Warriors," Eve Curie.

Mrs. Harold C. Simon has taken over the duties of librarian at the Oak Lawn Public Library, replacing Mrs. Edith Exter. A new floor has been laid and additional book shelves have been added to the library recently. Mrs. Simon has placed a Christmas tree right in the center of the room to help bring the Christmas spirit to all those who visit the library. She invites all to come and get acquainted.

Streit Continues With His Objections

A second supplement consent decree was approved over the objections of Streit who mentioned that the trustees are making Klein, Thorpe and Jenkins, village attorneys, wealthy. Joy said it "makes her blood boil" because of mismanagement of the former attorney and village manager.

Trustee Cyril Holtesha remarked he had served on the civil service commission and needed paperwork was done. It is alleged that the former attorney and village manager did not send in the supplement and now the government is suing and asking that the village pay for eight minority applicants who were allegedly not hired.

Motor vehicle licenses were raised from $20.50 to $25; the senior cost from $2.50 to $5; and the late charge from $2 to $10.

In other business, Scott P. O'Neill was sworn in to the rank of police patrol officer. Chris Scott was presented with a police department commendation for assisting police in apprehending three men attempting to rob Pete Georges Chevrolet dealership. He had noticed the men cutting through the fence and called police on his mobile phone and stayed on the line with the dispatcher giving information as to what was happening.

Electronic IRS Tax Filing

People claiming refunds, as well as those who owe money, can have their 1993 federal income tax returns filed electronically starting in January, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) says. Offered, usually for a fee, by many professional tax preparers as well as some banks and employers, electronic filing involves using a computer and a telephone modem to send returns directly to the IRS. This service is available to people who do their own returns as well as those who have them professionally prepared.

Electronic filing can save time, trouble and worry by speeding up refunds and cutting down errors, the IRS says. A refund is issued within three weeks after the IRS receives the return.

People can get their money even faster by choosing to have their refunds deposited directly into their bank accounts. Since direct deposit eliminates the possibility of a lost or stolen check, it may be particularly attractive to people who travel a lot, move soon after filing, live in high-crime areas, or for whatever reason, have difficulty getting their mail.

The IRS electronically verifies receipt of electronically-filed returns within two days. So there's no reason to worry about the return possibly getting lost in the mail. Mistakes often delay refunds, but according to the IRS, electronic filing reduces errors by an average of more than 80 percent. Nationwide, more than 12,000,000 federal income tax returns were filed electronically during the past year.

Casting Call For "Superstar"

The Oak Lawn Park District will hold auditions for "Jesus Christ Superstar" by Andrew Lloyd Webber from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 11th and Wednesday, Jan. 12th at Oakview Center, 4625 W. 110th St. Call-backs will be on Friday, Jan. 14th. Paul Nirchi will produce the musical with Tom Dzurison as director. Those auditioning are encouraged to come prepared to sing and dance.

"Jesus Christ Superstar" will be held on from March 11th to 13th and March 18th to 20th at Oakview Center. Originally, the musical "Oklahoma" was scheduled to be the spring play; however, the rights to the production were unavailable for the dates chosen. "Oklahoma" is now scheduled as the summer production.

For more information, call Oakview Center at (708) 857-2200.

Collecting Food

The young women of Mother McAuley High School are getting into the holiday spirit. Under the direction of the Student Council moderated by Terry Hanrahan of the Social Science Department, McAuley homerooms decked the halls with over 110 Christmas boxes filled with food for Christmas day and the holidays. Each student contributed an equivalent of $3 in special food items and $2 cash for perishables. The completed Christmas boxes benefit needy individuals and families affiliated with Mercy Hospital, in the out-patient clinic or former patients, and families from St. Gabriel and Holy Family Parishes in need. Students also included a personal card, a picture of their homeroom and a little Christmas gift in each food box.

VFW Bingo

The McDonald-Linn VFW Post No. 5416 and their ladies auxiliary held the annual Christmas bingo party for hospitalized veterans at the Westside VA Medical Center, Chicago. Door prizes were raffled and gift bags consisting of fresh fruits, candies, cookies, and personal hygiene products were given to each of the 50 patients. Coffee and mini-pizzas, donuts and home-made cookies were enjoyed by all. The hardworking volunteers were Post Commander Ralph Buglio of Bridgeview, Post Trustee Henry Wyrobek of Burbank, Auxiliary President Patricia Sheppard of Oak Lawn, Auxiliary Hospital Chairman Mary Ann Davis of Scottsdale, Auxiliary Guard Margaret Coughlin of Burbank and Bob Clametti of Oak Lawn.

Charged In Disclosure Complaint

Dave Heilmann, who is challenging Republican State Rep. Maureen Murphy (R-36), has been charged with failure to comply with the state financial disclosure laws after a recent fundraiser held in Oak Lawn. The complaint was filed against Heilmann with the State Board of Elections on Dec. 13th.

An examination of Heilmann's election documents showed that he had failed to file proper documents regarding his campaign financial disclosure with the State Board of Elections.

The apparent violation of Heilmann occurred when he held a fundraiser for his candidacy on Nov. 4th at the Oak Lawn Hilton. Heilmann allegedly raised over $1,000 at the event and subsequently failed to file an amendment to his existing election committee or create a new state committee with the State Board of Elections within 30 days after receiving the money. This is in strict violation with Section 9-3 of the Illinois Election Code. The violation is now under review by the State Board of Elections with a hearing date as yet to be determined.

Heilmann's campaign has gotten off to a shaky start and has been plagued by allegations that he has been 'put up' by Illinois House Speaker Mike Madigan and the Democrats. The theory is that Heilmann will cause Murphy to waste money on a primary fight and weaken her for the "real" Democrat candidate in the fall.

Giving credence to the story is that Heilmann admitted voting Democratic in the 1992 primary and had an Andrew McGann (Murphy's '92 Democrat opponent) sign on his lawn.

Heilmann went before GOP slatemakers for the 36th District House seat in the fall of 1991, only to withdraw his name for consideration because McGann was going to be the Democratic candidate.

Students In Snowball Event

Thirty-seven Oak Lawn Community High School students participated in the Oak Lawn Operation Snowball Weekend at Camp Hoover, in Yorkville on the weekend of Nov. 5th to 8th. At the weekend, students engaged in constructive discussion about many of the issues that affect their daily lives and to encourage participants to remain "drug free." Through large group presentations, mini-workshops and small group discussions, participants dealt with issues such as substance use and abuse, communication in the family, eating disorders, stereotypes, sexuality and many others.

Participants were led through these activities by an outstanding group of teens who were trained and prepared to facilitate these activities. Teen staff members included Mike Cizek, Michele Gallagher, Jeff Rossow, Kelly Melaniphy, Jenny Schroeder and Cheryl Starmach. Oak Lawn Community High School science teacher Mike Riordan served as adult co-director and physical education teacher Mary Kay Bahnaman participated as an adult staff member.

The group returned to the Oak Lawn Youth Commission to their eagerly awaiting parents. The weekend came to a close with a final presentation to both the teens and their parents. A great time was had by all.

State Grants For Two Local Schools

The Illinois State Board of Education announced it has awarded grants to Alan B. Shepard High School and Polaris School for Individual Education. Shepard has received $6,000 to develop a program that will improve teachers' abilities to assess student achievement. Polaris received $8,500 to develop a cross-curriculum program for freshmen. Both grants apply to the 1993-94 school year.

The Shepard grant will focus on improving teachers' abilities to assess their students' higher-order thinking skills, such as problem-solving and applying educational concepts to real-life situations. Specifically, the Shepard staff will use the funds to achieve two goals: first, administrator and faculty will develop 'fair, valid and reliable instruments and procedures for assessing student knowledge and performance.' Second, they'll develop 'a formal process for compiling, analyzing and evaluating assessment data to determine the extent to which standards for learning outcomes have been met.'

Polaris' staff will use their grant funds to develop a cross-curricular program for freshmen that would cover English, social studies, science, math and foreign language. As part of their efforts, staff will develop learning outcomes for the content areas.

As with the Shepard grant, the Polaris staff will formulate an assessment plan to gauge student abilities, higher-order thinking skills and problem-solving. Polaris' staff will develop interdisciplinary teaching themes and curriculum.

For more information, call Associate Principal Dr. Lois Stanciak at Shepard, 371-1111, ext. 106, or Polaris Director Dr. Carol Theodorou, 424-2000, ext. 743.

Safety In Storms

Motorists need to be aware of a new law that requires drivers to turn on their headlights when they use windshield wipers, according to Sen. Patrick J. O'Malley (R-18).

"This new law, which goes into effect Jan. 1st, is directed at preventing accidents in bad weather," O'Malley said. "It's often hard to see oncoming cars in rainy or snowy conditions without lights, and this law will require their use."

The law requires the use of headlights when rain, snow, fog or other conditions dictate the use of windshield wipers. Florida, Georgia, Rhode Island and Tennessee require headlights in rain or inclement weather and most states require headlights when visibility is restricted.

Under current Illinois law, headlights must be used from a half-hour after sunset to a half-hour before sunrise, as well as at other times when people and vehicles cannot be clearly seen at a distance of 1,000 feet.

Home Meals Program

The social work services department of EHS Christ Hospital and Medical Center, 4440 W. 95th St., is seeking volunteers to help deliver meals for their home delivered meals program. Meals prepared by EHS Christ Hospital's food and nutrition department are delivered to shut-ins in Oak Lawn, Evergreen Park and part of Burbank.

If you have a car, and free time between 10 a.m. and 12 noon any weekday, call the social work services department at (708) 346-5258 or (708) 346-5255.

Fall Dance

Millikin University sophomores Amy Kahne of Midlothian, Lisa Lulis of Oak Lawn and Jean Keller of Palos Heights were dancers in the recent fall dance concert.

Kahne, a theater major, is a daughter of Lillian Kahne and a 1992 graduate of Oak Forest High School. Lulis, a theater major, also choreographed a piece. She is a daughter of William and Marie Lulis and a 1992 graduate of Mother McAuley High School. Keller, a theater major, is a daughter of Gerald and Cecil Keller, and a 1992 graduate of Mother McAuley.

Rosemarie Lamb, president and chief operating officer of Blake-Lamb Funeral Homes, Inc., has been reappointed to the advisory board of Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Chicago. The reappointment, made by Joseph Cardinal Bernardin, is for a three-year term.

Oak Lawn Poet Is Published

Marlene Jeziorski of Oak Lawn has just had original poetry published in "Whispers in the Wind," a treasury of today's poetry compiled by The National Library of Poetry. The poem is entitled 'On The Passing of Ric Jay - Age 2 Months' and the main subject is Ric's letter to his dad. The National Library of Poetry seeks to discover and encourage poets like Marlene by sponsoring contests open to the public and by publishing poems in widely distributed hard-back volumes.

Marlene has been writing for four years and her favorite subjects and ideas are family, friends, and special occasions.

Poets interested in publication may send one original poem, any subject or style, 20 lines or less, to The National Library of Poetry, 11419 Cronridge Drive #10, P.O. Box 704NR, Owings Mills, Maryland 21117. Please be sure to include your name and address with your poem. All poems received are also entered in The National Library of Poetry's North American Open Poetry Contest, which awards over $12,000 in prizes annually.

Named State Scholars

The following Polaris School for Individual Education students were named Illinois State Scholars: from Worth, Leah Bartelt, Christina Richardson and Soncerra Vargas; from Oak Lawn, David Czaplewski, Renatta Lubinski, Christopher Skubic and Therese Skubic; from Crestwood, Cindy Dean; from Calumet Park, Steven Kawa; from Chicago Ridge, Richard Yaras and Benjamin Sullivan.

Students named as Illinois

State Scholars are selected based upon a formula using their ACT score, or a composite of SAT which includes verbal and math, their high school class rank, and whether or not they are a U.S. citizen or eligible non-citizen, a resident of Illinois, scheduled to graduate from high school by Sept. 1st, 1994, rank in the top half of the class and are of good moral character as determined by the high school.

Annual Food Drive

The student body of Oak Lawn Community High School donated 10,148 cans during the annual Thanksgiving Food Drive. The event sponsored by the Student Council involved all second period classes in the competition. The class with the most cans donated was treated to a special recognition breakfast.

The winning class was Ms. Candy Swetz's 2nd period Spanish class, donating 2,488 cans or 88.86 cans per student. Bob Burdan's sales & marketing class came in second with 1,151 cans or 76.73 cans per student. Taking third place was Jerry Astrauskas's expository writing class with 1,021 cans or 63.81 cans per student. Last year's record drive included 10,875 cans. All donated food was distributed to the various food pantries and churches throughout the Oak Lawn area.

Oppose Redevelopment

At the Dec. 15th regular meeting of the Moraine Valley Community College Board of Trustees, the board authorized the college attorney to represent the interests of the college in opposing the proposed Bedford Park Tax Increment Financing (TIF) at the public hearing scheduled for Dec. 20th. The purpose of the hearing is to consider approval of a redevelopment plan and designation of an area to be called Ford City West redevelopment project area.

Following a motion by Trustee Lee Allen Harris, the board also agreed that the representative should recommend any further action necessary regarding the board's opposition.

According to board members, the proposed redevelopment project does not meet criteria as outlined by the state defining the area as a blighted area.

In addition, the board emphasized their past support of Bedford Park in supporting TIFs where the area met the definition and benefited the community in eliminating blighted areas.

In other business, the board unanimously approved addition of several new sports programs at the college. With the changes, the college will offer baseball, basketball, golf, soccer and volleyball for men; basketball, soccer, softball, tennis and volleyball for women. The football program was eliminated as part of the changes which take place for the 1994-95 academic year.

"We've had an excellent football program for the past 11 years, but football for community colleges is a thing of the past," said Board Chairman Burton S. Odelson. "I think these changes are positive changes for the college."

The next regular meeting of the MVCC Board of Trustees will be on Thursday, Jan. 20th at 6 p.m. in the board room, L243, on the campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave.

December Is Sober Driving Month

December has always been the month of good cheer and merriment. Now the South Suburban Regional Traffic Safety Task Force hopes it will also be known as the month of sober driving.

"December is 'National Drunk and Drugged Driving (3D) Prevention Month.' During this month of celebrations, we hope everyone remembers that 'Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk'," stated Karen Hoffschmidt, project coordinator for the South Suburban Regional Traffic Safety Program. "A designated driver is not the person who drinks the least. It is the person who does not drink at all. If we all follow this simple rule, the holidays will be safer for everyone."

During December, the south suburbs will be covered with safe driving reminders.

Items distributed through the program during the month include 25,000 tags attached to Christmas trees that remind tree buyers to driver sober; 10,000 traffic safety flyers in paycheck and bank envelopes, with delivered pizzas and on convenience store counters; posters for store windows that remind busy holiday travelers to buckle up and not drink and drive; public service announcements which picture the victims of drunk drivers for area cable companies; and sample editorials for the editors of high school student newspapers iterating the message that 'Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk.'

The South Suburban Regional Traffic Safety Program focuses on decreasing the incidence of driving under the influence of alcohol, increasing seatbelt use and improving bicycle and pedestrian safety. The program is operated through the South Suburban Mayors and Managers Association and is funded by the U.S. Department of Transportation through the Illinois Department of Transportation. For additional information regarding the South Suburban Regional Traffic Safety Program, contact Karen Hoffschmidt at (708) 201-7700.

HOLIDAY JOY TO ALL

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

During this holiday season, Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA) is urging its former volunteers to "phone home" and find out about VISTA's new role in President Clinton's national service program as well as events marking VISTA's 30th anniversary next year.

More than 100,000 Americans have served as VISTA volunteers but we have lost contact with most of our alumni. We hope to contact them, involve them in national service efforts in their home areas and ask their help in organizing local events that commemorate three decades of VISTA service. We also hope to have a national anniversary celebration in Washington, D.C. in the spring of 1995.

When the President signed the National and Community Service Trust Act last September, VISTA became a program of the new Corporation for National and Community Service, with a vital role in the President's national service program.

As our alumni know, the holiday spirit of giving extends year-round for VISTA volunteers. We urge former VISTA volunteers to help us locate them during this special season by calling 1(800)424-8867. VISTA needs them once again!

Sincerely,
Diana London
Acting Director of VISTA

Phoenix To Sign Modified Incinerator Contract

The Village of Phoenix has voted to sign the Robbins Recycling and Trash-to-Energy Facility contract. Phoenix voted to use the Robbins facility prior to hearing the outcome of discussions taking place between Reading and some south suburban towns, such as Tinley Park and Hazel Crest, that may result in modifications to the current contract, modifications that Phoenix would also have the option to adopt.

"The way I see it, we can't lose either way. Phoenix wants to use the Robbins facility. We have come to our own conclusion that incineration is an effective, environmental and efficient way to deal with trash," said Village President Terry Wells. "Any modifications to the Robbins contract will only bring more benefits to communities served by the plant."

Wells continued, "We also like the fact that by sending our trash to the Robbins facility, we are supporting the efforts of Mayor Irene Brodic of Robbins to stimulate economic development in her village. Economic revitalization of Robbins will ultimately benefit everyone in the south suburbs."

Phoenix joins Richton Park, Country Club Hills, Ford Heights and Robbins in signing this precedent-setting contract for the Robbins facility. In contract discussions with other south suburban communities, Reading Energy has received confirmation that communities hope to send their trash to the Robbins plant, but want to consider a modified contract to meet their individual needs. Reading continues to work with individual municipalities on such provisions.

"With a handful of contracts already signed, there is no question that communities want to use the Robbins facility. Municipalities across the south suburbs see the financial and environmental benefits of trash-to-energy. What we're working on now are modifications, which will ensure that more south suburban communities will be able to use the plant," said Jim DiBiasi, vice-president of Reading Energy Company.

In negotiating the original contract, Reading Energy and the Solid Waste Agency of the South Suburban Mayors and Managers Association (SSMMA) anticipated that some towns would want to make adjustments to the contract. The contract's "most favored nation" clause leaves the door open for making these changes, which ultimately will benefit any community signing the contract.

Under the "most favored nation" provision, Phoenix and the other four communities that approved the original contract will have the option to incorporate adjustments into their contract or sign the original agreement.

"We included the 'most favored nation' provision in the contract because we anticipated that our customers, the south suburbs, would have different needs, and we wanted to be able to respond to them. It simply makes good business sense to make sure all concerns have been satisfactorily addressed before we sign contracts for this service," said DiBiasi. "We are encouraged that communities want to come to the table and fine-tune this agreement prior to making a decision. Look at all of the communities that still have their doors open. They clearly believe something can be worked out that will be better than what they have now."

The Robbins facility is designed to operate for approximately 45 years, processing 1,600 tons of trash per day and producing approximately 40 megawatts of electricity. More than 140 trash-to-energy facilities are safely operating in the United States, in such cities as Minneapolis, West Palm Beach, Indianapolis and Oahu, Hawaii. In Sweden, Switzerland, Denmark and Japan, more than 50 percent of household trash is disposed of in trash-to-energy plants, similar to the Robbins facility.

Accused Killer Asks Out-Of-State Move

Marsha Norskog, the mother of Hillary Norskog who was stabbed to death last July, is attempting to keep the young man accused of murdering Hillary from moving to another state with his parents. Steven Pfiel, 17, charged with killing Hillary Norskog by stabbing her a number of times following a party in a picnic grove in the forest preserves near Palos Hills where the girl lived. The killing took place on July 14th and the girl's body was discovered two days later in a vacant lot near 127th St. and 108th Ave.

The motion to allow Steven Pfiel to move with his parents, his brother and sister to St. John, Indiana was filed Friday by Raymond Pijon, the attorney representing the accused killer. Steven Pfiel was released on bond on Oct. 8th, when his parents posted bail of $100,000, 10 percent of the bond.

Until bond was posted, Pfiel had been in Cook County Jail, charged with two counts of first-degree murder and two counts of armed violence.

No motive has been offered for the killing.

A spokesperson for State's Attorney Jack O'Malley's office said that O'Malley opposes the motion.

According to Pijon, the Pfiels have sold their Palos Park home and plan to leave the area because of the problems they have encountered due to the charges against their son.

Plan LST Reunion

We're looking for over 200,000 men, maybe many more. And they are already qualified by having served in the U.S. Navy or Coast Guard in WW II. But besides that they served in the Navy amphibious forces on landing ships from the largest LST to the smallest LCM, or on the many support ships.

The National LST Association is looking for shipmates for reunions held each year. The next national reunion will be held in Las Vegas in September 1994.

For information, write: United States LST Association, P.O. Box 167438, Oregon, Ohio 43616-7438, or contact Bob Garner, LST 461, HC 52 Box 362, Hemphill, TX 75948, (409) 579-3732.

Seeks Donations

This year marks the 24th annual Neediest Families' Christmas Fund, a joint effort by the Illinois Department of Public Aid (IDPA) and First National Bank of Chicago to raise more than $1 million for families on welfare.

Acting State Public Aid Director Robert W. Wright said, "Unique to this fund is that every penny donated goes directly to needy families. IDPA and First Chicago donate all administrative services."

First Lady Brenda Edgar and TV talk show personality Jenny Jones are new this year to the list of honorary chairpersons, including Wally Phillips, Jack Brickhouse and Walter Payton.

Wright and David Paulus, First Chicago's senior vice-president for corporate and community affairs, are chairpersons, along with Irving Seaman, Jr., board chairman of Associated Bank of Chicago. Norman Ross, former radio personality and newspaper columnist and retired senior vice-president for community affairs at First Chicago, originated the fund and continues to serve as chairman emeritus.

Jones said, "It is wonderful to know that 100 percent of the money raised goes exactly where it is needed. Neediest Families' Christmas Fund exemplifies the true spirit of giving and should be a model for other charities."

Last year, the fund brightened the holidays for more than 11,000 families.

IDPA caseworkers review their caseloads and select the families that have suffered the most extreme hardships during the year. Those families receive checks ranging from $20 to $100 depending on the size of the family.

Since the program began, Neediest Families' Christmas Fund has collected more than $26 million for needy families. The campaign operates in Cook, DuPage, Kane and Will counties.

Those wishing to contribute to the Neediest Families' Christmas Fund should send a check payable to Neediest Families' Christmas Fund, P.O. Box 4938, Chicago, IL 60680.

Murder-Suicide

A 27-year-old woman and her 32-year-old estranged husband were found dead in what was apparently a murder-suicide. The bodies of Corliss Smith and her former husband were found dead in Smith's car, parked in the lot of the Merrionette Park apartment building where she lived, at approximately 11 a.m. on Tuesday. Both had been shot with a pistol which was recovered at the scene.

Police surmised that Smith's estranged husband Joe Logan had concealed himself in the back seat of her car, apparently waiting for her to leave for work. According to the report, Logan fired one bullet from a .38 caliber pistol into the back of Smith's head, killing her. He then shot himself in the temple. The murder-suicide happened at about 6:30 a.m. and the bodies were discovered by members of Smith's family who were advised by her co-workers that she had not reported for work. Smith was employed by Harris Trust and Savings Bank in Chicago's Loop.

Smith apparently had not sought an order of protection against her ex-husband although her family had filed an order of protection against him two or three years ago.

Issue Arrest Warrant

On Monday, police issued a warrant for the arrest of Edgar Ortega, 18, of Oak Lawn, according to Wentworth Area violent crimes Sergeant Marshall Andrews. Ortega is a suspect in the weekend slaying of Richard Montclair, 18, who was shot a short distance from his home on the 3700 block of west 78th St.

At the time of the shooting, Ortega was reportedly out on bond for another offense.

"The Light Of The World"

"GOOD TIDINGS OF GREAT JOY"

The Gospel According to St. Luke King James Version

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria. And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

And Joseph also went up to Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem (because he was of the house and lineage of David), to be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her first born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country, shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flocks by night.

And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and round about them and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of heavenly hosts praising God, and saying.

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the Shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known to us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary and Joseph and the babe lying in a manger. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning the child.

And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds. But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart.

And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

And when eight days were accomplished for the circumcising of the child, his name was called Jesus, which was so named of the angel before he was conceived in the womb.

Park District Plaque

George Derkovitz, president of the Friends of the Indian Boundary Prairies, received a plaque from the Markham Park District which reads: "In recognition of your continuous support of the Markham Park District."

Theresa Stepenski, a director, is reading Indian stories to students in the Markham Public Library.

A "burn course" for safety sake will be offered in DuPage or Will County on Jan. 29th and 30th. Some Friends members are enrolled.

Slide presentations by George Derkovitz and Theresa Stepenski were viewed by the members of the Friends on Dec. 9th.

Deputy Assessor To Leave

Dick Vanecko, chief deputy assessor of the Cook County Assessor's Office, will leave that position, effective Feb. 28th, 1994.

"Dick has been a dear friend and a valued colleague and I shall miss the close working relationship we have shared for many years," said Thomas Hynes, Cook County Assessor. "His extensive knowledge and insight on the assessment process and his ability to work with both staff and community groups have been immeasurable assets to the Cook County Assessor's Office."

Vanecko has been responsible for many innovations and important tax reforms in the assessor's office and is a nationally recognized expert on assessments and government finance, continued Hynes.

A Chicago native, Vanecko joined the Cook County Assessor's Office in 1979 and has worked in a number of capacities in the office including director of media and community relations, director of special research and administrator of incentive programs for economic development and affordable housing.

Registration

South West Special Recreation Association (SWSRA) is a non-profit agency that provides year-round recreational programs for individuals with disabilities. Registration for 1994 Challenger Little League teams will take place on Friday, Jan. 21st from 6:30 until 8 p.m. at the Apollo Recreation Center, 12521 S. Kostner Ave.

For more information, call the SWSRA office at (708) 389-9423.

To Use Cameras In DUI Cases

When you see those flashing lights in your rearview mirror, you might also be on camera. Eleven south suburban police vehicles are now equipped with video cameras through the South Suburban Regional Traffic Safety Program.

"The cameras were purchased to aid the departments in the detection and conviction of drunk drivers," stated Karen Hoffschmidt, project coordinator. "This is new equipment for our region. Only two or three departments had cameras prior to this."

The communities participating in this program include: Burnham, Calumet Park, Country Club Hills, East Hazel Crest, Glenwood, Harvey, Midlothian, Oak Forest, Orland Hills, Posen and Richton Park.

"We plan to utilize these cameras a lot for DUI's, especially during the midnight shift," stated Officer John Eagan of Glenwood Police Department.

The cameras were purchased from CrimTec Systems in Michigan with fiscal year 1993 and 1994 funds from the regional traffic safety program.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL!

In churches and homes, in city streets and stores, across the countryside -- the spirit of Christmas spreads its joy and its contentment. Soon now, the last-minute hustle and bustle will give way to the highest moments of holiday celebration. It's a time for fun and feasting, a time for light-hearted laughter and heartfelt prayer, a time when friendships are renewed and family ties are strengthened.

Throughout this community, and indeed throughout all the communities where Christmas is celebrated, the spirit of the season finds expression in innumerable ways -- among them, the gladness of gift-giving, the merriment of parties, the happiness of hearth and home and, above all, the solemn hush of midnight, traditionally the symbolic time for heralding the Birth of Christ.

From the holly wreath on the door to the packages under the tree, from the gaily decorated scenes in the churches, the customs of Christmas contribute to the meaning of the Day -- just as early Christian leaders meant that holiday customs should.

When Christmas first began to be observed on December 25th, churchmen welcomed the idea of incorporating ceremonies and traditions from earlier beliefs into the celebration. They thought that people would feel closer to the new religion if former ways and rituals were not abolished, but instead united with the new rites to honor the birth of Christ.

Today, nearly everyone celebrates Christmas because Christmas belongs to everyone.

For the Christian believer, Christmas is cherished as a religious holiday of paramount importance and as a time meant for joy and festivity, too.

For people of many different faiths, Christmas is beloved as a happy holiday, a secular celebration that gives meaningful expression to universal good will and good cheer.

None of us, in our human limitations, can fully comprehend the meaning of the coming of the Christ. The event is too big, too overwhelming, too tremendous for us to completely understand. But if we are aware of this fact, we are already on the road to understanding. We know, for instance, that in the coming of the Child is to be found the clue to the meaning of life, that in Jesus' life is the secret of the heart of the universe. It was Bishop Robinson, the author of HONEST TO GOD, who said that in Jesus Christ we have a window into ultimate reality itself, into God, and that in Christ we reach rock bottom--that rock of love on which the whole universe is constructed.

In our secularized society today, we are prone to celebrate Christmas in a most materialistic fashion, often with no understanding at all of the religious significance of the day, and so often we take the great gifts of life without even thinking of what they mean. We accept the love of parent or mate and do not realize what it has meant until they are gone. We accept food and clothing and shelter without ever knowing what it means to be hungry and cold and homeless. We accept the Divine Love without ever thinking what life would be like without it.

But in unexpected moments of revelation, we are struck with wonder and love and praise. Christmas can be such a moment, and to those who receive this revelation, all of life takes on new meaning and purpose, and we receive with humble gratefulness and a new sense of responsibility, God's gift to us.

stop where the person was verbally abusive and when I told them the conversation was being recorded, they had an immediate change in attitude," added Officer Jim Morrissey of Oak Forest Police Department.

"This will save a lot of court time, when the defense attorney knows the client is on videotape. It gives the judge a real sense of what was going on at the time, as compared to just a narrative from the officer. There is no prejudice in video," stated Officer Alan Tomlinson of the Calumet Park Police Department.

The South Suburban Regional Traffic Safety Program focuses on decreasing the incidence of driving under the influence of alcohol, increasing seatbelt use and improving bicycle and pedestrian safety. The program is operated through the South Suburban Mayors and Managers Association (SSMMA), and is funded by the U.S. Department of Transportation through the Illinois Department of Transportation.

For additional information regarding the program, contact Karen Hoffschmidt at (708) 201-7700.

Irish/American Annual Dinner Dance

The Irish/American Alliance is holding its annual dinner-dance on Saturday, Jan. 15th at the Martinique Restaurant, 2500 W. 95th St. Entertainment will be by Mike O'Connell and the Shannoneers. Tickets are $35 each for dinner and open bar.

The major event at the dinner-dance will be the grand drawing for $20,000. Second prize will be three $1,000 prizes, third prize will be two $500 prizes and fourth prize will be four $250 prizes. There is a $500 seller bonus. Only 500 tickets will be sold. For drawing tickets or further information, call Steve McGann at (708) 385-4273.

The Irish American Alliance will continue its tradition of honoring individuals of Irish birth and Irish descent who have displayed the Irish willingness to serve and succeed. This year they are honoring Ms. Mary McPhillips and Mr. Thomas Hynes.

Mary McPhillips founded "Erin Homes," a retreat for mildly-retarded women. Mary offers hope and compassion to people who might otherwise live without hope. Irish-born McPhillips, through her courageous and untiring efforts, and with the help of Irish friends, has developed an outstanding program of assisting retarded people. Thomas Hynes is the Cook County Assessor. He is the epitome of first-generation Irish Americans who built on their heritage. A former state legislator, Illinois Senate President and now county assessor, Hynes continues to serve his Irish heritage.

For more information on the Irish/American Alliance dinner-dance, call Jack Davoren at (708) 424-0055.

Heart Association Fundraising Efforts

The South Cook County Division of the American Heart Association of Metropolitan Chicago has announced plans to raise $347,850 in 1993-94. The money is earmarked for research, education and community programs throughout South Cook County.

For more information on these programs or to volunteer, call the South Cook County office at (708) 957-4411.

Annual Delinquent Tax Sale

The annual sale of delinquent real estate taxes will be held from January 31, 1994 through March 17, 1994, Treasurer Edward J. Rosewell announced. The sale will be held in the second floor corridor of the County Building, 118 N. Clark St.

Rosewell said the sale will cover 103,234 Cook County properties with a tax delinquency of $183,971,553 in 1992 real estate taxes collectable in 1993. Rosewell noted that the amount of tax delinquent properties is down from the previous year, when 108,415 parcels with a delinquency of 215,906,645 were offered at that sale.

Rosewell urged any property owner who has not paid his or her real estate taxes to do so prior to the sale to avoid additional interest and expense. He said that payments will be accepted on delinquent properties up until the date of the sale.

The taxes are sold on a bid basis, the bid being the amount of interest a purchaser will receive when and if the property owner redeems his taxes. The bidding begins at 18% and continues downward, with the lowest bidder winning the tax purchase.

Under this formula, the tax purchaser with an 18% bid would receive 18% interest for the first 6 months; 36% for 6 to 12 months; 54% for 12 to 18 months; and 72% after 18 months.

The owner of the property has two years after the sale to redeem or buy back the taxes, plus interest. If the property owner fails to redeem, the tax purchaser can file suit in the Circuit Court to seek title to the property.

Rosewell cautioned tax purchasers that the sale does not entitle them to any physical right or use of the property. The tax purchase is merely a lien against the property until it is redeemed or the purchaser receives a court ordered deed.

All bidders must register for the sale, and the law requires the potential tax buyer to submit to the Cook County Treasurer's Office ten days prior to any bid a complete and approved surety bond, letter of credit, money order or cashier's check in the amount of one and one-half times the amount of the delinquent taxes which he desires to purchase on any one day.

If the payment for delinquent taxes is not tendered prior to the end of the next business day after the date of purchase, the Cook County Treasurer will draw on the guarantee document (surety bond, letter of credit, money order, or cashier's check) and the tax buyer will not be allowed to further participate in the sale.

Forms and copies of the rules and regulations are available in the tax sale department in the downtown office at 118 N. Clark St., Chicago, as well as in all satellite offices. The satellite offices are located at: 16501 S. Kedzie, Markham; 1500 Maybrook Dr., Maywood; 5600 Old Orchard Rd., Skokie; 10200 S. 76th Ave., Bridgeview and 2121 Euclid Ave., Rolling Meadows.

Democrats Won't Challenge LaRouchies

Illinois Democratic Party Chairman Gary LaPaille said Monday that party leaders will not challenge nominating petitions filed by candidates identified with Lyndon LaRouche. LaRouche, jailed political extremist, is serving a 15-year sentence for conspiracy and mail fraud.

Attorneys for the major Democratic candidates conducted a week-long review of petitions filed by the LaRouchies and determined that challenging the validity of signatures on the petitions could precipitate a costly, unsuccessful legal battle. In recent decisions, the courts have leaned in the direction of the challenged.

Rather than attempting to remove the LaRouchies from the ballot, Illinois Democrats have indicated they will initiate a 'voter education drive' that would focus on the extremist views of Lyndon LaRouche and his supporters. According to LaPaille, a toll-free telephone number is being established to "inform voters about the 'real' Democratic candidates and warn them of LaRouche candidates on both the state and local levels."

Democrats are wary of the LaRouche challenge, as in 1986 fringe candidates were successful in getting on the ballot as candidates for Lieutenant Governor and Secretary of State. Because of the success of the LaRouche supporters in the Primary Election, gubernatorial candidate Adlai Stevenson III formed the Illinois Solidarity Party in an abortive attempt to win the election.

LaRouche supporters have filed as Democratic candidates for five state offices, two Congressional seats and 14 seats on the party's state central committee.

Sheila Jones is the LaRouche candidate for governor; Anthony Harper is her running mate for lieutenant governor with Rose Marie Love seeking the office of secretary of state and Thomas Beaudette, treasurer. The two candidates for Congress are John McCarthy, running in the 5th District on Chicago's North Side and George Laurence of Romeoville, running in the 13th District.

Charged After Swallowing Diamond Ring

In a bizarre turn of events, Lenny Bradley, 19, of Midlothian, is facing theft charges stemming from his swallowing a diamond ring that he was apparently taking without paying for. Bradley asked to see the one-carat diamond and 14-carat gold ring at the Wal-Mart store in Bridgeview on Wednesday, Dec. 15th. He left the counter with the ring valued at $1,888 and headed for the exit.

According to the police report, Bradley was noticed by a security guard as he took the ring out of the box, placed it in his mouth and discarded the box. However, when the guard stopped Bradley outside the store, the ring could not be found.

Bradley told police that he was surprised by the security guard and he coughed and swallowed. He began spitting up blood and was transported to Christ Hospital in Oak Lawn where an X-ray showed the ring floating in his stomach.

The doctor said that Bradley should be able to pass the ring through his system with no problem.

Bradley was charged with retail theft and released. Police told him to retrieve the ring when it finally appeared and return it or the charges would be upgraded to a felony.

ONE MILLION MEMBERS.

C. JONATHAN SHATTUCK
SENIOR VP, HEALTH CARE AFFAIRS

When you're trying to manage health care costs, being the biggest kid on the block does have its advantages.

Blue Cross has saved the people of Illinois more money than any other insurance carrier.

Hand in hand with that, no one has done more to preserve the quality of health care in this state.

So you get the security and convenience of the largest statewide network there is, plus somebody to serve as the guardian of your money. That's a very nice combination."

WHEN YOU HAVE THE BLUE CROSS PPO, YOU HAVE IT ALL.

- ☐ The largest statewide network of hospitals and doctors. And 1 million members in Illinois.
- ☐ More than 13,000 doctors and more than 170 hospitals to choose from.
- ☐ Subscribers are never billed for more than what we've agreed to pay.

WE HAVE IT ALL.

Chief Judge Comerford Calls For Summit On Keeping Children Safe

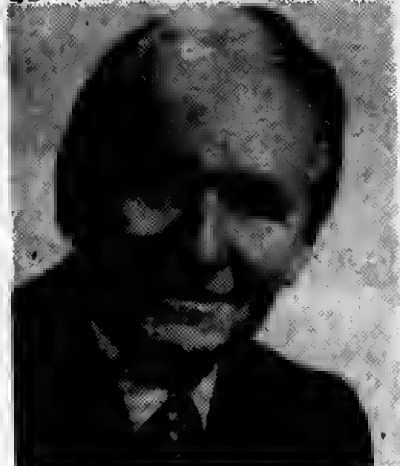

Chief Judge Harry G. Comerford called for a summit meeting of top state and county elected officials on Jan. 10 to seek new areas of cooperation between state and county agencies that deal with children and families.

Comerford has invited Governor Edgar, Richard J. Phelan, President of the Cook County Board of Commissioners; Michael J. Madigan, Speaker of the House; James "Pate" Philip, President of the Senate; Emil Jones Jr., Minority Leader of the Senate, and Lee A. Daniels, Minority Leader of the House, to join him in looking for ways to help children and families. "I have asked those elected officials to join in this effort as it is critical that we coordinate the efforts of our respective agencies, not only for the families, but to ensure that our resources are being invested wisely," Comerford said.

The Chief Judge said he would ask the Summit to consider how best to put into operation a proposal developed by his office to create a Family Justice Coordinating Council made up of the elected heads of the state and county agencies that deal with children and troubled families. The Council would foster better cooperation among courts, police departments, social service agencies, mental health organizations, and others that serve families in which children are abused or neglected.

Comerford also announced that he will seek a swift approval next month of legislation aimed at improving the Juvenile Division of the Circuit Court of Cook County in abuse and neglect cases.

The legislative initiative would give the courts new resources and support to help protect children in troubled families and lead to greater cooperation among public agencies dealing with those children. The legislation will be presented to the Illinois General Assembly when it reconvenes in a one-day session on Jan. 12.

Comerford is seeking adoption of the special legislation as part of his Protect The Children program designed to improve operations of the Juvenile Division of the Circuit Court. The Program, which expands on reforms Comerford announced in October, is designed to create a less adversarial Juvenile court system in which the child's interest is paramount.

"This legislation is one of many steps that are needed to keep children safe while their cases are before the court," Comerford said. "We all want to prevent tragic occurrences of abuse and neglect from happening. Making our court system better prepared to deal with today's realities is one of those steps."

Comerford said his initiatives will include:

- * Seeking funding from the state for a new program to provide juvenile court judges more resources and more information to make decisions on abuse and neglect cases. One major component will be achieved through hiring 16 new hearing officers for the Juvenile Division of the Circuit Court.

- * Creating a Family Justice Coordinating Council of all state and county agencies to deal with troubled children or families in order to ensure coordinated action and efficient use of resources.

- * Creating the Family Justice Leadership Institute of the Circuit Court of Cook County, which will provide training programs and material for judges and others in the system who deal with families in crisis. In addition, the Institute's mission will be to explore new approaches, methods processes and programs to improve the Juvenile Welfare System for all those who deal with the sensitive areas of child abuse and neglect.

Comerford said he is appointing American Bar Association attorney Douglas K. Somerlot to serve as director of the Institute. Somerlot is currently the Staff Director of the American Bar Association's Judicial Administration Division, Lawyers Conference; Project Director of the ABA's Task Force on Reduction of Litigation Cost and Delay.

He also serves on the faculty of the National Judicial College, the Institute for Court Management, the National Center for State Courts and the National Conference of Metropolitan Courts, among others. He is a nationally recognized expert on court delay reduction, caseload management and standards relating to Appellate delay reduction.

- * Merging the Circuit Court's psychiatric and juvenile clinical services, thus providing Juvenile Division judges with their own independent experts to evaluate the mental competence of those who come before the court, rather than depending solely on competing expert witnesses.

- * Seeking changes in court regulations that will make certain that all documents related to all family members be available to the Juvenile Division judges, even when the court proceedings involve other circuits.

- * Comerford plans to travel to Washington in mid-January to meet with officials at the Department of Health and Human Services and other agencies, seeking action at the federal level to combat factors that contribute to abuse and neglect.

Cooperation of all relevant agencies is most important, Comerford said. He pointed out that when a troubled family comes before a juvenile judge, matters have already reached a crisis stage. Any relevant information -- from previous psychiatric or medical records to criminal records -- should be presented to the courts.

"When a child's life is at stake, we cannot allow the system to become an impediment," Comerford said. "That is why close cooperation is critical. The time for finger-pointing is over. We all need to make certain that protecting the children is our number one priority."

Alsip Mayor Arnie Andrews In Accident

Mayor Arnold Andrews of Alsip was involved in a 'fender bender' accident on Sunday, Dec. 19th. Mayor Andrews issued the following account of the incident on the following day.

"On Dec. 19th, I was involved in an automobile accident at 123rd Pl. and Cicero Ave. While exiting onto Cicero from 123rd Pl., I inched my vehicle forward in order to obtain a clear view of the Cicero Avenue traffic. While stopped at the stop sign at that intersection, my view of southbound Cicero Avenue traffic was blocked by a truck parked to the north of 123rd Pl. Unfortunately it was impossible to obtain a clear view of the traffic because of that obstruction and while inching forward, the front of my vehicle and the side of a southbound vehicle made contact. My vehicle was barely moving and I have no estimate of the speed of the other vehicle because I could not see it until the two vehicles came in contact. Both vehicles did not contain any passengers.

Immediately after the accident, I talked with the driver of the other vehicle who stated that she was not injured. Subsequent to that, she refused treatment by the Alsip Fire Department. Because I was disoriented from the accident, I was immediately taken to St. Francis Hospital in Blue Island by a friend who came upon the scene after the accident. The emergency room at St. Francis Hospital was jammed and therefore I went home after feeling better.

At approximately 10:30 a.m. on Dec. 19th, I went to the Alsip Police Station and gave the department all of the information required, including my driver's license and insurance card. Subsequent to that I was issued two tickets by the police department, one for leaving the scene of a personal injury accident and one for failure to yield right-of-way at a stop intersection. The initial court date on the tickets is in February at which time I intend to plead not guilty."

Concerto Competition

The Suburban Youth Symphony Orchestra (YSO) announces its 1994 Youth Opportunity Concerto Competition to be held at South Suburban College on Jan. 29th (junior division) and Jan. 30th (senior division). This annual competition is open to young musicians, through age 19, performing on piano, strings or other instruments. Applicants must be prepared to perform one movement of a concerto or representative work with orchestral accompaniment. The selected composition must be for solo instrument and orchestra, in its original form, no arrangements.

Winners of the competition will receive a cash prize and the opportunity to perform with the YSO at the May 22nd concert to be held in mall auditorium, Homewood-Flossmoor High School.

Complete information and an application form may be obtained by calling the YSO at (708) 799-4826. There is a $15 application fee and the deadline for receiving completed applications is Jan. 14th.

Phelan's Gun Control Plan

Saying Illinois needs greater ability to track and regulate the sale of guns, Cook County Board President and Democratic gubernatorial candidate Richard Phelan recently called on Gov. Edgar and the General Assembly to work for and pass legislation to license gun dealers.

"In Illinois, you have to have a license to cut hair or to referee a basketball game, but you don't have to have a license to sell guns," Phelan said. "There are more gun dealers in this state than McDonald's restaurants. There are over 11,000 federally licensed firearms dealers in Illinois compared with only 369 McDonald's. There are more places to buy a MAC-10 than a Big Mac!"

"Gun violence in our society has reached crisis levels. Nearly every day we read in the paper about children being gunned down in our streets, many of whom were just innocent bystanders," Phelan said. "Gun dealers are the door through which guns flow onto our streets."

According to the United States Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF), over 90 percent of the guns used by criminals come from "the legal firearms market." Just last week, federal investigators foiled the illegal distribution of 30 semiautomatic handguns allegedly headed for sale to a Chicago south side gang. These guns were legally purchased from a local gun dealer operating out of his home.

"This is the kind of gun deal we are trying to stop," Phelan said. "Licensing dealers statewide will protect legitimate dealers and help put illegal dealers out of business."

The problem lies in enforcement. Though gun dealers are federally licensed, the ATF does not have the resources to adequately police them. In Illinois, there is only one ATF license inspector for every 691 licensed gun dealers. Fewer than one in 10 dealers is visited annually by the ATF. Even President Clinton recently said it's time to toughen dealer licensing regulations at both the federal and state levels. He criticized the federal licensing law saying, "We need to look at this whole business of licensing federal gun dealers...there's a whole lot of questions that need to be examined."

The Phelan proposal includes requiring gun dealers to be licensed; assessing a licensing fee; doing away with basement selling (exempting collectors and antique dealers); requiring gun dealers to be fingerprinted and photographed; putting a limit on multiple sales; prohibiting gun shops from locating near schools and parks where children play; and requiring reporting of lost or stolen guns.

Phelan continued to stress that these proposals are an important first step. "These actions will not solve the problems of gun violence. What it will do is give the state a greater ability to track and regulate the flow of guns," Phelan said. "This is the first step to get rid of gun dealers operating illegally by selling guns to gangs. It is the ready access to guns that has led to the dramatic increase in gun deaths and gun violence over the last decade. If it prevents even one more senseless killing, isn't it worth it?"

Auditions For Play

Auditions for "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" are scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 6th at 7:30 p.m. and for Sunday, Jan. 9th at 2 p.m. The auditions are to be held on the lower level of the LaSalle-Talman Bank, 4740 W. 95th St.

Roles to be cast include

Chief Bromden, any age but must be very big and must be of Indian descent or at least able to pass for an Indian; Randle P. McMurphy, no specific age, but a very confident individual; shaggy but not a hippie; Nurse Ratched, age 35-55, a stern woman, not afraid of anyone and will not be humiliated; Dr. Spivey, an older fatherly man, easily bullied.

Others to be cast include Nurse Finn, any age but timid and green; Candy, same age as McMurphy, strong and outspoken, slatternly but not a whore; Sandra, same type as Candy but younger.

In addition, 10 men of varying size and age to be cast as mental ward patients and three to be cast as mental ward aides, with one older and more frail than the other two are needed.

Auditionees should bring a resume and photo. Wear comfortable clothes and be prepared to work both as a team and individually. Be on time as promptness counts.

Performance dates are March 4th, 5th and 6th at the Beverly Art Center, 2135 W. 111th St.

Chicago Mayor Richard M. Daley greets employees of the Nabisco Biscuit Company after joining company executives at the 73rd St. and Kedzie Ave. facility to announce a major expansion project. The expansion includes the renovation of existing facilities, a new shipping/receiving warehouse, and a co-generation plant to provide power to all site facilities, making Nabisco's Chicago plant one of their largest and most efficient in the world.

Viverito To Chair Task Force

According to Congressman Bill Lipinski (D-3), Stickney Township Supervisor Lou Viverito will chair the task force responsible for deciding the exact route of the long-dreamed-of Central Ave. overpass project. An exact proposal is needed before funding for such a roadway can be obtained. Lipinski and Illinois Speaker of the House Mike Madigan will serve as vice-chairmen.

"Some proposals would affect how children walk to school, some cost more, some less, some would take longer to build - our job is to sort through these problems, look at all the options and come to agreement on the best plan possible," Viverito said. "One thing we're already in agreement on is the need for another north-south connecting route."

Lipinski called the recent opening of the CTA's new Orange Line just the first phase of an extensive transportation plan that he has long envisioned for southwest Chicago and Cook County. The so-called Central Ave. Overpass is phase two. As senior member of the House Committee on Public Works, Lipinski is well-positioned to turn his plans into reality.

The plan calls for a new four-lane north-south road to connect suburbs like Burbank, Bedford Park and Oak Lawn with the Stevenson Expressway. Currently, the two main roads that serve this purpose are overwhelmed, as drivers who get caught in long frustrating delays know only too well.

The resurgence of Midway Airport, combined with the increase in industrial traffic, have put even more pressure on the current routes. With the interstate highway system basically completed in this country, beginning next year, the federal government is ready to start focusing on other major roads.

"Because Harlem and Cicero Aves. are major truck routes, it is believed that a project to relieve congestion on those two streets would qualify for federal funding," Viverito said.

The price tag? It's an estimated $100 million, part of which is already in the bank. $34.5 million, to be exact, is still held by the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) from when plans for the Crosstown Expressway were finally scrapped in 1979. That money has been earmarked for exactly this type of project.

Lipinski said he believes he can get the remainder from the federal government if there is state and local agreement on the exact route.

Viverito noted, according to one plan, the so-called overpass may turn out to be an underpass.

The latest proposal mentioned would extend Narragansett Ave. north under the railroad tracks and then build new connecting roads to Harlem and Central. So far, this proposal has received positive reviews from several officials.

House Speaker Mike Madigan predicted that the economic boon to this area would be tremendous. "This helps residents frustrated by traffic delays. It helps the local industrial base, which means jobs. It helps the construction industry, and it provides further help to Midway Airport, which is already coming back strong. That's what a good transportation plan is supposed to do," Madigan said.

In addition to Viverito, Madigan and Lipinski, the following individuals have been invited to participate: Evergreen Park Mayor Anthony Vacco; Chicago Alderman John Madrzyk; Bedford Park Mayor L. Dean Gifford; Chicago Ridge Mayor Gene Siegel; Jack Weglarz of the Suburban Business Leaders Association; Chicago Alderman Thomas Murphy; McCook Mayor Emil Sergio; Jim Capraro of the Greater Southwest Development Corporation; John Waner of Waner Properties; State Rep. David McAfee; Summit Mayor Ronald Kluszewski; Patricia Foley of the West Lawn Civic Association; Worth Mayor James Bilder; Oak Lawn Mayor Ernest Kolb; Bridgeview Mayor John Oremus; Burbank Mayor Harry Klein; John Sendra of the Bedford Park/Clearing Industrial Association; Marge Davis of the Garfield Ridge Chamber of Commerce; Lee Smithey, superintendent of School District 111; and Dr. W. Michael Morrissey, superintendent of School District 220.

Also, representatives from the following community civic leagues were invited: Archer Heights Civic League, Clearing Civic League, Viltum Park Civic League and Garfield Ridge Civic League.

The first meeting is scheduled for Friday, Jan. 28th at the Burbank Auditorium.

Pace Approves Budget For '94

Pace's 1994 operating and capital budget was approved by the board as previously proposed, the only difference being the list of route reductions or eliminations. Because of the $6 million shortfall in funding refused to Pace by the Regional Transportation Authority (RTA), five drastic actions were approved to balance the budget. In 1994, Pace will need to raise all $.85 fares to $1.10, implement $1.6 million in fixed-route service cuts, defer plans to expand ADA services, eliminate ADA service beyond the minimum federal requirement and reduce the dial-a-ride reimbursements from $2.50 to $2 per trip. The public showed strong support of Pace services by submitting more than 1500 letters, and more than 220 suburban residents attended Pace's public hearings. Based on the public comments, the list of fixed-route service cuts and reductions was revised. However, due to the funding shortfall and the legal requirement to balance the budget, it was necessary for Pace to take the proposed actions. To continue showing support for suburban transportation, Pace is encouraging suburban transit riders to attend the RTA's upcoming public hearings on Dec. 10th.

The board accepted an award for Pace's participation in the Fleetwatch program, a cooperative effort between the Illinois Crime Prevention Association and groups like Pace who are radio-equipped public service employees. Pace employees act as the eyes and ears of the community, reporting between 100 and 250 incidents a month to local authorities.

The Pace Board of Directors meets on the first Wednesday of each month at 3:30 p.m. in the board room at Pace Headquarters, 550 W. Algonquin Rd., Arlington Heights.

MVCC Holiday Closing

Moraine Valley Community College will be closed from Dec. 24th through Jan. 2nd for the holidays. All college services, including the college service center, registration and the learning resources center, will also be closed. The college will reopen on Monday, Jan. 3rd. Registration will reopen at that time for spring semester classes which begin on Monday, Jan. 10th.

Students can register in the college center on campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave., or by telephone by calling (708) 974-2110.

Five hundred and seventy-five guests attended the Polish Welfare Association 72nd Holiday Gala on Dec. 4th and helped raise $65,000 to assist the implementation of the Association's programs for Chicago's Polish-American residents. Breaking all-time attendance and donation records, the successful benefit paid tribute to Sister Stella Louise Slomka, C.S.F.N., president and CEO of Saint Mary of Nazareth Hospital Center, as the 1993 Presidential Award recipient.

"Sister Stella Louise, shown being congratulated by Most Reverend Alfred Abramovitz, Auxiliary Bishop of Chicago, is truly a star of Polonia. And it is only fitting as Stella is the Latin word for star," proclaimed Mitchell Wiet to the large crowd. Serving as master of ceremonies for the evening, Wiet spoke for Saint Mary of Nazareth Hospital Center as one of its first lay members of the advisory board and for the Polish Welfare Association as a former vice-president of its board.

The guest list at the holiday gala featured many area dignitaries, including Bishops Abramovitz and Thad Jakubowski, Cook County Board Chairman and Democratic candidate for Governor of Illinois Richard Pheasant, Democratic candidate for Illinois Attorney General Al Hofeld, last year's Presidential Award winner and candidate for Cook County Board President Aurelia Pucinski, Commissioner of Cook County Board of Tax Appeals Joseph Berrios, U.S. Congressman Luis Guterrez, Illinois State Senator John Cullerton, Illinois State Representatives Robert Bugielski, Nancy Kaszak and Janice Schakowsky and Alderwoman Carole Blaczak.

All proceeds from the 1993 holiday gala benefit the many important programs of the Polish Welfare Association, including counseling for families and battered women, a day shelter for homeless men, a bilingual alcoholism treatment program, employment and adjustment services, senior citizen assistance, citizenship and English classes for new immigrants, as well as a health outreach program for economically disadvantaged families.

Band Registration

The Imperial Youth Band is holding its registration and initial rehearsal for the 1994 season on Monday, Jan. 3rd at 7 p.m. at Marist High School, 4200 W. 115th St. A special registration meeting will be held at this time. Parents of interested musicians are invited to attend. Membership is open to all students in the eighth through 12th grades, from any school, who play a band instrument. The band practices on Monday nights from 7 to 9 p.m. The season runs from January to July. Musicians should bring their instruments that night.

The IYB, under the direction of Frank Manna, is well-known in the southwest communities for expert showmanship in concerts and parades.

Oak Lawn Reviews

by Ann Bennett

We have been very fortunate, to my way of thinking, no snow so far. The cold, damp weather other than that hasn't been too good. A lot of people are complaining of colds and others with pneumonia. Stay well, we need you.

Ben and Dolores Kryszak celebrated their 48th wedding anniversary on Nov. 24th and went to the ice show at Drury Lane on Thanksgiving. Ben celebrated his birthday on Dec. 8th. Congratulations to both of you and may you have many more.

The Oak Lawn Fire Department Women's Auxiliary went out for their annual Christmas dinner on Dec. 16th. The members toasted President Judy Walker who celebrated a birthday on Nov. 23rd. May you have many more.

Our Lady of Loretto Women's Guild is sponsoring a New Year's Day Bingo in the parish hall at 8925 S. Kostner. Games begin at 6:30 p.m. with two $500 games. Admission is $15. For more information, call Debbie at 423-5240.

St. Fabian Church, 83rd and Oketo, Bridgeview, will host an enrichment mission from Jan. 16th through Jan. 20th from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to participate in this "renewal of life for the community." The mission has been put together with young people in mind, but will be addressing issues which are faced by young and old alike. Those planning to attend are asked to bring a Bible, and if possible a friend. Refreshments and gathering will follow each session.

The Oak Lawn Rotary has put together a 'Grand Music Weekend' to inaugurate the Dorothy Menker Theater at Moraine Valley Community College on Feb. 12th and 13th. Artists appearing will include jazz violinist Johnny Frigo and his quartet featuring Joe Vito on the piano and organist Jayson Nyberg. Frank Pellico on organ with his band; violinist Mona Marie Knock; and the Chicago Children's Choir. Saturday, Feb. 12th, will feature Johnny Frigo, and Joe Vito and his group provide the backup. Jason Nyberg completes the Feb. 12th concert on the keyboard organ. On Sunday, Feb. 13th, there will be two chances to enjoy the music of Frank Pellico on the organ, violinist Mona Marie Knock and the Chicago Children's Choir. The first concert is at 2 p.m. and the second at 6:30 p.m. Tickets for each concert are $15 and are available through Rotary Club members and through Ortigara Musicville, 10830 S. Central Ave., Suburban Enterprise, 9515 S. Cook Ave., Beverly Trust Company, 10312 S. Cicero and Beverly Bank, 8811 W. 159th St. Members of the committee are Brian Andersen, 887-4600 and Terry Bartolini, 425-7474.

Congratulations are in order for Matt Kirkpatrick, Dan Grzeda and Stephen Baranowski who participated in the St. Rita High School 'It's Academic' competition on Nov. 18th. They are students from St. Gerald School and over 100 local 8th grade boys competed. In individual competition, Matt placed 2nd in the math; Dan took 2nd in the science; and Stephen was 2nd in the English competition. In the team competition, St. Gerald's lost on the last question of the final game and placed 2nd. We do have some very smart kids!!!

Baptized at St. Gerald Church on Sunday, Dec. 12th; were Samantha Lynn, daughter of Robert and Sandra Beard; and Patrick Thomas, son of Patrick and Karen Nudo. Congratulations to all of you.

Voice of Democracy essay winners sponsored by Oak Lawn VFW Post and Ladies Auxiliary in local high schools are Claudia Gonzales, Oak Lawn High School; Matthew John Springer, Marist High School and Susan Marie Lash of Richards High School. Oak Lawn Mayor Ernest F. Kolb, proclaimed Dec. 12th to 18th, as "Voice of Democracy Week." Penny Hempen is auxiliary president and Russ Smukula is commander.

The winner for the third district will be announced at a ceremony to be held on Sunday, Jan. 9th at Rhine VFW Post in Chicago.

"Way Off Broadway '94"

The St. Linus Parish Players announce their 22nd annual production of a south side tradition, "Way Off Broadway '94" for four nights only, Feb. 4th, 5th, 11th and 12th. Doors open at 7 p.m. on each night. The production is at St. Linus School, 103rd St. & Lawler Ave. "Way Off Broadway '94" features The Palace Revue, Two Mini-Musicals, Hawk's Casino, musical entertainment and food & beverage rooms. The donation is $10 per person, general admission (deluxe buffet shows are available each Friday night for $20 and dinner shows on each Saturday night for $25).

door. For reservations and/or additional information, call Josephine at (312) 767-8031 or Judy at (312) 778-4009.

Oak Lawn High School sophomore, Chrissie Garza, was selected from 15 student applicants to represent OLCHS at the Hugh O'Brian Youth Leadership (HOBY) seminar next spring. Chrissie was selected because of her leadership skills, academic accomplishments and outstanding essay on "The Three Most Important Characteristics of a Leader." HOBY seminars are conducted in each of the 50 states and the District of Columbia. Seminars will be held in the Bahamas, Canada, Japan and Mexico.

Peace Scholars

Thirty-three students from Queen of Peace High School named Illinois State Scholars recently received a letter from Principal Patricia Nolan-Fitzgerald congratulating them for being designated among the finest students in the state.

"I think it is very important to recognize this special distinction," said Nolan-Fitzgerald. "Being committed to serious study is a challenge that is not always easy or convenient. These young women have accepted the challenge and their class rank, coupled with ACT scores, reflect their commitment. Scholarship is so important at Queen of Peace; the entire Peace community is proud of their accomplishments."

The honorees include Christina Adducci (Worth), Jennifer Aguinaga (St. Simon), Angela Bakanas (St. Symphorosa), Margaret Bartoszeski (St. Symphorosa), Angela Charnot (Orland Park), Kimberly Ciurej (Queen of the Universe), Sharon Claussen (St. Louis de Montfort), Nicole Delmonte (St. Daniel the Prophet), Jennifer Dujka (Hometown), Lisa Fareno (St. Thomas More), Jeanne Farnan (Nativity of Our Lady), Dina Giannoulis (Bridgeview), Diane Hoyne (Bridgeview), Karen Klimavicius (St. Bruno), Donna Liedman (St. Daniel the Prophet), Angela Los (St. Turibius), Karen Mankowski (St. Mary Star of the Sea), Kathleen Molony (St. Denis), Jennifer Moses (St. George), Elizabeth Pasternak (Chicago), Jeanine Perfetti (St. Richard), Sarah Pilat (Burbank), Barbara Prosapio (St. Gerald), Diane Schmitz (St. Symphorosa), Karen Sears (St. Patricia), Jill Serio (St. Jerome), Karen Smith (St. Rene Goupil), Susan Szoldatits (St. Rene Goupil), Kathleen Tegtmeyer (St. Albert the Great), Jennifer Velasco (Burbank), Romana Zak (St. Bruno).

Jack Thompson Oldsmobile, has donated two General Motors computer diagnostic units for use in the Oak Lawn Community High School auto mechanics program. These units provide a wide variety of information and specifications so that students can quickly troubleshoot vehicles. Automotive technicians rely heavily on this type of equipment because today's vehicles are all equipped with on-board computers. OLCHS Instructor Nick Komarchuk is pictured with Chuck Thompson.

Members of the Peace Community were pleased to welcome a record-breaking number of families to their open house on Nov. 21st. Nearly 650 families of junior high students, or approximately 1700 individuals, spent an hour or two on a beautiful Sunday afternoon to learn more about the programs offered at Queen of Peace. Those in attendance had an opportunity to enjoy the award-winning Queen of Peace-St. Laurence Band and the creative expression of drama, art and chorus students. Parents were able to meet the entire Peace faculty, and talk to many Queen of Peace students as they toured the modern facilities which include four computer labs, five science labs and the new Peace Center. Teachers and coaches discussed the academic programs, student athletes and coaches were available to talk about the athletic opportunities, and student representatives shared information about the many activities available at Peace. Peace parents were also in attendance to represent the Parent Club and the Sports Booster Club.

Mrs. Hannon of Oak Lawn commented, "I was very impressed with the informative nature of the presentations...The teachers were very fine speakers and many of my questions were answered." Bridget Hannon, a student at St. Catherine of Alexandria School added, "I was the most impressed by the friendliness of the Queen of Peace students."

Another parent, Mrs. Schultz, who is also a Peace alum spoke enthusiastically of the open house experience and of Queen of Peace High School, saying, "I was especially pleased that the traditions I had experienced as a woman of Peace are living on. The expanded curriculum is especially appealing, and I'm very happy about the healthy enrollment."

Queen of Peace High School is an all-girls college-prep school. Families interested in learning more about Queen of Peace are invited to call (708) 458-7600 or (312) 586-7300 and ask for Mrs. Lopez. She will be glad to send you information or to arrange for a personal tour.

POLICE CALLS

The following incidents were reported by the Oak Lawn Police Department. Readers are reminded that an arrest by police does not constitute a finding of guilt and only a court of law can make that determination.

On Dec. 9th, Karen Peters of Robbins and Julia Robertson-Johnson of Country Club Hills were seen by the security agent at Dominick's, 11024 S. Cicero, taking packages of Hanes underwear off the shelf, which were concealed in their pants. They paid for a few items but not the Hanes. They were stopped at the door and $82.47 worth of merchandise was recovered from Julia and $82.11 from Karen. They were charged with retail theft.

At 10:44 p.m., William Schwenn of Oak Lawn reported someone broke the front door window and spray-painted the front door and broke two lanterns on the wall and broke two bathroom windows. Damage is estimated at $1,200. He has sustained other criminal damage to his property but cannot think who it might be.

On the 10th, a clerk at K-Mart, 4104 W. 95th St. told police she saw a black male leave the stockroom with a black bag with a Nintendo or Sega system game. The offender left the store without paying, got into a car with another man and they drove off. Estimated loss is $125.

On the 11th, Maria Carrasco of Chicago was allegedly seen by K-Mart security at 4104 W. 95th St. removing clothing from the shelf, then removing the tag from the clothes and placing the merchandise into a stroller she was pushing and leave without paying. She was stopped at the door and $62.80 worth of merchandise was recovered.

C.D. DeRuiter of Oak Lawn reported persons unknown knocked off a six-foot wooden windmill, breaking it. Estimated cost to replace is $500.

At 10:34 p.m., Dennis P. Cengrani of Oak Lawn reported persons unknown entered his vehicle and took a $150 radar detector, $125 Triangle pager. The car was parked at the rear of the lot.

On the 10th, Cynthia Heyman of Oak Lawn reported that between 1 and 6 a.m., someone smashed the rear fender of her 1987 Toyota and punctured two rear tires. Estimated cost to replace the tires is $160 and the fender is $140.

On the 12th, Mark T. Jaskowski of Fairfax, Virginia reported his car was parked in the west lot at the Oak Lawn Holiday Inn and someone broke the front passenger window and removed an 8MM camcorder valued at $1,000. Cost to replace the window will be $200.

Billy Bauer, 29, of Oak Lawn was charged with drunken driving, resisting a police officer and negligent driving after he was involved in an accident at 91st St. and Central Ave. He was arrested at his home after he fled the scene of the accident.

On the 13th, Alesha Williams of Chicago was charged with retail theft after she was seen allegedly taking articles from the Rose Tree Gift Shop at Christ Community Hospital.

Jerry Pressley of Napleton Honda, 6701 W. 95th St., reported someone broke the right rear passenger vent window but nothing was missing. Cost to repair the window is $150.

Bill Reed of Oak Lawn of the Hartz Construction Co. reported seven garage light fixtures had been broken in the condo complex. Cost to replace is $280.

On Dec. 14th at 12:50 a.m., at Costello's Bar, 9953 Southwest Highway, Seamus Moriarty, 27, of Chicago Ridge and Joseph Moriarty, 34, of Orland Park were charged with disorderly conduct and criminal damage to property. Seamus said he became angry when patrons would not let him shoot pool. When police arrived, the pool table was turned upside down and two men were wrestling.

Renardo Coleman of Chicago told police he left his car for service at 4630 W. 95th St. When he returned to pick up his vehicle, he discovered someone entered the car and removed two Jensen speakers valued at $60 each, and equalizer valued at $285. The center console was torn out and damaged and the car phone wires and power supply were also damaged. Estimated loss is $600.

Richard Wolf, 34, and Kim Maag, 33, both of Chicago, were charged with theft after they reportedly used a stolen credit card to try to purchase gold jewelry at the Venture store, 4101 W. 95th St.

Shawn Toles, 17, of Blue Island was charged with retail theft for allegedly stealing clothing from the K-Mart at 11000 S. Cicero Ave.

Several power drills and other tools were stolen on Monday from a car parked in the 5800 block of west 100th Pl.

David Anderson and Reginald Williams, both of Chicago, were each charged with retail theft for allegedly stealing items from the Jewel Food Store, 4650 W. 103rd St.

Water Exercise

Join water exercise sponsored by Garden Center for the Handicapped. The art of harmonious bodily movements set to music is a great form of relaxing and reducing aches and pains while shedding pounds and inches. Class begins with 10 minutes of on-deck warm-up exercises followed by 30 minutes of water buoyancy movements as the water supports and cushions your body. The evening concludes with a 20-minute cool-down free swim. Classes are open to 19 year olds and up and senior citizens are especially welcome. The program runs from 7:45 to 8:45 p.m. at the Oak Lawn High School pool from Jan. 24th to May 16th.

Registration will be taken now through Jan. 4th or until the class is filled. The fee is $45 for the 15-week session. Mail your check to Garden Center, 8333 S. Austin, Burbank, IL 60459, Attn: Special Events Water Exercise. You will then receive a confirmation call. If you need more details before registering, call Diane on Monday or Tuesday morning at (708) 636-0054. Be sure to include name, address and phone number with your check.

MVCC Plans Book Sale Fundraiser

Moraine Valley Community College's Alpha Iota Lambda Chapter of the Phi Theta Kappa Honors Society will sponsor a book sale on Wednesday, Jan. 19th and Thursday, Jan. 20th. The fundraiser sale will be held from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. both days on the bridge in Building L on the campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave. Proceeds will be used to fund scholarships and the organization's initiation ceremony.

For more information, call the college activities office at (708) 974-5353.

The Free Associates, a theatrical group, recently performed at the Oak Lawn Community High School to the honors U.S. history program. In "Stages Through the Ages," Free Associates involve the students in historical situations and history jeopardy with volunteers from the audience. The topics covered were the Salem Witch Trials and the American Revolution.

Students from the Southwest Chicago Christian School in Oak Lawn decorate an evergreen tree on Moraine Valley Community College's campus as part of the college's "Christmas Around the World."

Honor O'Malley

Illinois Sen. Patrick O'Malley (R-18) was honored on Nov. 21st by a statewide alliance formed to support legislation that promotes effective governance of the state's public schools. O'Malley is vice-chairman of the Senate Education Committee. The Illinois Statewide School Management Alliance presented O'Malley with its first "outstanding freshman legislator" award.

Sen. O'Malley was the primary sponsor of legislation that could save as much as $50 million for Illinois public schools. The legislation allows school districts to use staff members who are not certified teachers in long-distance learning centers, discipline areas and study halls. Allowing lower-paid staff members to do jobs that do not require a fully-qualified teacher is a way to save taxpayer money without reducing the quality of education provided to students.

Sen. O'Malley has demonstrated effective leadership and developed a reputation as an imposing, yet fair, debater. Most importantly, he consistently demonstrated his sincere dedication to providing a quality education for Illinois children.

High School Hero

Oak Lawn Community High School senior, Tonia Perillo, was recently recognized by Channel 5 as a 'High School Hero.' During a recent interview at the high school, program co-ordinator, Brad Hokin, indicated that students selected have a minimum 3.0 G.P.A., are starters in a varsity sport, and are individuals school officials could feel proud to have represent their school. According to Hokin, "Tonia far exceeded these qualifications, and her selection was greatly influenced by varsity volleyball coach Jane Surma's recommendation, her season's performance and by praise from other area coaches. Tonia, an all-conference setter, led the team in assists, and is team co-captain. She has a 4.176 G.P.A. and ranks 7th in a class of 308. In addition, Tonia is active in the National Honor Society, Key Club, was named an 'Outstanding Junior Girl,' is a Peer Helper, President of the Student Council, and a recipient of the Academic Letter Award for High Honors.

Tonia is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Terry Perillo.

Sen. O'Malley Lists Laws To Take Effect On Jan. 1st

Lobbying reforms, permanent mandatory auto insurance, the death penalty for drug kingpins, a streamlining of the appeals process for death row prisoners and standardization of health insurance claim forms are among the new Illinois laws that will take effect Jan. 1, according to State Sen. Patrick O'Malley (R-Palos Park).

The lobbying law (Senate Bill 900) is the first meaningful ethics legislation to pass the legislature in more than 20 years. It requires lobbyists to report and itemize all expenditures over $100. The law more clearly defines "lobbying" to include efforts to influence the decisions of state agencies and their directors, as well as legislators and other elected officials, O'Malley said.

Drug kingpins could be sentenced to death for murder carried out or committed according to their orders, under Senate Bill 1033.

Mandatory auto insurance becomes permanent under House Bill 1798. Since it was implemented on a trial basis in 1990, the law has reduced the percentage of uninsured vehicles registered in Illinois from 17 percent to about 7 percent.

Last-ditch efforts for stays of execution on the basis of a prisoner's inability to understand the sentence are prohibited under Senate Bill 773. Because the question of fitness can be raised at any stage in criminal proceedings, O'Malley said this appeal option is not necessary and is simply used to delay an execution.

To cut health care costs and reduce paperwork in health insurance claims, Senate Bill 830 calls for development of a standardized claim form and requires all insurance companies to accept it. In addition, the legislation will establish insurance portability for workers who otherwise might not qualify for coverage when they change jobs.

Other new laws taking effect Jan. 1 include:

Utility Taxes (Senate Bill 63) -- allows a municipality to exempt other units of local government and school districts, from utility taxes it imposes.

Dental Hygienists (Senate Bill 89) -- increases the number of dental hygienists allowed to practice in a dental office, from two to four times the number of dentists in the office.

School Job Applications (Senate Bill 464) -- makes it a Class A misdemeanor for a person applying for a job as a teacher, principal, superintendent or other certified employee of a school board to make a false statement on an employment application.

Natural Areas (Senate Bill 482) -- requires state or local government agencies to consult with the Department of Conservation when taking any action that may affect dedicated state nature preserves or registered natural areas.

National Guard (Senate Bill 498) -- ensures job security for members of the National Guard called to duty during a state emergency. Allows judges to issue a stay of enforcement of judgments against service members called to duty, so they won't lose their homes if they get behind on mortgage payments while on duty. Also increases the death benefit of a Guard member killed on duty from $20,000 to $50,000.

Teacher Corps (Senate Bill 504) -- creates the Illinois Teacher Corps program, allowing people without the required five years of professional experience to qualify for the program by participating in a one-year internship with a local school district. Gives grants up to $3,000 for each candidate to school districts in the program.

Criminal Background Checks/Riverboat Employees (Senate Bill 576) -- allows requests for criminal background checks to be filed electronically via a telephone hot line operated by the Illinois State Police. Also gives the Illinois Gaming Board expanded access to conviction information about riverboat gaming employees.

Aggravated Robbery (Senate Bill 619) -- creates the offense of aggravated robbery to bridge robbery and armed robbery. The new offense occurs when the alleged perpetrator tells the victims that he or she is carrying a gun. The crime is a Class 1 felony (up to 14-15 years in prison and/or up to a $10,000 fine).

Utility Bill Errors (Senate Bill 627) -- requires customers to report errors in a utility billing to the Illinois Commerce Commission no more than two years after finding the errors.

Tax Check-offs (Senate Bill 664) -- creates four new state income tax check-offs for those filing 1993 tax returns in 1994: Meals-on-Wheels, Breast and Cervical Cancer Research, Illinois Special Olympics and the Ryan White Pediatric and Adults AIDS Fund.

Immunization Sites (Senate Bill 712) -- authorizes the Department of Public Health to establish sites for immunizing children or referring parents to other programs that provide immunizations and comprehensive health services.

Zero Tolerance/Drugs & Boats (Senate Bill 734) -- makes it illegal to have any amount of drugs in a person's body while operating a boat. Convictions on a misdemeanor charge which occurred while operating a boat under the influence of drugs will lead to a mandatory one-year suspension of a boat license. A felony conviction will result in a mandatory three-year suspension.

Solicitation of a Sexual Act (Senate Bill 786) -- provides that any person who offers a person not his or her spouse any money to perform any act of sexual penetration or any touching or fondling for the purpose of sexual arousal commits the offense of solicitation of a sexual act. Makes the offense a Class B misdemeanor (up to six months in jail and/or up to a $500 fine). Increases the penalty for patronizing a prostitute from a Class B to a Class A misdemeanor (up to one year in jail and/or $1,000 fine).

Bad Weather/Headlights (Senate Bill 825) -- requires use of headlights when rain, snow, fog, or other conditions require use of windshield wipers.

Adoption Reforms (Senate Bill 842) -- allows a criminal background check or fingerprint review to be filed after the initial petition for adoption. Includes provisions regarding financial obligations.

Illegal Transportation of Alcohol (Senate Bill 904) -- authorizes the Secretary of State's Office to suspend the driving privileges of anyone who was under 21 at the time of an illegal transportation of alcohol offense. Also authorizes revocation of driving privileges of a person who violates illegal transportation provisions and has previously been convicted of such violations. Restricts the issuance of a restricted driving permit during the period of revocation.

Fake I.D.s (Senate Bill 905) -- establishes a minimum fine of $500 or 50 hours of community service -- preferably at an alcohol abuse prevention center -- for unlawful use, alteration or possession of I.D. cards, or unlawful use or alteration of, or fake or fraudulent, driver's licenses.

Abandonment by Dentist (Senate Bill 967) -- requires dentists to notify their patients in writing of any change in location of their practice. Makes abandonment of a patient grounds for disciplinary action against a dentist.

School Grounds Improvement (Senate Bill 991) -- authorizes school districts to use life-safety funding for the repair of school sidewalks, playgrounds, parking lots and school bus turnarounds.

Public Aid System (House Bill 2242) -- allows the Department of Public Aid to develop and implement an electronic health information system to electronically process claims and store Medicare and Medicaid patient records, medical histories and billing information.

Police are still searching for a suspect who raped a 16-year-old girl in Oak Lawn on Nov. 27th. The same man is believed to be responsible for two other attacks in the same area where the rape took place; one was a 19-year-old girl on Nov. 25th, the second a woman, on Oct. 27th.

According to reports, the girl who was raped was continually threatened with a razor while the man attacked her.

The suspect is described as a white male, approximately 35 years old, 5'9" tall and weighing about 180 pounds. He is said to have brown hair, brown eyes and a light complexion. At the time of the rape, he was wearing a brown waist-length bomber jacket, tan slacks and dress shoes.

A vehicle seen in the area at approximately the time of the rape was described as a sky blue Ford LTD, a late 70's 'beater,' four-door. The license plate is unknown. The car was said to be "large and rusty."

Oak Lawn Police Chief Frank Gilbert said that tracking down leads is a time-consuming effort. "Neighbors mad at one another give leads that prove to be false. One lead, given by a resident, came to an end when it was discovered that the individual named as a suspect had died six months ago."

Anyone with any information on this suspect is asked to contact the Oak Lawn Police Department at (708) 422-8292.

1993 UIC Graduates

Area residents were among 766 people who earned degrees from the University of Illinois at Chicago at the close of the 1993 summer term. Graduates include Tina M. ILLINOIS SAFARI FLOODED OUT - Earlier this year I had the pleasure of fishing Lake of Egypt with professional bass tournament fisherman, outdoor writer and guide, CYRIL BOWLIN. During those few times when we were not catching and releasing bass we discussed the many opportunities for great outdoor experiences throughout Illinois, particularly in Cyril's neck of the woods.

To prove a point and to develop a story, Cyril invited me to a "potential" multi-species long weekend. Timing was important, we selected the second deer season when, in addition to deer, we might take ducks and geese, quail, rabbits and do some bass and crappie fishing.

CYRIL controls the hunting rights to 1,800 acres on the south end of REND LAKE and straddles the BIG MUDDY RIVER that the Army Corps of Engineers dammed up to form REND LAKE, an 18,900 acre lake with 127 miles of beautiful shoreline. REND LAKE is the second largest man-made lake in Illinois, Carlyle Lake is first, covering 25,000 acres.

As luck would have it, Rend Lake and its feeder streams were 6' above flood level during the first deer season and the water had not receded in time for our deer hunt. Out of 30 tree stands only five were usable. Cyril's mom and dad still had over 5,000 sandbags around their home and were proud of the fact that their hand-hewn 1,500' of split rail fence was still intact.

Needless to say, our plans for an ILLINOIS SAFARI were severely curtailed by the high water. Game scattered over inaccessible areas, the mild weather kept the geese in the northern part of the state, so deer became our primary objective. After four days of hunting under less than desirable conditions (high water and rain) my hunting companion JIM GRADY, Orland Park and I did harvest a nice 7-point buck.

The highlight of the four day trip was the opportunity to hunt rabbits with DON COCKRUM and his three beagles, MIKE, QUEENIE AND TINY. Anyone who has not hunted rabbits with trained beagles is missing a great experience. When those dogs pick up the scent and start 'singing' the trick is to stand still and wait for the dogs to run the rabbits by you, that is unless "Mr. Rabbit" gets tired of the chase and disappears into a rabbit hole.

We had a great time, saw some beautiful country, enjoyed 'Southern' hospitality and cooking and came home with enough venison and rabbits to tide us over.

CYRIL is a great companion in the woods or on the water. He showed us his new RAGIN CAJUN XXZ 20' bass boat and 200 HP YAMAHA ENGINE he will use when guiding fishing clients on Rend Lake, Lake of Egypt, Crab Orchard and the Ohio River. Cyril is the 'only' full time guide in the area.

Cyril's fishing trips occasionally appear in the OUTDOOR NOTEBOOK and his sponsors include Taylor Marine and Sports; Cajun Boats; Yamaha Outboards; Fred Arbogast Co.; Quantum/Zebco/Motor Guide; Lunker Lures; Bass Assassin Lures; Crock-O-Gator Lures; and Bud Erhardt Rods; Zetabait Lures and Gene Larew Lures.

Weather permitting, year around bass, catfish and crappie fishing can be arranged by contacting: Cyril Bowlin, RR # 3 Box 77, Benton, IL 62812 or calling (618) 724-4725.

Cyril will be making two appearances at the famous HAWG TROUGH on the main floor of the Rosemont Convention Center on Monday, Jan. 31st during the SPORT FISHING, TRAVEL AND OUTDOOR SHOW.

HAVE A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS!!!

Marauders Win Two

It was a winning week for Moraine Valley Community College's mens basketball team. They defeated Wanbonsee Community College 93-59 at Moraine Valley on Thursday, Dec. 16th. The Marauders also defeated Elgin Community College 85-80 on Tuesday, Dec. 14th.

"We shot poorly from the field during the first half. We were only one for nine at the 3-point stripe during the first half," said Bill Finn, mens basketball coach.

Despite the poor shooting during the first half, the Marauders led 40-27 at the half.

Marcus Poe (Nazareth Academy), sophomore co-captain, led the scoring with 20 points and 10 assists. Guard Corey Huddleston (Rich Central) had 19 points. Brian Pote (De LaSalle), forward, scored 17 points. Eric Henney (Evergreen Park), center, had 12 points.

The win advances the Marauders record to 9-2.

The team defeated Elgin 85-51 on Tuesday, Dec. 14th. The final score was 85-80.

"We led at the half 42-29, and led by as much as 19 in the second half," Finn said. "We became complacent and allowed them to come back and made it a one-point game for awhile."

Huddleston led the scoring with 35 points and seven steals. Henney, the 6'5" center, had 10 points and 13 rebounds.

Kathrynne Braun, a senior among the top 10 in her class at Hillcrest High, an Illinois State Scholar, and a scholar-athlete, all-conference in softball, is congratulated by Mr. Rich Platchek.

RAF Swim Team Takes First

The RAF (Rice Aquatic Foundation) swim team came home with the first place team trophy from Lake Central High School, St. John, Indiana. Competition was held the weekend of Dec. 3rd to 5th. Individual high point trophy winners were Kristie Kelly of Evergreen Park who won it for the girls 13/14 division and John Holton of Palos Park won for the boys 13/14. This is an individual award which goes to the best overall swimmer in their own age group. Swimmers score points by how they place in each event and only "A" swimmers points go towards this award. Chris Code of Midlothian broke two meet records for the girls 15-18 age group; the 100 breaststroke with a time of 1:10.73 and the 200 breaststroke with a time of 2:33.64. Excellent coaching by Mike and Bill Murphy and Pierre Ruffin had much to do with the team's success. Plaques were given to swimmers who placed 1st through 6th.

8 & Under girls: Julie Hayes of Monee took 2nd place in 100 yd. freestyle (B); 3rd in 100 yd. i.m., 20 yd. breaststroke & 50 yd. back (B); 4th in 50 yd. freestyle & 50 yd. breaststroke (B) and 5th in 25 yd. freestyle (A) and 50 yd. butterfly (B). 9 & 10 girls: Rachel Ruffin of Summit took 2nd place in 50 yd. butterfly, 50 yd. back & 50 yd. free (B); 3rd place in 100 yd. breaststroke (A) and 4th in 200 yd. individual medley (A). K. C. Marks of Burbank took 1st place in 200 yd. i.m., 200 yd. free & 100 yd. fly (B) and 5th in 50 yd. backstroke (A) & 100 yd. freestyle (B). 11 & 12 girls: Amy Eiler of Palos Hills took 2nd place in 100, 200 & 500 yd. freestyle (A); 3rd in 200 yd. i.m. and 50 & 100 yd. backstroke (A) and 5th in 50 yd. freestyle, 100 yd. butterfly (A). Alexandra Llobet of Oak Lawn took 2nd place in 100 yd. breaststroke (B) and 100 yd. butterfly (A); 3rd place in 200 & 500 yd. freestyle (A); 4th in 200 yd. i.m. and 50 yd. backstroke (A) and 6th in 100 yd. back, 50 yd. butterfly & 100 yd. freestyle (A). Named To Catholic All-Conference Team

St. Laurence athletic director and head football coach Robert DeCarlo has announced that Keith Schuch, Aldo Aranda, Pete Lotus, and Pat Doorhy have been named to the 1993 Chicago Catholic League All-Conference Team.

Schuch, a 6'1", 175-pound senior quarterback, completed 110 of 210 passes for 1,422 yards and nine touchdowns this year in helping the Vikings to a 7-5 record and a berth in the I.H.S.A. state playoffs. His completion percentage was 52.3%. He becomes the first St. Laurence quarterback in over 20 years to throw for more than 1,000 yards. He passed for 100 yards or more in nine of the Vikings' 12 games. In addition, he carried the ball 98 times for 327 yards, scoring five touchdowns, averaging 3.3 yards per carry. He maintains a 3.8 grade point average and ranks 22nd in the senior class. He is a graduate of St. Bede grammar school and resides in Chicago.

Aranda, a 5'8", 165-pound senior tailback, was the Vikings' leading rusher this season with 927 yards on 141 carries. He scored seven touchdowns and averaged 6.6 yards per carry. He maintains a 3.35 grade point average and ranks 46th in St. Laurence's senior class. He is a graduate of St. Denis grammar school and resides in Chicago. He is also a member of the track team.

Lotus, a 5'10", 165-pound wide receiver/cornerback, caught 36 passes for 496 yards and four touchdowns this season. He averages 13.8 yards per reception. From his cornerback position, he accounted for 35 tackles, including 26 solo tackles. He fashioned the above numbers despite missing four games during the season due to injuries. Lotus maintains a 3.7 grade point average and ranks 25th in the senior class. He is a graduate of Graves Junior High and resides in Bedford Park. In addition, he is also a member of the Viking basketball and baseball teams.

Doorhy, a 5'11", 175-pound junior middle linebacker, was St. Laurence's leading tackler this season, registering 74 solo tackles and 44 assists. He accounted for 118 tackles and four quarterback sacks this year. He is a graduate of St. Patricia grammar school and resides in Hickory Hills. Doorhy excels in the classroom as well, as he carries a 3.6 grade point average and ranks 34th in the junior class. He is also a member of the track team.

"I'm very proud of these four young men," stated DeCarlo. "They made great contributions to our team this year, and are to be congratulated. They are four very special young men who are great students and athletes. Their spirit, trust and loyalty are second to none," he concluded.

McEnery Earns Volleyball Award

Recently top honors went to senior Kelly McEnery (Providence Catholic/Oakland Park) as she earned honorable mention as a 1993 NAIA Women's Volleyball All-American.

Head coach Mary Jo Waddell says: "If anyone that I've ever had the privilege of coaching deserves such an honor it would be Kelly for all her hard work and desire. She's a coach's dream. She always works hard and has a positive attitude. She helps keep everyone motivated. I know we'll miss her next year." A solid all-around player, McEnery finished the year with more than 360 kills, 400 digs, 170 blocks and 50 service aces.

"At the beginning of the season, we set some goals as a team," says Waddell. "One of those goals was that McEnery earn recognition as an All-American. Everyone knew that that couldn't happen without a team effort. In a way, it's an honor the players can all share."

The Rosary volleyball team finished the season with a 27-13 record overall, with a regular season record of 26-11, 5-1 in the CCAC.

"Christmas is coming, the geese are getting fat, Please put a penny in the old man's hat; If you haven't got a penny, a ha'penny will do, If you haven't got a ha'penny, God bless you!"...Beggars rhyme.

This is the time of year when all of us, thin and fat, are bombarded with Christmas goodies, a host of family gatherings where feasting is part of the holiday ritual, lavish dinner parties with old friends, and after an almost around-the-clock diet attack, our bellies, not to mention our hips, are screaming for a food hiatus.

'Tis the season to be jolly—and eat!

It is also the time of the year when someone could make a fortune if they marketed the refrigerator version of "The Club."

"Fat" is such a dirty little noun for this time of the year. Nobody wants to hear the word. "Fat" should be deleted from all newspaper copy as a public service.

But, this is a nasty business and somebody has got to do it—talk about "fat."

Maybe we could all stomach the Christmas over-eating holidays better if we used synonyms for "fat."

Wouldn't it be easier to swallow words like obese, corpulent, fleshy, portly, stout, pudgy, rotund, plump or chubbly?

These adjectives mean having an abundance and often an excess of flesh.

I kind of like that. After I stuff myself on my wife Lois' Christmas turkey dinner with all the trimmings, I'll just tell everyone I have "an abundance and an excess of flesh."

You have to admit it has a nice poetic, if not clinical, ring to it.

"Fat" implies excessive weight and is generally unfavorable in its connotations; not merely overweight but downright fat.

Cyril Vernon Connolly in "The Unquiet Grave" wrote: "Imprisoned in every fat man a thin one is wildly signaling to be let out."

As part of our public service Christmas season message for all the over-eaters, we offer a few literary gems on the subject of "fat" which can be used on family and friends if they get on your case.

Charlotte Bronte, who came from a family of British novelists and poets and wrote Jane Eyre, has left us a delicious line for this time of year. She wrote: "Her father is too corpulent to play handball."

Maybe I'll use Bronte's line before reaching for that second turkey drumstick.

How about being called "portly" instead of "fat?"

If someone shakes their head at you as you dig into a third helping, you can always tell them there is nothing wrong with being "portly."

In strict application, "portly" refers to a person whose bulk is combined with a stately or imposing bearing.

On the other hand, "stout" can be fighting words.

Winston Churchill, the famous British Prime Minister who never missed a meal, once said: "Even slim girls can become stout matrons."

"Stout" refers to a person with a "thickset," bulky figure.

If you are a short person, and getting shorter after devouring a Christmas dinner, and someone calls you "rotund," they are actually using a word to describe roundness of figure, often in a squat person.

Mary Ann Evans, the British novelist whose pen name was George Eliot, and who wrote Silas Marner and her masterpiece, Middlemarch, has left all of the "rotund" frame with this pleasing usage of the word: "this pink-faced rotund specimen of prosperity." Try that on your dinner guests.

"Plump" and "chubby" are usually reserved for children.

So if anyone happens to blow their holiday etiquette and refers to cousin Mary's little girl as being "plump," there is no need for a donnybrook to break out.

"Plump" applies to a pleasing fullness of figure, like "a plump, rosy little girl."

And if the same cad calls cousin Mary's son "chubby," you don't have to hide the carving knife.

A "chubby person" is round and plump, like a "chubby" toddler.

When you gather around the Christmas dinner table and there are a few fortyish young men digging into the chow, you can remind them of what John O'Keefe, The Irish Mimic, or Blunders at Brighton wrote in 1795: "Fat, fair and forty were all toasts of the young men."

All this weighty talk about "fat" and synonyms for the word, reminds us of what Charles Dickens wrote in A Christmas Carol, "A man must take the fat with the lean."

Yes, 'tis the season to be jolly. Eat, consume, devour, ingest, gobble, gorge, break bread, take nourishment and remember: "Church (and Christmas) ain't out till the fat lady sings."

"Merry Christmas" to all.

And who put the Christmas dinner leftovers away already, and who went out and bought the refrigerator version of "The Club?"

Don't they know "fat is where it's at," and "thin is not in?"

Heating Bill Aid

PLOWS Council on Aging is encouraging eligible individuals to apply for the 1993-94 Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) while funding is still available. This program is available to assist persons with winter heating costs. Renters and homeowners who pay heating bills as well as persons who rent but do not pay a separate heating bill may be eligible for assistance. To qualify for LIHEAP, an individual or family must meet the financial eligibility guidelines set by federal regulations. Eligibility is based on a household's income for 30 days preceding the date of application. A one-person household 30-day income cannot exceed $726. Thirty-day income for a two-person household cannot exceed $982.

LIHEAP is a federal program administered by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs. The Community Economic Development Association (CEDA) has local responsibility for the program. PLOWS will assist older persons in filing for the program as a service to the immediate community. Applications will then be forwarded to CEDA for processing of payment. Notification of approval is sent to individuals within 4 to 6 weeks, actual payment to the utilities may take 12 weeks or longer.

If you feel you may qualify for LIHEAP, contact PLOWS at 422-6722 for further information and an appointment. Individuals will be seen by appointment only.

Performs In Play Festival

The De La Salle Drama Club was recently selected to perform its play, "Toccata in A Minor," at the 19th Illinois High School Theatre Festival at Illinois State University on Jan. 7th. The play was written and directed by Linda Matonich of De La Salle's fine arts department. It is about child abuse and its effects on a young man.

"The subject matter is very tough," Ms. Matonich said. "But these young men have taken my vision far beyond its original intent."

During the festival, students and teachers participate in theatre workshops and have the chance to see over a dozen productions selected from high schools across the state.

The festival is co-sponsored by the Illinois State Board of Education, the Illinois Theatre Association, Illinois State University and the University of Illinois.

Renewal Stickers Now On Sale

Secretary of State George H. Ryan recently reminded passenger car owners who have license plates expiring in December to buy their renewal stickers at one of 103 Secretary of State license facilities around the state or at a financial institution that sells stickers. It is now too late to mail applications and guarantee delivery of stickers before the Dec. 31st expiration date.

Stickers also may be purchased at 2,180 financial institutions statewide for a slight additional fee.

The new, dark-gray sticker is attached to the back of the ID card. To protect your sticker from theft, remove as many old stickers as possible before placing the new sticker on the rear plate.

More than 472,000 pre-printed renewal applications have been mailed to passenger car owners who renew their stickers in December.

Contest For Poets

Poems are now being accepted for entry in Sparrowgrass Poetry
Forum's new "Awards of Poetic Excellence" poetry contest. Cash prizes totaling $1,000 will be awarded, including a $500 grand prize.
The contest is free to enter.

Poets may enter one poem only, 20 lines or less, on any subject, in any style. The contest closes March 31st, but poets are encouraged to send their work as soon as possible. Poems entered in the contest also will be considered for publication in the fall 1994 edition of Poetic Voices of America, a hardcover anthology to be published October of 1994.

Poems should be sent to Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum,
Inc., Dept. C, 203 Diamond
St., Sistersville, WV 26175.

Martha Brooks (right), signs up Judy Surna as the newest Heritage Club member. Judy is also the manager of the club. Heritage Club, the financial services club for Heritage Bank customers 50 and over, recently surpassed the 7,000 mark in membership. The club has been in existence for 14 years making it the oldest club for seniors in the Chicago area. Surna attributes the club's success to meeting the needs of customers.

"There are many places seniors can get free checking, but we do more than that. We meet all of their financial needs, as well as many social needs," states Surna.

Heritage Bank developed a club for seniors years before the concept became so popular. "We know that customers over 50 are very important to the banking industry. We felt that if we could meet their needs they would be loyal to us. We have been pleased with the result," states Surna. Heritage club members enjoy free checking, free checks, free money orders, free investment consultations and many more financial benefits. In addition, a large benefit of the club consists of the travel and social events.

"Heritage Club is always going somewhere!," Surna happily states. "Whether it's one of the one day trips leaving every week, or a week-end to Door County, there is always something for everyone." Upcoming longer travel includes Hong Kong, the Mediterranean and the Festival of Roses Parade. The bank sends a representative on each trip to accommodate the travelers.

Surna who recently became a member said,
"Turning 50 was hardly traumatic for me. In fact, I'm enjoying the new benefits that are mine. It's much easier for me to plan seminars, events and trips for my group, because I have the benefit of being in the same stage of my life," Surna added.

The success of the Heritage Club is due to many things - the support of bank management, the quality of service the members receive at the bank and the valuable banking benefits that are theirs when joining.
There is no annual fee to be a member, simply a minimal deposit balance at Heritage Bank. Members can bank at any one of the 11 Heritage Bank locations.

For more information on Heritage club, contact
Judy Surna at (708) 532-8000.

Marist Seniors Named Scholars

Br. Hank Hammer, FMS, principal of Marist High School, was recently informed by the Illinois State Scholarship Commission that 67 seniors have been named Illinois State Scholars of 1994. About 10 percent of high school seniors in Illinois are designated state scholars and receive a certificate of achievement for this accomplishment.
Selection for this award is based on a combination of ACT and/or SAT scores and class rank at the end of their junior year.

Bob (former radio personality of WMBI's Morning Clock) will interview the center's clients and the auction will close at 9 p.m. The ticket cost is $25 per person or $45 per couple. Call (312) 476-6242 to register.

State Scholars

Robert Contino of Scottsdale and Anthony Miller of Oak Lawn are among the students recently identified as Illinois State Scholars at De La Salle Institute in Chicago. To become a state scholar, a student must have a high ranking in his class and obtain a high score on the ACT or SAT during his junior year.

Addresses Law Needs

Aurelia Pucinski, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Cook County, spoke with local law enforcement officials about crime trends and how they affect law enforcement and the courts at a recent meeting of the Illinois Chapter of the FBI National Academy.

Before the group of over 200 officers, Pucinski addressed the need for tougher programs to combat domestic violence, a ban on assault weapons, an imposed "bullet tax" and a greater use of community service sentencing to reduce the number of non-violent repeat offenders.

Plan MVCC Art Center Music Premiere

A Grand Music Weekend on Saturday & Sunday, Feb. 12th & 13th will mark the opening performances in the new Fine and Performing Arts Center at Moraine Valley Community College. Oak Lawn Rotary, a founding supporter of the college and the center, is sponsoring the performances. Proceeds go to community projects of Rotary, including scholarships, international exchange programs, and support for Garden School, Park Lawn Schools and St. Coletta's School.

The featured artist on the Feb. 12th program at 8 p.m. will be Johnny Frigo and his quartet. He is a self-styled "fiddler," well-known from the Old Town School of Music. Joe Vito, pianist, will appear with the band. Jason Nyberg will test the range and versatility of the Yamaha organ.

Nyberg began playing the organ at age six and has since won many awards in keyboard competitions. He plays concerts, conducts clinics and composes original music for commercial clients. He wrote the official theme music for the Minnesota Twin world championship year and the theme music for the 1992 Miss America Pageant.

A Grand Music Weekend continues on the 13th with two concerts featuring Frank Pellico and his band and young violinist Mona Marie Knock. Times are 2 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Pellico is the popular organist whose credits include music for Blackhawk games and recently for the Cubs. He appears at Niko's restaurant in Bridgeview and is in demand for weddings, dinner-dances and other private parties.

Mona Marie Knock appears for the second time on a Rotary-sponsored program, having played for the Classical Sounds of Spring Concert in May. At age 17, she has achieved the status of a veteran of the concert stage and international violin competitions. In 1990, she won the Illinois Young Performers Competition with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and in 1992, the Menuhin International Competition in England.

Tickets for each concert are $15. Seating is limited. Admissions may be purchased from any members of Oak Lawn Rotary or from members of the concert committee: Brian Andersen, (708) 887-4600; Terry Bartolini, (708) 425-7474; Linda Kirby, (708) 499-7625; Sander Marcus, (312) 641-3050; Paul Matejevic, (312) 332-7355; and Ben Ortigara, (708) 423-7910.

What Was Happening...

50 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE INDEPENDENT

The Mothers of World War II, Unit 1, of Oak Lawn held an election of officers on Dec. 2nd at the Cook Ave. School. Those elected were: Mrs. F. Jaklich, president; Mrs. E. Engel, first vice-president; Mrs. H. Wall, second vice-president; Mrs. M. Welch, treasurer; Mrs. G. Talsma, financial secretary; Mrs. V. Satterhwaite, recording secretary; Mrs. J. Zimmerman, historian; Mrs. M. Phelps, chaplain; Mrs. F. Watson, sergeant-at-arms.

On the evening of Dec. 3rd, Boy Scout Troop 682, Oak Lawn, had an investiture service at which Scouts V. Fletcher, D. Marshall, R. Wilcox, S. Kotschi and R. Cope were admitted as full-fledged members. Following the investiture, the great King Svengali and his slave initiated the boys into the inner mysteries of Scoutdom. The boys were duly impressed with the secrets of scoutcraft and after this horrible experience will be certain to live up to the Scout code.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O'Malley of West Shore Drive, Oak Lawn, are the parents of twin born on Sunday, Dec. 5th at Little Company of Mary Hospital. The boy weighed 7 lbs., the girl 6 lbs. The parents plan to name them Brian Edward and Marcia Lynn. Both mother and babies are doing fine.

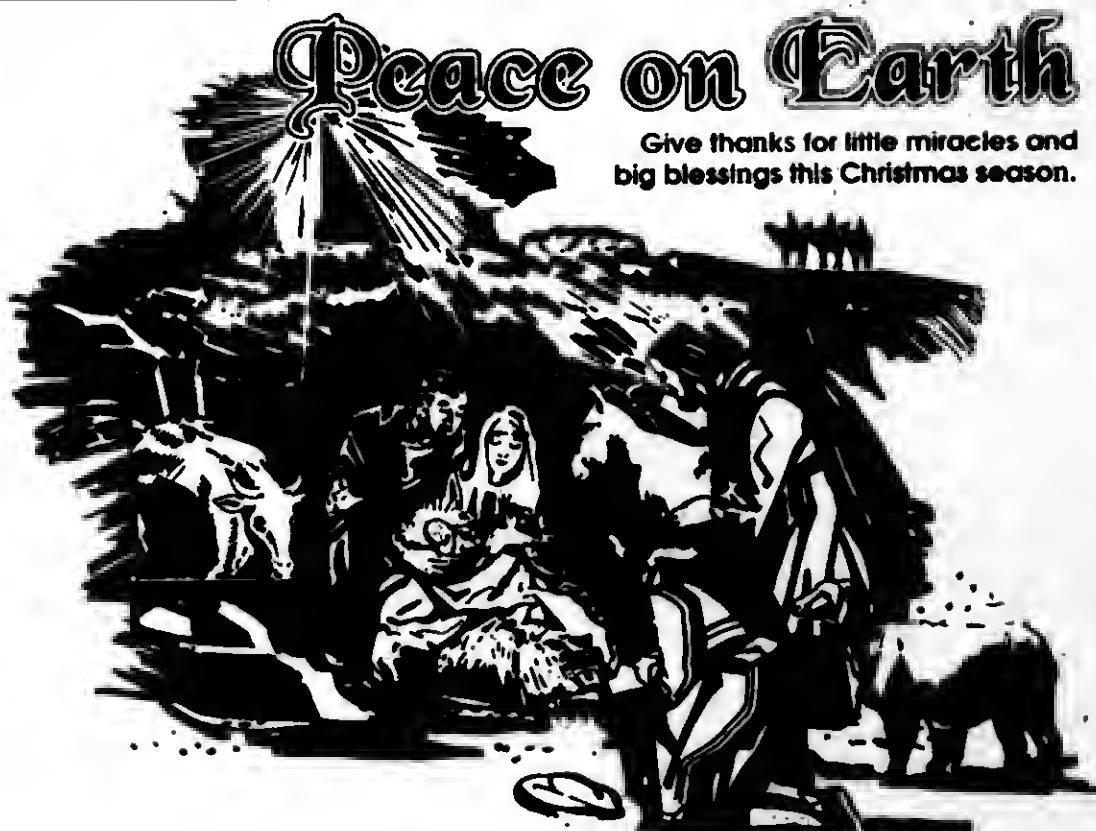

Kenneth W. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.W. Smith of Oak Lawn, has completed his course of studies as an aviation mechanic at Amarillo Army Air Field, Amarillo, Texas. His graduation from this technical school now fits him for airplane maintenance and he will be sent to some air base where he will assist in keeping America's flying fortresses in the air.

Six Oak Lawn firemen were burned about the face at 6 a.m. on Wednesday when they were called to a burning truck which was en route to Chicago from Loda, Ill. The driver, Robert Williamson, 17, of Loda stopped at 121st St. and Rt. 50 to change gas tanks. While switching them, the carburetor caught fire, igniting the gas and burning 2,000 chickens and 111 cases of eggs, which he was taking into Chicago.

Confirmation was held on Sunday, Dec. 5th at St. Gerald's Church, Oak Lawn. Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch confirmed 170 children and 15 grownups. There were nine visiting priests at the altar. The Archbishop preached a sermon on confirmation and asked the children questions that they willingly answered.

Herbert L. Noxsel of Oak Lawn has been promoted from staff sergeant to technical sergeant in the headquarters squadron of a USAAF fighter wing. Sgt. Noxsel's sister, Florence Snow, lives in Oak Lawn.

Word has been received by Marjorie, wife of 1st Lt. Byron G. Huston, Jr., that he has been awarded the air medal. He has been on 10 missions with the Army Air Force. Lt. Huston is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B.G. Huston, Sr. of Oak Lawn.

Board Adopts 1994 Budget

The 1994 budget for the village of Oak Lawn was approved at Tuesday's board of trustees meeting. Revenues collected are estimated at $52,007,543; expenditures figure out at $53,667,793 for a deficit of $1,660,250.

The general fund revenue breakdown is as follows: state sales tax, $7,975,000; property tax, $5,065,284; state income tax, $2,425,000; and other $7,556,868. The general fund deficit is to be offset by attrition and hiring freeze.

The rezoning request of Crown Mortgage which needs more parking space, asking that a lot on Meade Ave. be changed from residential to parking and the neighbors are up in arms. Trustee Robert Streit moved to deny Crown's appeal after Trustee Ron Stancik pointed out this more or less is the same proposal brought up by Crown, but they revised a number of things and it is now a different scenario and suggested it be referred back to P&DC which passed by a vote of 4-1 with Streit voting nay.

A resolution authorizing the village clerk to make certain closed session meeting minutes available for public inspection, from Jan. 1991 through Dec. 1991 minutes.

The quality control committee recommended entering into an agreement for Phase 1 engineering services for 103rd St. improvements from Pulaski Rd. to Cicero Ave. and also asked approval of an ordinance regulating installation of above ground fuel storage tanks. The ordinance amending the village zoning ordinance for 111th St. and Cook Ave. was passed by a 4-1 vote.

Reappointments made by Mayor Ernie Kolb include appeals board Dist. 1, Jean Werner and Dist. 2, Alex Kazmierczak, both through Dec. 31, 1998; civil service, Dist. 5, Kathleen Vogrich, through Dec. 31, 1996; fair housing, Dist. 5, Mary Ellen Stalker, through Dec. 31, 1996; fire & police, Dist. 6, Edward J. Bohan, through Dec. 31, 1996; human services, Dist. 2, Betty Gallo and Robert Ihrig, and Dist. 5, James Craig, all through Dec. 31, 1997; P & DC, Dist. 1, Ray Swiec and Dist. 2, John McGrath, both through Dec. 31, 1996; senior citizens, Dist. 1, Walter Nied, Dist. 4, Philip V. Boyle and Christine Dahl, Dist. 6, Emmett "Bud" Meyer, all through Dec. 31, 1997; traffic review, Dist. 4, John R. Ristow and Dist. 5 Marilyn Hennessy, both through Dec. 31, 1996; youth commission, Dist. 6, Lawrence Harris, At-Large, Patti Corcoran, both through Dec. 31, 1997.

Kolb wished on behalf of himself, staff and employees of the village a happy, healthy New Year, to all the residents.

Kolb also announced that Glen Frankland, a village trustee for 17 years in the 1970s, had died in Arizona and was buried there on Dec. 28th. He offered sympathy to the family and recounted some of his accomplishments on behalf of the village.

State Bill Backlog

Despite revenue growth of nearly three-quarters of a billion dollars over the first five months of fiscal 1993, bills are still coming in faster than revenue, Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch reported recently. The result, Netsch said, is a backlog of bills that has soared from $130 million at the end of August (when the state had borrowed $600 million for the General Revenue Fund) to $572 million at the end of November.

Furthermore, Netsch reported that in four of the first five months of fiscal 1994, bills have outpaced revenues by at least $100 million per month.

General Revenue Fund expenditures are up $752 million over the first five months of fiscal year 1994 as compared to the same time last year. One area where spending is up considerably is Public Aid grant spending, with nearly all of the growth occurring in Medicaid expenditures. With seven months left in the fiscal year, the Department of Public Aid has already committed more than half of its GRF Medicaid appropriations for hospital in-patient and out-patient services, Long Term Care, prescribed care, and other services.

Chamber Installation Dinner-Dance

The Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce has scheduled its 48th annual Installation Dinner-Dance at the Oak Lawn Hilton Hotel, on Saturday, Jan. 15th. The public is invited to join in the festivities. Tickets are $40 per person.

Cocktails will be served at 6 p.m. followed by the installation of the 1994 Chamber of Commerce officers and directors. Dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. Music for dancing will be provided by the Kurt Michael Orchestra.

Dinner selections are chateaubriand or baked halibut. The Hilton Hotel will provide complimentary wine with dinner. An open bar will be available from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Reservations can be made by contacting the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce office, 9524 S. Cook Ave., phone 424-8300, by Jan. 10th.

Circuit Breaker

The deadline for applying for circuit breaker property tax relief for taxes paid during 1992 is Dec. 31st. The circuit breaker program is a State of Illinois Department of Revenue (IDOR) program which gives property tax relief assistance (or a rent rebate) to persons over the age of 65 or those 16 years of age or older and totally disabled.

For an application or further information on the program, contact IDOR at 1(800)624-2459 or the Suburban Area Agency on Aging at (708) 383-0258.

In addition to these forms, the library will have large loose-leaf volumes near first floor copy machines which contain specialized forms.

State Laws Taking Effect In The New Year

Lobbying reforms, permanent mandatory auto insurance, the death penalty for drug kingpins, a streamlining of the appeals process for death row prisoners and standardization of health insurance claim forms are among the new Illinois laws that will take effect Jan. 1, according to State Sen. Patrick O'Malley (R-Palos Park).

The lobbying law (Senate Bill 900) is the first meaningful ethics legislation to pass the legislature in more than 20 years. It requires lobbyists to report and itemize all expenditures over $100. The law more clearly defines "lobbying" to include efforts to influence the decisions of state agencies and their directors, as well as legislators and other elected officials, O'Malley said.

Drug kingpins could be sentenced to death for murder carried out or committed according to their orders, under Senate Bill 1033.

Mandatory auto insurance becomes permanent under House Bill 1798. Since it was implemented on a trial basis in 1990, the law has reduced the percentage of uninsured vehicles registered in Illinois from 17 percent to about 7 percent.

Last-ditch efforts for stays of execution on the basis of a prisoner's inability to understand the sentence are prohibited under Senate Bill 773. Because the question of fitness can be raised at any stage in criminal proceedings, O'Malley said this appeal option is not necessary and is simply used to delay an execution.

To cut health care costs and reduce paperwork in health insurance claims, Senate Bill 830 calls for development of a standardized claim form and requires all insurance companies to accept it. In addition, the legislation will establish insurance portability for workers who otherwise might not qualify for coverage when they change jobs.

Other new laws taking effect Jan. 1 include:

Life Safety Bonds (Senate Bill 594) — allows school districts to utilize life safety funds for handicapped accessibility purposes. Allows use of life safety funds to comply with the school building code.

Dead Animals (Senate Bill 105) — permits the disposal of dead animals, poultry and fish by on-site composting or at a licensed landfill. An animal collection service license is $25.

Archives (Senate Bill 239) — requires the Secretary of State to develop guidelines for using acid-free paper for permanent documents in archival storage.

Homeless Families (Senate Bill 411) — creates the Homeless Family Placement Act and provides that agencies that place homeless families in shelters will refer families with school age children to the shelter closest to the child's school.

Language Assistance (Senate Bill 435) — creates the Language Assistance Services Act. Requires hospitals and nursing homes to adopt policies for providing language assistance services for non-English-speaking patients, those who are deaf, or have limited English.

Toxic Chemicals/Failure to Report (Senate Bill 610) — imposes fines of $100/day with a $1,000 maximum for not filing a toxic chemical report. If the report is not filed within 60 days after the EPA issues an overdue notice, the penalty is $10,000/day with a $50,000 maximum.

Witness Harassment (House Bill 1452) — harassment of a potential witness in a legal proceeding becomes a Class 4 felony, punishable by one to three years in prison and a fine of up to $10,000.

Student Loans (House Bill 1621) — increases by $300 million the bonding authority for education loan purposes of the Illinois Student Assistance Commission.

Controlled Substances (House Bill 1686) — makes it a Class 4 felony to manufacture a controlled substance prohibited by the Illinois Controlled Substances Act by chemically deriving it from another illicit controlled substance.

Second-degree Murder (House Bill 1808) — increases the maximum term of imprisonment for second-degree murder from 15 years to 20 years.

Telephone Solicitations (House Bill 1941) — regulates telephone solicitations for the sale of goods by a live operator. Prohibits calls between 9 p.m. and 8 a.m. Requires operators to immediately identify themselves, their companies and products, and to secure the consent of people phoned before any solicitation regarding the sale of goods. Does not apply to investment advisers, registered securities brokers or dealers, or licensed insurance personnel who are doing business with existing customers or policy holders.

Energy Industries (House Bill 1965) — requires the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs to examine policies and incentives to attract industries involved in design, construction and development of pollution control devices. Amends the Natural Resources Act to direct the Coal Marketing Office in the Department of Energy and Natural Resources to develop and implement an initiative to market Illinois coal internationally.

Indecent Solicitation (House Bill 2154) — creates the offense of indecent solicitation of an adult. The new crime occurs when an individual arranges a situation where an adult can have a sexual act with a minor. Penalties range from a Class X felony to a Class A misdemeanor, depending upon the age of the minor involved.

DUI Offenses (House Bill 2158) — adds aggravating factors in sentencing for a person who is convicted of a second driving under the influence offense, if the previous conviction was for being involved in an accident that resulted in great bodily harm or permanent disability or disfigurement to someone. Aggravated driving under the influence is a Class 4 felony.

Protection Order (House Bill 2186) — eliminates the filing fee for petitions for orders of protection or certifying orders.

DUI Prevention (House Bill 1362) — establishes a pilot program to test the effectiveness of ignition interlock devices for individuals who have been arrested more than once for drunk driving. The device requires the driver to blow into a hand-held unit which can detect alcohol and prevents the vehicle from starting if alcohol is found.

Out Of State Move Denied

Steven Pfiel, who was accused of killing 13 year old Hillary Norskog in July, was told Wednesday, Dec. 22nd that he could not move out of state with his parents. Pfiel was accused of repeatedly stabbing Hillary after the two left a nighttime party in a picnic area of the Palos forest preserves on July 14th. He was freed from the Cook County jail on Oct. 8th when his parents put up $100,000, 10 percent of his bond. He had been charged with two counts of first-degree murder and two counts of first-degree armed violence.

Pfiel's lawyer, Attorney Raymond Pijon, stated that his request was for Pfiel's family, which he said, has been harassed by anonymous phone callers, followed on the road and been sent threatening letters.

The Pfiels have sold their Palos Park home and reportedly plan to move to St. John, Ind. in mid-January. They wanted to keep the specific location from the public "because everything that's done in this case ends up in the newspaper."

Associate Judge Harry Busscio did say that he would reconsider his decision if Pfiel's attorney provides more details about the family's plans. He said that he needs to know the family's exact plans and why they couldn't move from Palos Park but remain in the court's jurisdiction.

A hearing on this request is set for Jan. 14th.

"THIS IS ALL ABOUT HEALTH. SO WHAT COULD BE MORE IMPORTANT THAN QUALITY?"

JAMES F. WALSH, EDITOR IN CHIEF
DIRECT MARKETS & CORPORATE SERVICES

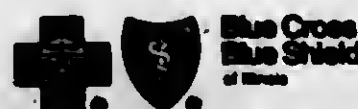

There's a watchword here at Blue Cross that pretty much defines what we're all about: If the money we spend on behalf of our clients isn't buying the highest quality health care, we go do our level best to improve the situation.

So, today nobody does more to assure the quality of care that's delivered to our customers than we do.

You see, we know great quality is the best way to go. We know that nothing costs more than substandard care. And, if things are done right from the start, you'll spend less in the long run."

WHEN YOU HAVE QUALITY HEALTH CARE, YOU HAVE IT ALL.

- ☐ The first health insurance carrier to link cost management and quality control.
- ☐ Quality control through Physician Practice Profiling to monitor utilization patterns.
- ☐ Patient Outcome Studies to monitor performance.
- ☐ The most trusted health plan in Illinois.

WE HAVE IT ALL.

Growth In Chicago Southland

The Chicago Southland region has a 1990 population base of 844,483 people with 297,015 households. If this vast region were a single city, it would be the 11th largest in the United States, behind Phoenix and ahead of Baltimore. The Southland is bordered by the City of Chicago to the north, Northwest Indiana to the east, Joliet on the west and Kankakee on the south.

The southwest corridor of this region experienced the most growth between 1980 and 1990. Frankfort, Mokena, New Lenox, Orland Hills, Orland Park, Palos Park and Tinley Park all had over 30 percent population increases. Many of these same communities issued the greatest number of building permits in 1991. For example, Orland Park had 443, Tinley Park followed with 321, Mokena reported 234 and New Lenox had 110.

In 1980, the number of communities with a white population greater than 90 percent was 47. In 1990, 35 communities had white populations above 90 percent.

During the 1980s, the minority population grew. The number of communities with African-American populations greater than 10 percent increased from nine in 1980 to 18 in 1990. The number of municipalities with a majority of African-American residents increased from six in 1980 to 10 in 1990. In 1990, there were five communities with 10 percent or more Hispanic residents, an increase of one from 1980.

The Southland has some of the Chicago area's wealthiest cities and villages. There are 12 municipalities with a 1990 household family income of more than $45,000. Olympia Fields has the highest median income of $83,353. Flossmoor is second with $76,271. In several communities, black residents have higher per capita incomes than their white counterparts. Those communities are Alsip, Calumet City, Crete, Justice, Lansing, Merrionette Park, Oak Forest, Phoenix, South Holland, Steger and Thornton.

Approximately 6.5 percent of the region's residents live below the $12,674 poverty level, as established in 1989 by the Bureau of the Census.

Home ownership is high in the Chicago Southland, with 78 percent of white households, 67 percent of Hispanic households, and 57 percent of African-American households owning their own homes. The overall occupancy rate for units in the region is 96 percent.

There is a diversity of educational attainment in the Chicago Southland. Flossmoor, Frankfort, Homewood, Olympia Fields, Orland Park and Park Forest have sizable percentages of residents with bachelor's and graduate degrees.

The racial mix of elementary and high school students is somewhat reflective of the general population. There are 70 percent white students, 24 percent African-American and six percent Hispanic within the student age group. In terms of future school enrollment, the communities of Calumet City, Chicago Heights, Harvey, Oak Lawn, Oak Forest, Orland Park and Tinley Park have the highest number of children, birth to 4 years old.

The region has a large female workforce with almost as many females working as males. Most people employed in this region work in the private sector. Many are employed in the fields of technical sales/administrative support (146,639) and managerial/professional (101,951), retail trade (74,553), manufacturing (69,138). The 1990 unemployment rate was 6.2 percent.

Crime rates in the Chicago Southland between 1981 and 1991 dropped in nearly half the communities. Eighteen towns had increases of more than 25 percent in their total crime index.

In 1993, 14 of the Southland's financial institutions rank in the top 75 out of 339 in the Chicago area on return of assets.

Shopping patterns in 1992 showed that Orland Square Mall is the most preferred shopping center among Southland residents. Lincoln Mall came in second in shopper share of those who shopped in the past three months with Orland Park Place, Chicago Ridge and River Oaks close behind.

Financial Aid

Brother Rice High School, 10001 S. Pulaski Rd., is hosting an open financial aid seminar on Monday, Jan. 10th at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. The seminar, sponsored by the Brother Rice guidance department, is for parents of all college-bound high school students. Guest speaker Mrs. Sharon Sweeney, director of financial aid at St. Xavier University will address a number of subjects on the college financial aid process and the forms which need to be completed. All parents are welcome but parents of high school juniors and seniors are especially encouraged to attend.

For more information, contact Ed Zabrocki 779-3410.

Attorney General's Official Opinions

Illinois Attorney General Roland W. Burris is distributing a bound collection of official opinions issued by the Attorney General's Office, the first such compilation since 1984. The book contains the text of all 46 opinions issued by Burris during 1991, his first year in office, as well as each of the 44 opinions issued by the Attorney General's Office between 1985 and 1990.

The book is being distributed to state's attorneys, private law firms and county and university law libraries across Illinois, as well as selected law libraries in other states. A copy will also be available at the Illinois State Library in Springfield.

"Just as I was proud to revive the emphasis on the issuance of official opinions as a function of the Office of the Attorney General, I am proud to renew this important practice of keeping the officers of the court informed of the interpretations of law which we have presented," Burris said. Bound collections of Attorney General's opinions had been issued on an annual basis until 1984.

"Official opinions of the Attorney General are used to clarify and explain significant legal issues and are therefore important tools in the fair and proper application of the law," Burris said. "This book will serve as a valuable reference for anyone who works with the issues addressed in these opinions."

Official opinions are provided to state's attorneys and state officers on questions relating to the performance of official duties. The Attorney General is not authorized to issue official opinions to officials of municipalities or other political subdivisions, private individuals or members of the media.

The opinions contained in the new volume include the first opinion issued by Burris as Attorney General, just two weeks after his swearing-in, in which he advised that public bodies do not have the authority to sanction their members for disclosing information discussed during a closed meeting.

Other key opinions in the book include: the finding that the Illinois Solidarity Party lost its status as an established political party after failing to garner five percent of the vote in the previous general election; the determination that a law enforcement officer has the right and responsibility to enter private property to enforce handicapped parking regulations; and several opinions related to the compatibility of certain public offices.

The book also provides a cumulative index of all Attorney Generals' opinions from 1983 through 1991. Opinions from 1983 and 1984 are found in separate bound volumes for their respective years.

In issuing the book, Burris commended his Opinions Division, which researches and prepares official opinions. Senior Assistant Attorney General Michael Luke is the Division Chief.

IMSA Grant Awards

The Illinois Mathematics and Science Academy (IMSA) is seeking applications for this year's IMPACT II mathematics and science disseminator grant awards. All public school mathematics and science teachers in Illinois are eligible to apply. IMPACT II, a national program, began in 1979 and now operates in more than 26 sites throughout the country. Its purpose is to promote excellence in elementary and secondary education by networking teachers and their innovative ideas. Disseminator awards enable teachers to share their successful programs with colleagues through annual catalogs, workshops, conferences and interschool visits.

The deadline for completed IMPACT II disseminator grant applications is Feb. 7th. Applications for the $500 grants were mailed to all Illinois public schools and educational service centers in November. Teachers also may call (708) 907-5950 for information.

Mayor Richard M. Daley joined Governor Jim Edgar to announce the creation of a bipartisan committee to help bring the 1996 Democratic and Republican Conventions to Chicago. The Mayor said, "Attracting both political conventions to Chicago would be a great way to send a worldwide message that Chicago is a great place to hold conventions and a great place to do business."

Program To Curb Fake ID's

Secretary of State George H. Ryan kicked off a statewide program to help local authorities do a better job of spotting and confiscating false drivers licenses and ID cards.

The initiative, called "Operation Straight ID," focuses on additional steps that can be taken to curb the manufacture and use of fraudulent identification.

"The whole idea of Operation Straight ID is to save lives," Ryan said at a news conference at the University of Illinois. "Young drivers who hit the bars before hitting the roads are killing themselves, and they're killing other people too."

Beginning with college communities, Ryans' office will conduct dozens of seminars and distribute how-to guides to local police and municipal officials, campus police and security personnel, bar operators and retail liquor store employees throughout Illinois.

The goal of the program is to educate those on the front lines about what to look for in fake IDs, and what to do if they encounter one. The initiative is funded by two federal grants totaling $77,500.

Part of the educational effort will be to familiarize local authorities with the security features of a newly designed drivers license. Ryan's office will begin to issue Jan. 1.

The new license will feature a two-sided hologram that is virtually tamper-proof. One side of the hologram shows a bright gold likeness of the Lincoln penny; the other side displays the Great Seal of the state of Illinois.

The hologrammed license is another major component in the battle against fake IDs, Ryan said. It augments a major enforcement effort launched in 1991 that has led to 70 arrests and the breakup of a dozen counterfeiting operations, including one that manufactured more than $250,000 worth of illegal licenses.

"We found instances where high school students have paid between $50 and $400 to a back-alley mill that provides them with phony identification," Ryan said.

"Statistics make it clear that a minor with a fake ID is tragedy waiting to happen. Drivers aged 16 to 24 make up 16 percent of all licensed Illinois drivers, yet they account for 36 percent of all fatal alcohol related crashes."

"Operation Straight ID" attacks the problem from another direction, enlisting hundreds of local police, municipal officials and liquor establishments in the crusade.

"We have the enforcement record. We have a new, tamper-proof license. And we've enacted tougher minimum penalties for the possession and use of a fake drivers license or ID card," Ryan said.

"What we want to do now is spread the word that no one will fall for a fake ID any more -- that the only good ID is a straight ID."

Poverty Relief Grants

Gov. Jim Edgar announced that Illinois has been awarded more than $17.7 million through the federal community services block grant program to assist the state in operating programs that help alleviate poverty in Illinois.

"Poverty cuts through communities, both large and small," Edgar said. "This program enables the state to work with regional Community Action Agencies, attacking poverty by providing food, shelter and medicine to the poor and disadvantaged. It also helps fund longer-term programs to help low-income people gain the skills, knowledge and motivation to reach self-sufficiency."

The funds, allocated to the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, will fund anti-poverty activities during calendar year 1994.

CEDA of Cook County (suburban) received $1,465,404.

Food Safety Tips

Dr. John R. Lumpkin, state health director, recently issued a reminder to include an important ingredient in all holiday recipes: safe food preparation.

"This is the time of year when people spend a lot of time in the kitchen. They can follow easy steps in food preparation to keep their holidays free of food contamination and food-borne illnesses," said Dr. Lumpkin.

One of the simplest measures to ensure food safety is handwashing. Wash hands with warm, soapy, running water before and after handling food, especially vegetables, raw meat and poultry. Cooking utensils, counters, tables and cutting boards should also be washed thoroughly before and after food preparation. Clean towels and washcloths should always be used.

Temperature is another important factor in food safety. Bacteria can grow if food is not cooked and stored at proper temperatures. Perishable foods should be kept refrigerated or frozen until they are used. Frozen foods, including turkey, other poultry and meats, should be thawed in the refrigerator, microwave or in water that is kept cold. Cook these foods immediately after thawing. Be sure to allow enough time to thaw turkey. For example, a 20-pound turkey takes two to three days to thaw completely in the refrigerator.

All foods, especially poultry and ground meat, should be cooked at high temperatures (165 degrees to 212 degrees Fahrenheit) to destroy bacteria. When using a microwave for cooking or reheating meat and poultry, add 25 degrees Fahrenheit to the normal roasting temperature. For thorough microwave cooking, rotate food and allow it to stand the number of minutes recommended in recipes.

If there is a delay in serving cooked food, keep it at 140 degrees to 165 degrees Fahrenheit, for no longer than two hours. To determine the temperature, insert a meat thermometer into the center of the thickest portion of the meat or stuffing. Divide leftovers into smaller portions for faster cooling, cover tightly, and refrigerate or freeze. Raw fruits or vegetables that have been cut, cored or peeled should immediately be eaten, kept on ice or refrigerated.

When preparing turkey or other poultry, cooking the stuffing separately will reduce the risk of food poisoning and speed up cooking time for both the stuffing and the bird. If you must stuff poultry, do so at the last minute, stuff it loosely for thorough cooking and remove the stuffing from the bird as soon as it comes out of the oven.

Once the turkey is thawed, cook it immediately—never refreeze it. Do not use a turkey that has been stored in a freezer for more than a year. Refrigerate turkey leftovers immediately and discard them after two to four days.

Take special care when cooking eggs or egg-containing foods, because eggs may contain salmonella bacteria. Do not use raw eggs for food such as meringue or Hollandaise sauce—instead, use pasteurized or processed eggs. Cook eggs thoroughly, until yolks and whites are firm, to kill any bacteria.

Refrigerate eggs and egg-containing foods. Use only Grade A or AA eggs with clean, undamaged shells. For freshness and safety, use eggs within a few weeks of purchase.

State Reappointment

Gov. Jim Edgar last week reappointed Patrick Finnegan of Palos Park to the State Emergency Medical Services Council. Finnegan is Director of Clinical, Administrative, Professional and Emergency Services at the Metropolitan Chicago Healthcare Council in Chicago. The position is unsalaried and does not require Senate confirmation as do other appointments made by the governor.

Holiday Closings

All Secretary of State offices and facilities will be closed for the Christmas and New Year's holidays. Secretary of State George H. Ryan announced recently. The only exception is the Ford City facility, open seven days a week, in the Ford City Mall, which will be open during the New Year's holiday. Both holidays are observed by all state agencies.

New Year's Schedule

* Driver Services facilities outside Cook County and the Chicago West, Midlothian and Niles facilities in Cook County will be closed Saturday, Jan. 1st and will resume business Tuesday, Jan. 4th.

* All other offices will be closed Friday, Dec. 31st and will reopen Monday, Jan. 3rd.

* The Ford City facility will be open.

Refunds

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is trying to locate some northern Illinois residents who are due a refund from their federal income tax returns. According to the IRS, 3,886 checks worth $2,181,278.01 were returned by the Postal Service as undeliverable in this area. The refund checks are for 1992 and earlier returns. Over 687 taxpayers have refund checks in excess of $1,000 waiting to be claimed, including 19 who have checks over $5,000. The largest two checks are for $52,739 and $26,849. The checks are for individuals only.

The IRS noted that the taxpayers may have moved or changed their last names during the year and failed to notify the IRS, put the wrong mailing address on their return, or the handwriting may simply be illegible. When a refund is returned by the Postal Service, the IRS attempts to find the taxpayer and deliver the checks but there are always some who cannot be found.

One way to prevent this from happening in the future is to file electronically. If you file electronically, you can have your refund deposited directly into your bank account. This service is not available for those who mail their returns to IRS.

Northern Illinois taxpayers who think they may be due a tax refund for 1992 or an earlier year should contact the IRS at (312) 435-1040.

BY
WALTER H. LYSEN

Elmer Lysen wrote many columns during his 45 years here at the Messenger and this is one we think is most appropriate at this time of the year. Originally it appeared 17 years ago this month prior to his death.

Back in the days before chain saws came on the scene, the Christmas-New Year vacation saw a lot of time sawing by many youngsters who had to help stock the wood pile. It was during such times, however, that many world problems, as well as family problems, were discussed.

Our father was in the construction trades, as well as farming, so the cold winter months resulted in his being home much more than in the summer. If you haven't pulled a long cross-cut saw through a 16-inch log you have no idea how much conversation you can carry on during the session. You stopped often to rest, of course, and to drive a little wedge into the cut to make the saw move easier.

The wood sawing experience is just about over. John Balcauski who cuts and sells wood from his location at 115th and Ridgeland made a chain saw available to me. It cuts through logs in seconds, but in the process the noise it makes deadens your ears so that you can't carry on a conversation even when you are not cutting wood.

I thank John for the saw, because it does make cutting trees and logs a pleasure, rather than a job.

But the reason I started to tell you about the wood cutting sessions is that I gained much information and learning from my dad during our wood cutting ordeals.

A topic which came up often for discussion was the matter of time, which we agreed to call a "Succession of events." After one of these long wood cutting sessions I made lengthy notes, and just this week, some 40 years later, I came across them. And with a New Year ready to make its debut, I thought I'd record a few of them. On top of that, the new chain saw here on the farm probably means my son Ronnie and I never will enjoy those quiet cutting sessions of yesteryear.

Even though I was young at that time I agreed with dad that time creeps too slowly for youth. We want it to hurry as we dream of future glories; we want the days and years to pass swiftly; we are in a hurry to say goodbye to today, and eager for tomorrow to come—and come fast.

But then as we grow older we ask time to stay, to grant us a little more of the sun's light a little longer to repair the mistakes. We would, if we could call back yesterday and bid time to return.

But we can't, and the sun rolls too swiftly through the skies causing the night to follow day, and the changing seasons to come and go with lightning speed.

At 50, a man thinks of what he will do during the 30 years he has left to live—perhaps.

But at 70, he knows the time is fast approaching to close his books, balance his accounts, and get ready to bid farewell to the days and years that once promised to last forever.

As we agreed "Time is a succession of events." If you go to sleep and wake in a minute or wake in 15 hours, it's the same, so far as you know. When you sleep, time slips by.

If death is sleep, followed by awakening, it will make no difference to us whether we wake instantly in another world, or a thousand years later in another universe.

Time is a succession of events. The length of our life depends on what we do, how much we pack and crowd into our hours. The man of genius, with an intensively active, working mind, may actually live more in one hour than another man will live in 75 years.

The average old man in his three score and ten, lives a thousand times longer, in actual events, than a monstrous turtle that exists five and six hundred years and never lives at all.

Scholars have said that we live in "time and space." Time measures the length of our existence. Space measures our earth, controls our elements, tells us where and how far we may go—within reason.

No man has been able to tell us what time is or what space is.

One scientist has said that time never could begin and never can end. Another tells you "There is no such thing as time."

All we know, or rather think we know; is that apparently time passes. But the truth is, as has been said, that time remains, and we pass.

Life and time can be worthwhile or not worthwhile. Life is worth whatever we make of it. We cannot change nature, or change old age back into youth.—Reprint.

Sheriff Sheahan Warns Of Increase In Crime During The Holiday Season

Cook County Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan is urging county residents to exercise extra caution during the Christmas season, when holiday activities can lead to an upswing in theft and violence.

"The holiday season presents criminals with plenty of opportunities," said Sheahan. "Shoppers carry plenty of cash and large numbers of people leave their homes to visit far-away relatives."

But, Sheahan added, there are several precautions that can be taken to protect yourself and your home. The Sheriff suggests the following:

While shopping, be alert and aware of possible pickpockets. Always hold your purse close to your body and be sure the contents are not exposed. Men should avoid carrying their wallets in their back pocket. Keep wallets in an inside jacket or front pocket instead.

Don't overload yourself with packages and purchases; make sure that your hands are free and that you can get to your wallet or purse easily. Don't leave purchases visible in your car. Make sure any valuable goods are tucked away in bags or place them in the trunk.

In a crowded mall it is important to keep track of your children and teach them what to do should you become separated.

If your holiday plans take you out of town to visit friends or relatives, Sheriff Sheahan suggests you take the following precautions to safeguard your home during the holidays:

Use an automatic timer for lights. Cancel mail and newspaper delivery or arrange for a friend/neighbor to pick it up, so mail doesn't accumulate.

Let your neighbors know you will be out of town so they can keep an eye open for any suspicious activity around your house.

The biggest potential threat to your home during the holiday season is the fire hazard posed by holiday decorations. By taking these few simple steps, you can avoid a fire in your household:

Don't overload circuits with excess electrical cords or leave Christmas lights on for an extended period of time. Check them frequently for shorts or missing light bulbs.

Christmas trees should never be placed near a heating duct, radiator or portable heater. You should also regularly water your Christmas tree to keep it from drying out and becoming susceptible to fire.

MVCC Art Programs To Expand

With the opening of the Fine and Performing Arts Center on Sunday, Jan. 9th, Moraine Valley Community College art, theater and music students will have a wealth of new facilities, equipment and courses to enhance their learning opportunities. Computer-based graphic design will become an integral component of the MVCC art program with the addition of a fully equipped Macintosh graphic design laboratory. Advanced hardware, software and peripherals make the new lab a highlight of the already expansive art program.

Also available to students are a new photography studio; painting and sculpture studios, including an outdoor sculpture area, and studios for printmaking, drawing and ceramics. The newly revised courses in these areas will enable students to reap the benefits of new facilities and an expanded curriculum.

"The center allows us to be more innovative and updated," said Phyllis Kozlowski, chair of the fine arts and humanities department, "It will be an exciting experience for all of our students."

The center's spacious art gallery is to feature works in a variety of media by MVCC students and faculty. The gallery, open to the community, will also display works of local artists as well as touring shows. Arts education will be enhanced by the addition of several new courses. Survey of Non-Western Art focuses on artistic traditions of the Middle East, Asia, the Far East, Africa, the Americas (pre-colonization) and other regions. Survey of Western Art I, Survey of Western Art II, and Survey of Western Art III each has a revised, more in-depth curriculum than the two-course series in Western Art previously offered.

The center will allow Moraine Valley's theater department to expand the quantity of courses offered and improve the quality with which they're taught.

The addition of more course sections at more convenient times will be a plus for students whose access to the program has been restricted by scheduling conflicts. The equipment and facilities in the arts center will enable instructors to teach acting, stagecraft, theater management and other courses more effectively.

"We now have the work space, equipment, lighting and theater flexibility to further develop those skills we've always taught, and students have an opportunity to work in a state-of-the-art facility," said Kate Wulle, theater coordinator.

The college performs four plays each academic year, staged in the center's 603-seat Dorothy Menker Theater. Starting this summer, the summer theater program will be rejuvenated with a production in the 150-seat John and Angeline Oremus Theater. Because the department now has two theaters in which to work, more shows can be scheduled and two different shows can be put on at the same time, greatly increasing performance and other theater-related opportunities for all students and community members participating in productions.

Additionally, the college will continue the 17-year tradition of its touring children's theater. MVCC theater students travel to elementary and junior high schools for 20 spring performances.

The inaugural student theatrical production in the arts center, "Romeo and Juliet," will run March 17th through 27th. The second spring production is "Prelude to a Kiss," which runs April 21st through May 1st.

The center also features soundproof rooms and practice labs equipped with acoustic pianos so students of voice, piano and guitar can work on their own without distraction. The department's music theory courses will be improved, as well. The piano lab and other equipment allow for hands-on experience and the chance to see and hear musical intricacies.

Student opportunities for public performance will be enhanced with the re-introduction of the Moraine Valley Chamber Singers and the Moraine Valley Jazz Ensemble. Participation in either of these groups earns students college course credit and the chance to perform in off-campus concerts as well as in the new center. Students can also earn course credit by performing with the Southwest Community Band and the Southwest Community Orchestra.

Jim Ryan Outlines Plans For Attorney General Race

Jim Ryan, candidate for Attorney General of Illinois, said voters have been responding enthusiastically to his message, but that he will work even harder in the weeks ahead. Ryan announced his candidacy for Attorney General on Aug. 23.

"The voters I've been talking with agree that we need a career prosecutor in the state's highest law enforcement office," Ryan said.

Ryan, the DuPage County State's Attorney since 1984, has been a prosecutor for most of his career.

In a statewide fly-around, Jim Ryan announced his candidacy with a call for new direction in the attorney general's office.

"Fighting serious crime, including gangs and drugs, will be my top priority," he said.

Another major priority Ryan said he plans to set will be working to protect the rights of battered women and abused, neglected, exploited children.

"People are worried sick about crime," he said. "The stature and resources of the attorney general's office must be used to fight serious crime in Illinois."

If the election were held today, Ryan would beat his primary opponent, Jeff Ladd, by 61 to 3 percent, according to a scientific poll conducted on Nov. 29 and 30 by a nationally recognized Washington polling firm. Even among voters who have a favorable opinion of Ladd, an overwhelming majority say they would vote for Ryan.

"Even though Ladd has a long and uphill fight ahead of him, we must not get overconfident," said Don Totten, Ryan's campaign manager. "We certainly expect that Ladd will be running a nasty campaign before this is over."

With hardly a day off since he announced his candidacy, Ryan has campaigned in more than 50 counties throughout the state, and the primary campaign is just half over. Ryan has made more than 175 formal campaign stops to meet with voters and he has conducted numerous press interviews.

Gov. Jim Edgar went to DuPage in November, where he joined Ryan to announce that D.A.R.E. anti-drug education programs will begin focusing on combating gangs and violence. The Governor praised Ryan for leading the effort to make the addition to D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education).

"Enforcement alone will not rid us of gangs," Ryan said, "For every hard core gang member, there are a thousand children at risk. That's why prevention programs such as D.A.R.E. are so important. We need tough enforcement along with prevention and intervention to succeed."

In October, Ryan said he will use the attorney general's office to develop and pass 'truth in sentencing' laws. Ryan called for the passage of a stopgap 'truth in sentencing' law that will require violent three-time losers to serve nearly all of their sentences. He said he would eventually like to see Illinois adopt the federal government's policy of requiring all convicted felons to serve at least 85 percent of their sentences.

He pledged to convene a task force of law enforcement leaders, legislators, corrections experts and victim advocates to review Illinois' early release policies and develop a plan to bring full 'truth in sentencing' in Illinois.

"Everyday as prosecutors, we see the cost of early release is not just in dollars but in human terms in the eyes of victims," Ryan said.

State Budget Addresses School Funding

Urging the State Board of Education to "fight for its share of general revenue funds," State Superintendent Robert Leininger presented his final FY 95 budget recommendations which call for a $372 million increase in state funding for programs and administration.

"This proposed budget is no 'wish list.' It's a realistic attempt to help schools hold the line with the programs and services they now provide our kids. It will barely nudge the state's share of education costs from the current 32.7 percent to 33.4 percent. Yet even this practical recommendation is doomed if elementary and secondary education continues to be a loser when general revenue funds are divided up among state programs," Leininger said.

"Last year the governor and General Assembly approved a larger than usual appropriation for education. But at the same time, they are giving schools a smaller and smaller share of the money they have available. Education's proportion of state general revenue appropriations has dropped from 24.9 percent in FY 90 to about 22.2 percent today.

Other agencies' 'entitlement' programs and court orders have become the 'main course' for the state budget, while a priority like education is left with the 'scraps from the table.' That is not an acceptable way to build a world-class education."

The proposed budget totals $4.4 billion in state funds for programs and administration. Most of the proposed $380 million increase over FY 94 is devoted to State Board priority areas and other programs which were targeted for basic inflationary growth.

Increases for priorities include: $138 million in general state aid, but that amount does not address implementation of any recommendations from the task force on school finance; $125.9 million to fully fund special education and $43 million to fully fund the other mandated categorical programs, such as regular/vocational transportation, bilingual education and Illinois free lunch and breakfast; $5 million for innovative vocational education programs such as Tech Prep, School-to-Work and apprenticeships; $10.4 million for staff development in schools; $3 million for parental support programs; $15 million for technology in schools; $20 million to the preschool education programs for at-risk children; $3 million for education service centers to assist in the transition to the new intermediate services structure adopted by the General Assembly this year.

Leininger said his recommendation also includes funding to help the board deal with changes affecting the Cook County Educational Service Regions (ESRs). In 1992, lawmakers abolished the Cook County regional superintendent's office effective July 1st, 1994. Earlier this year, the legislature approved a set of statewide changes in the structure of educational service regions, including recreating a regional superintendent for suburban Cook County alone who will take office on Aug. 15th, 1995.

Unless the General Assembly approves pending legislation to synchronize the abolition of the current Cook County ESR with the creation of the new suburban Cook ESR, the state board must assume responsibility for the essential services provided by the office during the one-year gap. Leininger said additional funding is proposed for the agency to contract for services or hire temporary workers to conduct the ESR's programs for G.E.D. testing, bus driver training and permits, teacher certification renewal, health/life safety oversight and compliance monitoring.

State Board members will now schedule a public hearing on these budget recommendations in conjunction with their Jan. 19th and 20th meeting in Springfield. Final board action is slated to follow during the plenary session

This year think first of someone else.
Take pleasure in the beauty and wonder of the Earth.
Write a love letter. Share some treasure.
Gladden the heart of a child. Welcome a stranger.
Thank God for what you are and what you have,
whether it be great or small.

Mend a quarrel. Give a soft answer.
Seek out a forgotten friend.
Dismiss suspicion, and replace it with trust.
Keep a promise. Find the time.
Forgo a grudge. Forgive an enemy.
Apologize if you were wrong.

Listen. Try to understand.
Examine your demands on others.
Appreciate. Be kind, be gentle.
Laugh a little. Laugh a little more.
Deserve confidence.

Express your gratitude to others.
Pray for peace. Go to Church.
Love completely. Speak your love.
Speak it again. Speak it still once again.
These are but inklings of a vast category,
a mere scratching of the surface.

They are simple things. You have heard them all before. But their influence has never been measured.
This year, they can change your life.

Comerford Appoints Dunne

Chief Circuit Court Judge Harry G. Comerford announced the appointment of Judge Arthur L. Dunne as the Presiding Judge of the Chancery Division, effective Monday, Dec. 27th.

Dunne, 63, will replace Judge Richard L. Curry, who is resigning.

Judge Dunne has served in the Chancery Division since 1984. He has been appointed twice to the Chancery Division's Management Committee. Prior to his Chancery service, Dunne has held assignments in the Juvenile, Civil and Criminal branches of the court system.

He lectures, teaches and writes extensively on the law. Judge Dunne holds an undergraduate degree from the University of Michigan where he lettered in wrestling. His law degree was earned at Northwestern University.

The Hawks are a team of hard hitting, hard playing hockey stars who are struggling a bit this season. By constantly attacking their problems they will be successful and the key to their success will be the hard work of premier players like Sutter and Lemieux.

Childrens Memorial Hospital helps not only children from Chicago, its suburbs and surrounding areas like Rockford, Joliet, Kankakee and Aurora but also children from around the world who need specialized care. By aggressively attacking the problems kids encounter, Childrens Memorial has become a premier player in the childrens health care system and a valuable asset to be maintained in our community. Just like the Blackhawks rely on the support of their fans, so too Childrens Memorial relies on the support of those it serves. Through IOF Foresters 'Bowling for Miracles,' 200 percent of every dollar donated goes to Childrens Memorial because the Foresters match dollar for dollar whatever is raised. Kiwanis supports it, PBA supports it, and the Blackhawks support it, now everyone reading this can support it too by bowling or donating.

Be a premier player on a necessary support team like Rick and Jocelyn are on the Blackhawks. To donate or get a pledge sheet to bowl in the upcoming 'Bowling for Miracles' contact Lois Opie at (708) 422-3418 or (708) 857-7880 or Rich Barrett at (708) 483-2880 or (708) 883-3580 or (708) 515-1790.

Picnic Permits Available Monday

Cook County Board President Richard Phelan announced that the Forest Preserve District of Cook County is kicking off the 1994 picnic season and the sale of new golf activity discount cards on Monday, Jan. 3rd, at the Cook County Building, 118 N. Clark St., Room 608, from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"The forest preserve district is renewing the annual tradition of offering county residents the opportunity to obtain picnic permits for the upcoming season during the early hours of the first working day of the new year," Phelan said. "The early opening gives residents the chance to secure their favorite picnic location within the district."

The picnic permit office's new computer system will provide residents with easy access to information pertaining to various picnic sites. The computer system allows residents to select and obtain a picnic permit based upon the desired facilities and current availability of each picnic location. The new system also simplifies the distribution of each picnic permit. Residents will be able to leave the picnic office with their permit in hand.

Starting Tuesday, Jan. 4th, the picnic permit office will resume regular office hours from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. The fee for a 1994 permit is $20 for a picnic site without a shelter; $25 for groves with shelters. Beginning in March, residents will also be able to purchase permits over the telephone. The designated picnic chairperson or resident seeking a picnic permit must appear in person at the county building to receive the permit. The permit office accepts cash, credit cards and checks with the proper photo identification.

While the permit office is handling picnic requests, additional forest preserve district staff will be busy processing requests for activity discount cards for use now during the winter golf season and the upcoming spring golf season. On the permit office's opening day from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m., residents and non-residents can purchase what was referred to last year as the resident identification card.

Also new this year, the activity discount card is available for purchase to non-residents. The new activity discount card entitles golfers to daily discounts on green fees, a 7-day advance reservation tee-time and additional lower fees for senior/junior discounts at the 10 district golf courses.

The fee for activity discount cards for residents is $20; $50 for non-residents. Proof of residence is required. The discount cards can be purchased at the picnic permit office from Jan. 4th to 14th, during regular office hours. Following that, golfers can purchase the cards at the Indian Boundary Golf Course, Forest Preserve Drive, between Belmont and Cumberland, Chicago; and Burnham Woods Golf Course, 142nd and Burnham Ave., Burnham; from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday, until the announced opening of the regular spring golf season. At that time, additional sites and times will be announced.

For additional information about activity discount cards or the district's winter golf program contact the department of recreation at (708) 771-1067.

Special accommodations can be arranged.

Daughters Of Sweden To Meet

The Veterans Memorial Foundation is comprised of veterans, community groups, and local organizations, together with the Chicago and Cook County Building Trades Council and local unions of metropolitan area cities and villages. The foundation expresses its thanks for the support and generosity of all who have contributed to the "Eternal Flame" monument at 111th St. and Harlem Ave.

The "Eternal Flame" was dedicated at a special ceremony on May 23rd, 1993, however help is still needed. The sculptor, Bruce A. Nlemi of Gurnee, designer of the "Eternal Flame" is still owed $20,000 for his skill and labor in creating this memorial. Anyone who donates $1,000 or more receives a 2' X 1' granite marker with his, her, or a loved one's name engraved on it. The marker will then be embedded in the front walkway of the monument. Anyone can be memorialized; father, mother, brother, sister, wife, husband, son, daughter, etc. Tribute can be paid to living individuals or in memory of those who have passed away.

Make checks payable to Veterans Memorial Foundation, and mail to Worth Bank and Trust, 6825 W. 111th St., Worth, IL 60482.

Alfred Grajek, executive chairman of the Veterans Memorial Foundation invites everyone to visit the "Eternal Flame," an illuminated monument with five branches, each representing one of the U.S. Armed Forces: Air Force, Army, Marines, Navy and Coast Guard. The highly polished steel 'flame' is 24'6" in height and is a tribute to all men and women who served so unselfishly in defending American freedom.

Pace To St. Laurence

Some new Pace transportation bus routes have made it even more accessible for St. Laurence High School students to get to and from school.

Specifically, the Pace 382 Central/Clearing route, which originates at 104th and Pulaski and ends at the Midway CTA Station, 59th and Cicero, services a number of students from some of St. Laurence's main feeder schools. The route travels west on 103rd St. to Central Ave. and continues northbound on Central directly to St. Laurence's parking lot. The bus turns around at the Midway Station and changes course. Among other stops on the route are 95th and Central, 74th and Oak Park, and the Ford City Shopping Center.

Buses operate all day and evening, simultaneously serving students from the Midway Airport area to St. Laurence. The route originates at Midway Airport, travels down Cicero to Ford City, loops the shopping center and proceeds west on 73rd St. to St. Laurence.

This route also serves as an activity bus for St. Laurence students who are involved in extracurricular activities. Patronizing this route permits students to take only one bus, where no transfer is necessary, and arrive directly at St. Laurence.

All current and prospective St. Laurence students and their parents can check with Pace at (708) 228-4295 for individualized information and specific departure and arrival times.

Stroke Exercise Program

Researchers at the University of Illinois at Chicago and Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center are evaluating the physical and psychological effects of a supervised exercise program in stroke patients. This program begins after traditional rehabilitation is completed.

Individuals ages 40-70 who have had a stroke in the last five years are needed for this research. Qualified volunteers will receive medical evaluation, including ECG, laboratory work and chest X-ray; exercise tests and 10 weeks of supervised exercise; psychological evaluations; and one year of follow-up assessment, all free of charge. In addition, a payment is provided for post-treatment evaluations.

For more information, call the stroke rehabilitation research program at the University of Illinois, (312) 996-7542.

The predictions of the weather forecasters came true and with a vengeance—COLD!!! On Sunday it got to be 10 degrees above zero with a windchill of 6 below. Now is the time to get to a warmer climate, and one should be so lucky.

Arthur and Marguerite Moline of Hometown celebrated their golden anniversary at a dinner/reception at the Hilton Hotel on Dec. 18. The party was given by their two sons and their wives, Randy and Siga and Dan and Nancy with 60 guests present. The Molines were married in Boise, Idaho where he was stationed for his basic training. He served with the Air Corps during WW II and retired from Illinois Bell (now Ameritech) and Marguerite was active in the PTA, District 123 and served on the school board. Their wedding attendants, Gladys Buell and Art's brother David, were also present. The Molines have two grandchildren. Congratulations and may you have many more happy years together.

Our sympathy to Alice Whinna whose sister, Mary Greiner died in Bradenton, Florida last week. She was 86 years old.

One of our long-time residents, one of the "galloping grandmas" is now a resident in the Washington & Jane Smith Home, 2430 W. 113th Pl., Chicago, IL 60643. She and her husband, the late Elmer Buell, operated a tavern in the Heart of Oak Lawn for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Borsz provided altar flowers at Trinity Lutheran Church for the first anniversary of their son Alex's baptism on Dec. 20th, 1992. Congratulations.

The Beverly South Christian Woman's Club invites you and your friends to their "Color Me 1994" luncheon to be held in the Lexington House, 7717 W. 95th St., at 12 noon on Thursday, Jan. 20th. The donation for tickets is $8.25. The entertainment includes Janice Galbraith, image consultant, with drapings, make-up and accessories with the theme "Looking Pretty"; "Lovely Lyrics," by Virginia Brinneh, and "Inner Vier" by Dee Mooqe from Leaf River, IL who tells about the "difference in marriage." Reservations and cancellations must be made by Monday, Jan. 17th, for luncheon and nursery. One may call Mrs. Sim at (708) 371-3512, Mrs. Bergstrom, (708) 422-0006, Mrs. Brand (312) 233-7683 or Mrs. Plankis, (708) 849-6218.

The whole Moraine Valley Community College district can finally celebrate the opening of its new Fine and Performing Arts Center when the on-campus complex opens for a "Grand Music Weekend" on Feb. 12th and 13th. Sponsor of the three opening concerts will be Oak Lawn Rotary which helped to establish the college, supported its growth and gave special attention to helping create a cultural center for the community. The Dorothy Menker Theater which opens for the concerts, is a state-of-the-art facility with 600 seats, balcony and box seats, a scenery tower and an orchestra pit that can be raised and lowered. It is named after the wife of Egon Menker, active Rotarian and former president of the Oak Lawn Club. Tickets are $15 for each concert. Members of the committee are Brian Andersen, (708) 887-4600; Terry Bartolini, (708) 425-7474; Linda Kirby (708) 499-7625; Sander Marcus (312) 641-3050; Paul Matijevic, (312) 332-7355; and Ben Oreigara (708) 423-7910.

St. Albert the Great Holy Name Society will sponsor a Super Bingo this Sunday, Jan. 2nd in the church hall at 80th and Central Ave. Doors open at 1:30 p.m. and games start at 3 p.m. The donation for tickets is $20 per person and tickets will be sold at the door.

Our Lady of Loretto Women's Guild will sponsor its New Year's Day Bingo in the parish hall at 8925 S. Kostner, Hometown. The doors open at 4:30 p.m. and the games start at 6:30 p.m. Admission is $15 per person which includes a free dabber. Supplies, refreshments and pull tabs will be available.

Our Lady of Loretto Athletic Assn. is looking for crafters for their first annual spring bazaar to be held on Sunday, Feb. 13th in the parish hall. The fee is $30 per table and only hand crafted work will be accepted. The deadline to apply is Jan. 13th or one may call Elaine at 636-9415 for an application and information.

Nwalkoa High Pot The Council of Administration (C of A) of the Grand of Illinois, Military Order of the Cootie and Women's Auxiliary will be held at the Johnson-Phelps VFW Post Hall at 9514 S. 52nd Ave. on the weekend of Jan. 21st to 23rd. The business meetings will be held on the 21st and 23rd and there will be a banquet honoring Supreme (National) Commander Glen Maroney and Supreme President Jan Bean on Saturday evening at the post hall. Grand (state) Commander Herbert Thompson and Grand President Sandi Strumil, along with the Nwalkao High Pot Pup Tent #42 are serving on the committee.

Support For APS Project At Argonne

By Harris Fawell

One of my finest experiences, as a Member of Congress and as a Member of the House Committee on Science, Space, and Technology has been to support the Argonne National Laboratory in its quest to construct the Advanced Photon Source (APS), a giant $800 million X-ray facility.

The APS will generate X-ray beams 10,000 times brighter than any now available in the U.S. for pioneering research into the structure of materials. It will serve the research needs of virtually all scientific disciplines and many technological fields including physics, chemistry, materials and surface science, biology and medicine. When completed it will even be able to take movies of viruses in action!

What's more, when the APS comes on-line in the spring of 1995 it will be a full year ahead of schedule and under budget. In these times of tight federal budgets, that's great news.

Before the end of the century, it is anticipated that more than 1,000 scientists and engineers from Argonne, industry, universities and other national laboratories from throughout the nation and world will be conducting experimental programs annually at the APS.

Argonne estimates that the APS will add 350 new jobs at the laboratory and provide more than $75 million annually to the local economy — and the APS's unique capabilities will significantly enhance the Chicago area's attractiveness to high-technology industry and spin-off businesses.

Recently, I had the privilege to participate in a milestone event for the APS at Argonne where representatives of two of the U.S.'s largest chemical corporations, DuPont and Dow Chemical Co., along with the Northwestern University, signed an historic long-term "collaborative-access agreement" with Argonne National Laboratory to build their own research facilities at the APS. This collaborative effort will build two X-ray beam lines requiring about $8 million in equipment and $800,000 annually to operate.

POLICE CALLS

On Dec. 13th, Alolzh Kurdzak of Oak Lawn, reported both sides of his car had been keyed. Estimated cost to repair is $500.

Dana C. Wulfe of Oak Lawn, reported someone had shot her driver's side window with a BB gun which will cost $150 to replace.

On the 14th, Hawkinson Ford, 6140 W. 95th St., reported a car had been brought into the service department on Dec. 7th and on the 14th the 1989 Probe valued at $7,000 was missing.

Shawn Toles of Blue Island was allegedly seen carrying two McGregor warm-up suits valued at $65.76; two flannel shirts $13.98 each from the K-Mart at 11000 S. Cicero, and leave without paying. He was charged with retail theft.

On the 15th, at 12:42 a.m., a police officer was patrolling the the Sting Ray Lounge parking lot, 10401 S. Cicero, and had stopped Servel Eiden, 23, and Michael Franek, 21, both of Oak Lawn, and charged them with criminal damage to property after the officer reportedly saw them kicking the driver's side of a blue Camaro.

At 2:57 a.m. police on patrol saw an offender at the Jewel store at 4650 W. 103rd St., driving at a high rate of speed go east on 103rd St. The car was stopped at 103rd and Kostner. While the officer was alongside their car, he saw a large quantity of unbagged meat on the front seat and the offender did not have receipts for the meat. Recovered were three packages of steaks, four packages of loin chops, along with four packages of steaks and a roast from Dominick's at 10000 S. Cicero. David Anderson and Reginald Williams were charged with retail theft.

Glen Lusza of 5851 W. 87th St., reported he found his apartment door ajar when he came home from work. He found four Christmas presents which had been under the tree on the kitchen counter, bedroom drawer contents ransacked, $300 cash, 12 silver dollars a diamond wedding ring, other jewelry, and a Genesis Sego video game missing for an estimated loss of $1,280.

On the 17th, Steven D. Reese and Edward Council, both of Chicago, were charged with robbery, after police received a call from the Jewel store at 9424 S. Pulaski. The officers were in the parking lot when they heard a woman scream "someone stole my purse." The offender ran followed by the officer and threw the purse to the ground. Hometown police helped Oak Lawn catch the offender. Reese told police a black male in a blue Mustang was with him. The driver was picked up and both were charged with retail theft.

August Tupe of Oak Lawn reported a traffic altercation at 89th and Menard in which the offender kicked the passenger side of his car and caused about $500 damage. The offender left before police arrived.

Oak Lawn Transmission, 10824 S. Cicero, reported someone had broken three 5 ft. by 7 ft. windows. The estimated cost to replace is $900.

The Safeman, 5163 W. 95th St., reported an unknown person had shot a projectile through a 5x7 ft. glass door window. Estimated cost to replace is $300.

Jorge Vasquez and Virgil Ellis, both of Chicago, were reportedly seen putting six pallets from the Jewel store at 8801 Ridgeland, into a pickup truck. They were charged with theft.

James Sheehy of Oak Lawn, reported someone shattered the rear window of his car with a pellet, cost to replace $175.

James Brophy of Justice reported while he was parked at 11000 S. Cicero someone removed the spare tire mounted under the rear bed of his truck and also took the mounting and cradle for an estimated loss of $400.

Christine De Francesco of Oak Lawn reported someone stole the four-foot Santa with running lights on a black wrought iron fence and two reindeer. Estimated loss is $150.

Mary C. Boyce of Oak Lawn reported the driver's side window of her vehicle was broken, apparently by a BB gun. Estimated loss is $195.

Dr. Alan Schriesheim, Argonne's director, said that the "collaborative-access agreement...and the project it launches, bodes well for the 'United States' science, education, and industry into the 21st century...The collaboration among three major forces in our society to reach common goals holds much promise...Such collaboration truly is America's wave-of-the-future."

"We believe collaborative efforts with national labs and universities can help speed the efforts of U.S. advanced technologies and create new, high-quality jobs here at home," said Dr. Joseph A. Miller, DuPont's research and development vice president. "These alliances provide us with important technical data, they save us time and money, and they give us access to some of the best and brightest scientific minds...The Advanced Photon Source will be critical to high-tech research and the competitiveness of U.S. industry and stands to make the U.S. more competitive in world markets."

Dr. Fred Corson, Dow Chemical's vice president and director of research and development noted that the collaborators "will be able to explore many areas of material science technology as we've never been able to before. The result will be much better understanding, optimization, and development of our process and products."

The APS "will offer our nation and the world the most advanced capability for applying intense X-rays to research in material science and structural biology. These are extraordinary, important and exciting fields of scientific endeavor that are both advancing our basic knowledge and our technological capability," said Dr. Jerome Cohen, Northwestern's Engineering dean.

I want to offer my congratulations to Argonne, DuPont, Dow Chemical, and Northwestern. And, I especially want to congratulate Dr. Dave Moncton, Argonne's Associate Laboratory Director who heads the APS for his outstanding leadership. The APS represents the best of a government-industry-university collaboration.

Study Verbal Scores

The simplification of textbooks in the 1950s has contributed to an overall decline in average SAT verbal scores, according to research findings. The findings were arrived at via a computer program called LEX, which was developed by Donald Hayes, a sociology professor at Cornell University, to assess text difficulty.

Using 600,000 common, uncommon and rare word patterns, he scored text on a scale where 0.00 equals the average difficulty of 61 English language newspapers. Hayes used LEX to analyze 766 school books written between 1860 and 1991. An article on trans-hydrogenase scored the highest (in terms of difficulty) at 58.6; the lowest score was about a farmer talking to dairy cows, which registered a negative 55.7. Most baby boomers had used textbooks which rated between -53 and -63. "...twelve points lower than texts used by their parents," Hayes said.

SAT verbal scores began falling in the early 1960s, continued to drop for 16 years and have remained low. Meanwhile SAT math scores, which also fell in the 60s, have rebounded somewhat.

Limited copies of "Was the Decline in SAT Verbal Scores Caused by Simplified Textbooks?" are free from Donald Hayes, Sociology Department, Uris Hall, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY 14853, (607) 255-9736. Cite Technical Report Series 93-6.

Speech Team Wins

Oak Lawn Community High School Novice Speech Team won the SICA North Conference and placed third overall. Winning individual awards were: in original comedy, Kim Meares placed 5th and Pat Clifton placed 3rd; humorous duet had Nicole Peccatiello and Jeff Marcinkowski place 4th. In 4th place was Gary Byrne in declamation; in original oration, Mike Mancillas and Naomi Martig tied for 3rd; freshman Kim Tamosaitis placed 2nd in prose reading; Colleen Hurley placed 3rd in radio; in dramatic interpretation Jason Hilger placed 2nd, and becoming SICA champs were Jason Hilger and Gary Byrne placing 1st in dramatic duet and Jeff Marcinkowski winning in humorous interpretation.

Council Appointees

James and Sharon Murphy of Oak Lawn have been appointed to the Parents Advisory Council at Monmouth College for the 1993-94 academic year. The council, comprised of parents of currently enrolled students, serves as an advisory board to the college administration, develops support activities for students, raises funds for the improvement of student life and works for the betterment of the institution. Membership in the council currently includes approximately 50 parents.

The Murphys are the parents of Ryan, a freshman at the college. As PAC members, the Murphys are available to share information about Monmouth College with area high school juniors or seniors, and their parents. Interested persons may call (800) 747-2687 to be put in touch with the Murphys.

On Dean's List

Kelly Allred of Tinley Park and David Murphy of Oak Lawn were named to the Dean's List for the fall quarter of 1993 at Winona State University. To be named to the Dean's List, a student must be an undergraduate enrolled full-time and achieve a minimum grade point average of 3.5...

St. Xavier Students Are In "Who's Who"

Fifty-one students of St. Xavier University were recently selected to appear in the 1994 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." This national recognition acknowledges these outstanding student leaders. Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have selected these St. Xavier students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

Area students named this year from SXU are: Calliope Catsogiannis and Mark Ritter of Alsip; Margaret Ruggio of Blue Island; Melissa Heyser of Bridgeview; Karla Anderson, Eric Hawrysz, Terry McInerney, Julia Prunicki and Bruce Truchon of Scottsdale; Lori Banas, Katie Hoff, Maria Maguire and Eileen Wogan of Mt. Greenwood; James Davoren, Debra Gardner, Kathleen Guinane, Jennifer Lamantia of Beverly; Sharron Porter of Morgan Park.

Also named were Catherine Bronson of Crestwood; Kirstin Kull, Heidi McDowell, Peter Nilles, Diane Nowiszewski and Mark Smiley of Evergreen Park; Kathleen Bewley, Daniel Giroux, Beverly Hofman and Kori Springer of Oak Forest; Thomas Gaynor, Salma Hammad, Stanley Iwaszkiewicz, Jennifer Loftus and Kevin Loftus of Oak Lawn; and Lori DiPaolo of Orland Park.

The above named St. Xavier students join an elite group of "Who's Who" recipients selected from more than 1,400 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations. Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

Strong Support For Argonne APS

By Congressman Harris W. Fawell
13th District

One of my finest experiences as a member of Congress and as a member of the House Committee on Science, Space and Technology has been to support the Argonne National Laboratory in its quest to construct the Advanced Proton Source (APS), a giant $800 million X-ray facility.

The APS will generate X-ray beams 10,000 times brighter than any now available in the U.S. for pioneering research into the structure of materials. It will serve the research needs of virtually all scientific disciplines and many technological fields including physics, chemistry, materials and surface science, biology and medicine. When completed, it will even be able to take movies of viruses in action.

What's more, when the APS comes on-line in the spring of 1995, it will be a full year ahead of schedule and under budget. In these times of tight federal budgets, that's great news.

Before the end of the century, it is anticipated that more than 1,000 scientists and engineers from Argonne, industry, universities and other national laboratories from throughout the nation and world will be conducting experimental programs annually at the APS.

Argonne estimates that the APS will add 350 new jobs at the laboratory and provide more than $75 million annually to the local economy -- and the APS's unique capabilities will significantly enhance the Chicago area's attractiveness to high-technology industry and spin-off businesses.

Recently, I had the privilege to participate in a milestone event for the APS at Argonne where representatives of two of the U.S.'s largest chemical corporations, DuPont and Dow Chemical, along with Northwestern University, signed a historic long-term "collaborative-access agreement" with Argonne to build their own research facilities at the APS. This collaborative effort will build two X-ray beam lines requiring about $8 million in equipment and $800,000 annually to operate.

Dr. Alan Schriesheim, Argonne's director, said that the "collaborative-access agreement...and the project it launches, bode well for the United States' science, education and industry into the 21st century...The collaboration among three major forces in our society to reach common goals holds much promise...Such collaboration truly is America's wave-of-the-future."

"We believe collaborative efforts with national labs and universities can help speed the commercialization of U.S. advanced technologies and create new, high-quality jobs here at home," said Dr. Joseph A. Miller, DuPont's research and development vice-president. "These alliances provide us with important technical data, they save us time and money, and they give us access to some of the best and brightest scientific minds...The APS will be critical to high-tech research and the competitiveness of U.S. industry and stands to make the U.S. more competitive in world markets."

Dr. Fred Corson, Dow Chemical's vice-president and director of research and development, noted that the collaborators "will be able to explore many areas of material science technology as we've never been able to before. The result will be much better understanding, optimization and development of our process and products."

The APS "will offer our nation and the world the most advanced capability for applying intense X-rays to research in material science and structural biology. These are extraordinary, important and exciting fields of scientific endeavor that are advancing both our basic knowledge and our technological capability," said Dr. Jerome Cohen, Northwestern's engineering dean.

I want to offer my congratulations to Argonne, DuPont, Dow Chemical and Northwestern. And, I especially want to congratulate Dr. Dave Moncton, Argonne's associate laboratory director, who heads the APS, for his outstanding leadership. The APS represents the best of a government-industry-university collaboration.

Networks And Curbing Violence

On Dec. 1st, the clock ran out on the three year old law that let television networks cooperate in curbing TV violence. But with only hours to spare, Attorney General Janet Reno agreed to a request by the author of that law, Sen. Paul Simon (D-IL), to effectively extend the antitrust exemption at the heart of the Simon law, to allow continued progress by the networks.

Simon praised Reno's action and said the Clinton Administration "has shown greater understanding of the harm done by media violence than any previous administration."

Simon has waged an eight-year crusade against TV violence and his law, known as the Television Violence Act, spurred the industry to action this year. Simon's law exempted the TV industry and Hollywood from antitrust laws to allow self-regulation on glamorized violence. The Simon law was sponsored in the House by Rep. Dan Glickman (D-Kan), who joined Simon in requesting Reno's ruling. The law made possible such industry steps as parental advisory notices and the first-ever joint standards on violence, by ABC, CBS and NBC. The result, according to Simon, is a fall television season on broadcast networks that is the least violent in years.

Simon wants to lock in those gains and keep the pressure on for further violence reductions. He is pushing the industry to set up an office to grade itself, in annual reports to the public, at the end of each TV season, on the glamorized violence that broadcast and cable networks put on the air. Reno's action means joint monitoring and other self-regulation can still go forward without antitrust consequences, even though Simon's law has expired.

"This leaves the ball in the industry's court," said Simon. "The question is whether television executives will address the problem of television violence themselves through further steps, or whether they will leave that to Congress. The best answer is self-regulation." He will put that question to network executives in a meeting set for January. Nine bills are already in the hopper in the House and Senate, and Simon may write another one himself -- for a government-run monitoring office -- if the networks don't do that themselves in the next few weeks.

On-Site Counseling

SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives), well-known for its variety of small business workshops and its free in-office counseling, is making available a special service to the small business community: "on-site counseling field trips" -- at no charge for these services.

Because some small business owners or managers find it inconvenient (or perhaps virtually impossible) to be away from their businesses in order to avail themselves of SCORE's free counseling service at SCORE offices, SCORE now makes it possible to arrange to send a counseling team to meet with your management on-site at your premises. All of this at no cost.

SCORE is a national service organization comprised of retired business professionals--all volunteers. Members of the Chicago office each average 40 years of experience in one or more of such areas as: finance, marketing, operations, systems; to provide adequate coverage of virtually any situation. And each is available to serve small business.

A phone call to SCORE: (312) 353-7724, will facilitate the setting up of a preliminary meeting at your place of business. (SCORE is based in the Business Development Office of the U.S. Small Business Administration: 500 W. Madison St., Suite 1250; Chicago, IL 60661.)

Baby Sitter Classes

The Evergreen Park Youth Commission has expanded the Red Cross babysitting class to the sixth grade. The class is being taught at Southeast School from Jan. 5th through Jan. 7th. The class is scheduled to be held at Northeast School on Jan. 11th through 13th; Southwest School, Jan. 18th through 20th and Northwest School, Jan. 25th through 27th.

Under the direction of Susanne Stevenson, students participate in a variety of activities, including emergency care, diapering, feeding and child and sitter safety. Completion of the course entitles the student to be certified by the Red Cross and to be a registered sitter through the youth commission.

Contact the youth commission at 499-0664, or your local school for more information.

Honor Student

Denise Klock of Bridgeview is among those students named to the President's List at North Central College for academic excellence during the fall term.

Editor:

As 1993 draws to a close, many of us are considering resolutions for the new year. Often, the goals we set are aimed at improving our personal lives or those of our families, like losing weight, adopting a more healthy lifestyle or spending more time with our children. Making New Year's resolutions can be a positive way of assessing how far we've come and what we want to achieve in the year ahead.

This year, I am asking Illinoisans to consider adding a resolution that would make a long-lasting improvement in the lives of children who desperately need the support of caring, responsible adults. One way to do this is to become a foster parent to an abused or neglected child. Foster parents take troubled children into their homes to live as a member of the family. Like traditional parenting, being a foster parent is a full-time commitment. To find out more about becoming a foster parent, call your local DCFS foster care office for details.

Other meaningful opportunities to help children lie within your own neighborhood. A few of the possibilities are Boy or Girl Scouts, the children's ward at a local hospital, a community library, a nearby school and Big Brothers/Big Sisters.

Another option that may be overlooked is the CASA program. Court Appointed Special Advocates work with children in certain Illinois counties to advocate for abused or neglected children in court proceedings and with state or private agencies -- representing the child's interests above all others. CASA volunteers devote a few hours per week to help their young charges. They make recommendations to the judge, monitor court orders and serve as an extra set of eyes and ears for the court. For further information about becoming a CASA volunteer, contact Connie Ackert at Illinois Action for Children at (312) 986-9591.

I wish to express my deep appreciation to the thousands of Illinois citizens who already volunteer in these and many other worthy organizations throughout the year. To others I hope you will consider the arrival of 1994 as an opportunity to make an ongoing difference in the life of an Illinois child.

Sincerely,

Bob Kustra

Charged With Theft

Three Worth residents are the subjects of an investigation resulting from charges that they stole a credit card from a Worth woman's mailbox and used it to purchase jewelry.

Nina Milinkovic, 17, was charged with unlawful use of a credit card for buying the jewelry from Sears in the Park Forest Centre, according to Park Forest police. Darin Magic, 21 and Kevin Magic, 18, were each charged with one federal count of mail theft for stealing the credit card.

The three are suspected of other mail thefts in the southwest suburban area.

Wins Grant

The Metropolitan Chicago Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America (ELCA) has been awarded a $1,000 grant from Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL). The grant will be used to establish a capital loan fund for congregations to conduct energy audits and improvements.

The Evergreen Park Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) recently held its monthly dinner meeting for members and guests. As an appropriate program for the season, a presentation on holiday glamour was presented by Evergreen Park resident and prospective member Ellen Tiller, a sales consultant and manager for Mary Kay Cosmetics. Looking on are club president Laura Shallow, vice-president of Marquette National Bank; new member Kristin Kull, president of the Women's MBA Association of Saint Xavier University; and Marion Shallow, assistant vice-president of Standard Bank and Trust Co. The evening's activities also included an induction of new members and a Christmas party.

The next meeting of the BPW organization is scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 4th. The opportunity to network will begin with refreshments at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 7 p.m. at the Rosewood West Restaurant. The speaker for the January meeting is Judge Loretta Douglas. She will provide information on how to bring a case to small claims court. Reservations for the dinner and program, at a cost of $11 a person can be made by contacting Frances Loving, at (708) 425-6100.

Boy Survives Being Hit By Train

A 16-year-old Posen boy was seriously injured after he was struck by a freight train and dragged approximately 150 feet while riding his bicycle to work on Tuesday morning.

The accident follows a long campaign by Blue Island officials to ticket stalled freight trains and curtail gate-hopping by local children.

According to the report,

Jose Nunez had been waiting for more than 20 minutes on the south side of the tracks for an eastbound train to cross the intersection of 135th and Western.

When the train moved and cleared, Nunez went around the still lowered gates in an attempt to cross, apparently unaware that a westbound train was about to enter the intersection.

Pedestrians and drivers on the north side of the crossing watched in disbelief, several drivers blew their horns and the train whistle sounded, however Nunez who was clad in a heavy, hooded jacket apparently did not hear the horns or the whistle. Nunez was hit and dragged under the third engine. His left leg was amputated at Olympia Fields Osteopathic Hospital. He was also treated for head injuries, a broken right leg and arm as well as injuries to his pelvis.

The rescue efforts were aided by Posen police and firefighters through a cooperative agreement between the two communities.

A Blue Island ordinance limits the amount of time a train can block a crossing to 15 minutes. Violators can be fined up to $500.

Green Light For Incinerator

The Robbins Recycling and Trash-Energy Facility made major strides in 1993, culminating in the creation of a negotiable, precedent-setting waste disposal agreement unlike any other in the country. The Village of Robbins and Reading Energy Company are starting to line up communities to use the plant and are looking ahead to construction in the summer of 1994.

Developments for the Robbins project over the year include the Village of Robbins' unanimous vote to again approve siting for the recycling and trash-to-energy facility, followed by the Illinois Pollution Control Board's affirmation of this siting approval; the finalization of a consent decree with Attorney General Roland Burris, which established an unprecedented environmental monitoring package for the facility, the release of a second independent health impact study confirming that the plant will have no adverse health affects, the extension of the plant's environmental permits, the Chicago Southland Chamber of Commerce's endorsement of the facility, the Solid Waste Agency of the South Suburban Mayors and Managers Association's negotiation and unanimous approval of a waste disposal contract that offers a progressive package of benefits and protections unlike any other in the country, and the commitment of five municipalities so far, led by the City of Country Club Hills, to accept this contract and send their trash to the facility for the next twenty years.

As 1993 draws to a close, Reading Energy continues to work with municipalities on developing a modified contract that meets the individual needs of communities. In contract discussions with south suburban communities, Reading Energy has received confirmation that municipalities want to send their trash to the Robbins plant, but want some additional provisions in the contract before making a decision. The original contract's 'most favored nation' clause leaves the door open for making these changes, which will ultimately benefit any community signing the contract. Construction is expected to begin in the summer.

The facility, to be located at 133rd and Kedzie, will process 1,600 tons of trash per day and produce approximately 40 kilowatts of electricity. Ash produced by the plant will be only 10 percent of the original volume of the trash received at the facility, greatly reducing the volume of waste to be disposed of in landfills. More than 140 trash-to-energy facilities are safely operating in the United States. In such cities as Minneapolis, West Palm Beach, Indianapolis and Oahu, Hawaii, in Sweden, Switzerland, Denmark and Japan, more than 50 percent of household trash is disposed of in trash-to-energy plants, similar to the Robbins facility.

Fifty-seven Illinoisans died during 1992 in auto crashes involving a teenage drunk driver. Tragically, alcohol is the leading cause of teen death and most of these deaths are preventable. Those of us who work to prevent underage drinking are encouraged by the steps several suburban Chicago communities are taking. Mount Prospect has a new ordinance making parents and other adults more accountable for underage drinking. Adults in that community who allow teens to drink in their homes can be fined up to $1,000. There are tougher penalties for using fake IDs to buy alcohol too.

By their actions, these communities are endorsing a basic philosophy that drives the efforts of Illinois' statewide prevention system. That is, that parents influence their children's attitudes toward alcohol and that adult behavior sets an example for young people to follow. Most of the community-based prevention programs funded by the Department of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (DASA) offer parent training to help parents talk to their children about making healthy life choices and about alcohol and other drugs and their consequences.

The responsibility for substance abuse prevention begins at home, but school and community-based programs, health care professionals, educators, business, religious and civic groups, law enforcement and the media also play important roles.

Successful community prevention programs do more than just 'warn and teach,' they promote healthy lifestyles, offer alternative activities and help communities abate the risks that their young people face. In addition, statewide models like 'Operation Snowball' and the Illinois Teen Institute offer communities positive peer-based programs to counteract the negative peer pressures young people encounter every day.

I hope to see many more communities pass local parental responsibility legislation. Consistent laws and meaningful enforcement are key components of successful strategies to preventing underage drinking and its often-deadly consequences.

Sincerely,
James E. Long
Director, DASA

Tax Distribution

Although he wasn't wearing his Santa hat, Cook County Treasurer Edward J. Rosewell has given the county's taxing agencies an early holiday "gift" of some $8.8 million.

The money was collected during the county's recent "Scavenger Sale" of tax delinquent properties that ran through Nov. 2nd. Rosewell said that the sale resulted in the collection of $8,835,832.71 on 3,568 tax delinquent parcels.

The sale was for properties with a tax delinquency of two or more years. The minimum bid at a scavenger sale is $250 or one-half of the taxes due if the tax liability is $500 or less. The highest bidder is awarded a tax lien on the property. The owner then has up to six months to redeem or buy back the taxes, except for single-family homes (6 flats or less) which have a redemption period of two years. If the owner fails to redeem the taxes, the purchaser can file suit in the Circuit Court to seek deed to the property.

Rosewell cautioned that the sale is not a "get rich quick scheme" for tax bidders, but can be a good investment.

For the county's taxing agencies, it is an effective way to collect delinquent real estate taxes, Rosewell said.

VETERANS' CORNER

Q. Are veterans with 10 percent service-connected disabilities now eligible for the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) vocational rehabilitation program?

A. Effective Oct. 1st, 1993, veterans with a 10-percent disability rating may be entitled to a program of vocational rehabilitation if the VA finds that you have a "serious employment handicap" and you need rehabilitation services to prepare for, obtain, or retain suitable employment. Contact the VA regional office nearest you at 1(800)827-1000 to qualify or to receive further information.

Q. I receive a VA pension. Can I qualify or be eligible for the VA's vocational rehabilitation program?

A. Yes. Any veterans receiving a pension awarded between Jan. 30th, 1985 and Dec. 31st, 1995 can apply for a vocational rehabilitation evaluation. If an evaluation shows the veteran can achieve a vocational goal if provided the appropriate rehabilitation services, the VA will help develop a plan of services which can lead to employment. There is no requirement that a pensioner participate in an evaluation or training and, if the veteran elects to enter a rehabilitation program, the pension benefit is protected until the veteran is employed.

Q. What is the best way for me to find out how to get a headstone from the VA?

A. VA has established a single, nationwide, toll-free telephone number to make it easier for veterans and their dependents to inquire about the veterans' headstone and gravemarker program. The number, 1(800)697-6947, connects callers to VA's National Cemetery System's Office of Memorial Programs in Washington, D.C., Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. (ET).

Q. What is the average time for processing and receipt of the various gravemarkers from the VA office of memorial programs (OMP)?

A. Generally, it takes approximately 60 days from receipt of application (VA Form 40-1330) to delivery of a headstone or marker to its destination. OMP processes the applications, on average, in 16 days. The contractors have 30 days to manufacture the headstone or marker. The remaining 14 days are for delivery.

Q. My VA pension is being deposited directly into my bank account. How can I change it to my new bank?

A. Ask your new bank to help you complete SF 1199A (direct deposit sign-up form) and send it to your VA regional office for processing. Do not close your old account until the direct deposit starts at the new bank, which should take between 30 and 60 days.

Q. Is it necessary for me to inform the VA of my new address if my monthly benefit check is handled by direct deposit?

A. Yes. Failure to keep VA notified of your current address could result in missing important notices to your claim.

Q. I am deaf, but my telephone is connected to a telecommunication device for the deaf (TDD). Is the VA linked to this type of system?

A. Yes. You can call 1(800)829-4833, VA's TDD connection. VA has nationwide, toll-free service to answer your benefit or other VA-related questions, regardless of where you live or where your VA file is located.

Q. Can I be granted disability compensation from the VA for a medical condition that was directly caused by medication prescribed by VA for my service-connected disability?

A. Yes. You should file a claim for service-connection for the secondary condition as being due to, or the result of, the original disease or injury.

Q. What is the advantage of having my military retirement pay reduced by the amount of my VA disability compensation?

A. Disability compensation is not subject to income tax, as is regular retirement pay.

Q. During the Persian Gulf War, I was on active duty for 89 days. Can I count the two days it took me to travel from where I was discharged to my home to give me the 90 days active duty required to receive a VA pension?

A. Yes. Travel time from place of discharge to your address of record may be counted for pension purposes.

'Adopt A Horse' Auction Program

On Jan. 22nd, approximately 125 healthy and trainable wild horses, recently rounded up from Western rangelands, will be offered for adoption at the Heart of Illinois Arena, Peoria. The adoption is sponsored by the Department of Interior, bureau of land management. Since the 'Adopt-A-Horse' program began in 1973, over 110,000 animals have been adopted.

"The BLM has the responsibility for managing the nation's public lands, most of which are located in the Western states, and to preserve the mustang as a living symbol of the Old West," said BLM Director Jim Baca. "We periodically gather excess wild horses and burros off the range and offer them for adoption. The 'Adopt-A-Horse' program is the only way to maintain an ecological balance between wild horses, native wildlife and domestic animals grazing on western public lands."

Wild horses are gathered in Nevada, Wyoming, California, Utah and Oregon. Before being transported to satellite adoption centers in the East and Midwest, all animals are vaccinated, blood tested and dewormed. Each animal is inspected by a veterinarian and given a clean bill of health before being shipped.

To qualify to adopt up to four animals, applicants must have a sturdy corral at least six feet high, shelter, transportation, and means of caring for the animals. The adoption fee of $125 per horse is payable in cash or money order at the time of the adoption. The fee helps defray the federal government's cost of roundup, veterinary care, transportation and administrative expenses. After an animal has been adopted, BLM contract personnel will halter and load the animal for the adopter.

The horses will arrive at the Heart of Illinois Arena on Friday, Jan. 21st with viewing hours from 1 to 5 p.m. The scheduled hours for the adoption will be from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and, if any horses are still available, on Sunday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For applications and more information about this event, contact: Bureau of Land Management, P.O. Box 631, Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53201-0631, or call (414) 297-4443. Applications to adopt should be received by the above office before Jan. 14th.

Passing Records Shattered

Tim Lyons, a sophomore quarterback for the Elmhurst College Bluejays last season, was named to the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin (CCIW) all-conference football team. Lyons of Evergreen Park and a graduate of Brother Rice High School became the first Bluejay to pass for more than 2,000 yards in a single season. He and senior wide receiver Joe Radostitz, also from Brother Rice, were honorable mention selections.

"We had a number of outstanding individual performers," said Bluejay head coach Paul Krohn, "and they deserved to be recognized for their achievements."

Lyons set five single season passing records and one total offense record, after being thrust into a starting role when Kevin Greene fractured his ankle during the pre-season.

In nine games, Lyons passed for 2,003 yards with 177 completions in 363 attempts, breaking Jack Lamb's single season records of 150 completions in 1992; 297 attempts in 1991 and 1,908 passing yards in 1991. Lyons totaled 1,916 yards of total offense in conference play to better Dion Rooney's 1983 record of 1,908 yards.

Lyons' 18 touchdown passes and 22 interceptions were also single season records.

"Tim had a truly remarkable season for us," Krohn said, "his statistics speak for themselves."

Lyons led the CCIW in both passing yards, 239.6 a game, and total offense yards, 228.9 a game. He was 146 of 193 passing for 1,677 yards and 13 touchdowns, all CCIW highs for the season.

Lyons earned offensive player of the week honors in CCIW when he passed 33 times, completing 22 for 313 yards and four TDs, in the come-from-behind 40-32 win over Carthage College. Against Wheaton College, the conference's number one ranked defense, Lyons again passed for four TDs, completing 25 of 48 passing attempts for 395 yards. The Bluejays fell 49-32 in that game.

In five of the Elmhurst contests, Lyons passed 40 or more times and completed 20 or more, including 28 of 59 in a last-second loss at North Central College.

Radostitz caught 33 passes for 292 yards. The four-year letterman became only the second Bluejay to amass more than 100 receptions, 103. He ranks seventh in the school's history in receiving yards, 1,262.

Swimming Classes At Moraine Valley

People who have always wanted to learn how to swim or scuba dive will be interested in three non-credit classes sponsored by Moraine Valley Community College.

Swimming Adults, beginning, teaches participants to overcome their fear of water, floating, breathing, the crawl, backstroke and breaststroke. The class meets for six weeks starting either Monday, Jan. 10th or Wednesday, Jan. 12th from 6 to 7 p.m. A second set of classes starts Monday, March 7th or Wednesday, March 9th from 6 to 7 p.m. The fee is $50.

Advanced Swimming is for adults who completed the beginning course or are able to do front and back float, front crawl, sidestroke, breaststroke and backstroke with rhythmic breathing. The class meets for six weeks starting Monday, Jan. 10th from 7 to 8 p.m. A second class starts Monday, March 7th from 7 to 8 p.m. The fee is $50.

Beginning and Advanced Swimming meet at Palos Olympic Health and Racquetball Club, 11050 Roberts Rd. Those people who know how to swim will be interested in the Scuba Diving class. The course follows standards of the Professional Association of Diving Instructors (PADI). Participants are asked to bring swimsuit, towel, mask, snorkel and fins. Instructional supplies can be purchased at the first class for $35. The fee for the class is $130.

The class meets for six weeks. One begins Friday, Feb. 4th from 7 to 10 p.m. The other meets Saturdays beginning Feb. 5th from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Both classes meet at the Scuba Emporium, 12003 S. Cicero Ave.

To register, call (708) 974-2110. For more information, contact community and continuing education at (708) 974-5745.

Navigation Course

Moraine Valley Community College is sponsoring a non-credit class on navigation and boat piloting. The class meets for eight weeks beginning Wednesday, Jan. 19th from 8 to 10 p.m., on the campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave., in Building B, Room 182. Participants will learn the fundamentals of navigation, except celestial, and will include close-in coastwise and out-of-sight navigation procedures.

The fee is $52. Materials can be purchased for an additional $25, or participants can bring a parallel ruler, dividers, and Chicago and Lake Michigan charts to the first class.

To register, call (708) 974-2110.

State Offers Free Snowmobile Safety Course

Taking a free snowmobile safety course not only could save you from getting a ticket, it could save your life, Conservation Director Brent Manning said recently.

"Rules are in place to help prevent snowmobile accidents from happening," Manning said. "Operators who don't know the rules could put themselves and others in jeopardy."

As of mid-December, four individuals had been injured in five snowmobile accidents, with no deaths reported. During SHOW TIME - To save time and money while shopping for a boat, your best bet is to visit a boat show, such as the Chicago Boat, Sports & RV Show, Jan. 5th to 9th at McCormick Place. There you'll find numerous dealers representing a wide variety of boat types and brands. There are fishing boats, sailboats, pontoon boats and cruisers, usually at specially discounted or 'boat show' prices.

To get the most out of your search, go to the show with a list of the features you want that will allow you to enjoy your boat most fully. While boats are very versatile, providing a means to many activities, some boats are more specialized than others. For example, if you will be using your boat primarily for skiing you probably will not want to invest in recirculating live bait wells.

You also should go to the show with a price range in mind. While some people attending the show will be trading up to larger boats, most people will be purchasing entry-level boats. In fact, the most purchased boat in America today is a 16-foot runabout that includes a motor and trailer for under $10,000. Spread over many years of enjoyment, you can't find a better deal for your family's entertainment dollar.

The first place to start narrowing your choices is by selecting the right type of hull and engine type. The most important factor in determining the proper hull and engine will be to determine where and what type of boating you are planning. For example, planing hulls are faster and require less fuel but are less stable in rough water.

While at the show, discuss with the representatives what type of boating you plan to enjoy and they will recommend the proper hull type for you. The same is true for engine selection. Fitting the proper engine type, diesel or gas, and the proper horsepower, is determined by a number of factors including hull shape, boat type and usage. Again, representatives at the show will assist you in finding the right power plant to fit your needs.

Once you've gotten a better idea of your ideal boat, start working on your buying and operating budgets to further narrow your search. With your list of boats in hand, note the price of each boat. Ask about what items are standard and which are options. Some options, particularly those that will make your outings more convenient and safer, are usually worth the investment for the long term benefits they will provide. Also ask about fees for transportation and commissioning.

SHOW TIME - Thanks to farmer's ingenuity and 55 snowguns, Indianhead Mountain Resort is "75% open and going strong" while ski areas all across the country are finding warm weather and rain cutting into earlier snowfalls of the season.

"You know the expression, 'Make hay while the sun shines,'" smiles Indianhead's Sr. Vice-President Inge Oberthaler? "Well, thanks to our hard-working crew that stockpiled snow; 55 show guns; and our machine-groomed, power-tilled slopes," she notes, "skiers will find a variable base up to 38 inches, and good conditions at Indianhead, while some other areas may not even be open."

Indianhead is located in the western portion of Michigan's upper peninsula. The area is nicknamed "Big Snow Country" because of its average annual 211 inch snowfalls due to climatic factors from Lake Superior, while Aspen's annual average snowfall is only 142 inches, Oberthaler points out.

For more information on skiing, accommodations, calendar of events, and activities, contact Indianhead at 500 Indianhead Road, Wakefield, Michigan 49968; phone 1-(800)-3-INDIAN, 1-(800)-346-3426, or (906)-229-5181.

WE WISH YOU HEALTH, WEALTH AND HAPPINESS IN THE NEW YEAR!!

the 1992-93 snowmobiling season, 37 accidents occurred resulting in six fatalities.

Deputy Chief Tom Wakolbinger of Conservation's Law Enforcement Office said most accidents are the result of operators failing to exercise caution. He said one of the main problems law enforcement officials see is snowmobiles being operated too close to a roadway.

"Many operators know they cannot use their snowmobiles along an interstate or limited access highway, but some don't know they must stay at least 10 feet from the pavement along county roads and state highways," Wakolbinger said. "If they're closer than that, they could be issued a ticket."

He said an operator stopped for riding a snowmobile along a highway right-of-way also could be cited for failure to have either a valid driver's license or a certificate verifying completion of a snowmobile safety course. Snowmobile laws such as these are covered in safety education courses offered regularly by the Department of Conservation, whose volunteer instructors each year train 800 to 1,000 individuals in safe snowmobile operation.

Courses are recommended for adults who recently have acquired snowmobiles or who want to brush up on snowmobile safety practices. Safety courses are required of youths age 12-16 who want to operate a snowmobile alone. Children ages 10 and 11 may operate a snowmobile only if they are accompanied on the sled by an adult. Children under the age of 10 are prohibited from operating a snowmobile, even if under the direct supervision of an adult.

In addition to snowmobile laws, the courses cover safety tips, handling a snowmobile in different snow conditions, emergency first aid, clothing and equipment needed for survival, responsibility to the environment and wildlife, and sled maintenance and repair.

Interested individuals may call 1-(800)832-2599, TDD (217) 785-9236, for information on course dates and locations.

The New Year...How did some of the great scholars, literary figures and poets view the new year, and when and where did the celebration of the New Year begin?

In ancient times, the new year had various meanings. In Egypt, about 2773 B.C., the year began with the beginning of the flood period of the Nile River.

In 46 A.D., the Julian Calendar established Jan. 1 as the beginning of the New Year in Rome. However, it is interesting to note, that New Year's Day is not a festival of the Christian Church, although the Feast of the Circumcision is celebrated on New Year's Day.

One of the earliest references to New Year's Day is found in The Apocrypha in the Holy Bible. The passage reads: "Forsake not an old friend; for the new is not comparable to him: A new friend is as new wine; when it is old, thou shalt drink it with pleasure."

Alfred, Lord Tennyson, the British poet who wrote "The Charge of the Light Brigade" in 1854, seemed to have a particular fondness for the New Year. Tennyson once wrote: "Ring out the old, ring in the new, Ring, Happy Bells, across the snow: The year is going, Let him go; Ring out the false, Ring in the True."

Tennyson also appealed to the New Year when he wrote a poem to his mother: "You must wake and call me early, call me early, Mother Dear; Tomorrow 'ill be the happiest."

New Year's Eve also did not escape the vision of the great literary minds of the past. It was John Milton, the English poet and scholar best known for his epic poem "Paradise Lost" written in 1667, who referred to New Year's Eve in this manner: "Midnight shout and revelry, Tipsy dance and Jollity."

Or in another Milton poem, "At last the rose, and twich'd his mantle blue: Tomorrow to fresh woods and pastures new."

But it might have been Alexander Pope, the English writer best remembered for "The Rape of the Lock" in 1712, who summed up New Year's Eve in a letter to E. Blount on Aug. 27, 1714. Pope wrote: "Party-spirit, which at best is but the madness of many for the gain of a few." How true, how true even today.

Looking to the New Year, Edmund Waller the English poet known for his love lyrics, including "Go, Lovely Rose," wrote inspiringly in 1686: "The soul's dark cottage, batter'd and decay'd, Let in new light through chinks that Time has made; Stronger by weakness, wiser, men become As they draw near to their eternal home, Leaving the old, both worlds at once they view, That stand upon the threshold of the new."

Or it could have been D. H. Lawrence, British writer best known for his novel Lady Chatterley's Lover, who in 1920 wrote: "Not I, Not I, but the wind that blows through me! A fine wind is blowing the new direction of Time."

John Dryden, the English writer and poet laureate and one of the outstanding figures of the Restoration period, looked to the new year with this verse: "All, of a piece throughout: They chase had a beast in view; Thy wars brought nothing about; Thy lovers were all untrue, 'Tis well an old age is out, And time to begin a new."

Swinburne, the late 1800s British poet and critic who wrote erotic verse attacking the conventions of Victorian morality, appeared bittersweet in 1866 when he wrote: "Thou hast conquered, O pale Galilean; the world has grown gray from thy breath; We have drunken of things Lethean, and fed on the fullness of death. Laurel is green for a season, and love is sweet for a day; But love grows bitter with treason, and laurel outlives not May. Sleep, shall we sleep after all? for the world is not sweet in the end; For the old faiths loose and fall, the new years ruin and rend."

The New Year can also be greeted in simple verse. Samuel Johnson, known as "Dr. Johnson" and the leading literary figure of the 18th century and author of Dictionary of the English Language, simply wrote: "New things are made familiar, and familiar things are made new."

A still simpler poem, apropos to the New Year, has no known author, but one many of us learned as young school children: "I saw three ships come sailing by, Come sailing by, come sailing by, I saw three ships come sailing by, On New Year's Day in the morning."

But, perhaps, it was Miguel de Cervantes, author of Don Quixote who in 1605 wrote a simple sentence which has become an oft repeated resolution for all of us as we enter the New Year: "I'll turn over a new leaf."

The "baby-boomer generation" waited until 1957 when Theodor Seuss Geisel, whose pen name was "Dr. Seuss," wrote "The Cat in the Hat" and we all became familiar with: "You will see something new, Two things. And I call them Thing One and Thing Two."

In the mid 1700's Robert Burns, the Scottish poet, wrote what has become synonymous with New Year's Eve, which was later set to music.

"Should auld acquaintance be forgot, And never brought to min'? Should auld acquaintance be forgot, And days o' auld lang syne?"

And the chorus: "For auld lang syne, my dear, For auld lang syne, We'll tak a cup o' kindness yet For auld lang syne!"

Happy New Year!

Bond Reforms Made Into Law

Selection procedures for underwriters and bond counsel on Cook County bond offerings first implemented by County Board President Richard Phelan in 1991 were adopted into law this week as Phelan, along with the board of commissioners, passed an amendment to its purchasing ordinance. Under the new ordinance, underwriters and bond counsel will submit their qualifications for review by the county's chief financial officer and the board president. The president will submit his selections to the board for its approval.

"Prior to 1991, the county used the same underwriters and bond counsel over and over again," Phelan said. "I opened up the process to a wide range of underwriters and bond counsel, based upon their qualifications and their willingness to offer competitive prices. In addition, for the first time, I submitted the names of prospective underwriters and bond counsel to the board for their prior approval. My reforms have saved county taxpayers millions of dollars in costs of issuance and have slashed bond counsel fees by 35 percent. I am pleased that these reforms have been formalized into law."

Midwestern Economy Is On The Mend

The Midwest economy is positioned to do well in 1994, fueled by continuing strength in the domestic auto industry, which is dominant in the region, and a pickup in equipment spending as manufacturers reinvest in their own infrastructure, according to Diane Swonk, senior economist at The First National Bank of Chicago.

Real disposable income growth is expected to rise 2.4 percent in 1994 in the region, as compared with a forecast of 1.8 percent for the nation.

"Economic growth in the Midwest will continue to outpace the nation throughout the year," Swonk said.

A favorable trade outlook for Midwest heavy equipment manufacturers will further enhance the regional economy. Import competition is expected to remain weak, while export demand is increasing in the developing nations of Asia and Latin America, which will more than offset the persistent weakness in Japan and Europe. Economic growth in the region will also translate into jobs, especially as the Midwest manufacturing sector starts hiring. Employment in the Midwest is forecast to rise 2.1 percent in 1994, the highest gain since 1989. Another boost to the economy will come from the housing market.

"Greater appreciation, greater affordability, and a better employment picture have already translated favorably for housing in the Midwest," Swonk said. "And the bottoming out of mortgage rates is expected to have little effect on home buying in 1994. Also look for a regionally-based pickup in big ticket spending to accompany the spurt in home buying and building."

Structural imbalances that continue to plague the East and West Coasts will remain less of an issue for the Midwest, she added.

Real Gross Domestic Product (GDP) for the nation is forecast to rise 3.1 percent, year over year, in 1994. The

In early 1993, Phelan proposed that all professional service contracts be based upon a similar "Request for Proposal" (RFP) process. Under current law, professional service contracts are exempt from the sealed competitive bid procedures the county uses for buying commodities, such as supplies and equipment. Also during that time, Commissioners Maria Pappas and Mary McDonald submitted a proposal that underwriters and bond counsel be selected using sealed competitive bids. The proposal was amended to contain the RFP process used during the first three years under the Phelan administration.

"The same procedures cannot be used to buy professional services and pencils," Phelan responded. "I am pleased that Commissioners Pappas and McDonald joined in my amendment to use a system better suited to insuring the county the highest quality services at the lowest prices."

The county is one of the first units of government in Illinois to adopt the RFP process for selecting underwriters and bond counsel. The amendment was co-sponsored by Commissioners John Stroger, Maria Pappas, Mary McDonald, Carl Hansen and Richard Siebel.

engines of growth continue to be business equipment spending and residential construction. Lagging sectors include defense, other federal government purchases, trade, and commercial construction. Real consumption, supported in part by reduced debt-service burdens, is projected to grow roughly in line with the overall economy.

Summer School

High school students from every region of the state who are interested in creative writing, movement & dance, music, theater or visual & media arts can apply now to the Illinois Summer School for the Arts (ISSA).

The ISSA is an innovative two-week in-residence arts program for high school students held annually at Illinois State University, Normal. This summer's sessions will be held from July 10th to 23rd and are open to high school students who will complete grades 9, 10 or 11 by June.

The ISSA is searching for creative high school students who wish to have the opportunity of working with outstanding professional artists and teachers, investigating the arts within an interdisciplinary curriculum, developing insight into several art forms, transforming ideas from one art form to another (theater to music, movement to visual art, etc.), as well as making friends with other talented students from across the state.

Application materials are available now. If you have not responded, there is still time. Call (309) 438-7762 immediately to request application forms, and specify the arts area in which you are interested. The deadline for application requests is Jan. 15th.

Retire Early

Some 23,000 Illinois teachers have until Feb. 28th to make a confidential, non-binding decision to participate in the final year of the S&S early retirement incentive program. The landmark S&S program offers significant opportunities to teacher-members who wish to retire early," said Bob Daniels, executive director of the Illinois Teachers' Retirement System, which covers teachers in all public school districts in Illinois outside the City of Chicago.

Election is the first, critical step. TRS has established a toll-free information and election line for members to make S&S elections or to obtain additional information by calling 1-(800)-535-8655. The toll-free service will remain active through Feb. 28th.

The high-tech service includes automated election and benefit estimate services available from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Saturday. The automated services are available only to persons using a touch-tone phone. Trained pension specialists will be on duty Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. to answer questions, take special requests, enter S&S elections, provide S&S benefit estimates, and to assist persons calling on dial or pulse telephones.

"Members must elect by Feb. 28th to participate. The election is non-binding and does not commit a member to retirement," Daniels said, "however, unless a member elects the S&S incentive, state law will not allow retirement under the S&S program, even if health or personal circumstances change before the retirement deadline."

Members who elected the S&S incentive in 1993 but did not retire must elect again in 1994. Re-election is required regardless of whether retirement was delayed by employer action or by the choice of the member.

Teachers who decide to retire must do so between June 1st and Sept. 1st. The first year of the program attracted 3,978 retirees. Retirement system officials expect that as many as 8,000 teachers may retire in 1994.

Register

Eighth grade boys who plan on attending St. Laurence High School in the fall of 1994 should mark Saturday, Jan. 8th on their calendars. On that date, the school will administer its entrance and placement examination.

Students who are taking the test should report to the foyer area of the school, between the gym and the cafeteria by 8:15 a.m. Students may gain entrance to the school by entering through the north end of the building. Anyone taking the exam should bring two No. 2 pencils and a $20 testing fee with them. The exam will last approximately three to three and one-half hours.

More information is available by calling Thomas Kurzawski, director of admissions, during school hours at (708) 458-6900.

There is no advance registration necessary for the examination. Students interested in taking the test at St. Laurence should be at the school on the 8th with the required materials needed to take the test.

Study Smaller Cook County Hospital

Building a new, smaller Cook County Hospital will save property taxpayers an estimated $346 million over five years when compared to the amount of money needed to continue operating the existing antiquated facility, a new financial analysis shows.

And even performing the substantial renovations that would be needed to continue operating in a downsized hospital contained within the existing structure would cost property taxpayers about $110 million more over five years than building a new facility.

These findings were presented last week to Cook County Board President Richard J. Phelan by a special health services advisory panel appointed by Phelan in 1991. The panel is made up of civic, business, health care and community leaders who advise the Bureau of Health Services on major policy issues facing the county health system. The financial analysis commissioned by the panel was conducted by the accounting and consulting firm of Coopers & Lybrand.

"This report clearly shows that if we want to keep Cook County Hospital operating, we must replace it, and that it is actually costing County taxpayers more to maintain the current facility than to replace it," said business executive Lester Crown, chairman of the Cook County Bureau of Health Services Advisory Committee. "The only other option is to shut the hospital down -- and that is not socially, morally or financially responsible."

Phelan noted the County has had to spend $80 million over the past three years just to "patch up" the hospital to meet accreditation standards so that it could stay open.

And a recent audit of the facility's electrical system has found that taxpayers will have to spend an additional $44 million just to complete necessary upgrades to the system, he said.

"As this study shows, building a new hospital will save Cook County taxpayers millions of dollars over the next five years while providing better health care for the poor and uninsured. Monies will be better spent with a new, smaller hospital," Phelan said. "We can't keep pouring tax dollars into a badly outdated and essentially dysfunctional facility. This report tells us what we needed to know to move this project forward in the political process: that it makes more sense financially to build a new, smaller hospital," Phelan said. "It's good policy from the standpoint of patient care, and it's responsible stewardship of property tax revenues."

Ruth Rothstein, Bureau of Health Services director, observed that no matter what shape the reform eventually takes in Washington, Cook County will still play a vital role in the public health system.

"Change is coming, but no matter how much the system changes over the next decade, certain individual and societal needs won't change at all," Rothstein said. "Those who advocate a wait-and-see attitude are really asking for Cook County Hospital to be shut down, because we'll reach a point within the next few years where we simply can't meet accreditation standards given the age of this building."

The volume of indigent care that will still be required cannot be shouldered by private hospitals and providers, especially specialized, tertiary services such as trauma, burn and neonatology, she added.

"People who are poor or who tend to fall through society's cracks are still going to need access to the quality care that can be provided at Cook County Hospital. You can form all the networks you want, but we will still need a 'safety net' hospital on Chicago's West Side with the expertise existing at Cook County Hospital," she said.

The establishment of a new hospital is a long process and there is nothing to prevent Cook County from altering its plans to fit national health reform as we move through the phases of planning, architectural design and construction.

"Faced with medical and financial realities, the real choice facing us is this: either close the existing hospital or build a new one," she said.

The Coopers & Lybrand analysis studied four potential scenarios, all of which assume that Cook County's health care delivery system is moving toward increased primary-based care and therefore won't need as many hospital beds as there are in the existing facility.

The first scenario documents the status quo -- what the County is currently spending on the hospital and can be expected to spend just to keep it open under current accreditation standards. This option has been rejected by the Committee because it is too costly and ineffective.

The second scenario assumes the hospital will be downsized because of moves toward expanded community-based outpatient care. This scenario attempts as realistically as possible to project what it would cost to renovate the current facility as a hospital of nearly half its current size and one that would meet accreditation standards.

The third scenario, preferred by the Advisory Committee, documents projected operating and capital costs of a new 525-bed hospital that would include a pediatric unit.

The fourth scenario assumes a new hospital with adjacent children's hospital, for a total of 750 beds.

"To remain operating in a smaller facility within the current structure, significant capital investment will have to be made -- and that investment is greater than the cost of a new hospital," said J. Robert Pellar, partner in charge of Coopers & Lybrand's Health Care Consulting services division.

Pellar also noted that a renovated facility will still require the operations of as many as nine buildings, while the entire facility would consist of one unit if a new, smaller hospital were built.

The report presented to Phelan was a follow-up to one prepared last year by the Bureau of Health Services Advisory Committee.

University Graduates

More than 1,400 Western Illinois students who completed their undergraduate and graduate degree requirements were recognized at the Dec. 18th commencement exercises in Western Hall.

During his years on the village board, Frankland was instrumental in the development of the Oak Lawn water system, according to Mayor Ernest Kolb, "as head of the public works and water department, he laid the groundwork for the water system," Kolb added.

Frankland was a member of the Oak Lawn Lions Club and of Pilgrim Faith United Church.

Survivors include two daughters, Judith Jones and Linda Lunk; a sister, Marjorie Anderson; six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Services and interment were in Sun City, Arizona.

What Was Happening...

25 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK IN THE COMMUNITY

Miss Valeria Joy Steury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Steury, has been awarded the silver wings of an American Airlines stewardess and has now been assigned to flight duty out of Chicago. She received her wings as a graduate in the 25th class this year at the American Airlines Stewardess College, Fort Worth, Tex. Miss Steury was graduated from Oak Lawn Community High in 1966.

With almost epidemic proportions, the Hong Kong flu swept into the area last week. Many Oak Lawn businessmen reported shortage of help when employees were home ill and unable to report for work. Oak Lawn's two high schools said absences in classes were greater than during the same period a year ago.

Allen W. Hulett, chief of the Oak Lawn Fire Department since June 1966, tendered his resignation from that office in a surprise move this week. In a letter dated Dec. 16th, addressed to Village Manager J.J. Salovarra, Chief Hulett said: "This is to submit my resignation as chief of the Oak Lawn Fire Department; to become effective as of 2400 hours, or midnight Dec. 31st, 1968. I have been appointed fire chief of the village of Elk Grove, Ill., and will undertake that duty and responsibility as of Jan. 1st, 1969.

The junior class officers at Harold L. Richards High School this year are as follows: president, Donald Sternberg; vice-president, Thomas Gordon; secretary, Leslie Lesner; and treasurer, Sue Pretnar.

Navy Lt. (junior grade) Lawrence E. Paryz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Paryz, has his newly-earned aviator's "Wings of Gold" pinned on by Com. J.J. Foley upon completion of flight training at the U.S. Naval Air Station in Corpus Christi, Texas.

Santa and his reindeer are earthbound and will make safe landing late Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning, a message received by the Messenger newspapers revealed. The coded advice apparently was sent by the crew of the Apollo 8 spacecraft with its three astronauts who headed for a trip around the moon. In a carefully coded message, the spacemen said they had caught site of a mysterious red object in the northern skies. The information was fed into the computers at Cape Kennedy, Fla. In no time at all, tracking experts announced the 'object' was friendly and should be treated as such. Later the astronauts reported the 'object' was jolly Old St. Nick, heading for earth in a toy-laden sleigh, pulled by reindeer.

Professional truck driver Rhue O. Stillwell of Oak Lawn received the Arthur Godfrey "Gentlemen of the Highways" award today for his rescue of a woman motorist stalled in the path of a speeding train. A driver for Thomas and Foy, Inc., a household mover of La Grange, Stillwell risked his life to push a woman's stalled auto to safety only seconds before a freight train hurtled by.

Navy Ensign Kevin M. Killacky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo M. Killacky of Oak Lawn, was commissioned an Ensign in the Naval Reserve after completing the Aviation Officer Candidate course at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla.

Deborah Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Anderson, Oak Lawn, has been selected for membership in "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities." Deborah is a junior at Trinity College at Deerfield.

Need Video Cameramen

PLOWS Council on Aging is looking for individuals with experience in video taping and camcorder operation to assist in the video taping of a new program. PLOWS has received a federal grant under Title III-F of the Older Americans Act to bring EDUCIZE, an innovative aerobic exercise/problem-solving education program to people with arthritis to seniors living in the southwestern suburbs.

EDUCIZE has been developed and refined by Northwestern University's multipurpose arthritis center over a six-year period. Research has established that EDUCIZE positively affects both the physical and psychological well-being of people with various kinds of arthritis.

An integral part of the program will be the video taping of the training sessions, as well as taping the actual EDUCIZE classes seniors participate in. We are looking for several volunteers to "man the camcorder" and do the taping of the various sessions in the various locations. We will provide all equipment and blank tapes.

If you have experience in using a camcorder (we don't need professionals, just a little experience), have a flexible time schedule with some free time and think you would enjoy being part of this program, call Diana Santolin at (708) 422-6722 for more information. Because this is a pilot program, many of the administrative details are not known at this time. Program schedules and dates will be announced at a later date.

Oak Lawn Community High School Junior Claudia Gonzalez was selected as the recipient of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) award. Claudia was chosen because she demonstrates outstanding dependability, service, leadership and patriotism in school, home and community. Claudia will be honored at a reception on Feb. 14th and at the D.A.R. state convention on March 20th.

Extension Classes

To meet the needs of busy adults, Moraine Valley Community College offers a variety of credit classes at extension centers throughout the district. For the upcoming spring semester, classes will be offered at Andrew High School, Tinley Park; Argo High School, Summit; Bobbie Noonan's Child Care, Inc., Frankfort; Evergreen Park High School; Kerr Middle School, Old Main Building, Blue Island; Oak Lawn High School; Richards High School, Oak Lawn; and St. Xavier Orland Park Center, Orland Park.

Classes include business, child care, communications, economics, humanities, information management systems, mathematics, office information systems, philosophy, psychology, real estate and sociology. Most classes begin the week of Jan. 18th and conclude May 7th.

For more information, call the Center for Alternative Learning at (708) 974-5710.

Laity Sunday Services

Hometown Christian Church, 4340 W. 87th St., will celebrate Laity Sunday on Jan. 2nd at 10 a.m. The Christian Women's Fellowship will conduct the worship service. We are fortunate to have as guest speaker Rev. Elyse Williamson, an ordained Disciples Minister and a Ph.D. student in theology at Disciples Divinity House of the University of Chicago. Rev. Williamson is a dynamic and forceful speaker and the subject of her speech promises to be magnetic and appealing. We cordially invite all our friends and neighbors to come and help us celebrate. A coffee hour follows the service.

Now you're even closer to your cash.
